SESSION OF 2021 205TH OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 59

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, December 15, 2021

The Senate met at 11:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Senator Elder A. Vogel, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Hon. MEGAN MARTIN, Secretary of the Senate:

Let us pray.

Heavenly Father, we come today to bow our heads and open this Session in prayer. I recently read this quote: Not everyone thinks the way you think, knows the things you know, believes the things you believe, nor acts the way you would act. Remember this and you will go a long way in getting along with people. What profound words for all of us to reflect upon today as we start our Session.

Lord, we ask that You would bless our time together today and help us to listen to the diverse views around us, so that we can think more critically and come and work together for the people of this great Commonwealth. We pray these things in Your name. Amen.

GUESTS OF SENATOR WAYNE LANGERHOLC
PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Langerholc.

Senator LANGERHOLC. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce an impressive group of young athletes from Bedford County who competed at the Roller Hockey National Championships in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, this summer. The Bedford Bandits, 8-and-under, 14-and-under, and 16-and-under teams, went undefeated and won the national championship in each of their respective age groups. Many members of the Bedford Bandits have joined us on the floor today, including the rink owner and team member, Pat Ferguson; head coach, Matthew Price; assistant coach, Justin Smith; team members, Leighawnah Price, Bravin Price, Reagn Diehl, Darren Smith, Alexa Smith, Kayleb Smith, Joshua Greenawalt, Byler Aikey, Xavier Goldizen, Xander Goldizen, Joey Conrath, Noah Plummer, Jeremy Goodrich, Chloe Goodrich, Bryson Goodrich, Ryan Gorsuch, Austin Gorsuch, and Emma Gorsuch. Members of the Bandits who could not be here today, but certainly deserve recognition, are DeLanie Iski, Eden Corle, Emma England, Jenna Enlow, Hunter Gorsuch, Lucas Thompson, and Dillon Barton. They have all made their club, friends, family, coaches, and this Senator very proud. These individuals have very bright futures ahead of them, and I look forward to witnessing their future success. Mr. President, I would ask, as we introduce the national champions, Bedford Bandits, we give them our traditional warm Senate welcome.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would the national champions and coaches please rise for our warm Senate welcome.

(Applause.)

GUESTS OF SENATOR MARIA COLLETT
PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Collett.

Senator COLLETT. Mr. President, this afternoon it is my great pleasure to introduce as my guests my constituents, Rose Mazzeo, who was my intern in my office last year, and her mother, Elaine, who are visiting the Capitol today to observe the functions of the legislature. While she worked with my office, one of Rose's biggest contributions was spearheading a food donation drive for two Pre-K Counts schools in our district, Jolly Toddlers in Southampton and Children of America in North Wales. Rose specifically chose this group because, at that time during the COVID-19 crisis, preschool-aged children and their families did not have the same access to free lunch and snack programs as school-aged students. Rose was a hardworking, compassionate addition to our team despite the challenges of remote work. A junior at Gwynedd Mercy Academy High School in Lower Gwynedd Township, Rose is one of a few select recipients of the prestigious Macaulay scholarship, a 4-year academic scholarship. Rose has demonstrated her considerable talents while participating in the Learn, Educate, Achieve, Develop, or LEAD program; and serving as the president of the school's ministry and service team, where she has led efforts to crochet blankets for children in need, and the Herstory Club, which educates students on the impacts of women in history. Rose is also a member of her school's cross country and track teams. It is my distinct honor and pleasure to host Rose and her mother at the Capitol today, and I ask my colleagues to join me in giving them our usual warm Senate welcome.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would the guests of Senator Collett please rise so we can give you our usual warm Senate welcome.

(Applause.)

GUESTS OF SENATOR SHARIF T. STREET
PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Mr. President, today, in a moment that is a little unusual for this Chamber, I have with me members of my staff as guests. I have them because my staff had to endure a lot over the last year, including, but not limited to, what happened most recently yesterday, which some Members of the Chamber may be familiar with and some may not. Yesterday, my staff had to go to work knowing that one of our district offices had multiple bullet holes in the windows. They had to go to work--we did not send them to that office, by the way--knowing that one of our district offices was surrounded by human blood. They had to work knowing that one of our constituents had been, once again, shot, although, prayerfully, he is living. Bullets traveled right across on either side of the entry of the front window which, thankfully, the Senate has provided reinforced glass--which I am told you probably could not punch, if you tried to punch it you probably would break your hand--but the bullets, having been fired from a high-caliber weapon, went straight through the window. The shooting happened in the wee hours of the morning and it did not happen during--because if it had happened during the day, Nakita, one of my younger members, who is a mother, could have been killed. I want to thank my staff for being here. Micah Mahjoubian from my staff is in the gallery, my policy director; Desmond McKinson, my communications director; Dustin Morris, legislative aide; and Kasib, my special assistant are here with us in the gallery today. I want to point out that, over the past couple of years, my district director, Henry Hunter, who is watching, lost a grandchild. My legislative aide, Lisa, had a daughter who was killed. My special assistant Kasib, who is with us, had a nephew murdered earlier this year, and, of course, on July 4 after many of you reached out to me, Salahaldin Mahmoud, my wife's cousin, who we called LaLa and who called me an uncle, was killed. So as we end this year, I, too, ask for a moment of silence. I also thank the Members of this Chamber who called and reached out, including the President pro tempore and our Democratic Leader, who agreed that we would create a crime prevention caucus. I thank Senator Scavello, whose idea it was to create it and who serves as the Republican co-chair. I thank Representative Austin Davis and Representative Mihalek in the House who agreed to be co-chairs. I want to do this because this is important to my staff, and I thank the bipartisan support we have had doing something around crime prevention. I want to let you know how meaningful this Chamber doing that was to us. I want to point out that this caucus was created with the idea that there are things that we can agree on--and Senator Scavello and I talked about that--and things that will enhance all of our communities.

For many people at the holiday time, while things are as majestic as this beautiful room is, it is a sad time. For much of my staff, this is a sad time. I want to encourage folks to work with us to move and advance additional resources to address the challenges that people go through during this time of year. I encourage you to talk to Senator Scavello and sign up for the crime prevention caucus and do some of the things in terms of advancing the resources we need to address situations like addiction and lack of first responder interveners who can make all of our communities safe. Instead of asking for applause, I ask folks to commit yourselves to joining the caucus, helping us move the resources we need to help our communities be safe and to do so in a bipartisan way. I thank all the Members of this Chamber who have reached out to me, both about what happened with my office yesterday--and I have got people reaching out on both sides of the aisle. But, I want to say we need to do more. I respectfully ask--my staff has asked not for applause, but for a brief moment of silence in respect to all the folks we have lost this year.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would Senator Street's staff and we all rise for a moment of silence please.

(Whereupon, the Senate en bloc stood in a moment of silence in solemn respect for individuals who were lost in 2021.)

Thank you, Senator Street, for your staff and for the work you have done.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Lindsey Williams.

Senator L. WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I rise to speak on House Bill No. 412. As I said yesterday, there is a tremendous need in Pennsylvania for more qualified teachers, and the teacher shortage is a real problem. In fact, prior to what happened yesterday, I have a policy hearing scheduled in the new year to talk about this issue and what we should be doing here in the legislature to solve this complicated problem. The quality of education that our students are getting should not suffer simply because we are not doing enough to encourage a larger pool of teachers and create a pipeline for educators because we are failing to invest in community college; we have been historically underfunding our PASSHE schools, which have been historically teacher colleges; and we are losing an entire generation of educators who are priced out of going to higher education.

Chancellor Greenstein has spoken directly about how we are not doing enough to support people of color in the teaching profession. We have to support the future of the workforce of teachers in Pennsylvania and invest in a holistic system. A temporary fix is not going to get to the root of our problem, and we can get to the root of this problem. We can tackle student debt for teachers. We can incentivize people to go to school to be teachers. We have bills like the bipartisan Senate Bill No. 99, which provides funding and support for the next generation of teachers, but instead we are passing legislation like House Bill No. 1332 that does not help teachers, where curriculum will be put under a microscope, further exacerbating attacks from people outside of their community on what they are teaching to our students.

Teachers have been heroes of the pandemic, but just like nurses, are being pushed out of the profession because of the way we treat them. We hear about the need for more nurses, doctors, emergency services, and we have to talk about the need for more teachers. This shortage is about how we are not supporting them and how we are actually making it harder for them to remain in the profession. As to the substance of this bill, I am still parsing through it, and I have a lot of unanswered questions on the impact of these changes, especially on our students with disabilities; taking paraprofessionals out of, and away from, students with disabilities. If paraprofessionals want to become educators, we should be working to make that more easy, and there are best practices on a para-to-teacher pipeline. Pittsburgh public schools has a program that is an example of that. But, shifting scarce resources from one category to another may hurt students with disabilities who need the para-supports, and I am worried that this legislation might make it worse.

Just another flag of something that I did not realize was in this legislation yesterday is that it also gives concurrent jurisdiction to the Attorney General for prosecutions under Safe2Say; I was unaware of that yesterday. In closing, I want the teachers to know that I support you. I know that the past 2 years have been putting out one fire after another, keeping your classroom kids safe, all while worrying about your own families, and you have adapted to ever-changing guidelines, procedures, policies all while doing your absolute best to make sure the students in your life are taken care of. You are in crisis right now, and you need support, resources, and people in power like us to support you. I will always fight for teachers to have what they need to thrive and support our students, but I do not feel that this bill gets at the root of the teacher shortage problem in Pennsylvania.

Thank you, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEA-37

Argall	Corman	Laughlin	Scavello
Aument	DiSanto	Martin	Schwank
Baker	Dush	Mastriano	Stefano

Ordered, That the Secretary of the Senate return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR RESUMED

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 457 -- Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Senator GORDNER.

