DESCRIPTION

Senate Bill 560 amends the Osteopathic Medical Practice Act, further providing for definitions and the abrogation of regulations.

This legislation clarifies the definition of “athletic training services” to allow for the practice of certain invasive procedures with the direction of a licensed physician.

The bill also amends the definition of a “physically active person” to include anyone that participates in an individual or team sport, an athletic competition, a performing art, a recreational activity or a military exercise.

This act shall take effect immediately.

FISCAL IMPACT:

According to information provided by the Department of State, this legislation will have no fiscal impact. Any costs related to updating regulations can be accommodated with existing resources.
