Legislative Journal

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 2022

SESSION OF 2022 206TH OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 31

SENATE

THURSDAY, June 30, 2022

The Senate met at 9:30 a.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Senator Jacob D. Corman III) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend DR. JEROME F. COLEMAN, of First Baptist Church of Crestmont, Willow Grove, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Father God, we bless Your name. We thank You for the privilege of coming before You today, not arrogantly, but boldly, confident that You hear our prayer. God, I just pray that You would bless this Senate Chamber. Give them the wisdom that they need, the insight that they need, the understanding that they need to carry out the awesome responsibility that they have been given by the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania. God, I pray right now that they would have a mindset that would strengthen the weak and protect the vulnerable, that they would have integrity and sincerity, operating in spirit and in truth. God, get them in and on one accord in You, so that whatever they do in word or deed, they may do it all to Your glory and for the good of Your people. God, we ask all of these things in the mighty, matchless name of the King of Kings and even Lord of Lords, Jesus the Christ. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thanks Reverend Dr. Coleman, who is the guest today of Senator Haywood.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

(The Pledge of Allegiance was recited by those assembled.)

GUEST OF SENATOR SHARIF T. STREET, ON BEHALF OF SENATOR ARTHUR L. HAYWOOD, PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Mr. President, I rise today to welcome our reverend, Reverend Dr. Jerome F. Coleman. He served as today's guest Chaplain. Pastor Coleman has led the First Baptist Church of Crestmont, located in Willow Grove, since January 2008. A native of West Philadelphia, he graduated from the greatest high school known to man and God, Central High School of Philadelphia, where he attended with me. He was in the 248th graduating class. He earned a bachelor's of science degree in business administration from Millersville University and received his Master of Divinity from the Luther Rice College and Seminary in Stonecrest, Georgia. Pastor Coleman was nationally recognized in The African American Pulpit quarterly journal as the next generation of preachers who are doing their part to increase the stature of African American preaching. He is an accomplished writer of sermons and poetry, with one poem published by the International Library of Poetry. I greatly appreciate Pastor Coleman's service in Montgomery County and across the greater Philadelphia region. He has worked collaboratively with my colleague, Senator Haywood, who wanted to be here to introduce him himself today, but I am privileged that I get a chance to introduce my classmate.

In October of 2021, his church collaborated with Senator Haywood's office to host a free community service event where neighbors received COVID-19 and flu vaccines, health and wellness screenings, fresh produce, legal aid, and more. During the same month, he and Senator Haywood collaborated on the Love Your Neighbor Rally outside of the Senator's office in Abington, where he shared a compelling message on how to be civil, honor free speech, and show love to one's neighbors. In February of 2022, he and Senator Haywood collaborated on a telephone town hall, where he answered questions from callers about how to love one another, certainly something we can all benefit from. Pastor Coleman is supported by his loving family, including his wife, who also attended high school with me, and two daughters, Brianna and Nia. I now introduce and ask Members to rise and give a hearty welcome for our guest pastor today, the Reverend Dr. Jerome F. Coleman.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Would the guest of Senator Street [on behalf of Senator Haywood] please rise so that the Senate may give you our usual warm welcome.

(Applause.)

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS
ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRETARY

The SECRETARY. Permission has been granted for the Committee on Transportation to meet today in the Rules Committee Conference Room to consider Senate Bill No. 965, House Bill No. 140, House Bill No. 1312 and House Bill No. 2702.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 1, HB 118, SB 137, SB 145, HB 146, SB 358 and SB 457 -- Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Senator AUMENT.

BILL REVERTED TO PRIOR PRINTER'S No.,
REREFERRED

SB 676 (Pr. No. 1182) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 75 (Vehicles) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, in financial responsibility, further providing for definitions, for availability, scope and amount of coverage, for request for lower limits of coverage, for coverages in excess of required amounts, for stacking of uninsured and underinsured benefits and option to waive, for notice of available benefits and limits and for availability of uninsured, underinsured, bodily injury liability and property damage coverages and mandatory deductibles.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

MOTION TO REVERT TO PRIOR PRINTER'S No. 747

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Aument.

