GUEST OF SENATOR JAY COSTA PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Costa.

Senator COSTA. Mr. President, I am honored today and pleased to welcome to the Pennsylvania Senate one of my interns from my district office, Ms. Lauren Shovlin. Lauren recently graduated from Penn State University with a degree in English and a minor in history, where she had joined the Phi Alpha Theta National Honor Society. While in college, Lauren studied abroad in London, where she completed six credits worth of English courses. While in college, she also spent a lot of time volunteering her services and also maintaining activity in a variety of organizations. Lauren also volunteered for the Christian Appalachian Project, the Red Door soup kitchen, as I mentioned, among the many other organizations she participated in. She has interned in the Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas and worked as a camp counselor at a sleepaway camp called Summer's Best Two Weeks. I am thrilled to have Lauren here with us today working. She is working in our district office, and I ask my colleagues to give her a warm welcome in a moment, but I would be remiss if I did not mention that Lauren comes from a family, the Shovlin family, who some folks in this room know the family and their recognition in the Pittsburgh area as some of the leading Irish dancers in the Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania area. So, Lauren, welcome here in the Pennsylvania Senate. Thank you for your internship with our office.

Thank you, Mr. President. I ask my colleagues to join me in welcoming Lauren Shovlin.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guest of Senator Costa please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUESTS OF SENATOR RYAN P. AUMENT PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Aument.

Senator AUMENT. Mr. President, it is my pleasure to welcome my guest, Aiden Hodge, and recognize this exceptional young athlete for his achievement. Aiden recently won first place at the Class AAA boys' 800-meter run event during the 2023 PIAA Track and Field Championships held at Shippensburg University. During his time as a senior at the Hempfield High School, he further distinguished himself during the season by winning first place and breaking the school record in the 1,600-meter run event during the PIAA District III championships. That school record was in place since 1991 until Aiden ran the 1,600-meter in less than 4 minutes and 11 seconds. That accomplishment was hard fought, and Aiden said it taught him a lot about who he is as a person and what he can do if he stays committed and determined. Please join me in congratulating my guest Aiden Hodge on his achievement. Join me in wishing him well as he heads off this fall to the University of Mississippi and welcome him, his parents, coach, and athletic director to the Pennsylvania Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Aument please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUEST OF SENATOR VINCENT J. HUGHES PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Hughes.

Senator HUGHES. Mr. President, I rise today, and it gives me great honor to rise and introduce Myles Nartey, a senior at Penn State University who is interning in my Capitol office this summer. Myles is originally from Wake Forest, North Carolina. His parents met at the University of North Carolina Greensboro after immigrating to the United States from Ghana. When Myles was a junior in high school, his family moved to Pennsylvania, first to Upper Darby, and then finally to West Grove. While in high school, Myles played soccer; ran track; and developed interests in woodworking, welding, auto mechanics, and computers.

Inspired by his interest in computers, Myles initially studied computer information science and technology at the University of Pittsburgh at Bradford, but realized he wanted to have more of a direct impact on improving people's lives. After his sophomore year, he transferred to Penn State--I will let my Pitt and Penn State friends figure that issue out--where his sister was attending and changed his major to political science with a concentration in social data analytics. Since coming to my office, Mr. President, Myles has found he is very interested in issues concerning education funding--I do not know where that came from--teacher recruitment and retention, access to health care, and strategies for combating the opioid epidemic.

Myles will be graduating this December with a bachelor of science degree and hopes to continue working in public policy and use his analytic skills to create better and safer communities through smart-city technologies. We are very excited to have him in the office as he continues to assist us through all the aspects of the budget process. Mr. President, please join me in giving Myles Nartey our usual warm Senate welcome.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guest of Senator Hughes please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUESTS OF SENATOR DEVLIN ROBINSON PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Robinson.

Senator ROBINSON. Mr. President, I am honored to recognize some very special guests, my constituents, to the Pennsylvania State Senate today: Roberto Clemente, Jr.; his wife, Kailee; and their sons, Roberto III and Leo Clemente. Mr. Clemente is the son of the famous baseball legend, Roberto Clemente, who played for the Puerto Rican Baseball League at age 17. And in 1955, he played for the Pittsburgh Pirates, where his career truly took off. He was a 15-time All-Star, a 2-time World Series champion, the 1966 National League Most Valuable Player, the 1971 World Series MVP, a 12-time Golden [Gold] Glove Award winner, and a 4-time National League batting champion. In addition to his time on the baseball diamond, Clemente also served his country in the United States Marine Corps and was inducted into the Marine Corps Sports Hall of Fame in 2003. He was also inducted into the Puerto Rican Veterans Hall of Fame in 2018. Following his untimely death as a result of a plane crash as he was on a quest to deliver relief supplies to earthquake victims, the Pirates retired his number, number 21, and was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame the next year in 1973. I am privileged to introduce Senate Resolution No. 130 today, celebrating Roberto Clemente's life and dedicating September 15, 2023, as Roberto Clemente Day in Pennsylvania.

