Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I am not totally startled nor am I amazed that the vote to revert was defeated on party lines by a vote of 22 in the affirmative and 26 against. That only reflects what we have been going through in this Body for the past three and a half months of this legislative Session. Mr. President, I would be foolhardy if I stood in front of the Senate today and asked them to vote against Senate Bill No. 405. I would be foolhardy because, unfortunately, what we have done here is we have asked another body, the House of Representatives, in this legislative operation to go ahead and to do the job that we, unfortunately, in the Senate cannot do, and the reason why we cannot do it, Mr. President, is because the political atmosphere and the political climate in this Body is so highly charged that we cannot even put our differences aside for one moment when the ultimate benefactor of legislation basically is the 80,000 people who work for the Commonwealth. It is more important that the Republican Members of the Senate have it their way in trying to get an independent counsel added to the State System of Higher Education, trying to get an independent counsel added to the State Employees' Retirement System, an independent counsel, Mr. President, to the Public School Retirement System, than it is to go ahead and provide benefits for people who worked for the Commonwealth and who have been furloughed who badly need them. It is really a sad day, Mr. President, in the way we are doing business in this Body, but I must ask the Members of the Senate to go ahead, even though this is not a good proposal the way it is, and to pass Senate Bill No. 405. We will do whatever we possibly can to get the House of Representatives to restore some sense of pride and some sense of reason into where Senate Bill No. 405 should be. They will do that for us, Mr. President, since the Majority Party in the Senate does not want to do it for themselves today, and they will probably have to come back sometime later and appoint a conference committee to work out the differences. But knowing this full well, Mr. President, I do not want one state employee to think that what we have done today is meaningful as far as they are concerned because the only step forward we are taking is that we are moving a vehicle from one Chamber to the other, but what has been encompassed here in Senate Bill No. 405, in fact, it does not do the job for those thousands of people who have written to me, that not only come from my own Senatorial district but I have also received letters from every Senatorial district in this state, including the 26 that are represented by Republicans. I am going to write back to them tomorrow and I am going to tell them how their Senators did not do the job for them, and I will explain in a letter how it was more important on the floor to be political than it was to go ahead and do the right job to aid their constituents who have asked for Senate Bill No. 405 to pass in its original form, in its original printer's number. Knowing this full well, Mr. President, I still would ask that we go ahead and we pass Senate Bill No. 405 so the House can do the job that we, unfortunately, are not prepared to do here this afternoon.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator MELLOW. I will, Mr. President.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, when we were dealing with the issue of the reversion to the prior printer's number, the gentleman indicated that there was going to be an additional cost of this legislation should it pass the Senate. I was wondering if he could tell me how much additional cost he had said in his earlier remarks?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I sure can. I am sorry that his Committee on Appropriations did not share the information with him, because if they were doing their job for the Majority, they would have had that information. But the additional cost because of the moving of a date from July of 1992 to July of 1991, as far as the first payment would go, repayment back to the fund from the Commonwealth, would be somewhere in the vicinity of $8 to $9 million, Mr. President.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, is it true then what the gentleman was proposing by the reversion, that it was simply the deferment of that cost to roll it into the next year's budget?

Senator MELLOW. No, Mr. President. First of all, there is no way we are going to know what the numbers are. I think it is important that the Majority must realize that the window on the bill in the reversion was open until September 30th of 1991, and it is virtually impossible to try to ascertain what the cost would be on July 1st of 1991, knowing full well that there was a window open for three additional months. This was brought out in the meeting of the Committee on Finance. It was discussed by the Members. I thought it was properly handled, actually, by the Committee on Finance, and I can remember a few of the Republican Members talking about it, as did the Democrat Members at the Committee. It is virtually impossible to know what a cost will be in July when a window is open for three additional months through the month of September.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I think it is interesting that the actual cost determination is based on how many people exercised that early retirement option, and it is really not essential to commencing this payment because this type of information is always derived from actuarial estimates. So in other words, it is very difficult, if not impossible, at this point to tell what the exact cost of the bill would be.

Mr. President, I would ask for an affirmative vote. I believe this legislation will certainly help to bring relief to those people who have been furloughed, who have lost their jobs. In many cases I think we have all heard from people who have been career employees in the state, people with 23 years of service, people with 30 years of service and all of a sudden have lost their jobs because of the fiscal mismanagement of this administration in estimating the revenues available to them. I believe, Mr. President, this represents a responsible approach to trying to help deal with those people and some of their problems.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, just one final statement. The only thing I can suggest as far as a responsible approach will be that I think it is important that those individuals who have corresponded with our offices should know the truth as to why Senate Bill No. 405 has not been passed prior to this date, and why Senate Bill No. 405 has been put in a position where the House of Representatives is going to have to do our work. I think the only responsible thing that we could do as Members of this General Assembly would be to write back to our constituents and to explain to them how the Republican Party in the Senate has derailed the passage of Senate Bill No. 405 and has opted to allow the House of Representatives to do their work.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, I am waiting over here to hear the Minority Chairman tell why his party does not want to have the retirement boards have independent counsel. Why should they have a counsel that is a stooge of the Governor?