Senator AUMENT. Mr. President, I move to revert to prior Printer's No. 747 on Senate Bill No. 676.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Mr. President, I rise to acknowledge this bill. This bill involves stacking and how we deal with it. Stacking is as a principle that was put in place in order to allow additional protection to be in place for folks who purchase automobile insurance. Now, there has been much debate about how we deal with folks who want enhanced protection beyond the limits, and subsequently, there were provisions put in this bill to increase the amount of protection that a consumer could get by voluntarily purchasing it. And no, we have not worked through all those issues, but removing the provisions and reverting to the prior printer's number removes important gains that were made to make this bill more workable. It would remove protections for folks and makes this bill less likely, quite frankly, to become law and less favorable to the people of the Commonwealth in the way of protections. So, therefore, Mr. President, I urge a "no" vote on the motion to revert to prior printer's number, because the additional amendments enhance the quality of the bill.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator AUMENT and were as follows, viz:

YEA-28

Argall	DiSanto	Martin	Scavello
Aument	Dush	Mastriano	Stefano

A majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senate now has before it Senate Bill No. 676, Printer's No. 747.

Upon motion of Senator AUMENT, and agreed to by voice vote, the bill was rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 775, SB 871, HB 940, SB 956, HB 975, SB 993, HB 996, SB 1032, SB 1201, SB 1203 and SB 1299 -- Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Senator AUMENT.

BILLS ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

(b) Cost recovery.--A Pennsylvania bomb squad accredited by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and certified in hazardous devices training shall attempt to recover any costs associated with the removal, storage or destruction of consumer fireworks, display fireworks or combustibles under subsection (a) from the owner of the consumer fireworks. Reimbursement under subsection (c) shall only be available when the costs under this subsection cannot be recovered.

(c) Reimbursement.--If the costs under subsection (b) cannot be recovered, a Pennsylvania bomb squad accredited by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and certified in hazardous devices training may seek reimbursement from the Office of the State Fire Commissioner for the actual costs associated with the removal, storage or destruction of consumer fireworks, display fireworks or combustibles.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Mr. President, I rise to ask for an affirmative vote on this amendment. I expressed previously concerns about some of the penalties associated with this bill. I appreciate my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who gave voice and recognized those concerns and would like to thank the maker of the amendment, as the amendment addresses the concerns I had expressed around the penalties. That being said, I urge a "yes" vote on this amendment and, subsequently, when the time comes, a "yes" vote on the bill should the amendment be adopted.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator BROWNE and were as follows, viz:

Senator K. WARD. Mr. President, Mr. President, as a special order of business, I call up Senate Supplemental Calendar No. 2 and move the Senate proceed to consider House Bill No. 2157, notwithstanding the provisions of Senate Rule 12(p)(2)(ii).

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 2157 (Pr. No. 3332) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 3 (Agriculture) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, providing for fireworks; and making a related repeal.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Berks, Senator Schwank.

Senator SCHWANK. Mr. President, I rise today in opposition to House Bill No. 2157. Since consumer-grade fireworks were legalized in Pennsylvania, the increase in complaints related to fireworks my office has received has skyrocketed--and that pun is intended--and I know many of my colleagues have experienced the same thing. While I have made it loud and clear that we need to do something about fireworks in the Commonwealth, I do not believe this bill is a real solution to the problem. An article that I have here with me today, Mr. President, talks about in 2020, some of the issues that were related to fireworks. "A child died in a fireworks-related fire in York County, a firefighter was killed battling a similar blaze near Philadelphia [Montgomery County, actually], and a family of eight lost their home in Wilkes-Barre after a firework landed on their back porch." Pretty dangerous, tragic Fourth of July, and all of it unnecessary.

In the city of Reading, there is basically nowhere you can legally set off fireworks without violating the current law. Yet, seemingly every holiday, and weekends, too, fireworks are set off in densely populated areas and in very close proximity to housing, creating a public safety risk. As a matter of fact, in 2017, after consumer-grade fireworks sales were allowed in Pennsylvania, the city of Reading actually did enact a law banning commercial-grade fireworks. Even with a significant amount of public education, the problem continues. I guess it is true, and we have often said it in here, you just cannot legislate common sense. I have heard from the Reading Police Department that they often simply cannot respond to calls in time to see the fireworks being set off. It happens fast, and in a small police department in an 8-square-mile city, it is virtually impossible. They are being set off in multiple places. They cannot respond to them fast enough, and that is one of the reasons I find this bill so troubling.

Increasing the penalties and fines, in addition to just being problematic, is meaningless if our law enforcement officers are overwhelmed and cannot enforce them. If you cannot cite someone, you are not going to get those fines. This is what I have heard in the communities that I represent in Berks County. Anything short of a full ban on consumer-grade fireworks is little more than a half measure to appear as if we are responding to constituent concerns without addressing the underlying problem that we created. I have been saying that ever since we started talking about this in the Committee on Agriculture and Rural Affairs. Granted, under House Bill No. 2157, in communities where consumer fireworks can lawfully be used, municipalities can ban their use; however, their use cannot be banned on the Fourth of July, and you know the hours, we have all seen it in the legislation, Memorial and Labor Day weekends and New Year's Eve, when the complaints are just unbelievable.