I am also very honored that his son, Roberto Clemente, Jr., is here today with his family, who has followed in his father's superior athletic and philanthropic footsteps. He was a star athlete in volleyball, track and field, basketball, and of course, baseball. He joined the Philadelphia Phillies Division A Team in 1985, the same year in which he made his debut in the Puerto Rican Winter Baseball League with the Arecibo Wolves. He became a well-known player in Venezuela and ended his career with the Baltimore Orioles, where he suffered a career-ending injury which forced him to retire from professional baseball. He later became a broadcaster for the New York Yankees and reporter for ESPN and helped make his father's dream a reality: Roberto Clemente Sports City, and brought the Reviving Baseball in Inner Cities program to Puerto Rico.

Later, in 1993, he moved to Pittsburgh to establish the Roberto Clemente Foundation, where they are devoted to promoting positive change and community engagement through the example and inspiration of Roberto Clemente. I am extremely proud to have Roberto Clemente, Jr., as my constituent, and I urge my colleagues to give him and his wonderful family a warm Senate welcome.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Robinson please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes, for a second time, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Robinson.

Senator ROBINSON. Mr. President, I am pleased to introduce guests to the Senate today who are part of the 9/11 Trail Alliance. The 9/11 cyclists: Bruce White, Vikki White, Fred Zelt, Katharyn Poplin, Morgan Jenkins, Alan Fitton, Cindy Hogeman, Karl Martz, Aldona Kartorie, Jack Withers, Jill Bradley, and Linda McGrane. Pittsburgh [Harrisburg] cyclist club escorts: Randy McKillop, Diane Riley, Dick Norford, Lou Searles, and Dave Raup. Board members: Jane Sheffield, treasurer for the 9/11 Trail Alliance; Andy Hamilton, board chair; and Linda McGrane, who is also president of the Bike Club of Philadelphia.

These cyclists are participating in a 2-week, 700-mile statewide bike tour going across Pennsylvania to raise funds and awareness along the 9/11 trail. The 9/11 trail spans over 1,300 miles in length and connects the National September 11 Memorial in New York City to the 9/11 Pentagon Memorial in Arlington, Virginia, to the Flight 93 Memorial in Shanksville, Pennsylvania. Its purpose is to be a lasting memorial to symbolize and remember the resiliency and character of the heroes of the terrorist attacks on the United States. Its development will provide long-lasting engagement of citizens of Pennsylvania through walking, running, hiking, and--as my guests just did--cycling. Thank you to each of the members of the 9/11 Trail Alliance, my colleagues on the Senate 9/11 Trail caucus, especially my cochair, Senator Boscola, for their support and dedication to keep the history and significance of September 11 alive for generations to come. I ask my colleagues to welcome my guests to the Senate

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Robinson please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUESTS OF SENATOR ROSEMARY BROWN PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Monroe, Senator Brown.

Senator BROWN. Mr. President, I rise to welcome my guest shadow, Benjamin Wilkins, who is today also joined by his mother, Christine Wilkins, a dear friend and also a Stroud Township supervisor in Monroe County. Benjamin is a rising eighth grader at Notre Dame Junior/Senior High School in East Stroudsburg. He is a high honor roll student and has worked hard to achieve straight A's on his final exams. Benjamin especially excels academically in mathematics, history, and religion courses and has a strong interest in politics and government. Benjamin is also a student-athlete and has managed and photographed the junior high school basketball team and is an avid hunter and fisherman. He is also very faithful and attends St. Matthew's Catholic Church in East Stroudsburg. Benjamin is extremely interested in furthering a political career along with aviation, since he currently is a student pilot. He often talks about majoring in economics and as a minor in political science. Please join me in giving my guest shadow, Benjamin Wilkins, and his mother, Christine, who are seated in the gallery, a warm Senate welcome.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Brown please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

Appropriations will meet off the floor immediately in the Rules room during the introduction of guests.

The PRESIDENT. Pursuant to Senate Rule 9, as a special order of business, the Committee on Appropriations will meet off the floor in the Rules room immediately while the Senate continues with the introduction of guests. The Senate will be at ease momentarily while the Members of the Committee on Appropriations report to the Rules room.

GUEST OF SENATOR KATIE J. MUTH PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Muth.

