Chesapeake Bay Agreement in an effort to protect and restore the bay's ecosystem.

(3) In 2002, the Commonwealth renewed its commitment and entered into a new agreement entitled Chesapeake 2002, which recognizes that the condition of the bay is dependent upon the actions of every citizen who resides in the watershed.

(4) The Chesapeake 2002 agreement commits the Commonwealth to make watershed education and outreach a priority.

(b) Intent.--It is the intent of the General Assembly to develop policies that work to improve the bay's ecosystem and accomplish the goals of Chesapeake 2002, which include expanding watershed education school curricula and providing students with opportunities to directly participate in meaningful bay or stream outdoor experiences.