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second consideration?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 401 go over in its order.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I oppose the motion to go over this bill. This is very important legislation. It was introduced in the last Session. It is sponsored by myself and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Pecora. This is the constitutional amendment that would prohibit the state from mandating programs to local governments without funding them. We look all over Pennsylvania, Mr. President, and we find every county government in Pennsylvania is in trouble because of state mandates. We should deal with this issue now, once and for all, and be honest and aboveboard with the county commissioners and local governmental officials. This bill has received widespread support in Pennsylvania, Mr. President. I have no idea why the Majority would want to go over it and kill it. I cannot figure that out. I would ask for a negative vote, Mr. President.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, it is simply the intent of the Majority not to deal with this bill today. There is no intent to eventually kill the bill. I would simply, again, move that the bill go over.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator LOEPER. I will, Mr. President.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, can the Majority Leader indicate to me when we could consider this bill? I do not have any problem withdrawing my objection if he gives me a reasonable answer.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, in a timely fashion.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, in a timely fashion? I love the gentleman dearly, but that is not specific enough.

I would ask that we oppose the motion and we will continue to oppose the motion to go over until we get a better answer.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator LOEPER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Armstrong	Greenwood	Loeper	Robbins

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator BELAN. Mr. President, I offer this statement to be entered into the Senate Journal in reference to Senate Bill No. 820.

(The following prepared statement was made a part of the record at the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator BELAN:)

Last week, the Senate voted unanimously to send to the House a bill which would permit state troopers to be assigned to patrol individual communities. A similar bill was vetoed by the Governor last year.

On first glance, the bill seems reasonable: The measure provides that communities who can't afford to fund their own police forces can contract with the state police to keep law and order. Upon closer inspection, however, the bill may set a precedent which could be disastrous for distressed communities.

Clairton, a Third Class City in my district, is now being patrolled by the state police without direct reimbursement from the city to the state. The city is being patrolled by the state police because it is an Act 47 designated distressed community whose state mandated recovery plan prohibits the financing of local police services.

Clairton, despite valiant recovery efforts by local officials, is still without the financial resources to fund local police operations. The city is broke. It needs the protection of the state police to provide a bridge to a future time when it is fully able to afford its own police force.

If the legislation which the Senate adopted last week is signed into law, other communities will soon be contracting for state police protection. Under the bill, these communities will have to reimburse the state police for having troopers patrol their streets. Undoubtedly, this contract will become expensive and a drain on the local tax resources.

I predict that when the local officials realize that some communities are getting this help from the state for free, they will begin to cry foul. Then, these same municipal officials who now laud the passage of this bill will contact their Senators and Representatives and ask them to either change the law to force the distressed communities to start footing the bill for police services or request free police services "just like they are getting in Clairton. What's good enough for Clairton," they will say, "is good for us."

I voted against the bill last year because I was trying to prevent this situation from occurring. I am concerned that distressed municipalities like Clairton who have no recourse for police protection other than the state police will be forced to ante up and pay their "fair share," even though in doing so it will send them deeper into debt. This is not fair at all.

Clairton did not choose to be distressed. It did not choose to be financially strapped. The economic dislocation of the 1980s and the changing face of heavy manufacturing caused an employment and population shift which is still to this day affecting Clairton and other Mon Valley communities.

Clairton cannot be faulted for having its industrial base erode and its tax base shrink. It is not complaining or whining about why it happened in Clairton and why it didn't happen elsewhere. It is working to recover and is beginning to overcome the many challenges which it faces. It does not need to be burdened and pushed back into the downward economic spiral. That is exactly what will happen if an attempt is made to force Act 47 communities to reimburse the state for police protection. That is my fear. What some see as "fair" in municipal police protection is, in fact, inherently "unfair."

Although I was prevailed upon to vote for the bill this year as a part of the budget agreement, I made it clear that I stand ready to vehemently object to any effort which unfairly impairs the ability of a distressed community to recover. This includes any proposal which is directed at compelling an Act 47 community like Clairton to reimburse the state for police protection when it is not financially prepared to do so.

I stand behind Clairton and other distressed communities in their revitalization efforts. These communities have made great strides. And, they need the state's help in continuing redevelopment efforts. What they don't need is more obstacles and impediments.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

MATHCOUNTS CHAMPIONS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator CORMAN. Mr. President, it is an honor I have today to recognize some outstanding people who I believe are in the balcony, and when we ask them to rise we will see if they are there. These are the people who are champions of what is called a MATHCOUNTS competition. MATHCOUNTS is a nationwide program for seventh and eighth grade students to promote mathematics through coaching and competitions. MATHCOUNTS was developed as a positive and rewarding program to improve math competency and increase the awareness of mathematics among the parents, educators and general public. Reaching all students, not just the winners, is the true intent of the program. The program builds skills, promotes strategic problem solving and drills students in dealing with complex problems and hard to handle answers on all the critical parts of our technological society.

We have today with us, Mr. President, the 1991 PSPE MATHCOUNTS team champions, and they are from the State College Area Junior High School. Their coach is Debra Kerr. The team champs are: Iain Keddie from State College; Lynn Lee from Boalsburg; Joseph Rozelle from State College; and Enakshi Bose from State College. I wonder if you would ask them to rise so we could give them a warm reception in the Pennsylvania Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Corman and all of the participants in the MATHCOUNTS competition, their advisors and the sponsors please rise so we can welcome you to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

(Applause.)

Senator CORMAN. Mr. President, I have Senate citations that we passed honoring these outstanding people. If they, at this time, would come down to the second floor Rotunda right outside our door, I would like to present the citations to them at this time.

The PRESIDENT. If the participants would join Senator Corman at the rear of the Senate Chamber on the second floor, he would be pleased to present you with those Senate citations. Thank you all very much for coming.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 431 — Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Senator LOEPER.

