DESCRIPTION

Senate Bill 1200 would amend the Election Code regarding the returning of ballots.

This bill would require that an elector choosing to return a ballot to a county board of elections return it to an employee at the primary office located in the county seat of the county board of elections.

FISCAL IMPACT:

Senate Bill 1200 will have no fiscal impact on Commonwealth funds. This legislation will have no negative impact on county funds as the Election Code already requires counties to provide the county board of elections with an office at the county seat. To the extent that counties previously provided for the ability to receive ballots in remote locations, they may experience savings as a result of this legislation.