For these reasons, I will be a "no" vote on this legislation, and I understand, Mr. President, that I have the proverbial snowball's chance, in you know where, in being able to change anybody's minds on this. But I do want you to understand this is not going to be the solution for many of you in communities that you represent. So, get ready for it. But, on a positive note, Mr. President, I certainly wish everyone a very good holiday. We will be here, of course, but speaking specifically to our constituents who might be watching this, be safe, go to a [commercial], go to a park, go to an amusement park, go someplace in your municipality where they are safely using fireworks and enjoy them. Thank you very much. Safely enjoy them.

Thank you, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEA-44

Argall	Costa	Martin	Stefano
Aument	Dillon	Mastriano	Street

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Allegheny, Senator Lindsey Williams.

Senator L. WILLIAMS. Mr. President, it has been about a week since the U.S. Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade. I, along with my friends, family, and colleagues, have been experiencing a range of emotions: anger, fear, and sadness, just to name a few. As I was sitting in my feelings, I started thinking about one of my favorite movies, Dirty Dancing. I watched it constantly when I was in elementary school, over and over again. A lot of times I rewound the VHS tape as soon as the movie ended and watched it for a second time. I loved the music, the dancing, the characters. I loved the love story. But if you have not seen the movie or you have not seen it in a while, you may not know that the entire plot of the movie actually revolves around a botched abortion. The main character, named Baby, only gets to dance with the handsome dance instructor, Johnny, because she is helping another dancer, named Penny, who is recovering from a back-alley abortion that nearly killed her. As I was thinking about the movie, and how scary it is that we are right back in that place where women will need to seek off-the-books, secret abortions, I realized that I did not know exactly when I figured out that Penny had an abortion. I simply remembered that when I was little, I knew that Penny was quote, in trouble, and Baby borrowed money from her dad so that Penny could see a, quote, doctor. And when things went bad, Baby went back to her dad, who was a real doctor, to help. And because Penny had no paid sick leave and was afraid of losing her job, Baby volunteered to learn to dance so that Penny could recover and keep her job.

So, I called my mom and dad the other day and asked if, when I was little, I ever asked what happened to Penny. They said, nope. I asked, what would they have said if I did ask them? They said they would have done the best they could to answer in a way that I would have understood. I also asked if they ever thought about not letting me watch Dirty Dancing because it was such a controversial topic. They both emphatically answered, absolutely not. I am so grateful that I have parents who did not fear exposing me to what some people view as controversial. They let me develop my own thoughts and feelings on it. That abortions are healthcare, and that without safe and legal access, women can, and will, die. Women who receive back-alley abortions that do not adhere to medical standards of care will die. Women who cannot receive an abortion as lifesaving treatment for an ectopic pregnancy, or so they can receive cancer treatment, will die. And women who are forced to carry an unsafe pregnancy to term will die in childbirth here in America--the developed nation with the highest maternal mortality rate in the world. I am also grateful that I have parents who did not try to use their fears about me or my sister growing up too fast or being exposed to new ideas to prevent us or other children from seeing the movie. Because the reality is that just like I did not realize that Penny had an abortion until much later on, kids often skip over adult content or jokes in movies or books until they are ready for it. How many jokes in Disney movies or Pixar movies go over kids' heads because they are for grown-ups? But we do not ban Toy Story or The Little Mermaid.

Banning children from seeing, reading, and learning content because the adults around them are uncomfortable is not good policy. First of all, banning anything immediately makes it more attractive to the people it is being kept from, completely defeating the purpose of the ban. And second, for those who keep insisting that we get back to basics, times have changed. We cannot ignore the mental health of our students, and we should not want to. They are human beings with hopes and dreams and fears just like the rest of us.

A group of students organized an abortion rights rally out on McKnight Road in my district yesterday. These young people are the students who we have been talking about, not to, for the last few days. They are the human beings we are making decisions for, and I agree with them. I cannot stop thinking about how scary it is that we are right back in the Dirty Dancing time period in many places around the country. That we are right on the edge of that cliff here in Pennsylvania. So, today, I am wearing my Dirty Dancing shoes. For the record, they are silver, strappy sandals, similar to the ones worn by Baby in the movie. My Dirty Dancing shoes are a small reminder that we will have to fight like heck to preserve our right to control our own bodies, our own right to live.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Mastriano.

