SUMMARY:

House Bill 127 amends Act 10 of 1991 concerning military recruiter access to student information. It would take effect in 60 days.

ANALYSIS:

This legislation makes several changes to Act 10 of 1991, including giving it the short title of the Military Access to Student Recruiting Information Act. These changes will bring state law concerning military recruiter access to students into compliance with Federal law. The changes are concerned primarily with what information schools must provide and how students can have their names removed from lists provided to recruiters if they so desire. The requirements of this legislation apply to all schools receiving assistance under the Federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001. Non-public schools that do not receive such assistance are not required to comply, but may cooperate voluntarily.

FISCAL IMPACT:

Enactment of this legislation will have no adverse impact on Commonwealth funds. It should also have no adverse impact on local school funds because military recruiters are required to reimburse schools for the cost of complying with these requirements, as long as the schools provide written documentation of the expense.
