DESCRIPTION

Senate Bill 745 amends Title 62 (Procurement) to provide for contracts for information technology commodities and services.

The legislation requires contractually procured "end point devices" and related services to meet the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) guidelines that are in effect at the time of the effective date of this legislation or industry best practices for computer security. For the purposes of this legislation, the term "end point device" means any internet-capable computer hardware device on a transmission control protocol or internet protocol network.

This act shall take effect in 60 days.

FISCAL IMPACT

According to information provided by the Office of Administration and the Department of General Services, any costs associated with Senate Bill 745 can be accommodated with existing resources.