Senator MUTH. Mr. President, I rise today to welcome my awesome summer intern, Megan Adelman, to the Senate. I actually met Megan when she visited the Capitol last year when she was on a Keystone Girls State visit to the Capitol, where she and several of her other members of the group stopped in my office, and we had a great conversation. Fast forward, and now she is our summer intern. She is a native of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, and graduated from The Baldwin School earlier this month. At Baldwin, Megan served as a student ambassador and was a member of the yearbook club, the Model United Nations, and was one of the student leaders of the BLAST athletic club. She also was an elected representative to Baldwin's athletic association, a student-run organization that plans spirit events and serves as a liaison between students and school administrators. Megan was also a 3-sport varsity athlete at Baldwin, excelling in soccer, basketball, and golf, and she holds the school record for most varsity letters earned by any student-athlete, with a total of 14.

Mr. President, if the Senate decided to have a golf outing, I would assure you that you would want Megan on your team. Megan was a team captain, a 4-time team MVP, a 5-time Inter-Ac League all-star, a 2-time league champion, and league MVP. Her biggest achievement she identifies is becoming the first student-athlete in Baldwin history to win a State title when she won the PAISAA girls' golf State championship last year at Gulph Mills Golf Club. In the fall, Megan will attend George Washington University to pursue a double major in international affairs and mechanical engineering, and she will also be participating in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps and hopes to attend flight school upon graduation. Megan has been an awesome addition to the 44th Senatorial District team, helping with legislative research, helping with community events and constituent service issues. I know she will continue to shine and do great things and have a positive impact on our Commonwealth as well as our country. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to give my summer intern, Megan, a warm Senate welcome.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guest of Senator Muth please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

For the second time in three seasons, Tri-Valley has won the championship and brought gold home to western Schuylkill County. The Dawgs were led to victory by head coach Marty Shade, assistant coaches Dan Dietrich, Brett Reed, and Katie Weachock. I would ask the Senate of Pennsylvania to join me in welcoming the team. They are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Argall please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

He is a McCandless resident and a graduate of North Allegheny School District. Jack is currently a summer intern with Representative Arvind Venkat's district office this summer. Jack has an interest in State government and hopes to work for the Commonwealth after graduation. I wish him the best of luck in his future endeavors. Please join me in welcoming Jack Hickerson to the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guest of Senator Lindsey Williams please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUESTS OF SENATOR MARIA COLLETT PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Collett.

Senator COLLETT. Mr. President, it is my great pleasure to introduce three of my summer interns, Ava Huntley, Thomas Pyle, and Benton Resnick. I am excited for them to have the opportunity to visit our Capitol during their first week with my office. What a great way to kick off their summers. Ava Huntley is an honor student and rising senior at Gwynedd Mercy Academy High School where she plays field hockey and lacrosse and is active with her school's ambassador board and investment club and still finds time to volunteer with a number of local nonprofit organizations.

Thomas Pyle recently finished his freshman year at George Washington University where he is pursuing a degree in economics. Tom is a National Merit Scholarship recipient and played the trumpet in 2021's All-State Band. Last summer, Tom interned with his borough mayor, and next year, he is hoping to obtain a congressional internship. He is eager to compare and contrast the workings of the local, State, and Federal systems.

Benton Resnick is a rising junior at American University, where he is an American studies major with minors in history and politics. Last summer, Benton interned with State Representative Malagari. He is excited to serve a wider constituency this summer, and he is especially interested in high-speed rail and public transportation.

Each of these enthusiastic and accomplished students have demonstrated a genuine interest in our Commonwealth's government and are eager to learn about and contribute to the day-to-day functions of a State Senate office. I am hopeful their experiences today and this summer will foster an even greater interest in public service. They are already making a positive impact in their communities, and wherever the future leads them, I am confident they will each make the world a better place. I ask my colleagues to join me in extending our usual warm Senate welcome.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Collett please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

GUESTS OF SENATOR LISA M. BOSCOLA PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Northampton, Senator Boscola.

Senator BOSCOLA. Mr. President, when my district office summer interns travel here to Harrisburg to get introduced on the Senate floor, it is always one of my favorite days. Today there are four interns who are here with me in the gallery. My interns work regularly in the district office just assisting constituents with issues about State government and providing them with updates on the progress of legislation. They also work on projects, and some of these projects actually turn into bills. So, when that happens, they are thrilled.

First, I would like to recognize Nolan Barr. This is Nolan's second summer with me, so I must be pretty good to work with; I hope, right, Nolan? Anyway, Nolan recently graduated from Penn State with a BS in finance, and while at Penn State, he participated in the Sapphire Leadership Academic Program, which is a highly selective program that focuses on applying classroom knowledge to the real world. He also is treasurer and herald at Theta Delta Chi fraternity and participated in raising funds for Penn State THON. While working this summer in the office, Nolan is preparing for the next step in his educational endeavor, which is preparing for the LSATs, followed by choosing a law school to attend.

