DESCRIPTION

House Bill 1033 amends the Assessors Certification Act providing for qualifications and training of revaluation company personnel.

This bill prohibits any person from valuing real property for ad valorem tax purposes unless the individual is certified as a Certified Pennsylvania Evaluator (CPE). All revaluation company personnel who are responsible for the valuation of real property must complete the education requirements and be certified as a CPE. Any municipal employee assigned the duty of valuing real property must be certified as a CPE.

A course on judicial interpretation of the uniformity clause of the Pennsylvania Constitution shall be required as part of the education requirements for application for certification.

The definitions of "property valuation model" and "revaluation company personnel" are added.

Assessors employed by a county of the first class shall have three years to become certified under the act. This section shall take effect in 60 days. The rest of the act shall take effect in 180 days.

FISCAL IMPACT:

House Bill 1033 has no fiscal impact to Commonwealth or county funds. Increased certification fees could offset any additional funds required by the State Board of Real Estate Appraisers to cover the expenses of certifying additional CPEs. Counties have the discretion to reimburse county assessors for the cost of completing the required coursework as outlined in the legislation.