BILLS ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 570 (Pr. No. 599) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1933 (P. L. 1172, No. 290), entitled "Borough State Highway Law," changing a State route.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, I just wanted to bring to the attention of the Members that Senate Bill No. 570 proposes to transfer a portion of highway currently located in Wormleysburg Borough, Cumberland County, back to the state system. This road has been the responsibility of that municipality for nearly 30 years and that municipality has received liquid fuels monies over a period of time to pay for the maintenance of that road. Now this municipality wants to transfer that road back to the state system. I think that sets a bad precedent. Over the years we have been going in the opposite direction, turning back road programs to take miles off the state system, and transferring it back to the local municipality can better serve that than paying them for the maintenance of that road. Unfortunately, in this case it does set a bad precedent. I am sure every Member here has roads within their respective districts that they would like to add back onto the state system. I think it is a mistake to do this. I do not fault the Senator from that district in following the wishes of that municipality, but we have considered this type of legislation in previous Sessions. Even though it may pass here, it has not been successful in the other Chamber. Again, I want to bring to your attention that it does set a bad precedent of adding roads back into the state system and adds cost resulting in less amounts of monies to maintain state roads within each district. I urge a "no" vote.

Senator HOPPER. Mr. President, in respect to the bill before us, that road has definitely become a state highway with people going from the river to the Holy Spirit Hospital, to HARSCO, all located along that road, and we feel it should be in the state system and I urge a "yes" vote.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Schwartz and her temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

SECOND CONSIDERATION CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 25 — Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Senator LOEPER.

BILL ON SECOND CONSIDERATION AMENDED

SB 53 (Pr. No. 1051) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 75 (Vehicles) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, increasing the maximum speed limit on interstate highways; and providing for the use of speed timing devices.

The bill was considered.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on second consideration?

Senator LOEPER offered the following amendment No. A0622:

Amend Title, page 1, line 2, by inserting after "on": certain
Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3362), page 1, line 18, by removing the period after "highways" and inserting: outside of urbanized areas of population of 50,000 or more.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3362), page 2, line 1, by removing the period after "highways" and inserting: outside of urbanized areas of population of 50,000 or more.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3363), page 3, line 9, by inserting after "highways": outside of urbanized areas of populations of 50,000 or more.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, since we have not had the opportunity of seeing the amendment or caucusing on it, could the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, please explain the amendment to the Chamber.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Loeper, you have been asked to give some explanation on the amendment.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is to conform to federal law which would limit the increase to 65 in nonurban areas.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman and I have no problem with that.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I ask for a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Scanlon.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Mellow requests a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Scanlon. The Chair hears no objection. That leave will be granted.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, on the amendment that was offered to this legislation, this would just clarify in what areas of the interstate system that the bill itself would increase the speed limit to 65 miles per hour. This amendment just clarifies it and brings it into compliance with federal law. It identifies the areas of the state which it can designate for 65, and this is in the rural areas. The nonurban areas and urban areas with a population of 50,000 or more cannot go up to 65, but in the rural areas of less than that, they are allowed to do it. So it is really a clarifying amendment to bring it into compliance with the federal act. If we fail to do this, and whether you are for or against this legislation, if it would pass and become law without this in it, it could potentially withhold federal highway funds due to Pennsylvania. The issue itself about 65 would be in the bill itself and this amendment just clarifies whether it could be in the urban or nonurban areas. Really the thrust would be on the bill itself, but the amendment is a good and necessary amendment if this should become law.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. Without objection, Senate Bill No. 53, as amended, will go over in its order.

Senator BAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 54, ADOPTED

Senator BAKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution No. 54.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator BAKER. Mr. President, today we commemorate the bicentennial of Pennsylvania's only President, James Buchanan, the 15th President of the United States and a native Pennsylvanian. President Buchanan was, in my opinion, one of the most underrated statesmen that this nation has ever known and a dedicated public servant whose career spanned a remarkable 48 years, including a number of years in the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I would like to focus today on the contributions that he made in attempting to hold the Union together during a very difficult time, and, although ultimately not successful, his commitment to that cause and his many public services give us reason to be proud and to acknowledge his contributions.

I would like to ask that my remarks be entered in addition to the comments that I have made at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks the gentleman and, without objection, his full remarks will be entered into the record.

(The following prepared statement was made a part of the record at the request of the gentleman from Chester, Senator BAKER:)

Mr. President, today we commemorate the 200th birthday of President James Buchanan, the fifteenth President of the United States and a native Pennsylvanian.

President Buchanan was, in my opinion, one of the most underrated statesmen that this nation has ever known and a dedicated public servant whose career spanned a remarkable 48 years.

Buchanan ascended to the Presidency at a tumultuous and difficult period in our nation's history. He is often viewed as the President who presided over the country during the beginning of the Civil War and who was succeeded by Abraham Lincoln, the man who is formally credited with "saving the Union."

Mr. President, James Buchanan is an example for all of us in public service. He was elected to the General Assembly in 1814 and served with distinction on the House Judiciary and Banking Committees. At the time, the Capitol was under construction, and the Dauphin County Courthouse was the temporary home of the Legislature.

Today, Mr. President, I would like to focus not simply on the Presidency of James Buchanan but on the long and distinguished career of public service that he tirelessly and selflessly gave to the people of Pennsylvania and the nation. James Buchanan was a lawyer, a state assemblyman, a Congressman, an ambassador, a United States Senator, a Secretary of State, a consummate politician of two different political parties and our nation's fifteenth President. Today would be his two hundredth birthday. We in this General Assembly, the residents of Pennsylvania and the citizens of these great United States should take a moment to reflect on his distinguished career and be grateful for his service.