Secondly, I am very pleased to introduce Ethan Christman, who just completed his second year at Haverford College with majors in German and international studies. Ethan is the treasurer and editor for Haverford's Tri-College Law Review, is the student representative for Haverford College AAEC, and serves as Lutnick Library liaison. As part of his German major, Ethan is a teaching assistant for Haverford's elementary German course. Following his graduation in May 2025, Ethan also plans on heading to law school.

Next, please welcome to the Senate, Ben Lee. Ben just completed his first year at Northeastern University. Ben is majoring in business administration and political science. Ben is a graduate of my alma mater, Freedom High School, in Bethlehem. Ben believes in giving back to his community and has volunteered at Meals on Wheels, the Boys & Girls Club of Bethlehem, and the Horizons for Youth summer program at Northampton Community College.

And my final intern this summer is Xandra Mika. Xandra graduated from Nazareth Area High School earlier this month, where she took Advanced Placement and honors courses. Xandra was on the high honor roll and honor roll, and three times received the Soaring Eagle Award. Xandra is attending Moravian

University with a political science major in the fall. She has had quite a bit of challenges when she was growing up. I know her personally, and I do not know if I could have followed in her footsteps with all the challenges she had, but she has never stopped from working very hard in her life, working several jobs, and I admire her greatly. I am so proud of her. She hopes to follow in my footsteps one day, which is for me, quite an honor. She has a lot of fortitude, and if she keeps up the work that she is doing, she will be able to follow in our footsteps.

Thank you, Mr. President. I also want to say it was a bonus for them to meet you today on the Senate floor. I call it a bonus because you were walking on the Senate floor to preside, and they were actually able to meet you, and they were just thrilled that you shared your personal experience about internships in a political office, and now you are the Lieutenant Governor, which a future I know is abound for you. But so is it for the interns who just came here today and have worked in my office. So, thank you for that. It was just an honor for them. I would like the Senate to give them their usual warm welcome.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Boscola please rise and be welcomed by the Senate.

[Applause.]

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Northampton, Senator Boscola.

So, I am proud to be a member of the 9/11 Trail caucus. I am proud to be a, just, you know, the cyclists came here today as a reminder of their journey, and I just wanted to back up Senator Robinson's remarks that he made today. Thank you.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 81 (Pr. No. 652) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of September 27, 1961 (P.L.1700, No.699), known as the Pharmacy Act, further providing for definitions and for unlawful acts.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from York, Senator Phillips-Hill.

Senator PHILLIPS-HILL. Madam President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 81, a critical step in addressing two major issues we have continued to see across our Commonwealth. In 2019, the Senate advanced this measure with unanimous support. At that time, fentanyl was about half as likely as it is today to be involved in an overdose leading to death. Today, more than two-thirds of all overdose deaths are due to fentanyl. Moreover, we have all seen and heard the challenges facing our first responders on a daily basis. They are pulled in multiple directions.

This legislation codifies executive orders into law by amending the Pennsylvania Pharmacy Act to permit EMS providers to leave a dose package of lifesaving naloxone, or Narcan, with the on-scene caregiver of a patient who overdosed on opioids and was revived by the emergency medical technician. Earlier this year, the FDA approved Narcan to become over the counter, but this is not until later this summer and does not include other versions of naloxone. This legislation will be a huge benefit to our EMS providers and the people who they serve. I would respectfully ask my colleagues to cast an affirmative vote for Senate Bill No. 81.

Thank you, Madam President.

And the question recurring, Shall the bill pass finally? The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEA-49

Argall	Culver	Kearney	Santarsiero
Aument	Dillon	Langerholc	Saval

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 209 (Pr. No. 839) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P.L.30, No.14), known as the Public School Code of 1949, in professional employees, providing for National Guard or Reserve parent student support.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Pennycuick.

Senator PENNYCUICK. Madam President, military families face many unique challenges, especially when they relocate. Frequent reassignments can be difficult for young children as they adapt to new environments, and as they transition from school to school, children can face daunting educational challenges. Pennsylvania acted in 2012 to help address these issues by joining the Military Interstate Children's Compact. This compact between Pennsylvania and our neighboring States assists and smooths the path of transferring students of military families by facilitating enrollment, attendance requirements, timely graduation, and other potential barriers to a child's success.