Senator MASTRIANO. Mr. President, on this day in 1863 was the Battle of Hanover and this, of course, preceded the next day, the Battle of Gettysburg, one of the most pivotal moments in our nation's history, and of course it is depicted on the wall here. We see, of course, General Meade in front of me, leading the Army of the Potomac at Gettysburg the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd of July 1863, an Army he had only been in command of for 3 days. Then, of course, we see Abraham Lincoln giving his Gettysburg Address on 19 November 1863, and his remarks echo across the generations to us today, which says: "It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work..." I think it is important that we reflect back on the contribution in history of Pennsylvania on this nation, especially on this 159th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

So, the Battle of Hanover--a division commanded by Jeb Stuart was endeavoring to link up with Robert E. Lee, who had already swept through Chambersburg, through Carlisle, through York, through Gettysburg even, and was at the gates of Harrisburg, and Jeb Stuart needed to link up with Robert E. Lee, and there, standing in his way, was a regiment of Yankee cavalry.

They fought so tenaciously that Jeb Stuart was sure there was a lot more behind it, and there was not. Thankfully, he was scared off by the audacity of the Yankees defending their home on those days. The next day, of course, the armies would clash outside of Gettysburg on the western side of town, on Chambersburg Pike, where General Heth would be marching into Gettysburg town looking for shoes. Yes, that is in his record, looking for shoes for his troops, only to be stopped by Yankee cavalry, commanded by General Buford. That was a close-run thing, but the cavalry held the line until General Reynolds' First Corps came in the nick of time. But General Reynolds would give his life on this field in Gettysburg. He is from Lancaster city, and he is buried in Lancaster to this day, gave his life for his State and his country.

Holding the line that day on 1st of July, on the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1863, was Colonel Rufus Dawes. Rufus Dawes, commanding the 6th Wisconsin Regiment. Rufus Dawes was famous for his attack near the railroad cut, pushing Mississippians and North Carolinians back into the cut, capturing several hundred with his brave endeavor. As the fighting was going on with his regiment and two New York regiments on the line there, shooting into the railroad cut where there was hundreds of Southerners trapped, he took his life into his own hands and shouted to the men, who commands you? One of the Mississippian officers said, well, who are you? Rufus Dawes replied, I command these men, and I order you to surrender, and several hundred surrendered, saving many lives. One thing that is interesting about Rufus Dawes is that his grandfather was [Charles] Dawes, who rode with Paul Revere back in Boston during the American Revolution. That is amazing, and keep that in the back of your mind.

During the battle, on the first day, outside of Gettysburg, an old man, John Burns, about 70 years old, came walking out, he linked up with the Bucktails from Pennsylvania asking to pitch in. He was the only civilian to fight that day alongside the Yankee troops, he would be wounded in several places and left for dead on the battlefield. When the Alabamians captured him on 1st of July, they thought he was a bushwhacker--a civilian fighting--which he was, but of course he lied and said, no, I am a farmer and you guys shot me. The Alabamians felt so bad for him that they brought him to Herr Tavern to patch him up.

The 2nd of July, of course, the battle of Little Round Top would happen. Amazing struggle. With the 20th Maine that most people know about, commanded by Colonel Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain, an individual who most of his life had a severe stuttering problem. He felt called to study theology, revealed religion, at Bowdoin College, and he also felt called to double major in rhetoric, speech giving, a step of faith for him because he had been praying to God to heal him of the speech impediment, and the healing never came. But, with that step of faith, this person who was called the stuttering fool from Maine--God healed him of the stuttering problem, and he would go on to be one of the greatest orators in American history. So important was that, was the week before the Battle of Gettysburg, another Maine regiment, the 2nd Maine, mutinied; 120 men were going to quit the war, and Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain had to use his words, his greatest weakness most of his life, to convince these 120 mutineers, angry men, who had a lot more combat experience than he did, to stay and fight. All 120 stayed, boosting his numbers to 386 men in the 20th Maine. He would need those men to hold the line at the base of Little Round Top late on 2nd of July 1863, and with his bayonet attack there against Alabamians would change the course of history. Somebody who was considered weak and never accomplished anything in life--he was told that--God used to powerfully save our nation and change the course of history.