Buchanan Family Heritage. On July 4, 1783, a wide eyed and young James Buchanan, Sr., the father of a future United States President, boarded the brig ship Providence and set sail for America from Ireland. Philip Shriver Klein, in his biography of Buchanan, sets the mood of that historic day. "We can imagine some of his thoughts and dreams as he stood at the rail while the lines were cast off and the creaking ship slowly eased her way out of the channel from Londonderry, but even his wildest flights of fancy would scarcely have approached the reality of the future."

The land of opportunity. James Buchanan, Sr. and his son, James, who was born in a log cabin near Mercersburg, Pennsylvania, lived the American dream. It is a defining aspect of our nation that even today, 200 years after his birth, Buchanan's dreams and the freedoms and opportunities that he relished as an immigrant to our country, still thrive and prosper in the hearts of millions of Americans.

Lancaster Lawyer and State Legislator. After his education at Carlisle's Dickinson College, Buchanan settled in as a lawyer in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. At the time, Lancaster was the state capital and Buchanan quickly became active in the political scene. After a brief tenure as a private in the War of 1812, he became fascinated with the federalist philosophy and was nominated to serve as the state assemblyman from the district in 1813.

Buchanan would serve seven years in the General Assembly before returning to the practice of law. In 1814, at the tender age of only twenty-five, Buchanan successfully defended a prominent Lancaster judge from impeachment. Using a brilliant constitutional argument, he invoked and reaffirmed the federalist philosophy and the trial quickly became a statewide sideshow involving both Chambers of the General Assembly. When it ended, the judge was acquitted and James Buchanan became a household name in Pennsylvania. Of Buchanan's work as an attorney during this period, a local judge wrote, "He was cut out by nature for a great lawyer, and I think was spoiled by fortune when she made him a statesman."

Buchanan the Congressman. Buchanan was elected to represent Lancaster in Congress in the election of 1820. He was appointed to the Agriculture Committee and within three weeks he had spoken on the House floor on three separate occasions.

During Buchanan's tenure in Congress, he modified his strictly federalist views and came to advocate a modified system of centralized power with clearly defined state responsibilities and rights.

In 1828, Buchanan formally switched parties and became a Democrat. After being elected to Congress four times as a member of the dying Federalist Party, he ran and won election to the same office as a member of the opposing political party. As we can all appreciate, even in 1828 this was quite a political feat and was evidence of Buchanan's growing popularity and statewide political stature. James Buchanan was now the undisputed leader of Pennsylvania's political structure.

It is somewhat ironic that I stand here today as a representative of my constituents in Chester County. In 1828, James Buchanan won election to Congress over Charles Miner, a native Chester Countian and for years a Federalist colleague of his in the Congress.

By 1832, the rumors in Pennsylvania were that Buchanan would be an excellent choice for Andrew Jackson's running mate or that he would join the Jackson Administration in a cabinet level position. In 1831 he accepted a post as the Minister to Russia. It was a good opportunity for him to take a break from the rumble-tumble existence of Pennsylvania and national politics—but it was only a temporary respite.

Senator Buchanan. In 1834, Buchanan returned from Russia to run for the United States Senate. Although the Senate was not directly elected by popular vote, he was overwhelmingly chosen by his colleagues in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Buchanan was rapidly becoming a figure of intense national prominence. But he was not an aggressive or discourteous politician. Philip Klein, who has spent years researching Buchanan's life and has written a biography of Buchanan published by the Pennsylvania State University Press, summarizes his political personality as follows:

"He saw neither truth or virtue in the homely maxim that the squeaky wheel gets the grease, nor...that the best way to progress was to fight or buy the man who might be able to gratify your wish. Patience, acquiescence, logically contrived procedure and a ready willingness to capitulate in matters of minor political advantage—those constituted Buchanan's political temperament.

During his years in the Senate, Buchanan played a key role in the drafting and passage of some of our nation's most important legislative initiatives; including the Independent Treasury Act, the annexation of Texas and various bills dealing with the issue of slavery and the abolitionist movement.

Secretary of State. These Senatorial qualities not only represented a consummate politician but also a true diplomat. It was Buchanan's zeal for diplomacy and skill in the art of negotiation and compromise, that led President James Polk to appoint him Secretary of State in 1845. He remained in the post for the full tenure of Polk's Presidency.

Buchanan shined as the nation's chief diplomat. He signed a treaty with England to resolve a longstanding dispute over the nation's Northwestern boundary and he used his sharp political skills to convince other nations to remain neutral during the Mexican-American War.

Buchanan's diplomatic skills were further utilized in 1853 when President Pierce appointed him ambassador to Britain. It is no surprise that, in recognition of his lengthy political experience and extensive governmental service, James Buchanan received his party's presidential nomination on the 12th ballot in 1856.

The Presidency. His campaign was a serious foreboding of the future. The theme was simple and decisive: The Union is in danger and the nation must unite to permanently resolve the slavery issue and sectional differences. Buchanan's commitment and dedication to the Union was unparalleled at the time and would become the primary message of his Presidency.

It is somewhat ironic that Buchanan's fate as a presidential candidate was decided largely in Pennsylvania. He desperately needed the electoral votes of his home state to win. A prominent Democratic Southerner, D. H. Branham, outlined the campaign strategy with decisive exigency, stating:

"Concentrate your entire force of every kind upon Pennsylvania until the 15th—even the day of the election have speakers everywhere. Success here will carry more votes...than can possibly be accomplished by direct efforts in other states. Carry every speaker to Pennsylvania...Don't waste your time replying. Carry Pennsylvania."