The children of National Guard and Reserve members often experience similar challenges when required to move because of family military service, especially as they fulfill training requirements. Senate Bill No. 209 will extend parallel rights and protections that the compact already affords active duty personnel to the children of families of the National Guard and Reserve. While this bill does not amend the compact itself, it will ensure that children relocating to and within Pennsylvania will have the same access to the support they need to continue their education with minimal disruption. By passing this measure, we can continue to show that Pennsylvania takes seriously its commitment to our families of those serving and in our nation's Armed Forces. I thank my colleagues for their support.

Thank you, Madam President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Philadelphia, Senator Tartaglione.

Senator TARTAGLIONE. Madam President, I offer the following remarks to be put on the record for Senator Muth.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Senator Tartaglione has submitted remarks for the record on behalf of Senator Muth. Without objection, the remarks will be spread upon the record.

(The following prepared remarks were made part of the record at the request of the gentlewoman from Philadelphia, Senator TARTAGLIONE, on behalf of the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator MUTH:)

Madam President, I rise in opposition to Senate Bill No. 460. While I agree that we need to legislate protections for our children, and the title of this legislation implies it is a tool to help protect children, I think it is important for public awareness to discuss the findings in an in-depth report published last month by ProPublica, titled "A former NFL player persuaded politicians that his child ID kits help find missing kids. There's no evidence they do." The report reveals troubling details about how the National Child Identification Program uses inflated numbers regarding missing children and does not, in fact, have a preventative or helpful impact on the issue, and experts have called the program a government-funded scam. To sum up the report: the National Child Identification Program is a government-funded scam.

The National Child Identification Program is led by a former NFL player who has a string of failed business ventures; racked up millions of dollars in outstanding Federal tax liens; has twice pleaded guilty to felony theft; and in 2015, was sanctioned by banking regulators in Connecticut for his role in an alleged scheme to defraud or mislead investors. In the report, it indicates that last fall, millions of students in Texas public schools brought home the Child ID kits at the cost of about $5.7 million. When Texas authorities were asked about the effectiveness of these kits, the Sheriffs' Association of Texas indicated they could not think of a single case that these kits helped.

The prepared fiscal note assumes that this program could cost roughly $350,000 or more per year to distribute these identification kits if purchased from the National Child Identification Program. Why are we proposing to spend taxpayer money on a scam that has shown absolutely no evidence that these kits actually help find missing kids? Similar kits are already available for free, and all of our legislative offices have them available, and our office distributes them at our district office and at our tables at any community events we attend. You can also download the FBI's Child ID app, which allows you to quickly share key information with authorities if your child is missing. The free app also includes tips on keeping children safe and guidance on what to do during the first crucial hours after a child goes missing. We should not be using taxpayer money to fund something that sells false hope and preys on the fears of parents.

Madam President, the American Federation of Teachers, the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers, and the Pennsylvania Association of School Administrators are all opposed to this bill. Because of these reasons, I will vote "no" on Senate Bill No. 460 and encourage my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Thank you, Madam President.

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 120, ADOPTED

Senator PITTMAN, without objection, called up from page 6 of the Calendar, Senate Resolution No. 120, entitled:

A Resolution directing the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee to conduct a study on the emergency medical services providers in this Commonwealth and the financial impact of nonreimbursable services for emergency response calls not resulting in a medical assistance beneficiary receiving transportation to a hospital or treatment facility and to issue a report of its findings and recommendations to the Senate.

On the question, Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Mercer, Senator Brooks.

Senator BROOKS. Madam President, I would like to submit comments for the record.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, the remarks will be spread upon the record.

(The following prepared remarks were made part of the record at the request of the gentlewoman from Mercer, Senator BROOKS:)

Madam President, Senate Resolution No. 120 directs the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee to conduct a study on the funding that our Emergency Medical Services (EMS) providers are losing due to non-reimbursed "treat and release" services. Ideally, we would not need this study if Medicaid just covered the services that our EMS providers deliver. The introduction of overdose reversal medications and statewide orders to ensure free access to these tools in 2015 for emergency personnel has saved thousands of lives throughout the Commonwealth. EMS providers are required to carry overdose reversal products like naloxone and to administer them free of charge.

According to the Pennsylvania Office of the Attorney General, 5,168 Pennsylvanians died from overdoses in 2021. That is an average of 15 Pennsylvanians dying every day in 2021 from an overdose. The volume of substance-related calls remains high, but for Medicaid beneficiaries that do not wish to be transported to a hospital or treatment facility, the EMS providers are not paid. While this is just one example of "treat and release" calls faced by our EMS providers, it is the intent of this resolution to identify how much and how often they occur and subsequently are unpaid. I intend to use the results of this study in the future to help make these organizations whole.

Thank you, Madam President.