BILL AMENDED

SB 566 (Pr. No. 611) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P.L.90, No.21), known as the Liquor Code, in licenses and regulations for liquor, alcohol and malt and brewed beverages, further providing for license auction.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Senator Regan.

Senator Regan. Mr. President, I stand to offer amendment--

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Excuse me. Could we go at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

POINT OF ORDER

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Senator Regan.

Senator REGAN. Mr. President, before I offer this amendment, I rise to request a ruling pursuant to Rule 20. My brother-in-law is a beer wholesaler, and this amendment relates to all retail licensees, including wholesalers. Am I permitted to vote on the amendment and the bill, if amended?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thanks the gentleman for his inquiry about a conflict of interest in the factual situation just given. The Chair would rule that there is no conflict of interest, and in accordance with Senate Rule 20(c), the Senator must vote on the amendment and the bill, if amended. First, the Chair finds that the gentleman's brother-in-law is a member of a class of individuals who may or may not be affected by the action. Second, the Chair does not find any votes the gentleman may cast would be particularly personal to the Senator, or privately affect Senator Regan alone, so he must vote on the bill and the amendment.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator REGAN offered the following amendment No. A3160:

Amend Bill, page 1, lines 16 through 18, by striking out "in" in line 16 and all of lines 17 and 18 and inserting:

in preliminary provisions, further providing for definitions; in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores, further providing for sales by Pennsylvania Liquor Stores; and, in licenses and regulations, liquor, alcohol and malt and brewed beverages, further providing for heading of article, for authority to issue liquor licenses to hotels, restaurants and clubs, for sales by liquor licensees and restrictions, for secondary service area, for sale of malt or brewed beverages by liquor licensees, for public service liquor licenses, for liquor importers' licenses, fees, privileges and restrictions, for public venue license, for performing arts facility license, for continuing care retirement community retail licenses, for casino liquor license, for malt and brewed beverages manufacturers', distributors' and importing distributors' licenses, for sales by manufacturers of malt or brewed beverages and minimum quantities, for distributors' and importing distributors' restrictions on sales, storage, etc and for license auction; adding provisions relating to fees and taxation of ready-to-drink cocktails for off-premises consumption; and further providing for unlawful acts relative to malt or brewed beverages and licensees.

Amend Bill, page 1, lines 21 through 24, by striking out all of said lines and inserting:

Section 1. Section 102 of the act of April 12, 1951 (P.L.90, No.21), known as the Liquor Code, is amended by adding definitions to read:

Section 102. Definitions.--The following words or phrases, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section:

"Ready-to-drink cocktail" shall mean a beverage, composed in part of spirits, combined with other nonalcoholic ingredients, carbonated or still, by whatever name such beverage may be called, premixed and packaged in original containers, containing not more than sixteen ounces, provided that it is not mixed or adulterated on the licensed premises of a licensee. It shall mean any beverage consisting of at least one-half of one per centum, but not greater than twelve and one-half per centum, alcohol by volume. It shall not mean any beverage composed, in part, of wine or malt or brewed beverages. It shall be treated like liquor unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

"Spirits" shall mean any beverage which contains alcohol obtained by distillation, mixed with water or other substances in solution, and includes brandy, rum, whiskey, gin or other spirituous liquors and such liquors when rectified, blended or otherwise mixed with alcohol or other substances.

Section 2. Section 305(b) of the act is amended and the section is amended by adding a subsection to read:

Section 305. Sales by Pennsylvania Liquor Stores.--

(b) Every Pennsylvania Liquor Store shall sell liquors at wholesale to hotels, restaurants, clubs, and railroad, pullman and steamship companies licensed under this act; and, under the regulations of the board, to pharmacists duly licensed and registered under the laws of the Commonwealth, and to manufacturing pharmacists, and to reputable hospitals approved by the board, or chemists. Sales to licensees shall be made at a price that includes a discount of ten per centum from the retail price; except that special order sales to licensees authorized in subsection (a) shall not be subject to the ten per centum discount. Ready-to-drink cocktails as defined in section 102 shall not be subject to the ten per centum discount. The board may sell to registered pharmacists only such liquors as conform to the Pharmacopoeia of the United States, the National Formulary, or the American Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia. The board may sell at special prices under the regulations of the board, to United States Armed Forces facilities which are located on United States Armed Forces installations and are conducted pursuant to the authority and regulations of the United States Armed Forces. All other sales by such stores shall be at retail, except that incentives, such as coupons or discounts on certain products, may be offered to unlicensed customers of the board as provided under sections 207(m) and 493(24)(ii)(B). A person entitled to purchase liquor at wholesale prices may purchase the liquor at any Pennsylvania Liquor Store upon tendering cash, check or credit card for the full amount of the purchase. For this purpose, the board shall issue a discount card to each licensee identifying such licensee as a person authorized to purchase liquor at wholesale prices. Such discount card shall be retained by the licensee. The board may contract through the Commonwealth bidding process for delivery to wholesale licensees at the expense of the licensee receiving the delivery.

(l) Pennsylvania Liquor Stores may sell ready-to-drink cocktails.

Section 3. Article IV heading and sections 401(a), 406(a), (c), (d), (e) and (f) introductory paragraph and 406.1(a) of the act are amended to read:

Section 431. Malt and Brewed Beverages Manufacturers', Distributors' and Importing Distributors' Licenses.--* * *

(b) The board shall issue to any reputable person who applies therefor, and pays the license fee hereinafter prescribed, a distributor's or importing distributor's license for the place which such person desires to maintain for the sale of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails, not for consumption on the premises where sold, and in quantities of not less than a case or original containers containing one hundred twenty-eight ounces or more which may be sold separately as prepared for the market by the manufacturer at the place of manufacture. The sales shall not be required to be in the package configuration designated by the manufacturer and may be sold in refillable growlers; however, ready-to-drink cocktails shall only be sold in the original container. The board shall have the discretion to refuse a license to any person or to any corporation, partnership or association if such person, or any officer or director of such corporation, or any member or partner of such partnership or association shall have been convicted or found guilty of a felony within a period of five years immediately preceding the date of application for the said license: And provided further, That, in the case of any new license or the transfer of any license to a new location, the board may, in its discretion, grant or refuse such new license or transfer if such place proposed to be licensed is within three hundred feet of any church, hospital, charitable institution, school or public playground, or if such new license or transfer is applied for a place which is within two hundred feet of any other premises which is licensed by the board: And provided further, That the board shall refuse any application for a new license or the transfer of any license to a new location if, in the board's opinion, such new license or transfer would be detrimental to the welfare, health, peace and morals of the inhabitants of the neighborhood within a radius of five hundred feet of the place proposed to be licensed. The board may enter into an agreement with the applicant concerning additional restrictions on the license in question. If the board and the applicant enter into such an agreement, such agreement shall be binding on the applicant. Failure by the applicant to adhere to the agreement will be sufficient cause to form the basis for a citation under section 471 and for the nonrenewal of the license under section 470. If the board enters into an agreement with an applicant concerning additional restrictions, those restrictions shall be binding on subsequent holders of the license until the license is transferred to a new location or until the board enters into a subsequent agreement removing those restrictions. If the application in question involves a location previously licensed by the board, then any restrictions imposed by the board on the previous license at that location shall be binding on the applicant unless the board enters into a new agreement rescinding those restrictions. The board shall require notice to be posted on the property or premises upon which the licensee or proposed licensee will engage in sales of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails. This notice shall be similar to the notice required of hotel, restaurant and club liquor licensees.

Except as hereinafter provided, such license shall authorize the holder thereof to sell or deliver malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails in quantities above specified anywhere within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which, in the case of distributors, have been purchased only from persons licensed under this act as manufacturers or importing distributors, and in the case of importing distributors, have been purchased from manufacturers or persons outside this Commonwealth engaged in the legal sale of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails or from manufacturers or importing distributors licensed under this article. The importing distributor shall be permitted to receive a fee from the manufacturer for any related storage, repackaging or delivery services. In the case of a bailee for hire hired by a manufacturer, the holder of such a permit shall be authorized: to receive, store and repackaging malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails produced by that manufacturer for sale by that manufacturer to importing distributors to whom that manufacturer has given distribution rights pursuant to this subsection or to purchasers outside this Commonwealth for delivery outside this Commonwealth; or to ship to that manufacturer's storage facilities outside this Commonwealth. The bailee for hire shall be permitted to receive a fee from the manufacturer for any related storage, repackaging or delivery services. In addition, the holder of a distributor license may not sell or deliver malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails to any licensee whose licensed premises is located within the designated geographical area granted to an importing distributor other than the importing distributor that sold the malt or brewed beverages to the distributor. If the licensee purchasing the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails from the distributor license holder holds multiple licenses or operates at more than one location, then the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails may not be consumed or sold at licensed premises located within the designated geographical area granted to an importing distributor other than the importing distributor that sold the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails to the distributor. Should a licensee accept the delivery of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails or transfer malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails in violation of this section, said licensee shall be subject to a suspension of his license for at least thirty days: Provided, That the importing distributor holding such distributing rights for such product shall not sell or deliver the same to another importing distributor without first having entered into a written agreement with the said secondary importing distributor setting forth the terms and conditions under which such products are to be resold within the territory granted to the primary importing distributor by the manufacturer.