The week before the election, one of the largest campaign rallies in American history was held in Buchanan's hometown of Lancaster. Over 50,000 people attended to hear the sons of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay and the other prominent Democrats of the time.

In the November elections, Buchanan received 1.8 million votes to win the presidency. The Union was saved but danger loomed ahead.

Conclusion. James Buchanan met every challenge he faced in his 50 year public career with dignity, professionalism and restrained confidence in his abilities. He is truly a model to all of us who aspire to any type of public service.

Shortly after his election, Buchanan returned to Wheatland, his beloved Lancaster estate, and was visited by a group of students from Franklin and Marshall College, whose Board of Trustees he long chaired. After dispensing with the usual pleasantries, his mood turned serious and more somber. "The object of my Administration," he told the students, "will be to destroy any sectional party, North or South, and harmonize all sections of the Union under a national and conservative government, as it was 50 years ago."

Mr. President, James Buchanan failed to stop the inevitable. The nation would soon be gripped by a bloody and violent Civil War and it is doubtful that any President could have completely avoided the impending turmoil.

But Pennsylvania can be proud of James Buchanan. He was a model leader with one of the most impressive and lengthy political careers in our nation's history. His legacy is wide ranging. He helped define the term "public service" in Pennsylvania and throughout the nation. He was a brilliant attorney and ambassador, and he served the people of Pennsylvania in the General Assembly and in both houses of the United States Congress.

Today, on the occasion of his 200th birthday, we can commemorate President James Buchanan with a great deal of pride, gratitude and affection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives informed the Senate that the House has adopted Report of Committee of Conference on HB 244, which was placed on the Calendar.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS
SUPPLEMENTAL CALENDAR NO. 1

REPORT ADOPTED

HB 244 (Pr. No. 1438) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177, No. 175), known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," requiring notice and public hearings prior to the closure, sale, lease or transfer of any State-owned institution.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I move the Senate adopt the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 244.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, this particular proposal, House Bill No. 244, is a proposal that has been before us now on several different occasions. It deals with a continuing operation of state hospitals and state institutions that, unfortunately, we all know are costing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a tremendous amount of money, and there has been a move on the part of the administration and the Department of Public Welfare that we in some way should get ourselves out of the hospital business. Mr. President, I would oppose the vote on concurrence of the report of the committee of conference on House Bill No. 244 and would ask for a negative vote.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, I think what this bill does is tell Pennsylvania that the Legislature is also part of the government of Pennsylvania. Apparently the Chief Executive has the idea that he can close hospitals or perhaps Cheyney University or any other state facility he wants to close. Governors come and go. We have lame duck governors, but I do not see anybody in this Chamber who is a lame duck, including myself, and I think we should have input as to how the state is run.

Senator RHOADES. Mr. President, I stand, too, to ask for an affirmative vote on this bill. I agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell, that the General Assembly, I think, has to play a very important part in any decision made when it affects any facility. I draw special attention to the fact, too, that we pass the budget and allocate the funds that are going to be used with the intention that they will last as long as those funds are there. We put them in for a year. The hospitals should last for a year. I think this bill calls for responsible action, be it taken by the administration or the General Assembly, before any institution in this Commonwealth will be so affected to at least put at risk the people whose health care must be protected. I have two hospitals, Ashland and Coaldale State General, that will be affected if this bill is not put in place. I ask for your affirmative vote.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Belan and Senator Jones.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Mellow asks for temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Belan and Senator Jones. The Chair hears no objection. Those leaves will be granted.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator HART. Mr. President, this week, as you may not know, we mark the National Crime Victims Rights Week, which offers us the opportunity to focus our attention on the needs of a group of victims whose plight has too often been hidden from public view. That is victims of domestic violence. While we expect our homes to be places of caring, security and comfort, far too many homes in Pennsylvania are places of pain, injury and, tragically, sometimes death.

Let us consider some statistics. Before this year is over, 800,000 Pennsylvanians will be beaten in their homes. In one year, 1988, nearly one quarter of all of the murders committed in this Commonwealth were committed by a family member, boyfriend or girlfriend. This is an appalling statistic.

What is being done to address this crisis? Well, too often the crime—and it is a crime—goes unreported. Too often law enforcement is not given the tools it needs to end the cycle of pain and violence. Too often victims are not given the support and the services they need to get out of an abusive situation. A crisis of these proportions cannot and will not be ended through piecemeal solutions. A coordinated and comprehensive approach must be debated and enacted into law.

I am very grateful to so many of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who have joined with me in sponsoring a four-bill package of legislation that approaches the problem of domestic violence on all fronts. Through this pro-family pro-law and order effort, we are recognizing that this complex crisis has no simple remedy. For example, the road to recovery from domestic violence does not end when an abuser is put in handcuffs. Very often it is but the first step on a long road towards establishing an independent and self-sufficient life. After all, leaving an abusive situation is far more complicated than packing a suitcase and calling a cab. Not only do victims need emotional support, they need the basic building blocks of independence that so many of us take for granted. They need legal help. They need job counselling. They need information on managing a household budget. They need access to a wide range of programs and services. But no matter what steps we take or what programs and services we provide, helping victims become independent must be the ultimate goal. We will not have succeeded if a victim trades dependence on an abuser for dependence on government. The time is now for us to take strong action against this horrible cycle of pain and violence by helping victims embark on new lives and leave behind the human tragedy of domestic violence.