And the question recurring, Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

A Concurrent Resolution extending in whole the disaster emergency declared on June 12, 2023, in response to the collapse of the northbound

Amend Resolution, page 2, line 20, by striking out "COMMON-WEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA" and inserting:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Mastriano.

Senator MASTRIANO. Madam President, this amendment makes just two simple modifications and changes to the verbiage. It changes the verbiage from Department of Transportation to Commonwealth and adds language to ensure the Commonwealth recovers the compensation from the Federal government for the I-95 bridge restoration. It is my understanding that the administration is agreeable to this language.

Thank you, Madam President.

Commonwealth's recovery and rebuilding efforts

Amend Resolution, page 2, line 25, by striking out "NOVEMBER 1, 2023" and inserting:

January 3, 2024

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Montgomery, Senator Muth.

Senator MUTH. Madam President, my amendment would make three important changes to Senate Resolution No. 136. First, this amendment would extend the disaster declaration for the I-95 bridge rebuild through January 3 of 2024. Madam President, we are constitutionally required to be in Session on Tuesday, January 2, 2024, and this extension would ensure that we can address a further extension, if necessary, on a scheduled Session day. In the absence of a confirmed fall Session schedule, this extension would ensure that the declaration can be addressed in January on a constitutionally required Session day.

My amendment would also change the mention of Department of Transportation to Commonwealth to expand the scope of the resolution. This was included in the previously adopted amendment, and if this amendment is adopted, they will just go in together. PEMA and the administration indicated that they are currently working with the city of Philadelphia to collect damages from the incident to see if the recovery and rebuilding costs will meet the threshold to receive additional Federal funding. Only indicating one agency in the language of the resolution could impact our ability to submit all costs for reimbursement. Both the administration and PEMA have indicated their support for this amendment, and PEMA has committed to our office to work with PennDOT to provide regular, detailed updates to the legislature on the process of the I-95 rebuild, just as they did throughout the Fern Hollow emergency. I ask for an affirmative vote on this important amendment.

Thank you, Madam President.

And the question recurring, Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS SUPPLEMENTAL CALENDAR No. 1

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 838 (Pr. No. 973) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 42 (Judiciary and Judicial Procedure) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, in sentencing, further providing for order of probation, for conditions of probation and for modification or revocation of order of probation and providing for probation review conference.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question, Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Luzerne, Senator Baker.

Senator BAKER. Madam President, for years there has been widespread agreement on the need to overhaul many aspects of our criminal justice system to cure problems and curtail costs stemming from overincarceration. The subject of probation reform is a familiar one for those of us here in the Senate. In previous Sessions, we have put a bipartisan bill forward that is nearly identical to the one before us today, Senate Bill No. 838. The information and input that we received over the last several years of discussion and debate over probation reform makes a compelling case for the changes contained in our proposal. The bill is aimed at removing two cost-driving complications in the probation system.

First, too many individuals are coming back for technical violations such as minor traffic offenses. This has financial costs in terms of enforcing, processing, and confining individuals who are not reverting to criminal ways. The larger cost, in human terms, is this needlessly slows the ability of individuals to become contributing members of society once again. That clogs up our prisons and costs taxpayers more than they should be paying for. And at the same time, it does little or nothing to effectively improve public safety.

Second, we provide for mandatory probation review conferences. The bill delineates when these must occur, and it adds the presumption of ending probation unless an individual is deemed ineligible. The process at present can drag out, and in some places, it is not providing probationers the consideration of their circumstances as warranted. We have passed laws in recent years to offer people who complete their sentence a second chance, better enabling them to find a place to live, access education or training or a job, if that is needed, and having a fair shot at employment. We will not fully realize the benefits of these changes if we do not eliminate the issues that exist in probation.

So, we are fortunate to have assembled a coalition of more than 100 advocates who are in support of this measure. And while I respect that many support it or do not feel it goes far enough, or some do not like every provision in it, I want to say thank you to all those groups who have come forward. And I will name just a few because we cannot name everyone: Americans for Prosperity, the Pennsylvania District Attorneys Association, The Reform Alliance, the Commonwealth Foundation, Justice Action Network, the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry, the Faith and Freedom Coalition, and the Pennsylvania Restaurant & Lodging Association. All of these groups deserve recognition for their persistence in making the case for reform. And of course my colleagues, the gentlewoman from Westmoreland County, Senator Bartolotta; and the gentleman from Philadelphia County, Senator Anthony Williams, championed this cause from the beginning, offering bipartisan cooperation and collaboration along the way. I would like to offer special thanks to the gentleman from Indiana County, Senator Joe Pittman; and Scott Sikorski and Vicki Wilken of his staff; as well as Bill Witmer from the Committee on Appropriations team for their help; Ryan Shovlin and Cara Laudenslager from my office for their very hard work and diligence on this; and to the Governor's office, the Department of Corrections, the Office of the Attorney General, all who have weighed in on strong support. So, I ask my colleagues today for an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 838.