When a Pennsylvania manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages or a Pennsylvania manufacturer of ready-to-drink cocktails licensed under this article names or constitutes a distributor or importing distributor as the primary or original supplier of his product, he shall also designate the specific geographical area for which the said distributor or importing distributor is given distributing rights, and such distributor or importing distributor shall not sell or deliver the products of such manufacturer to any person issued a license under the provisions of this act whose licensed premises are not located within the geographical area for which distributing rights have been given to the distributor and importing distributor by the said manufacturer. In addition, the holder of a distributor license may not sell or deliver malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails to a licensee whose licensed premises is located within the designated geographical area granted to an importing distributor other than the importing distributor that sold the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails to the distributor. If the licensee purchasing the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails from the distributor license holder holds multiple licenses or operates at more than one location, the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails may not be consumed or sold at licensed premises located within the designated geographical area granted to an importing distributor other than the importing distributor that sold the malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails to the distributor. If a licensee accepts the delivery of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails or transfers malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails in violation of this section, the licensee shall be subject to suspension of his license for at least thirty days: Provided, That the importing distributor holding such distributing rights for such product shall not sell or deliver the same to another importing distributor without first having entered into a written agreement with the said secondary importing distributor setting forth the terms and conditions under which such products are to be resold within the territory granted to the primary importing distributor by the manufacturer. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any manufacturer from authorizing the importing distributor holding the distributing rights for a designated geographical area from selling the products of such manufacturer to another importing distributor also holding distributing rights from the same manufacturer for another geographical area, providing such authority be contained in writing and a copy thereof be given to each of the importing distributors so affected.

(b.1) (1) Any person in this Commonwealth or elsewhere who shall purchase or in any manner whatsoever acquire or otherwise succeed to the business of a manufacturer, assets or rights to import, market, ship into this Commonwealth or distribute a brand of beer or ready-to-drink cocktail, or to use and exploit any trademark incorporated as part of a brand of beer or ready-to-drink cocktail produced by such a manufacturer shall be obligated to all terms of the manufacturer's franchise agreements in effect on the effective date of the purchase, acquisition or succession, or, if earlier, at the time the agreement contemplating the purchase, acquisition or succession is actually made.

(c) The aforesaid licenses shall be issued only to reputable individuals, partnerships and associations who are, or whose members are, citizens of the United States and are residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or to reputable corporations organized or duly registered under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Such licenses shall be issued to corporations duly organized or registered under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania only when it appears that all of the officers and directors of the corporation are citizens of the United States and are residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that at least fifty-one per centum of the capital stock of such corporation is actually owned by individuals who are citizens of the United States and are residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: Provided, That the provisions of this subsection with respect to residence requirements shall not apply to individuals, partners, officers, directors and owners of capital stock, of corporations licensed or applying for licenses as manufacturers of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails, nor shall the provisions of this subsection with respect to stockholder requirements apply to corporations licensed or applying for licenses as manufacturers of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails.

(d) (1) All distributing rights as hereinabove required shall be in writing, shall be equitable in their provisions and shall be substantially similar as to terms and conditions with all other distributing rights agreements between the manufacturer giving such agreement and its other importing distributors and distributors shall not be modified, cancelled, terminated or rescinded by the manufacturer without good cause, and shall contain a provision in substance or effect as follows: "The manufacturer recognizes that the importing distributor and distributor are free to manage their business in the manner the importing distributor and distributor deem best and that this prerogative vests in the importing distributor and distributor the exclusive right to establish a selling price, to select the brands of malt or brewed beverages and ready-to-drink cocktails they wish to handle and to determine the efforts and resources which the importing distributor and distributor will exert to develop and promote the same of the manufacturer's products handled by the importing distributor and distributor. However, the manufacturer expects that the importing distributor and distributor will price competitively the products handled by them, devote reasonable effort and resources to the sale of such products and maintain a reasonable sales level." (3) Except for discontinuance of a brand or a valid termination for good cause, the purchaser of the assets of the manufacturer as defined in this act shall become obligated to all the territorial and brand designations of the agreement in effect on the date of purchase. Purchase of assets as defined for the purposes of this act shall include, but not be limited to, the sale of stock, sale of assets, merger, lease, transfer or consolidation.

during the pendency of such injunction the importing distributor or distributor shall continue to service the accounts of the manufacturer in good faith.

(5) The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to Pennsylvania manufacturers whose principal place of business is located in Pennsylvania unless they name or constitute a distributor or importing distributor as a primary or original supplier of their products subsequent to the effective date of this act, or unless such Pennsylvania manufacturers have named or constituted a distributor or importing distributor as a primary or original supplier of their products prior to the effective date of this act, and which status is continuing when this act becomes effective.

Section 13. This act shall take effect immediately.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Brewster.

Senator BREWSTER. Mr. President, I rise to object to the amendment at this time. While I understand that it is well-intended by my colleague and friend on the other side of the aisle, some of us who were here in 2016 recognize the modernization that we did: Act 39. Just to remind some folks on some of the statistics; last year, the revenue through the PLCB was a record $813 million: net income, $264 million, up $56 million in 1 year. Some of us recognize that the main responsibility of the PLCB, in my opinion, is threefold. One, to secure the sale of a product that can be harmful if not controlled at the point of sale. Secondly, to produce a product with convenience in location, product selection, and good pricing--and we have done that through the PLCB. Third, to generate revenue; it comes through the General Assembly to be distributed to organizations that we support, like the State Police.

This amendment, to me, is just another roadblock to a business that is fully funded, and by that I mean over 4,200 employees. It is one of the few line items in the budget that is fully paid for by the revenue generated: salaries, benefits, and retirement by 4,200 folks. One million dollars was spent just to secure the product at the point of sale at our 600 locations; 1 million background checks in terms of age at sale to prevent sale to underage individuals; $29.2 million to the State Police for liquor control enforcement. I will not go through all the distributions, but I think it is important to note that the PLCB, on our behalf--and we are stewards of the tax dollars--have done a magnificent job. Nobody can refute the numbers.

As I said, in 2016, when we passed Act 39, wine was more available, package reform at distributors, flexible pricing: all these things were made available by the General Assembly so that our stakeholders--the distributors, restaurants, and taverns--could enjoy more revenue and opportunity. I thought that was a big step for us to make here in the General Assembly. To nip away at the heels of an organization that is fully funded, folks who make modest salaries, folks who protect us, our children, and neighbors from going in at a young age and buying a product that--whether we want to admit it or not--it was a mind-altering product 100 years ago, and that has not changed. But, we have still been able to make it more convenient for the public. We have created new products and distributed more products than we have ever done in the past. There is no shortage of opportunities for us to find, whether they are cocktails to drink or off-premise sale, those kinds of things are available. As we go forward, I think what we need to do is have a conversation about how we can get to, possibly, phase two of modernization down the road.

If you read the amendment--it is very detailed--it looks to me almost like a business plan for the private sector. We have an obligation to the citizens to have a business plan for the PLCB. They have performed on your behalf magnificently. The stakeholders have received the tax dollars. We have had this conversation in the past when they brought up thinking about selling these assets. That is why they call them assets. Now, that is not in the amendment, but, to me, this is just another inch forward on that opportunity. I worked in the private sector, as many of you have, and one of the responsibilities I had was to outsource. It is the same thing. Outsource means that the bank did not want to have this product anymore, so we sold it to a vendor. Two things happened: prices went up and service levels went down because our folks no longer controlled the sale of the product; and, of course, once you signed the contract, the person who has the entity now gets the revenue. A vote for this amendment will continue this spiraling, out-of-control thought process that something is wrong with the PLCB. Where, in fact, it is a diamond--without question. When we deal with this issue, we deal with the taxpayers' asset; it belongs to the taxpayers, not to us. As stewards of their money, we have an obligation to recognize what they have done, and the facts and figures are clear.

As I said, while the amendment is well-intended and certainly requires a lot more discussion than we can have today, I will say this on behalf of Senate Bill No. 566: the sale, through auction, of dormant licenses is a bill that we can accept--a bill that I think we can support. It generates more opportunities for others and also generates additional revenue. So, the underlying bill, in my opinion, is very acceptable. I would ask my colleagues to consider what the PLCB has done and do more research if you need it. Let us protect that entity as long as they continue to do what they have done in the past with record-breaking years--I think that is significant. So, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendment.

Thank you, Mr. President.

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 635 (Pr. No. 1125) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 12 (Commerce and Trade) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, in property assessed clean energy program, further providing for purpose, for definitions, for establishment of a program, for notice to lien holder required for participation, for scope of work, for lien and for collection of assessments.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Senator DiSanto.

Senator DiSANTO. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to Senate Bill No. 635. The bill is presented as a low-cost, voluntary, alternative method to pay for energy-efficient improvements and construction. In fact, it creates an unnecessary transfer of costs and actually increases costs to the end payer. In addition, Senate Bill No. 635 bars 80 percent of licensed contractors in Pennsylvania from participating in these projects, especially small and/or family-owned businesses. Therefore, I urge a "no" vote on Senate Bill No. 635. Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Yudichak.

Senator YUDICHAK. Mr. President, I rise today in support of Senate Bill No. 635, legislation that would enhance an existing program here in the Commonwealth--a successful program--the Commercial Property-Assessed Clean Energy program. Since its inception through Act 30 of 2018, C-PACE, as it is known, has resulted in $2 billion in private investment, more than 2,500 commercial projects, and 24,000 new jobs in Pennsylvania. C-PACE enables property owners to take advantage of private capital, not public capital, and long-term financing to implement energy efficiency programs for agricultural, commercial, and industrial property. C-PACE provides up to 100 percent funding for projects by placing a special, voluntary assessment on the property that repays the cost of the upgrades.

Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 635 continues the success of this existing program that has provided low-cost, long-term, fixed-rate financing to a new portfolio of eligible, worthwhile projects. Currently, 30-plus States have enacted a similar type of legislation that is enabling more than $2 billion in private financing for over 2,000 projects across the country. Here in Pennsylvania, at least 15 counties are currently participating in some form of the C-PACE program: Luzerne County in the 14th Senatorial District, as well as Washington, Erie, Allegheny, Westmoreland, Bedford, Centre, Wayne, Lebanon, Berks, Lehigh, Northampton, Montgomery, Philadelphia, and Delaware Counties. All of these counties have voluntarily signed up for and implemented this program and are helping their communities deal with an aging housing stock. C-PACE financing is a proven and effective tool to help statewide businesses invest in cost-saving, energy efficiency projects that create jobs and improve air quality in our homes. Mr. President, I respectfully request an affirmative vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Senator Bartolotta.

Senator BARTOLOTTA. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 913, which, truly, is a bipartisan piece of legislation intended to improve our probation system. I am proud to sponsor this historic bill with my colleagues, Senator Baker and Senator Anthony Williams. Probation is supposed to be a pathway out of the criminal justice system. Instead, Pennsylvania is adding more and more people to community supervision and keeping them stuck there. The broken system has frequently become a probation to prison revolving door that is in desperate need of reform. Under the current probation system, technical violations, which are not actual crimes--such as being late for an appointment, traveling out of State, or being unable to pay a fine and restitution--can lead to excessive extensions of probation or prison time that far exceeds the original sentence handed down at trial. This approach has proven both ineffective at making our neighborhoods safer and significantly expensive for taxpayers.

The nonpartisan Council of State Government's previously issued report indicated that Pennsylvania spends $100 million every year to incarcerate offenders who commit technical violations of probation and parole. If a probationer violates his or her probation terms in some minor technical way, the results should not be to simply lock them away. We need a system that better matches the punishment to the offense and rewards good behavior. When Senator Anthony Williams and I initially set out to address issues in our probation system over 2 years ago, we knew it was not going to be easy; meaningful change rarely is. Here we are back at it, once again, working to provide historic changes to the system at a time when they are very much needed. Thankfully, we are not in this fight alone. I want to acknowledge and thank my colleague, Senator Baker, for her leadership and commitment to addressing the flaws in our probation system, which have trapped nonviolent offenders in a cycle of incarceration. Senate Bill No. 913 represents the collective work of a number of stakeholders. While I understand there are some individuals who wish the bill would go further, it does, nonetheless, provide historic changes to the system in a form that we believe can make its way to the Governor's desk.

It is far past time that Pennsylvania joins the 30 other States that have responsibly addressed probation sentences to ensure minor violations do not become a probation-to-prison revolving door. I urge my colleagues to change the lives of millions of people across Pennsylvania, strengthen families and communities, and make our streets safer. I urge an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 913.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Santarsiero.

Senator SANTARSIERO. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 913. I want to echo the comments so concisely and eloquently stated by Senator Bartolotta. I thank her; my good friend, the Majority chair of the Committee on Judiciary, Senator Baker; and of course, my colleague and friend in our Caucus, Senator Anthony Williams, who has been a leader on this issue for many years now.

An earlier iteration of this bill passed this Senate unanimously a year and a half ago, in the last Session: Senate Bill No. 14. Senate Bill No. 913 improves on that bill. As Senator Bartolotta just alluded to, there are some outside of this building who believe that the bill does not go far enough, and that is a debate that is certainly worth having moving forward. But there is no question that this bill is a vast improvement over our current system, and as Senator Bartolotta just outlined, this bill will remove the trap that so many who are in our probation system fall into for so-called technical violations that really do not go to the heart of the issue in terms of the commission of a subsequent crime that would merit further incarceration. This bill provides an opportunity, ultimately, to get out of the system and to get people in a position where they can go on with their lives and out of the criminal justice system altogether. It does not include caps, we understand that, but it does include mandatory reviews and gives people in the probation system the ability to get to that point where they get out of it and, ultimately, as I said, get on with their lives. So this is a reform measure that is truly bipartisan and is a demonstration of the fact that we can still work together on both sides of the aisle to get meaningful change done. For those reasons, I congratulate my three colleagues who have worked so hard on it, and I respectfully ask that all Members vote in favor of Senate Bill No. 913.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Saval.

Senator SAVAL. Mr. President, I rise today to speak on Senate Bill No. 913. The authors of the bill have obviously worked very hard, as I think we have heard, to accommodate various interests in reforming a probation system that was meant to be an alternative to incarceration, but it has instead become a major source of it in its own right. A number of aspects of this legislation, I believe, are admirable. It prohibits courts from punishing people who cannot afford to pay fines or costs, for example, and it strikes an infamous vindication of the court provision. However, I will be voting "no" on this legislation because I fear it may ultimately fail to benefit many people affected by the arbitrary authority of the court, and by substituting a number of well-intentioned provisions to mitigate the arbitrariness of that authority, create a new set of onerous requirements that mitigate the effectiveness of the reforms.

Effective probation reform, I believe, would require hard caps on probation terms, require automatic termination, prohibit incarceration in the case of failing to report, which affects an overwhelming number of cases. In addition, I worry about the new category of probation that it creates in statute, administrative probation, for those who owe restitution, something that was not a requirement in an earlier version of this bill. For these, and a number of other reasons, I will be voting "no" on Senate Bill No. 913. Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Anthony Williams.

Senator A.H. WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I want to thank my colleagues. We have been through a difficult couple of years in this country as it relates to the pandemic, and issues which I never thought would become politicized are now politicized and divide us as a nation under party lines. Sometimes urban, rural, race, economic positions, party affiliations are those dividing lines. This is one of those moments that strikes a different perspective and a promise for this country and this Commonwealth. Be very clear that there are those of you who will be supporting this measure who may never know anyone who is in the criminal justice system, unfairly prosecuted, or on probation for an infinite period of time. But, nonetheless, have found yourself able to participate in the conversation that, frankly, a generation ago we should have done.

I do not need to repeat the stories of people who are on probation who, unfortunately, find themselves at wits' end. They have decided to change their lives. They have gone out and found gainful employment. They are raising their children. They may be a single mom doing all of that at the same time, but, nonetheless, they have committed technical violations because they simply could not get to see the probation officer because they had a doctor's appointment for their child, had to drop the child off to daycare, or are dealing with their own employment issues. Understand the litany of technical violations, that is mind-numbing to those of us who believe in fairness, has been significantly reduced. So for my friends who are demanding of us that we need to do more, I am shoulder to shoulder with you. But, I am also clear, I cannot wait another 20 years for the possibility and promise of both parties agreeing: that people from all across Pennsylvania coalescing around an issue to say enough is enough and we are going to try to get it corrected. I cannot tell you that everyone in my district who is affected by this will jump up with joy, but I will tell you that there are countless numbers who will. There are many people who returned from their time served in our probations and have called my office in support of the previous version, in support of this version, and will support me going forward. Be very clear, as a politician wading into waters that are divided, and sometimes emotionally charged, is not what most of us would want to do. I am doing this because I know it to be the right thing for Pennsylvania and for those people who are not counted in Pennsylvania. I would not do anything less.

So the reality is, as we go through the bill and arguments against it are made, I am more than happy at any given time to sit down and make sure people know what the real facts are. Be very clear, this is not an expansion of the court's powers, frankly, it is a negotiated understanding that they are going to be less influenced by that. It is certainly removing the arbitrary nature of what a probation officer is, and that is fearful in the eyes of a probationer that they will do something even if they are trying to correct their behavior every single day. In fact, it will put an end to arbitrary decisions about probation being extended forever. Yes, there are those who argue about a defined cap, but the reality is, as complex as it is--I do not care where you are in Pennsylvania - Philadelphia, Erie, Scranton, Greenfield, Fairfield, it does not matter where you are--the issue of how we deal with the judicial system is more and more apparent as it connects with crime, and people are concerned about how we balance that conversation. So I am not just standing here checking off on the best leftovers. I am here supporting hard, diligent work to convert perspectives, minds, and opinions and get them to see the world a little bit differently than their own. Take a look at the view into parts of southwest, west Philadelphia, or parts of Delaware County, where I have constituents who are crying, please fix this, and I cannot wait. I cannot wait for everybody to get everything they want. I cannot wait for Democrats and Republicans to get along. I cannot wait for a new Governor. I cannot wait, Senator, because my child needs me, my family needs me, my wife needs me, my husband needs me, and, most importantly, I have a message if I am home to send to the next generation, so they do not repeat the same mistakes.

So I am grateful that these pleas have been listened to over the many years I have been here. I am proud to support this legislation, and, again, if there are issues that folks believe that significantly alter to make this worse, please come meet me. I will be happy to sit down, talk to you, and try to make corrections if I can. But, in my most earnest, thoughtful review, and countless lawyers and folks from the community, we came up with this product. It was not the leftovers. It is the best of promises that we are going to keep for those who, unfortunately, find themselves in trying times to change the course of their lives. So, I am obviously in full support of this, but most importantly, I am proudly in support of what we are doing today and hold my head high when I meet with those folks who may have a different perspective. Again, I thank my partner, Senator Bartolotta, who has worked with me over many years on this issue, and I have to say the closer, I think I mentioned this before; Senator Baker, who hails from a different part of Pennsylvania than me and has different views about this than me, and many people who talked about this have different views of this. She was the rudder on the ship that was going nowhere, and she singularly deserves our collective praise about where we are today. I thank her and my colleagues who are speaking in support of this, and spoke in support in caucus about this. You gave some clarity of understanding. I thank all of them, but, most importantly, I hope that those who are waiting for us to see this change will see it swiftly and immediately.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Mr. President, I rise to speak on Senate Bill No. 913. First, to all of the folks who are advocates and want and believe we should have caps on total probation and parole, we should. I would support them, but we do not have them today. For all those who believe that this bill does not do everything that we need to do to reform probation and parole, you are correct. There is much work to be done. Make it very clear, some of that work might get done in the House, and much of that work may be done in subsequent legislation, but understand this: this legislation does stop the reincarceration of people from failing to pay fines and restitution. It does stop the arbitrary reincarceration simply because a judge wants to, and I quote, vindicate the authority of the court. It does cap the amount of time that a person can be recommitted to when either the first or the second offense. It does stop a person from being recommitted for being late to a meeting with an official, and it does stop a person from being arbitrarily recommitted without specificity as to the nature of the violation.