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, I would like to talk about another victim, the victim of child abuse. April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month, which we in the Pennsylvania Senate commemorated two weeks ago by adopting Senate Resolution No. 42. As we each year adopt that resolution, we should take time to look at the annual reports of child abuse both in Pennsylvania and nationwide to see what impact we have been having on this problem.

This year we have more cause than usual to be sobered by the facts in this country. Last year, 2.5 million children—more than 50 percent of them under the age of one—were reported as being abused or neglected. That is more than a 147 percent increase over a ten year period. In 1989, over 1,200—to be specific, 1,237—child abuse fatalities were reported to child protective service agencies in the United States. That is an increase of more than 38 percent over a four-year period. That means three deaths a day occur as the result of child abuse and neglect in this civilized country.

In Pennsylvania, we received more than 24,000 reports of suspected child abuse last year, of which 32 percent were substantiated. Nearly half of those substantiated cases involved sexual abuse, and three-fourths of those victims were young girls. Fifty-eight children died of child abuse last year in Pennsylvania, three more than were killed in 1989.

There is some good news in the fact that 222 persons requesting background clearance for child care employment were discovered to be on file at ChildLine as child abusers. These child abusers were prevented from again having access to children because we passed legislation—Acts 33 and 34 of 1986—mandating background screening checks for childcare workers.

And so it is that each April, after adopting another Senate Resolution and after updating ourselves on the continuing increase in the incidence of child abuse, we consider again the need for prevention. An ounce of prevention is still worth a pound of cure.

It was for that purpose that we in the Legislature established the Children's Trust Fund two years ago, dedicating this fund's assets to the prevention of child abuse. As a result, this April in Pennsylvania we can for the first time feel some assurance that we are beginning to work effectively to prevent child abuse. In its first full year, the Children's Trust Fund realized $1.3 million from a $10 surcharge on marriage license applications and divorce decrees—now divorce filings. Last November our Children's Trust Fund awarded $600,000 in its first round of grants to community-based child abuse prevention programs. For the information of my colleagues, the following community-based child abuse prevention programs were awarded grants in November in the following amounts: Three Rivers Youth in Pittsburgh was awarded a grant for $97,671; the Children's Home of Reading was awarded a grant for $69,358; the Neighborhood Centers Association of Pittsburgh, a grant for $58,951; the Valley Youth House in Lehigh County, $57,105; the Family Service Association of Bucks County, a grant for $54,191; the Northwest Center, Inc. of Philadelphia, a grant of $44,679; the Philadelphia Society for Services to Children, a grant for $36,734; the Center for Victims of Violent Crime, a grant of $29,462; Parents Anonymous of Westmoreland County, a grant of $27,000; the Greater Philadelphia Chapter of the NCPA, $26,760; the Owen J. Roberts School District, $26,152; Victim Services of Johnstown, $23,315; Catholic Charities of Diocese of Pittsburgh, $19,940; Family and Children's Service of Blair County, $16,103; and Community Resources of Fayette County, Inc., $5,783.

At the national level, the National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse is emphasizing the theme "Partners for Prevention" during April. "Partners" can be moms and dads, or parents and educators; they can be health care providers and schools; they can be Legislators and social services departments. Every one of us can be a "Partner for Prevention" of child abuse, either by relating directly to a parent or an at-risk child or as a member of a service organization which helps raise the local funds needed to pay for prevention programs or to match Children's Trust Fund grants.

Mr. President, in conclusion, we look forward to the day when it will no longer be necessary to recognize child abuse as a national affliction or cancer. Child abuse prevention is everybody's business.

GUESTS OF SENATOR ALLYSON Y. SCHWARTZ PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I wanted to just say into the record that I had a very wonderful group of young students visiting with me today. I understand they were in the gallery and did have to leave so I just wanted to acknowledge that they were—you may run into them in the corridors—a group of third and fourth graders from the Levering School in Roxborough visiting and learning about the state Capitol and state government. I just ask that we acknowledge that they were here and wish them a good and important day.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Those remarks will be appropriately spread upon the record, and the youngsters should know, had they been here, the Senate would have given them its traditional, usual warm welcome.

GUESTS OF SENATOR ROBERT C. JUBELIRER PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Mr. President, I have guests in the gallery today, and if I could I just would like to have a minute or two of the Senate's time. Several weeks ago Senator Salvatore, Senator Loeper and Senator Bell had the privilege and the opportunity of introducing a fine group of young people from the Glen Mills Reformatory School who happened to be the AAAA Basketball Champions of 1990-91, and surely they earned it and they worked hard. I had mentioned my guests at that time, when Senator Salvatore said, if you get to win the state championship three times in a row, you get to come down on the floor. Well, today, Mr. President, I am here to introduce a group of young men who are going to do everything they can to keep that team from sitting on this floor next year. I am delighted and honored to introduce a fine group of young people from the Altoona Area High School who lost to that Glen Mills team and is the runner-up to the state championship team. They lost by five points. Perhaps it is unusual to have a group of people who are not necessarily the champions to come down.