Thank you, Madam President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Washington, Senator Bartolotta.

Senator BARTOLOTTA. Madam President, I know we have quite a few people who are very eager to speak on behalf of this bill. It has taken quite some time. I rise today in support of Senate Bill No. 838, truly a bipartisan piece of legislation intended to improve our probation system. I am so proud to sponsor this historic bill with my colleagues Senator Lisa Baker and Senator Anthony Williams.

Probation is supposed to be a pathway out of the criminal justice system. Instead, Pennsylvania is adding more and more people to community supervision and keeping them stuck there. The broken system has frequently become a probation-to-prison revolving door that is in desperate need of reform. Under the current probation system, technical violations, which are not actual crimes--such as being late for an appointment, traveling out of State, or being unable to pay fines and restitution--can lead to excessive extensions of probation or prison time that far exceed the original sentence handed down at trial. This approach has proven both ineffective at making our neighborhoods safer and significantly expensive for taxpayers. If a probationer violates his or her probation terms in some minor technical way, the result should not be simply to lock them away. We need a system that better matches the punishment to the offense and rewards good behavior.

Our bill is designed to implement greater fairness, eliminate excessive incarceration, give individuals a more reliable second chance to get their lives right, and offer taxpayers a break from ever-rising State correctional costs. When Senator Anthony Williams and I initially set out to address issues on the probation system, we knew it was not going to be easy. Meaningful change rarely is. Thankfully, we are not in this fight alone, and I want to acknowledge and thank my colleague Senator Lisa Baker for her leadership and her commitment to addressing the flaws in our probation system which have trapped nonviolent offenders in a cycle of incarceration. Senate Bill No. 838 represents the collective work of a number of stakeholders. And while, again, I understand that there are some individuals who wish the bill would go further, it does, nonetheless, provide historic changes to the system in a form that we believe can make its way to the Governor's desk. It is time that Pennsylvania joins the 30 other States that have responsibly addressed probation sentences to ensure minor violations do not become a probation-to-prison revolving door. I urge my colleagues to cast an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 838.

Thank you, Madam President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Saval.

Senator SAVAL. Madam President, just very briefly, I want to thank the makers of this bill and for all the work that they put in over several years with many, many advocates and organizations that have already been named. I wanted to just get up briefly because I voted "no" against this bill twice in the Committee on Judiciary and the Committee on Appropriations. But upon further acquaintance with the bill, conversations with advocates, I am going to be a "yes" vote today on the floor. I maintain concerns, of course, about the bill in some instances that it may not go as far as I believe we need to go. And I hope that in the future there is still some room to go that far, some trepidation about the list of technical violations and who it excludes and who it captures. And there is more to say on all of these fronts, but I, you know, I understand that this was a major effort. Again, I want to commend the makers of this bill, and I hope that we can do more on this front to do more to truly reform our probation system. And thank you, thank you for your time, and I yield.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Street.

Senator STREET. Madam Chair, I rise to support this legislation. I want to thank the makers of the bill who have worked hard over a number of years, not only in crafting legislation that seeks to reform our probation and parole system, but also working with advocates to make sure that concerns were addressed and that true bipartisan consensus could be reached. There are a number of things that this bill does that I think are worth noting, but it seeks to address the problem of over-supervision and, as was stated, the revolving door of people being reincarcerated for relatively small violations. It creates a process to eliminate the arbitrariness of who gets recommitted and who gets committed, and it creates a process for reviewing probation after it exceeds certain periods of time. It eliminates fees for people who are only on probation because they still owe restitution and creates a process where you do not have monthly reporting, which is reducing government spending as well as creating a greater measure of freedom for folks and saving taxpayer dollars. I could go on, and as others have stated, it is not comprehensive, and we still have work to do, but this is a significant step in the right direction. I want to thank all of the makers, but especially point out my colleagues Senator Bartolotta and Senator Anthony Williams who have worked on it for a significant period of time and, I think, have given us a piece of legislation that will make Pennsylvanians better off than they are today. With that, Madam President, I ask for an affirmative vote, and I yield.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Anthony Williams.

