STATEMENT BY MR. MILLER

The SPEAKER. The gentleman, Mr. Miller, Ronald Miller.
The Chair inadvertently neglected to call on Mr. Miller yesterday at an appropriate time. I offer my apologies and recognize the gentleman at this time.

Mr. MILLER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to recognize a special group of students from my high school, the high school I graduated from and the school district in which I live, Dallastown High School.

Normally, when members rise to recognize high school students, they are State champions, and most often they are champions in a sport. These students—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield.

Please take your seats. Conferences in the center aisle, please. Conferences to the left of the Chair, please break up.

Mr. Miller.

Mr. MILLER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The students I wish to recognize today are not State champions and they are not athletes in the term that we normally associate with. These students, however, I think are worthy of recognition. They have won a national championship. On May 27 and 28, the Dallastown Area High School speech and debate team competed with other speech teams from across the nation. This is commonly called forensics. At that tournament the team showed its overall abilities in debate, oratory, limited preparation events, and oral interpretation.

Junior Josh Berrier placed 14th in the nation with his poetry and prose selections; junior Ryan Miller placed 3d in the nation in Lincoln-Douglas debate; and team captain, senior Kim Cantor, placed 2d in the nation in extemporaneous speaking. Other placements were also held by the team seniors: Stephanie Borger, Rachel Sechrist, Becky Wilson, and Kerri Wise. This team was led by their coach, Richard DeLancey, who is a former national champion himself. So today I just would like to recognize their success and wish them similar success in the years to come.

REMARKS SUBMITTED FOR THE RECORD

Mr. MILLER. And with your permission, I would like to submit some remarks for the record.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order. Send your remarks to the desk.

Mr. MILLER submitted the following remarks for the Legislative Journal:

We are a society that honors heroes and champions. Nationally, we look to the Michael Jordans and Cal Ripkens and hold them in the spotlight. Here in Pennsylvania we often have recognized our student athlete State champions as well. Although most people of this Commonwealth do not consider speech and debate a sport, many of our nation's States do. But I am not here to argue for or against such identifications. I also am not here to recognize a State champion, either. However, I think that a national championship warrants a little recognition, too.

On May 27 and 28 the Dallastown Area High School speech and debate team competed against other speech teams from across the nation. At that tournament the team showed its overall abilities in debate, oratory, limited preparation events, and oral interpretation. Junior Josh Berrier placed 14th in the nation with his poetry and prose selections; junior Ryan Miller placed 3d in the nation in Lincoln-Douglas debate; and team captain, senior Kim Cantor, placed 2d in the nation in extemporaneous speaking. Other placements were also held by the team seniors: Stephanie Borger, Rachel Sechrist, Becky Wilson, and Kerri Wise. However, these accomplishments could not have been made without the direction and assistance of Coach Richard DeLancey, a former national champion himself. And so today, following the success of a Pennsylvania team, I ask for this Commonwealth's recognition of them and I wish them similar success in the years to come.

JOSHUA STRANIX PRESENTED

The SPEAKER. Will Representatives Miller, Allen, and Argall come to the desk, please.

Members, please take your seats; members, please take your seats. The conference in the center of the center aisle, please break up. Conferences by the minority leader's desk, please.

The Chair recognizes the lady, Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. MILLER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

HR 530 commemorates the 30th anniversary of Special Olympics in Pennsylvania and recognizes this summer's games, which begin tomorrow, June 8, and continue through June 11 at the Penn State University.

Many members of the House have joined with me in sponsoring this resolution, which we will be voting on in just a few minutes, including Representatives Allen and Argall, who have joined me here at the podium in order to welcome to the hall of the House a very special guest from Schuylkill County.

Joshua Stranix, who lives with his parents, Lyn and Jim Stranix, in Schuylkill Haven, is a global messenger for Special Olympics, and I want to thank them for coming here today. And before asking Joshua to address the House of Representatives, I would like for you to meet his parents, Lyn and Jim, sitting to the left of the Speaker. Would you please rise. Along with them is Jill Schoeniger and Rich Lewis, representatives from Special Olympics, who are also seated to the left of the Speaker. Would you also please rise. I want to thank the House for providing to these special guests your traditional warm welcome.

I met Joshua during a recent event in my legislative district at Tulpehocken High School where his mother works. He expressed to me at that time a desire to tell all of you about his favorite topic, Special Olympics. Please give Joshua your courteous attention this morning as he shares with all of us his experiences and support for this very, very special sports event.

Joshua, it is your turn to address the House.

Mr. STRANIX. Thank you very much, Representative Sheila Miller, for inviting me to speak to you today in the House of Representatives. It is a great honor for me to be here. My name is Joshua Stranix, and I am the global messenger for Schuylkill County Special Olympics.

I have been part of Special Olympics for 18 years. I participated in my first track and field competition when I was 5 years old. Since that time, I have won over 100 ribbons and 35 medals. I participate in volleyball in the fall, cross-country skiing in the winter, basketball in the spring, and bowling all year long. Other sports I have been in are soccer, swimming, softball, and track and field.

Tomorrow I will travel with my basketball team from Schuylkill County to Penn State to participate in the Pennsylvania State Games. We will stay in the college dormitories and eat our meals in dining halls. I look forward to these competitions because I get to see all my friends from all over the State. During the competition, we express the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat.