Thanks to people like Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain, John Burns, and Rufus Dawes, we have the United States of America. I reflect upon Chamberlain's brigade commander, Colonel Strong Vincent from Erie, PA. As Strong Vincent diverted his brigades at Little Round Top, he looked over to the captain to his side and said, Captain, I can think of no better way to die than to die defending Pennsylvania, and just a few minutes later he would die on Little Round Top trying to rally the 16th Michigan that was about to break under the pressure of the 4th and 5th Texas that were storming Round Top that day. If you go to Little Round Top, you can see the rock where his name is engraved where he was mortally wounded. Down below Little Round Top is Devil's Den. And as the Georgians and Texans were sweeping over the rocks, the 99th Pennsylvania was there alone, near the valley of the shadow of death, and they decided they were going to try to stop those Texans from getting on top of that hill. Their call before they attacked, the 99th Pennsylvania, they said, for Pennsylvania and our homes. They delayed the Texans long enough to allow Strong Vincent to get his brigade on top of that hill, not knowing the contribution they were making, so much sacrifice.

On the top of Devil's Den was Colonel Ellis, commanding a regiment from [Maine] called The Orange Blossoms from Orange County, New York, and he stayed on his white horse, leading his men. His officers begged him to get off that horse, but he said, the men must see me today, the men must see us today to inspire them, and he lost his life trying to defend those rocks from the Southern attack. Of course, on the 3rd day, the 3rd of July 1863, is the famous, what we know as Pickett's Charge. Of course, an incredible struggle there, and what is called the high watermark of the Confederacy and would lead to a great Union victory for the cause of freedom. But, defending against the attack from Pickett was a Colonel Paul Revere of the 20th Massachusetts. His grandfather, of course, was the famous Paul Revere, who rode together with [Charles] Dawes, whose grandson was likewise in the battlefield with Wisconsin. So, when you think about the sacrifices over the generations, that was a pivotal turning point in the war, especially on the next day, the 4th of July, when news came that Vicksburg had fallen to the Yankees under General Grant. But 7 of the 10 bloodiest battles had yet to be fought.

With so much sacrifice right here in Pennsylvania, where, of course, the light of liberty was lit in 1776--and we are celebrating the Fourth of July shortly. Actually, it was 2nd of July in Philadelphia, in what we call Independence Hall today, where the vote was taken, 2nd of July. The Fourth of July is the day, of course, when the Declaration was made public and read to the public. What a great occasion, that one moment in history, where the light of liberty was lit in Philadelphia, changed the course of history for not only America, North America, and the world. And of course, you think about the sacrifices in the Civil War here at Gettysburg where we have a new birth of freedom. And it is with that sacrifice in mind that we have chartered across the generations for a great nation that we serve today. And even the plague of 9/11 could not escape us, where Flight 93, of course, crashed in the fields in Somerset County, but we remember the battle cry there from Todd Beamer, an adopted son of Pennsylvania, from Cranbury, New Jersey, where he said, "Let's Roll." So, Pennsylvania, let us remember our history and "let's roll."

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Costa.

Senator COSTA. Mr. President, I do have remarks for Senator Tartaglione for the record relating to minimum wage increase. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The remarks will be spread upon the record.

(The following prepared remarks were made part of the record at the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator COSTA, on behalf of the gentlewoman from Philadelphia, Senator TARTAGLIONE:)

Mr. President, I rise because today marks 15 years, 11 months, and 21 days since our Commonwealth's legislature last passed an increase in Pennsylvania's minimum wage. That means that for 5,835 days, this legislature has failed to act in the best interest of some of our Commonwealth's most vulnerable citizens. Mr. President, in 2 days, on July 1, 20 States and municipalities are slated to raise their minimum wages. States like Connecticut, Nevada, and Oregon, as well as cities like Washington D.C., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, and Minneapolis, will all see their minimum wage rise on July 1. And, Mr. President, not only am I envious of these cities and States for being able to come together and pass meaningful legislation that will benefit their minimum wage earners, but I also am envious because these States allow their local municipalities to decide what is best for them. Cities and counties across California, Illinois, Oregon, Maryland, and Minnesota got to decide what is best for themselves and their residents.

Senate Bill No. 12, my legislation, will not only raise our embarrassingly low minimum wage, but would also tie the increases to the CPI and inflation so that we never experience a continued failure of increases again. But what I think is potentially most important, Mr. President, is removing the State's preemption that prohibits local governments from acting in the best interest of their residents and setting their minimum wage to rates that are appropriate and livable for their residents. Mr. President, right now Senate Bill No. 12 is sitting in committee waiting for a vote. I am confident that, if given the chance, it would pass. Let us bring it to the floor and once and for all pass the relief Pennsylvanians so desperately need.

Thank you, Mr. President.