Senator A.H. WILLIAMS. Madam President, long time; a long time coming. And this moment does feel different than the last time we actually had this vote because--while I am certainly going to thank my colleagues in a second--I want the folks who are outside this building, who took their time to either dissent or concur or advise us on this legislation, this institution of the Senate is a representation of what we believe to be our commonfolk Pennsylvanians. Over the years that I have been here, unfortunately, I have felt that sometimes we do not always work in that collective interest. We can get divided by Democrat, Republican, rural, urban, suburban, and that, frankly, has annoyed every Pennsylvanian I have ever talked to, urban, suburban, and rural. I want people to understand, who are watching this, that while the last time nothing happened, I am telling you, because of the collective commitment outside this building to support this legislation, acknowledging that nothing is going to be perfect in this work, this bill or any other bill, but allowing us to make progress for thousands of Pennsylvanians who are captured in the cycle of probation that should not--and will be productive citizens--but should not be captured in this process.

Senator Bartolotta, I tip my hat to you, because you represent a constituency that many people would find this to be curious, and you took a bold step on behalf of human beings. Pennsylvanians, and others across the aisle and started talking to me about what we could do in this space. And I will tell you that I felt that moment was extraordinary, but what was really amazing was Senator Baker's work. Certainly, a pro knows the building, knows the process in a district that is deeply, deeply, as they would describe, red, and does not know much about any type of reform and sometimes not comfortable with that conversation. I want people to understand, she took the bull by the horns and took our work and crafted it into what was politically doable in this building. I cannot tell you how grateful I am for both of you women leading us down this path. My heart leaps and almost in tears when I realized this was actually going to get done and go to the House, which I expect it to get done and signed by the Governor and then become law.

I cannot tell you how many generations of people, unfortunately, I have lost to the probation process. I have lost poor people and frankly, I felt like a failure on many occasions just returning here and saying the same thing, screaming loudly but getting nothing done. The urgency of this moment that all of us see in Pennsylvania--be it education, be it criminal justice reform, be it the economy, be it a job, whatever it is--we need to understand we are all in this fight together. And while there may be external forces that drive us apart, we cannot succumb to that. The greater good depends upon us, and I am most proud to say two women led us to this point. God bless you both, continued success, blessings to your family. And I want to say on behalf of many, many people I have met trapped in the system who may never know you, thank you as well. God bless you.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Philadelphia, Senator Tartaglione.

Senator TARTAGLIONE. Mr. President, I rise because today marks 6,197 days since this Commonwealth's legislature last passed an increase in our minimum wage. Look, over the last decade, I have said a lot from this podium about the importance of raising the minimum wage and the consequences of failing to act, but I want to put it plainly as possible, Mr. President. Our current minimum wage of $7.25 an hour fails to meet the needs of workers. I cannot put it any more clearly as that. We are failing Pennsylvania workers. They deserve better. Pennsylvania deserves better. By raising Pennsylvania's minimum wage, we can foster a more equitable and prosperous society, benefiting workers, businesses, and overall economy. It is a vital step towards ensuring a fair and just labor market for all Pennsylvanians.

That is why I introduced Senate Bill No. 12, because my neighbors deserve better. Every Member of this Chamber's neighbors deserve better. There is not a person in this Chamber right now who does not live near someone or interact with someone earning poverty-level wages here in Pennsylvania. Tens of thousands of our neighbors earn $7.25 an hour, but those are not the only ones who would see relief and an improvement in their finances if Senate Bill No. 12 was passed. Nearly 500,000 workers across Pennsylvania earn between $7.25 and $12. They, too, Mr. President, would be impacted by raising our minimum wage. We need to act for all Pennsylvanians. We need to raise our minimum wage. We need to pass Senate Bill No. 12.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Washington, Senator Bartolotta.

Senator BARTOLOTTA. Mr. President, I just wanted to make a few comments about the passage of Senate Bill No. 460 earlier today. I am very grateful that it has come out of the Senate and is on its way over to the House. I just wanted to make a few instructional comments about that bill. Tragically, thousands of children across this country go missing every single year, and as a parent and a soon-to-be grandmother, I cannot imagine anything more terrifying than a child going missing. I would want absolutely every single resource available to help bring them home quickly and safely.

Thankfully, there has been a national grassroots effort to help parents and law enforcement find and identify missing children through the use of a special identification kit or different kinds of identification kits, and that is what Senate Bill No. 460 is all about. Giving parents another tool to help them hug their children again, to end the torturous nightmare of forever worrying if their children are safe or even alive. This effort has been highly supported by the likes of Pittsburgh Steelers great, Joe Greene, and the late AFL-CIO leader, Richard Trumka. The information in these kits will not, will not be collected or put into a database. It will be kept safely at home with the parents or guardians and never used unless, God forbid, a child goes missing. While it is our hope that not a single kit is ever needed, we want parents and law enforcement to have every means at their disposal to help in reconnecting these missing children with their parents.

Thank you, Mr. President, for letting me explain Senate Bill No. 460.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. [The Senate was at ease.]
