Sisters and brothers, let us pray.

Holy One, we thank You for bringing us together under the Capitol dome. We ask Your blessing upon our world, our nation, and especially our great Commonwealth. Grant our Senators the desire to listen and learn from one another. Give them the patience to deal with difficult personalities. Strengthen their resolve to speak the truth and to work together for the common good. Guide them as they balance the needs of their districts with the needs of the entire State. Grant them also support back home, family, friends, and constituents who appreciate their sacrifices. Affirm their commitment to public service, uphold their faith in the democratic process, and the dignity of legislative work. Holy One, grant these prayers not as we deserve in our faults, but as You have promised in Your great mercies. We ask this in Your holy and blessed name. Amen.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. I am blinded by that seersucker suit out there that Senator Alloway is so sharply wearing. For me to talk is ridiculous, right?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Alloway.

Senator ALLOWAY. Mr. President, I was inspired by you today. I try to live up to your dapper dress wear every day.

The PRESIDENT. We inspire each other, Senator.

Senator ALLOWAY. Mr. President, this is an important bill that we have been working on for a couple of years now. This was inspired by our dear friend Libre, the bug-eyed wonder, the dog who was left for dead over in a Lancaster County shed. I thank everyone in this body for standing with me. I know at times this has been a real challenge. We did some battles, we had some great discussion, some vigorous discussion, but everyone on this floor stood with me and we worked together. I give a special thanks to the House of Representatives for their great work over there. Representative Stephens carried the water on this bill.

Libre is here, he is in the gallery looking down at all of you, and he does thank you. His family is up there and we are Libre's new family, too. Again, I thank you all for this. This is a great step to protect our pets in Pennsylvania. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. I see Libre up there and Libre is going to wave with Libre's family.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Leach.

Senator LEACH. Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill and to express how thrilled I am to be able to support animal rights legislation when it comes to the floor. It is important that we treat animals with respect. It is important that we treat them with a sense of dignity. I will tell you that anyone who has ever had a pet knows animals feel the same things we feel in terms of fear, loneliness, happiness, and excitement, and we should treat them the way we would treat any sentient being, and this bill moves us in that direction. I also say, it is not just for the animal, it is for ourselves that treating animals well is important. Often people who are involved in violence against human beings started out being cruel to animals. It is a red flag and it is important for us to recognize that and to recognize that when we treat animals with respect, we make ourselves better human beings in the process.

So this is a great bill. Thank you to everyone who has worked on this legislation. There is other important legislation that we should pass as well that is percolating through the process. I know President Stack and I worked together on some important animal rights legislation and we passed a good cost-of-care bill a couple of years ago, and there are more things to do, whether it is traveling animal shows, whether it is treatment of certain domestic pets and so forth, there is more work to be done. This is a big step in the right direction and it is a bipartisan step and it is something that we can all be proud of.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Chester, Senator Dinniman.

Senator DINNIMAN. Mr. President, we thank Senator Alloway for his work and Senator Leach for his remarks. This bill, if I am not mistaken, Mr. President, includes a variety of other bills. It includes the work of Senator Eichelberger in terms of horses, Cordelia's Law; and it includes Senator Alloway's work on tethering. I urge this group--there is one bill that has gone through its 10th day that sits there and I want us to try to do this. There is a bill that passed unanimously through the Committee on Judiciary. It involves dogs that are left in hot cars, and every year I think every one of you will have a call from someone who says, there is a dog in a hot car and there is nothing we can do about it. There is. The bill that was put in--and I hope that it goes into the Committee on Appropriations finally and gets passed by the Senate and sent to the House or you are going to have dogs and cats suffering this summer like every summer, and you are going to receive the same calls. The reason it did not get into the other bills is because it came in too late here and was not passed here to be put into that other bill. I call upon you to stand up for animal rights.

I congratulate Senator Alloway, I congratulate the House, and there is a rally tomorrow by the Humane Society on this particular issue to celebrate this bill and urge this legislature, since it is in the Senate now, it has gone through the 10th day, to act. Let us not have another summer with hot dogs sitting in cars that are like ovens, baking and killing those animals. That is unacceptable, and we are facing each other and telling each other how good it is to pass this bill and how we stand up for animal rights and the way we treat pets is the way we would treat each other, then let us really mean it, because I know, summer after summer I am going to get the calls, and this bill is no different than what two dozen other States are doing. It authorizes a police officer or emergency service officer to get that dog or cat out of that car.

So I congratulate Senator Alloway, and if you really care about these animals, I am making an urgent appeal to the Majority and to the Minority as well, to not have another summer with dogs remaining in hot cars.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Rafferty.

Senator RAFFERTY. Mr. President, I will be brief, but I especially thank Senator Alloway and Representative Stephens for their leadership on this significant piece of legislation and all of those who had a part in this, including Senator Greenleaf as the chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, for moving these bills today to where we are able to affirmatively vote for them on the floor. At a time when Pennsylvania, outlined by my colleagues, is seeing more horse farms growing here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the addition of the larger animals and the equine industry is a big plus for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania moving forward. I had the opportunity to work with Senator Alloway on the Senate resolution that will have a committee who will continuously update our regulations to make sure that the animals of Pennsylvania are protected.

Mr. President, even in Scripture, Deuteronomy and Exodus, says, "If you see an animal that is overburdened, you should lighten its load to help it." Francis of Assisi, himself, Mr. President, said, the way an individual treats an animal is the way he will treat his fellow human beings. Mr. President, it is imperative for us in the Senate today to vote in the affirmative to make certain that the animals in Pennsylvania are protected, that they are appreciated, they are cared for in the proper fashion, and that the owners of those animals know that we will bring the full burden of the law to bear upon them should they mistreat their animals.

Again, Mr. President, I thank Senator Alloway and Representative Stephens for their leadership.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. One more time, Libre has had a long day. I spent some time with him, his family has had a long day. Libre, give us a wave, give us a thumbs up, a paw up, we are going to pass the bill. See, he is waving, everyone. Good job.

(Applause.)

A Resolution congratulating the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey team as the 2016-2017 National Hockey League Stanley Cup Champions.

On the question,
Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fontana.

Senator FONTANA. Mr. President, I rise today to congratulate the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey team on their Stanley Cup win. The Pens, which is what we affectionately call them and how they are known to their local fans, have qualified for the Stanley Cup playoffs for 11 straight seasons, now resulting in the organization holding the longest active playoff streak in both the NHL and the AHL. Coached by Mike Sullivan, the Pittsburgh Penguins became the first team in nearly two decades to win a second consecutive Stanley Cup championship when they defeated the Nashville Predators in Game 6. Mr. President, the Pens have now won five championships, all of them since 1991.

I am also pleased to stand here today and talk about the celebratory parade that was held in Pittsburgh, which also marked the 50th anniversary of the first NHL season for the Penguins. Record crowds of over 650,000 fans attended the parade to cheer on the black and gold champions. I could go on and on about how great our Penguins are, Mr. President, but I will wrap it up with the Penguins' Cup win once again showing why Pittsburgh is known as the "City of Champions."

Thank you, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.