What we have today is a step in the right direction. Is it a complete step? Have we done everything we need to do? No. Are there things in earlier versions of the bill I would have liked to support? Yes. The reality is that while I would love to see all of the things that some of my colleagues on this side of the aisle have enumerated, we are not going to get all those things today. But, what we are getting is a material step forward: a situation where things are better than they are today. We are getting a state of the law, which allows people to have a better chance at justice and more certainty in their hearings. I want to point out, there has been a lot of talk about the "may vs. shall" provisions. Well, there is a sentence that points in there: (Reading)

The court shall not impose [under the current law] a sentence of total confinement upon revocation [then it has] unless it finds that: the defendant has been convicted of another crime; or the conduct of the defendant indicates that it is likely that he will commit another crime if he is not imprisoned [which is pretty arbitrary, and finally]; or such a sentence is essential to vindicate the authority of the court.

This third provision completely eradicates the certainty that the "shall not" provision has, but if you look under the revised provisions of law, if this bill were to pass, it enumerates very specific provisions under when and where you can recommit a person under Section 2, and in Section 3, limits in 1 and 2 the amount of time a person can be recommitted.

These are a big deal. The reality is that I know of a case--and I have heard of cases--where a man was trying to take his mother--his mother had a heart attack--and he was late for his probation and parole hearing. He was recommitted to being incarcerated for a period of time that was far in excess of 2 weeks--it was months--simply because he missed the hearing. That person's life would be better under this bill. There are a number of people whose lives will be better, and I certainly would like to do a lot more. But, as a prominent man once said, we should not let the perfect be the enemy of the good. Today we have a good bill, and therefore I urge an affirmative vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Baker.

Senator BAKER. Mr. President, I thank all of the previous speakers who have stepped forward to talk about comprehensive probation reform and the need for it here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The three bills that we will vote on today represent an extensive amount of work: two bills that we have already adopted; one that is before us right now. There has been a lot of study, discussion, input gathering, debate--as you heard from the other speakers--refinement, and revision. These have all been done and undertaken by reform advocates, judicial and correctional leaders, legislators, and my colleagues who have spoken, seeking to achieve what we know should be constructive and sustainable probation reform. I am very proud to have worked with these groups and commend them for their efforts to come together because it is all too easy to politicize criminal justice. It is much harder to conduct a review in reasonable and responsible terms getting past, as Senator Anthony Williams said, philosophical differences that cannot all be bridged in any one, single legislative package.

As has been stated, there are many very well-intended groups and individuals who think these reform measures, perhaps, do not go far enough, and they have pressed for additional changes that have not received sufficient agreement to date, and I say that, to date. That does not reflect any judgment that these items are without merit or that future consideration can occur. While I respect and admire their views, I want to say that, today, we have an opportunity to take a giant step forward in holding people accountable for their actions and providing incentives to encourage and reward positive behavior when they succeed. I can say with confidence that these measures warrant our approval today. Keeping the status quo does nothing to help address the flaws in a broken system or help nonviolent offenders productively move forward with their lives.

Several provisions contained in these bills before us are relatively straightforward, expressly allowing probation meetings to be held remotely. If we learned anything from the COVID-19 pandemic, those can be done successfully. Also, working to improve the scheduling of how probation and parole meetings are taking place and having standards that are across the Commonwealth. But, the centerpiece bill--that you have heard much about--is more involved in setting new guidelines and requirements for holding probation review conferences, moving forward to terminate probation, setting a very important presumption standard for doing so, and putting in place realistic limitations on incarceration for those violations that go beyond simple, technical in degree. This builds upon a bill--that has been stated--that passed the Senate last Session. Unfortunately, it did not make it across the finish line.

But, this approach that we have before us today merits our support and has earned the support of a wide array of groups who are not often found together on the same side of issues. I think it is important to hear who is in favor of this bill: the American Conservative Union, Americans for Prosperity, the Commonwealth Foundation, the Faith and Freedom Coalition, the Pennsylvania District Attorneys Association, the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry, the Reform Alliance, the Urban League of Philadelphia, the Department of Corrections, the Office of Victim Advocate, and the Governor's Office are all on board. So, what is being proposed in Senate Bill No. 913? Greater fairness in the process, eliminating excessive incarceration, giving individuals a more reliable second chance to get their lives right, and offering taxpayers a break from the ever-rising State correctional costs, are all necessary and well-considered changes in this bill. Because so much effort and public examination has been put into these bills, there is confidence that we can strike a balance in overhauling the system, giving greater consideration to effectively bringing individuals back into our society, communities, and neighborhoods, and we will do so without compromising community safety during this transformation. Pennsylvania needs a criminal justice system to protect people, but Pennsylvania needs a restorative justice system to respect the rights of those who have served their time.

I thank Senator Bartolotta and Senator Anthony Williams, who appeared before the Committee on Judiciary 2 years ago to bring forward the concept of comprehensive reform. In this new Session, it has been my privilege to work with them; Senator Santarsiero and his staff, Sean Brennan; Mike Cortez and Kate Flessner of my office; to bring this bill to where we are today through much hard work, dedication, and something that I am very proud to say we did in a collaborative, bipartisan way. I urge an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 913, so that we can move forward with a system that is fair and balanced.

Thank you, Mr. President.

--------	-----------	------	-------

A constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Secretary of the Senate present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SB 924 (Pr. No. 1177) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of October 20, 1966 (3rd Sp.Sess., P.L.96, No.6), known as the Mental Health and Intellectual Disability Act of 1966, in preliminary provisions, further providing for definitions; and, in responsibilities of the State, providing for State center closure moratorium.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Venango, Senator Hutchinson.

Senator HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 924. Mr. President, even though last year a similar bill was passed and vetoed by the Governor, in the meantime--since the announced closure of these centers--we have had a major, worldwide pandemic, which you all are very well aware of. What that has meant is that zero planning and thorough thought of how this process of those who--even if you wish to move people to other living arrangements, there has been a process whereby nothing has happened. The Department of Health and Human Services has refused to delay the 3-year announced closure date even though things are in chaos.

In the meantime, we have families who are deathly afraid about the future living arrangements for their very fragile family members. Mr. President, those residents--and I will particularly talk about Polk State Center--who continue to reside there, many of them have never known another home. A majority of those who live there have a dual diagnosis. Not only are they diagnosed with intellectual disabilities, but they also have mental health problems. They are very expensive to be taken care of; many of them require around-the-clock, one-on-one healthcare. To say that we can rip them out of their current home, where they have chosen to stay--I repeat, these individuals and their families have chosen to remain at Polk State Center--because they believe that is the best possible environment and home for their family members.

I think it is unconscionable to be talking about ripping them out of their homes and moving them to some undisclosed place at this time. It is undisclosed because we had a pandemic and we also have, at the same time, a large number of individuals, both at White Haven and at Polk State Centers, who would have to be placed elsewhere. It is physically impossible, morally wrong, and we need a moratorium. This bill simply puts a moratorium in place and also puts in place a structured, thorough, and thoughtful process to evaluate the current institutions and to make a better, more well-planned decision about how we move forward. Until those more thorough plans are done, there will be no State center closures. I think this is a reasonable bill. I think it is more necessary now than it was the last time we passed on it because time has marched on and movement to other settings has not occurred. I also think that this is the right thing to do for the most vulnerable residents of Pennsylvania, those with such challenges that they live and fulfill their lives with phenomenal care provided by Polk State Center and White Haven Center.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to join me in allowing choice for these families, many of whom are elderly and worried about what will happen to their child--who has, for a very long period of time, resided at Polk, gotten phenomenal care, and had a wonderful life--when the parents pass away. They are afraid of what will happen to their child going forward. So, I rise for choice, thoughtful planning, and allowing folks to live in the setting that they have decided was best for their family. I ask my colleagues to support and vote for Senate Bill No. 924.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Cappelletti.

Senator CAPPELLETTI. Mr. President, I have been lucky enough to be able to work as an advocate in several different spaces. In 2015, I had the privilege of interning for the year at the Institute on Disabilities, and, might I say, what a tremendous experience. I had the opportunity to learn from individuals with varying levels of physical and intellectual disabilities and autism, and if I did not know it then, I certainly know now: individuals with disabilities are just like you and me.

They have hopes and dreams, thoughts and feelings. They are capable of so very much and so much more than many of us standing here give them credit for. We should be in awe of their strength, courage, and persistence. But, the idea that people in these safe centers have never known anything else, well, that is unconscionable to me. People, human beings, who have thoughts and feelings, who are just like you and me, have never known anything but the inside of an institution. I remember when I was at the Institute on Disabilities, I met a young woman who was a self-advocate. I say young, she was a few years older than me, and she had been placed at Pennhurst. I am sure many of us remember what Pennhurst was and what happened to the people there, and she faced an immense amount of abuse and denigration while she was there. Then, Pennhurst shut down, and she was able to leave and live on her own with the support and resources from waiver programs, self-directed services, things that she got to make decisions about herself for. Now, to this day, she is a self-advocate who comes to this Capitol building, advocating for things like closures of State centers, talking about how she has been able to live her life out in the world independently with the right support and resources, which we have and provide in this State. She lives on her own; she commutes up here to Harrisburg on her own; she even has a child from her time at Pennhurst who she now has a relationship with. She is an amazing individual who I am so proud to know. I wanted to make that a side note to my prepared remarks that it is unconscionable that a human being knows nothing but institutionalization.