Mr. President, this group of young people was the underdog, frankly, in their last several games as they approached the championship game in Hershey. They proved with a lot of desire, a lot of commitment and a lot of hard work and dedication that miracles can happen. Their miracle year fell five points short, but it did not mean that they were losers. In fact, this group of people is a very fine group of people and they are here in Harrisburg with us today. They are here with Larry Betar, the Head Coach; and Mike Hayes, the Assistant Coach; Walter Betar, the Principal; Jack Ray, the Athletic Director; and Tom Bradley, the Director of Public Relations. As I call their names, I would ask them to stand and ask if the Senate would give them a warm welcome and a hearty "well done" as they have achieved so much in this year. They are Brian Imler, Bill Jarrett, Todd Meloy, Brian Rehm, who was named to the All-State Team, Trevor Robinson, Buddy Brunner, Brandon Kemp, Jason Riley, Robert Summers, Paul Downey, Jamir Washington, Dan Fortson, a 14-year-old junior high school student who was named to the All-State Team and certainly had a remarkable beginning. I am sure you are going to hear a lot more from Dan in the future; also Jerry Smith, Joe O'Brian and Ryan Hombertson, the managers of the team, and Eric Irwin and Steve Taneyhill who are not here today. This fine group of people is here all day visiting the Capitol and being honored here with citations, and I would ask, Mr. President, if you would ask the Senate to give them its usual warm welcome and congratulations.

(Applause.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and commends the students and their coaches from the Altoona Area High School for their outstanding season.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, at this time I would ask for a recess of the Senate for the purpose of a Republican caucus to begin immediately in the first floor caucus room, with an expectation of returning to the floor at approximately 3:45 p.m.

INDEPENDENCE DAY" IN PENNSYLVANIA

Senators SALVATORE, JUBELIRER, LOEPER, REIBMAN, SCHWARTZ, AFFLERBACH, ANDREZESKI, ARMSTRONG, BAKER, BELAN, BODACK, BORTNER, BRIGHTBILL, DAWIDA, FATTAH, GREENLEAF, MUSTO, O'PAKE, PECORA, PORTERFIELD, ROBBINS, SHUMAKER and WENGER offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 58), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 6, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Designating May 14, 1991, as "Israel Independence Day" in Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, After World War II, thousands of Jewish refugees who survived Hitler's genocide of 6 million Jews immigrated to British-held Palestine, their ancestral home where thousands of other Jews lived for more than 2,000 years; and

WHEREAS, The British withdrew from Palestine on May 13, 1948; and

WHEREAS, The State of Israel was established on May 14, 1948, as a Western-style democracy; and

WHEREAS, The State of Israel began its existence by extending its hand of peace to all neighboring states calling for good neighborliness, cooperation and mutual helpfulness with the independent Jewish nation; and

WHEREAS, The State of Israel is prepared to contribute its share in a common effort for the advancement of peace in the Middle East; and

WHEREAS, Since its establishment, the continued existence of Israel has been challenged by its Arab neighbors despite Israel's willingness to find a peaceful solution to regional problems, and the 1977 peace treaty with Egypt is an example of such willingness; and

WHEREAS, Israel's military strength, cultural vitality, and political, economic and social ties to the United States are a continuing source of pride and inspiration to the 360,000 Jews of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, There is a special kinship between the governments and peoples of Israel and the United States; and

WHEREAS, Israel was victimized by Iraqi SCUD missile attacks during the war in the Persian Gulf, and these attacks resulted in tragic loss of life and extensive property damage; and

WHEREAS, The Israel government acceded to the request of the government of the United States not to immediately retaliate against the Iraqi missile attacks so that the military coalition allied against Iraq would not be threatened; therefore be it RESOLVED, That the Senate hereby designate May 14, 1991, as "Israel Independence Day" in Pennsylvania.

Senator SALVATORE asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 58, ADOPTED

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution No. 58.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, this is the 43rd year of the independence of Israel, and I want to pay special recognition on this day, which will be May 14th. As we have done in previous years, we always recognize Independence Day of Israel, but this year it is more important because of the attacks that Israel sustained during the Iraqi War. The people of Israel stood silently by while they saw a tragic loss of life and extensive property damage, and the Israel government had done that at the request of the United States and the United Nations, not to retaliate. So I commend the Country of Israel for the actions that they took, and we should make that a special day and remember Israel Independence Day in Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

WHEREAS, May has traditionally been recognized as "Senior Citizen Month" in the United States, a month set aside both to consider the special and continuing needs of our senior citizens and to alert senior citizens to the existence of programs already available to them; and

WHEREAS, This special month is also an appropriate time to recognize that senior citizens possess a wealth of experience, talent and wisdom and a willingness to share them; and

WHEREAS, Senior citizens cherish their freedom and independence and want to remain in their homes and communities as active and contributing citizens; and

McCONNELLSBURG HIGH SCHOOL CLASS A GIRLS BASKETBALL STATE CHAMPIONS PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Mr. President, I had the pleasure yesterday of introducing the Altoona Area High School Boys Team, and today it is my pleasure to introduce the only ladies basketball team which was undefeated the entire year, through the playoffs, to the state championship. They are the Class A Champions, the Lady Spartans of McConnellsburg High School. They are here today to have a tour of the Capitol and to receive citations for their remarkable record of 31-0. They captured the PIAA Class A State Championship with a 66-60 victory over Pottsville Nativity in the State Finals held at Hershey. This team is under the extraordinary expert guidance of head coach Audrey Hall and assistant coach Dorothy Doyle. I would ask the Lady Spartans to rise as I call their names because they certainly are an outstanding group of young ladies: Tiffany Bard, Nicole Seiders, Melody DeShong, Amy Booth, Marla McElhaney, Angela McElhaney, Rochelle Swope, Paulette Carbaugh, Rebecca Eisaman, Leslie Kendall, Stacey Peck and Misti Soter; also manager Stacey Duffey, and scorekeeper Trudy Doyle. Mr. President, not only do they excel athletically, seven of the members of the team are National Honor Society students. Nine of the twelve were runners-up as the state volleyball champions, and a week later came out for basketball. It is a small district, but let me tell you they are incredibly competitive and outstanding members of their community and certainly deserve the recognition of the Senate for their accomplishments, and I would ask you, Mr. President, if you would ask the Senate to give them a warm welcome and congratulations on their remarkable season.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would the Senate of Pennsylvania give the Lady Spartans of McConnellsburg High School its traditional warm welcome.