Special Olympics provides those of us with disabilities an opportunity to improve our bodies with exercise and good sportsmanship. Anyone, any age, in the State with mental disabilities is eligible to participate in Special Olympics at no cost to themselves. It is most important for all of you to help us find more athletes, more coaches, more volunteers, and more sponsors for Special Olympics. You are the ones who can help make the difference. Anything you choose to do for the benefit of Special Olympics will be most appreciated. If you already support us, thank you. If you are interested in Special Olympics, there is no better time than right now. Your counties will be most thankful for your support. Please, call your county manager and ask what you can do to help.

In closing, on a personal note, special thanks to my family – Dad, Todd, Jen, Abbey – for supporting me and coming to all my games. And especially Mom. Thanks for being there, too, cheering for me, and writing my speeches. I love you all; again, I love you all.

Also, Rich Lewis and Jill, thank you for your support from the State office of Special Olympics and coming to support me today. Again, thank you.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Allen.

Mr. ALLEN. Josh, on behalf of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I would like to present to you this citation and wish you the best of luck in State College tomorrow. I know you are one of Schuylkill County's finest athletes ever. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Argall.

Mr. ARGALL. We also have a special presentation by the House of Representatives. Josh, this is a really special day for all of us, and we welcome you here today.

Mr. STRANIX. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. Josh, if I may, I would like to, on behalf of the House of Representatives, give you a ceremonial gavel. Use it carefully.

STATEMENT BY MR. FLICK

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman, Mr. Flick, who seeks recognition under unanimous consent. The gentleman is recognized.

Mr. FLICK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would just like to make a few brief comments and submit remarks for the record.

Immaculata College is one of the most well-respected institutions of higher education in southeastern Pennsylvania. The Immaculata Medal is the highest award the college confers. It is not awarded annually but when the college wishes to acknowledge a person who has made a special contribution — humanitarian or spiritual — that inspires our Immaculata community.

Awarded for the first time in 1976, the Immaculata Medal was bestowed on men and women who have publicly exercised creative leadership or given evidence of sound scholarship in the arts, letters, sciences, and professions, or who have served the college or our country in an extraordinary manner. These persons are individuals whose lives are consistent with the highest values and aspirations of Catholic higher education, and in particular, Immaculata, the university within a college.

At the 76th commencement of Immaculata College held May 21, 2000, they honored with the Immaculata Medal a woman who has been outstanding in her contributions to higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and in the nation, the Honorable Elinor Z. Taylor.

REMARKS SUBMITTED FOR THE RECORD

Mr. FLICK. I would like to submit these remarks for the record, and I think we should give her a round of applause.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will submit the remarks for the record.

We always knew it, Elinor.

Mr. FLICK submitted the following remarks for the Legislative Journal:

The Honorable Elinor Z. Taylor has become something of a legend in Pennsylvania public life. Representative Taylor has served in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives since 1977 and was the first woman to be elected Councilwoman for the Borough of West Chester in 1978. The State committees on which she has served reflect her deepest interests: Health and Welfare, Federal-State Relations, Select Committee on Violence, Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation, Governor's Task Force to Reduce Welfare Dependency, Health Care Summit Task Force, Education Committee, as well as her leadership positions as House Majority Caucus Secretary, and Board Chair of the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency. These speak better than any words what motivates this very committed and "committed" woman. All of these do not prevent her from giving whatever time she can spare to be a member of the President's Council of Immaculata.

Elinor's industry, honesty, prudence, and common sense make her stand out in the political arena. Her unending efforts to improve the public school system in the State have never limited her scope in promoting the excellence of the private schools of the Commonwealth. Her focus has always been on our young people, especially on their welfare as students. In her past service as an administrator, it was in the area of student affairs that she exercised leadership in the various offices she held at West Chester University and on the Board of Directors of Bishop Shanahan High School. Representative Taylor has been tireless in her pursuit of the annual effort to fund the Pennsylvania Equipment Grant with which Immaculata has been enabled to acquire important technology equipment for the college.

Elinor accomplishes all of the above, but remains unassuming and approachable. She is gifted with wisdom and modesty. Her warmth and easy manner mask an intelligence that could make lesser minds uncomfortable. Elinor is a woman with a purpose. Another secret of her success is her undaunted optimism and a determination to keep on fighting for what is worthwhile, with humor and good grace. In an age when commitment is a quality to be celebrated, we do well to honor someone who has never wavered in her support and defense of children, who has been unswerving in her dedication to students, and who has been married to her husband, William, for almost a half century.

The Association of Independent Colleges and Universities honored Elinor in 1996 with the prestigious Ben Franklin Award for outstanding service in the public arena and as a committed person who has dedicated her life to making education possible for all deserving students. We look forward to her continued enlightened leadership in the Commonwealth, particularly in the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency, and to working together for the benefit of our students in all of our institutions of higher learning in the State.

Elinor, the woman, seems to have done it all: wife, mother, grandmother, high school teacher, college professor, higher education administrator, community activist, State legislator, and Commonwealth agency chair. We are happy that she has chosen to do it with us and for us, as our representative and as our friend.

It is my privilege to present the Honorable Elinor Z. Taylor for the awarding of the Immaculata Medal.