What else they taught me when I was at the Institute on Disabilities: nothing about us without us. They taught me that. Legislation without their input does not support them. For 40 years there has been a nationwide movement for persons with intellectual disabilities and autism to live within their communities and to choose their healthcare providers and support systems, person-directed services, self-directed services, and waiver programs. In the 1960s the Department of Human Services served approximately 13,000 people in State centers. That number has steadily declined, and today, it is less than 605. However, individuals receiving services in the community has grown to more than 40,000 people, with more than a quarter of these individuals in 24/7 residential services that provide care similar to what is being offered at State centers. Meaning, they have the same very high acuity needs or are considered as medically fragile as the same individuals who are in State centers. The sheer number of advocacy organizations whose work is centered on the voices of individuals with disabilities, who are against this moratorium, should tell you everything you need to know about this bill. This bill does not represent the voices of the affected. Rather, it takes a paternalistic approach to tell others that we, who do not walk in their shoes, know better about what it is that they need and what is best for them. But, in fact, people with intellectual disabilities or autism do not want to live in institutions. The use of these facilities is decreasing at an alarming rate. There are 12,357 people waiting for home and community-based services as opposed to accepting immediately available services in intermediate care facilities, which are private facilities similar to our State centers and offer the same basic support services. When a person or their family member applies for services from the intellectual disability and autism system, they are provided with the choices. Despite there being around 100 vacant beds in intermediate facilities, they choose to wait because they want to be a part of our community. They want to feel like regular people like us because they are regular people like us.

If the moral arguments of listening to the people affected do not move you, then let us put this into more context. In fiscal year 2021-22 there have only been three admissions to State centers. While money should not be the basis for making these decisions, it is important to note that White Haven's fiscal budget for 2021 is $45.97 million, but they are only serving 79 residents. That means it costs $582,000 per person, annually, to run this facility, and that is projected to rise to $942,000 by the fiscal year 2031 budget. The Polk Center: $70.75 million with only 158 residents. So the cost per person, annually, is $445,000 and projected to rise to $812,000 by the fiscal year 2031 if these facilities remain open. But what does it cost to keep an individual in the community, for them to be served in the community, and to live with us? It ranges from about $180,000 to $270,000 per person, annually. It is a stark difference. These centers are not only costly to the life and liberties of those individuals with disabilities, but they are also costly to the Pennsylvania budget. I urge my colleague to listen to the voices of those affected. Hear them, know that they are able to make these decisions just like you and me, and they are telling you that they want to live and participate in life with you and me. I urge a "no" vote on Senate Bill No. 924.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Yudichak.

Senator YUDICHAK. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 924. I am the proud son of an AFSCME worker; my mom worked at the White Haven State Center for many years before retirement, before she passed away. My mom would often take me up to the White Haven State Center so that I could see the families, so I could see the individuals being served there by a dedicated staff of over 400 union families from northeastern Pennsylvania: families and union workers who treated these individuals, who were residents at White Haven State Center, like they were their own family. All that we are doing in Senate Bill No. 924 and legislation that this Chamber passed, the House passed and, unfortunately, was vetoed by this administration, by this Governor, all this legislation does--and I commend Senator Brooks and Senator Hutchinson, who have been great champions in the western part of Pennsylvania for Polk State Center, and I stand here along with Senator Baker to argue for White Haven State Center not only because they are good union jobs, 800 good union jobs in Pennsylvania that this administration is wiping out of these communities, communities that really depend on these quality union jobs, but we are also ripping away the choice to families who have made the decision to have their loved ones entrusted to the care of these union workers. We are taking away that choice; we are taking away that liberty.

When we held a hearing a few years ago on this issue, one of the things that struck me most was that when there is an announcement of a closure and when there is a clumsy handling of the closure that it takes years, what happens? The death rate in these facilities goes up by 30 percent. That is unconscionable to me, to put these individuals through all of that pain and consternation, because bureaucrats in Harrisburg cannot get it right. One of the families very dear to me, the Kashatus family, had their beautiful daughter, Maria, at White Haven State Center. She had been there most of her life. That was their choice. They got the best care. In fact, the Kashatus family was on the board of trustees. You know what they did? They took on additional guardianship of at least seven or eight more individuals at White Haven Center. Why would they do that? Would they do that because they had no choice? I do not have a problem with community-based service, if that is your choice, that is your choice. Why are bureaucrats in Harrisburg and administration in Harrisburg going to deny the Kashatus family that choice to pick the best place for their daughter and their guardians? Sadly, just in the last year, Maria passed away. That devastated the Kashatus family, but they are still in the fight. They know what that service at White Haven State Center meant to Maria. I had another family, a family who I grew up with, the Clark family. They have a brother at White Haven State Center. He is in his mid-seventies; he wants to live in dignity around those who have served him his whole life. That is his choice. That is his family's choice. Senate Bill No. 924 gives these families who care deeply about their loved ones the choice of a State center or community-based care. Please, I urge an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 924. Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Haywood.

Senator HAYWOOD. Mr. President, I want to start off with the number of organizations that oppose the legislation: Disability Rights Pennsylvania; Pennsylvania Developmental Disabilities Council; Institute on Disabilities at Temple University; The Arc of Pennsylvania; Pennsylvania Council on Independent Living; Liberty Resources Inc.; Roads to Freedom Center for Independent Living; and Pennsylvania Statewide Independent Living Council. These are the core organizations in our Commonwealth that stand up for the disabled. These are the organizations that fought for having home- and community-based care for the individuals with intellectual disabilities. These are the organizations that have changed the system in Pennsylvania, and that is a system that has been changed and has focused on home- and community-based care for several decades. What has been proposed in this moratorium is a reversal of this long process toward home- and community-based care.

What we have heard here is very challenging for the families of all those who may be moved. At the same time, the administration has made a commitment to provide a choice, and that choice is that those who commit to feel that the institution is the place for them, institutional placement will be provided; that choice. We have been here before in connection with this moratorium legislation. I stand with the disability rights organizations in their firm commitment to building and continuing the community- and home-based system that we have.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Indiana, Senator Pittman.

Senator PITTMAN. Mr. President, I rise in support of this legislation because I am listening to the voices of those affected. Mr. President, my story is similar to that of my colleague, the gentleman from Luzerne County. Two years ago, I was approached by an elderly couple at a local festival, and they came up to me with fear in their eyes, their voices quivering--an elderly couple in their mid-eighties--to plead for my support in ensuring that the Polk Center remained open. Why is that? Because they recognized that was the best care for their daughter: their daughter who has lived there for 50 years because of her intellectual disabilities. Fifty years the parents of this young lady relied on the services of the Polk Center.

Mr. President, not every circumstance is identical. Compassion can take many forms; needs for support and services can take many forms. I am proud to stand and vote "yes" on this legislation on behalf of the couple I met 2 years ago, who rely on the services of the Polk Center to keep their daughter safe and to give them comfort in the difficult times whenever they know she needs care to such a degree that they physically are not able to provide to her themselves. If that center closed, they had no idea what they would do, where they would go, and they are not able to navigate the web and the system that we have to find alternative placement. So, I think this is proper and necessary legislation, and from my vantage point, a vote in favor of this legislation is a compassionate vote.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Mercer, Senator Brooks.

Senator BROOKS. Mr. President, I often think about Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft, who used to talk with me about the child who lived in Polk. While their hearts broke and ached to have them at home, the one piece of comfort that they had was that their son was in a home with people who loved him, took care of him, and he was safe. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 924, but, more importantly, I passionately rise in support of our most vulnerable residents here in Pennsylvania. They have become the victims of bureaucracy, and, yes, I say victims because bureaucracy thinks that they know better, they know best, for this vulnerable population. They are actually taking their voices away. Bureaucracy is removing these residents' voices because bureaucrats think they know best, that they know better than these residents and their families. People talk about, well, these families and residents would still have choices because there are other institutions located in the State. These institutions are hours away for the very families who want to see their loved ones. I think about the Bancrofts, they would never have been able to travel to Selinsgrove, in Ebensburg. So, not only could their son not live with them, in this situation the State would have taken the opportunity away from them to see their own son. That is not what this population needs. They need a loving, nurturing home where they are safe, but they also need their family members. People talk about choice; we want to give these vulnerable residents their voices back because bureaucrats are stealing their voices and their families' voices. I ask for your support for Senate Bill No. 924, out of compassion for these most vulnerable residents of our State because we owe it to them to give them their voices and choices back.

Thank you, Mr. President.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR RESUMED

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 938, HB 1082, HB 1121 and HB 1660 -- Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Senator AUMENT.

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 2071 (Pr. No. 2518) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 64 (Public Authorities and Quasi-Public Corporations) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, establishing the Pennsylvania Broadband Development Authority to provide broadband Internet access to unserved and underserved residents; and providing for powers and duties of the authority and for grant awards.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Senator Phillips-Hill.

Senator PHILLIPS-HILL. Mr. President, I rise in support of House Bill No. 2071. House Bill No. 2071, sponsored by Representative Causer, establishes the Pennsylvania Broadband Development Authority with the intended purpose of enabling the development and expansion of broadband services across the Commonwealth. Mr. President, the topic of broadband expansion has been a priority of mine since I came to the General Assembly in 2015. When I became the chair of the Committee on Communications and Technology, I continued to prioritize broadband access by conducting a series of hearings across the State. As a result of those hearings, we established three main areas to address in order to adequately and efficiently expand broadband access by eliminating regulations, utilizing existing State assets, and prioritizing funding. The committee has addressed the regulatory and existing State asset components, and, today, we will all be addressing the biggest piece of the puzzle: funding.

