DESCRIPTION

Senate Bill 1030 amends the Pennsylvania Sewage Facilities Act to make changes to the criteria for official plans and to remove the Department of Environmental Protection's (department) authority to make determinations regarding alternative sewage systems.

This bill changes the requirements for satisfying site suitability from permissible by a sewage enforcement officer to one that meets site conditions at the new land development.

The legislation also removes the authority for the department to establish an evaluation standard for alternative sewage systems. It also removes the ability for the department to remove an alternative system's classification via a rulemaking.

FISCAL IMPACT:

Senate Bill 1030 will have no fiscal impact on Commonwealth funds.