This legislation will position our Commonwealth to handle the massive influx of Federal taxpayer dollars dedicated to broadband expansion. Let me be crystal clear: whether it be Federal tax dollars, State tax dollars, or local tax dollars, this money comes out of the same wallet, from our taxpayers back home. House Bill No. 2071 ensures that these hard-earned tax dollars--that were approved by our Federal counterparts--are spent wisely and prudently. The authority that is created as a result of this bill will have a total of 11 members, consisting of various agency secretaries and the director of the Center for Rural Pennsylvania. It will include four appointees from each of the legislative Caucuses, plus a gubernatorial appointee. The authority will also be responsible for creating a statewide broadband plan, which we currently do not have and is a requirement from the Federal government to be eligible to even apply for Federal dollars for broadband expansion. The authority will also conduct data collection and mapping to ensure that tax dollars are going to areas in need. The authority will be tasked with executing grants and contracts, applying for and receiving funding, and allocating those dollars. Eligible entities for funding must have technical, managerial, and financial expertise to design, build, and operate high-speed broadband service infrastructure. Finally, all accounts and finances will be subject to audits and review by the Auditor General, and any mishandling of funds will be subject to a clawback provision by the authority. The authority will sunset within 10 years or after all Federal funds are exhausted.

Mr. President, our constituents often hear of the disagreements and the lack of coordination and bipartisanship through government. What they do not usually hear about are the times when we sit down and work together, regardless of political affiliation, and that is exactly what happened throughout the process of this legislation. All four Caucuses and the Governor's Office spent months in drafting meetings and policy discussions to formulate this final product that will benefit all Pennsylvanians. I want to give a special thank you to everyone who spent countless hours and time working on this bill, including my Democratic chair on the Committee on Communications and Technology, Senator Kane; our Committee on Appropriations chairman, Senator Browne; and the leaders over in the House on this issue, Representative Owlett, Representative Causer, and Representative Snyder. Additionally, I would be remiss if I did not thank all of the staff working behind the scenes who have spent many hours drafting and working on this bill, including Phil Kirchner, Tony Aliano, Scott Sikorski, Chris Donahue, Adam Pankake, Krista Hair, Matt Franchak, Matt Moyer, Mike Deery, and last, but certainly not least, my legislative director, Chloe Mandara. I respectfully request my colleagues to cast an affirmative vote for House Bill No. 2071.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Chester, Senator Kane.

Senator KANE. Mr. President, I am so proud to rise today in support of House Bill No. 2071 and to urge a "yes" vote. Right now, as I speak, 800,000 Pennsylvanians still do not have access to broadband. Many Pennsylvanians do not have access to high-speed broadband; that means no access to telehealth, telework, e-commerce, or virtual learning. That is not acceptable. This bill is a massive step towards fixing that. The Pennsylvania Broadband Development Authority will help expand access to broadband in unserved and underserved communities across the Commonwealth. As you heard, the authority will develop a statewide broadband plan for broadband build out, coordinate public and private efforts to expand broadband access in Pennsylvania, access to additional sources of Federal funding, and help municipalities expedite broadband deployment.

I also want to highlight another key point of this bill--something I am very proud to see in there. This bill will guarantee that projects commissioned by the authority are completed by responsible contractors. That means that the workers who are on the ground laying the fiber and the cables to expand broadband access are protected by OSHA. It means that the contractors for these projects have to comply with workers' compensation and unemployment compensation laws. They also must maintain licenses and have the proper insurance for the project. It also means that as this bill expands access to broadband, it is also going to create good-paying jobs for working people. I thank Senator Phillips-Hill, the Majority chair of the Committee on Communication and Technology, for all her hard work. Also, I thank Representative Causer, Representative Snyder, Representative Owlett, our Governor, the administration, and the staff who have worked on this bill.

This bill is a massive step towards closing Pennsylvania's digital divide. Expanding broadband access is not a partisan issue or a regional issue; it affects all of our constituents and all of our communities. I urge an affirmative vote.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Berks, Senator Schwank.

Senator SCHWANK. Mr. President, as both you and I know, from serving as co-chairs on the Committee on Agriculture and Rural Affairs, how important this legislation is. This is a big deal. I commend my colleagues, Senator Phillips-Hill and Senator Kane, and particularly Representative Causer and Representative Snyder, who both represent very rural areas. But, while we are taking a victory lap, we need to also remember those citizen leaders who stepped forward to advocate for this. That would include our Pennsylvania State Grange and our Grange Master, Wayne Campbell, who, I think, has written many editorials about this issue over the years. He may have been among the first. Also, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, which also advocated continually because they understood what this means to rural Pennsylvania and to farmers who are now using technology on tractors and other equipment that absolutely has to have broadband access. This is so important. This is actually something that we have done that we can be proud of, but let us not forget the people of the Commonwealth who stepped forward and said, we want this, and never gave up advocating for it. We have a lot of work to do, but we are taking the first step. Thank you.

On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Brewster.

Senator BREWSTER. Mr. President, I rise again and encourage my colleagues to vote "no" on the bill. As I mentioned earlier today, the amendment, while lucid and well-thought, is untimely at best. Unfortunately, if the underlying bill--which is something I would have supported--goes through there is a likelihood of a veto, and we take a perfectly well-documented, underlying bill and spoil it with an amendment that requires a lot more thought and work. So I am asking my colleagues to, again, vote "no" on the bill.

Thank you, Mr. President.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Philadelphia, Senator Tartaglione.

Senator TARTAGLIONE. Mr. President, I rise because today marks 5,638 days since the Pennsylvania legislature last passed an increase in the minimum wage. For more than 15 years, Mr. President, our lowest earners have seen no legislative action from the General Assembly to support even their most basic needs. According to the 50/30/20 rule, which is considered good financial health, once monthly after-tax income should be divided into three spending categories: 50 percent for needs, 30 percent for wants, and 20 percent for savings or paying off debt.

To comfortably live in my home in Philadelphia, which is banned from increasing its minimum wage, one would need an annual income of approximately $82,000 if you are a homeowner, or $92,000 if renting. Yet, we stand here and argue if $15 an hour is adequate. Mr. President, we all know the minimum wage is inadequate. So why do we accept it? I cannot speak for the opponents of minimum wage and explain their unwillingness to provide a living wage, Mr. President.

What I can do is give a voice to the voiceless, the most vulnerable, and all of our constituents who do not know how they will buy groceries next month, how they will replace a tire if they get a flat going to work, or what will happen if, God forbid, they ended up in the hospital and were left with thousands of dollars of medical debt. Mr. President, the ability to not need to worry about those things is a privilege, and it is all of our duty and responsibility as elected officials to be a voice and advocate for those less fortunate than us. Our daily inability to come together and pass meaningful, life-changing legislation is an embarrassment and a stain on our Commonwealth. Senate Bill No. 12, which would finally raise the minimum wage, has been sitting in committee since February. Let us bring it to a vote, Mr. President, and provide relief for our Commonwealth's lowest earners. Mr. President, it would have been lovely to be able to give these earners a Christmas present with a wage increase.

Thank you, Mr. President.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Dush has returned, and his temporary Capitol leave is cancelled.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Jefferson, Senator Dush.

Senator DUSH. Mr. President, today I rise with noel, good news. For the past 2 days, some of you have noticed that I have been a bit distracted. That distraction has been--although my family and I have known for months that we have a new young lady in the family, we have not been able to see her until she was born yesterday. Paisley Noelle Dush is a healthy, beautiful daughter to my son, Garrett, and his lovely wife, Katie. Everyone is in good health, and the whole of her family is excited to hold her and to show her the love we have for her. Not the least of which are her Grammy and Pappy.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Congratulations, grandpa. (Applause.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes, for the second time, the gentleman from Jefferson, Senator Dush.

Senator DUSH. Mr. President, today, as we are getting ready to depart and celebrate this time of Christmas, I think this story that was handed to me tells a more modern-day version and gets to the root of the whole thing. The story is off the History Channel. (Reading:)

WWI's Christmas Truce: When Fighting Paused for the Holiday

On Christmas Eve 1914, in the dank muddy trenches of the Western Front of the first world war, a remarkable thing happened. It came to be called the Christmas Truce. And it remains one of the most storied and strangest moments of the Great War--or of any war in history. British machine gunner Bruce Bairnsfather, later a prominent cartoonist, wrote about it in his memoirs. Like most of his fellow infantrymen of the 1st Battalion of the Royal Warwickshire Regiment, he was spending the holiday eve shivering in the muck, trying to keep warm. He had spent a good part of the past few months fighting the Germans. And now, in a part of Belgium called [and please forgive me if I butcher this] Bois de Ploegsteert, he was crouched in a trench that stretched just three feet deep by three feet wide, his days and nights marked by an endless cycle of sleeplessness and fear, stale biscuits and cigarettes too wet to light. "Here I was, in this horrible clay cavity," Bairnsfather wrote, "...miles and miles from home. Cold, wet through and covered with mud." There didn't "seem the slightest chance of leaving--except in an ambulance."

At about 10 p.m., Bairnsfather noticed a noise. "I listened," he recalled. "Away across the field, among the dark shadows beyond, I could hear the murmur of voices." He turned to a fellow soldier in his trench and said, "Do you hear the...[Germans] kicking up that racket over there?" "Yes," came the reply. "They've been at it some time!" The Germans were singing carols, as it was Christmas Eve. In the darkness, some of the British soldiers began to sing back. "Suddenly," Bairnsfather recalled, "we heard a confused shouting from the other side. We all stopped to listen. The shout came again." The voice was from an enemy soldier, speaking in English with a strong German accent. He was saying, "Come over here." One of the British sergeants answered: "You come half-way. I come half-way."

What happened next would, in the years to come, stun the world and make history. Enemy soldiers began to climb nervously out of their trenches, and to meet in the barbed-wire-filled "No Man's Land" that separated the armies. Normally, the British and Germans communicated across No Man's Land with streaking bullets, with only occasional gentlemanly allowances to collect the dead unmolested. But now, there were handshakes and words of kindness. The soldiers traded songs, tobacco and wine, joining in a spontaneous holiday party in the cold night. Bairnsfather could not believe his eyes. "Here they were--the actual, practical soldiers of the German army. There was not an atom of hate on either side." And it wasn't confined to that one battlefield. Starting on Christmas Eve, small pockets of French, German, Belgian and British troops held impromptu cease-fires across the Western Front, with reports of some on the Eastern Front as well. Some accounts suggest a few of these unofficial truces remained in effect for days. For those who participated, it was surely a welcome break from the hell that they had been enduring. When the war had begun just six months earlier, most soldiers figured it would be over quickly and they'd be home with their families in time for the holidays. Not only would the war drag on for four more years, but it would prove to be the bloodiest conflict ever up to that time. The Industrial Revolution had made it possible to mass-produce new and devastating tools for killing--among them fleets of airplanes and guns that could fire hundreds of rounds per minute. And bad news on both sides had left soldiers with plummeting morale. There was the devastating Russian defeat at Tannenberg in August 1914 and the German losses in the Battle of the Marne a week later. By the time winter approached in 1914, and the chill set in, the Western Front stretched hundreds of miles. Countless soldiers were living in misery in the trenches on the fronts, while tens of thousands had already died. Then Christmas came.

Descriptions of the Christmas Truce appear in numerous diaries and letters of the time. One British soldier, a rifleman named J. Reading, wrote a letter home to his wife describing his holiday experience in 1914: "My company happened to be in the firing line on Christmas eve, and it was my turn...to go into a ruined house and remain there until 6:30 on Christmas morning. During the early part of the morning the Germans started singing and shouting, all in good English. They shouted out: 'Are you the Rifle Brigade; have you a spare bottle; if so we will come half way and you come the other half.'" "Later on in the day they came towards us," Reading described. "And our chaps went out to meet them...I shook hands with some of them, and they gave us cigarettes and cigars. We did not fire that day, and everything was so quiet it seemed like a dream." [I am going to skip over a few things and I just want to point out that not everyone was pleased.] Neither was the high command pleased with the festivities. On December 7, 1914, Pope Benedict had implored leaders of the battling nations to hold a Christmas truce, asking "that the guns may fall silent at least upon the night the angels sang." The plea was officially ignored.

So when a truce spontaneously broke out, the leaders of all the armies were reportedly horrified. British General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien wrote in a confidential memorandum that "this is only illustrative of the apathetic state we are gradually sinking into." Some accounts of the Christmas Truce hold that soldiers were punished for fraternization, and top command issued orders that it should never happen again. For the rest of World War I—a conflict that would ultimately claim [roughly] 15 million lives—no Christmas Truces appear to have occurred. But in 1914, these curious holiday get-togethers reminded all those involved that wars were fought not by forces but by human beings. For years after, the Truce became fodder for everything from artwork to made-for-TV-movies to advertisements and popular songs.

Mr. President, as we leave today, I want us to remember that Almighty God is the God of relationships. His first two Commandments are to love Him and to love our neighbor as ourselves. The One whom is the Noel, and whose birth many of us will be celebrating in the coming days, said, "on these two [commandments] hang all the law and the prophets." That love transcended the pain, suffering, and agony on the battlefields on Christmas in 1914. That love transcended the orders of mere mortals in leadership positions. As we leave this Chamber for the last time in 2021, my prayer is that we reflect, as those soldiers did in 1914, on the love He showed us; to reflect on that Noel and bring it home to our families, neighbors, communities, and districts. Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Costa.

Senator COSTA. Mr. President, first, let me extend congratulations to Senator Dush on the birth of the child. Certainly a beautiful thing that occurs, especially when it is around the holiday season. I have a niece who was born on Christmas Eve, and it is always an issue with respect to the gifts and presents. So make sure you double up at Christmas and on her birthday, but congratulations. I am glad everyone is healthy.

Mr. President, I rise today because at the end of the odd-numbered years, our local municipal officials, many of them, step down or leave office; and a lot of them have been outstanding municipal officials for a lot of years. One of those people in my district, who I have had the great pleasure of working with, is Mayor Betty Esper, from the small steel town of Homestead, Pennsylvania. Betty has been the mayor for a long time and has been a lifelong resident of Homestead. She actually entered the political sphere a number of years ago, in 1980, when she was first elected to borough council in Homestead. Then, she served there for 10 years before becoming mayor. Mayor Esper was a former U.S. Steel employee, and she knew firsthand what Homestead was about, what it was like prior to the demise of the steel industry. I can tell you that from the time she first stepped into the U.S. Steel facility and the work that she has done since that time, her advocacy over many decades, there is no one who has been a more tremendous advocate for recognizing what needed to be done and for the entity that was there and really has been a significant part of the borough's renaissance over the course of the past several years.

She began her career in 1951 at the Homestead Works when she was just 18 years old. One of the younger ones of 13 kids in a local Syrian American family. She started as a messenger, then worked her way up to be a clerk and, finally, was a member of the cleanup crew. But, unfortunately, it was in the final days of the Homestead Steel Works. After more than 40 years of public service, Betty Esper will no longer represent the community in the Borough of Homestead. But, while she leaves there, her legacy is long and lasting and will be around for many years to come.

She was the first and only woman elected and sworn in as Mayor of Homestead. Through her terms there, she had constantly been a fighter for the future of Homestead and the constant and consistent presence that she had at many community events. Mayor Esper always made it a point to be part of the community and engaged in community-type activities that did a number of things: allowed folks to remember Homestead and what it was and the historical perspective of that community. But she also remembered a number of other folks and worked to recognize them. For example, her work that she did year-in and year-out with the Steel Valley School District, one of the most significant school district-led Veterans Day ceremony that my colleagues and I would always participate in and attend, and recognizing the service of veterans in that school district, better than any school district, I believe, in the Commonwealth because she valued that. Coming from a family who had a number of colleagues, siblings, and relatives who served this country, she was quite proud of the Esper brothers. She talked about the Esper family members who served and always recognized them, but also recognized all of our veterans who were in the Steel Valley community. She also was very active in the Memorial Day parade. Every year we did a Memorial Day parade through Munhall into Homestead Cemetery and, again, remembered those individuals who we lost, who lost their lives, and each year the bell would chime for the most recent name of the individual who we lost and passed away.

Back in the 1980s and 1990s, when Homestead and many other communities were going through a very difficult time, Rainbow Kitchen was a place that a lot of folks went to, to be able to receive support, help, and food. Betty Esper was instrumental there in the work that she had done. I will tell you that, to this day, even up to Thanksgiving Day this past year, I would get a phone call—as I would provide turkeys in our communities—Betty would call, we need turkeys for Rainbow Kitchen and for other folks in the community. We made sure that she received what she needed. Same thing with the family health centers, a big part of that was the work that she had done supporting family health centers. Again, working to help people in her community receive benefits that were so important and the family support that was necessary along those lines.

Mr. President, I can remember even the holiday parades that she was a part of to ensure that the community had good spirits in the holiday season. But, the thing that I think most of was when I first ran for this office a number of years ago, Mayor Esper was part of—the Steel Valley community, really is represented with three communities: Munhall, Homestead, and West Homestead. There are three tremendous mayors who served that community for many years. Ray Bodnar from Munhall, who we just lost a few years ago. He and his wife Jane were tremendous advocates, just like Mayor Esper, and John Dindak, the mayor of West Homestead. Betty Esper showed up one day when I was seeking this office and said that there was an office that my predecessor, Mike Dawida, had in Homestead on Eighth Avenue and said to me, we will collectively provide you support for your election, but you have got to make a commitment to us that you are going to have a presence in the Steel Valley community. By presence, we mean that you are going to have an office here, maintain an office here, so you can provide the services to the people of the Steel Valley community, the heart of the Steel Valley community, Eighth Avenue in Homestead. You do that and we will work closely with you as we go forward. We have honored that commitment, Mr. President, but for their conversation with me about that, it recognizes the commitment that the three mayors made, collectively, to that community to provide services. But, more importantly, as they worked together to create a cooperative arrangement with the waterfront in Allegheny County including the three boroughs; that is the signature type of a waterfront that has incorporated such a business aspect to it. It has been a tremendous asset to the three communities and the school district as well. It is the cooperative nature of those local officials at that level who put aside differences to make sure that the greater good is carried out and that is what took place along those lines, and I am really proud of the work that she has done.

So, I just wanted to rise today and say thank you to Mayor Betty Esper for her service to the Homestead Borough, but more importantly, to the communities of the Steel Valley and her presence to be able to remind us about who we are as individuals in those communities and recognizing that she took a steel town, her heart and soul was into working to engaging individuals in the community to build back a bustling community. As I mentioned, it includes many things like the waterfront, but also a vibrant neighborhood, a neighborhood recognizing the rich history that those communities have as it is tied to the steel industry, but also tied to the people who came there, the immigrants who came to the Homestead area to work in the steel mills. The number of churches that are still there, the number of ethnic organizations that are there. You have somebody there that was able to foster continued goodwill in each of those spaces to be able to really make for a great place in a great community. So my hat is off to my good friend, my colleague, Mayor Betty Esper. Honestly, we can say without a doubt that because of her efforts, she has made the Steel Valley community, more specifically, Homestead Borough, a much better place because of her commitment and her service to the people of those communities.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Mayor Esper, for your many years of service.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Senator Kim L. Ward) in the Chair.