(Applause.)

GUESTS OF SENATOR ROXANNE H. JONES PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator JONES. Mr. President, it gives me a great deal of pleasure this afternoon to introduce some folks to the Senate who I think are very special people. They are members of the Pennsylvania Impact Governmental Conference. They held a conference today, and they are dealing with so many of the issues that concern us, such as housing, health care, taxation, racism. All these issues are being discussed today over at Grace Methodist Church. I happened to be their morning keynote speaker, and I was just so impressed with them. I would just like to also mention all of the different churches that are involved. We have the American Baptist Church, Church of Brethrens, Evangelist Lutheran Church in America, the Episcopal Church, the Presbyterian Church, United Church of Christ and the United Methodist Church, and many others. This group is spearheaded by Dr. Paul Gehris, and I would appreciate it if the Senate would give them an extra welcome here today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would the guests of Senator Jones please rise so we can give you an extra special welcome.

(Applause.)

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For purposes of Republican and Democratic caucuses, the Senate will now stand in recess.

CALENDAR

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AMENDED

SB 53 (Pr. No. 1070) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 75 (Vehicles) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, increasing the maximum speed limit on certain interstate highways; and providing for the use of speed timing devices.

Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator STOUT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A0696:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3362), page 2, lines 2 and 3, by striking out all of said lines and inserting:

(2.1) (i) Except as provided in subparagraph (ii), 65 miles per hour on interstate highways outside of urbanized areas of population of 50,000 or more.

(ii) 55 miles per hour on interstate highways for all trucks and truck tractors registered as Class IV or larger.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, amendment A0696 is an amendment to Senate Bill No. 53. As the Body knows, this legislation would increase the speed limit on rural interstates from the current 55 to 65 miles per hour. The bill that is before us will allow any vehicle, regardless of size and class, to travel the rural interstate system at 65 miles per hour. This amendment is offered to correct that and to prohibit any truck of class 4 or larger—a class 4 vehicle has a gross vehicle weight of 9,000 pounds or more—from going 65 miles per hour. They would be required to travel the rural interstates at the current speed limit of 55 miles per hour. On many occasions Members of this Body have stood at the microphones and addressed concern about the high speed of trucks on our interstate road systems and the fact of the trucks bearing down on the much smaller cars and threatening them. This way, if this legislation were to become law, it would restrict the trucks of class 4 or larger to 55 and would allow cars and vehicles, like pick-up trucks and so forth, to travel the rural interstates at 65 miles per hour. I think one of the reasons for that is the stopping distance for the larger trucks. Because of their weight, it takes a greater distance to stop than an automobile with the weight moving forward. This amendment does make sense, and I urge the adoption of this amendment to restrict trucks of class 4 and larger to 55 miles per hour on the interstate system.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Jubelirer. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration, as amended?

Senator STOUT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A0697:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3368), page 4, line 4, by removing the period after "limit" and inserting: where that speed limit is 55 miles per hour or less or unless the speed recorded is three or more miles per hour in excess of the legal speed limit where the speed limit is 65 miles per hour or more.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, as Senate Bill No. 53 is before us now, it would allow no tolerance if the 65 mile per hour speed were passed and signed into law increasing the speed to 65 miles per hour on the rural interstate system. It would allow zero tolerance for any motorist traveling who would exceed the 65 miles per hour and, say, even go to 66 miles per hour, and you could be subject to a citation by State Police using radar. Our current law provides at 55 miles per hour for a six mile per hour tolerance. This concept of allowing zero tolerance at a 65 miles per hour speed was extensively debated in the committee, and this is an attempt in this amendment to reach some type of a compromise. Amendment A0697 would allow for a three mile per hour tolerance on rural interstates at a speed of 65 miles per hour. The reason for this is that anybody who drives knows that it is impossible when you are driving to keep your vehicle exactly at that speed limit, so you creep up. If you are traveling at 65 miles per hour and you creep up to 66, you are going to be subject to possible arrest, and the minimum fine for that case of just, say, being one mile over the speed limit is $92.50. That is quite a serious fine, although there are no points assessed between one mile and five miles over the speed limit, still the cost at $92.50, I think, would be unfair. Another reason is the speedometers on vehicles are not that accurate. Although State Police vehicles are calibrated and you can have your speedometer calibrated, that costs considerable money. As an operator of a vehicle, you know that if you put new tires on or put winter tires on, it will cause fluctuation and inaccuracy in the reading of your speedometer. I think while it might not be proper to retain the current six miles per hour tolerance that we currently have under the 55 mile speed limit, the way the bill is before us with zero tolerance, I think, is unreasonable and we should at least retain a three miles per hour tolerance even if the 65 miles per hour speed limit were adopted for the rural interstate system. I urge the adoption of this amendment.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, I oppose this amendment. I have several reasons. When we first adopted the radar bill, I was a freshman Member of the Senate and I remember going out and watching the demonstration on Route 22 when we had one of the Senators in a State Police car and a number of other Senators were watching the radar, and there was a variation of about eight or ten miles between what the speedometer said and what the radar said. In those days radar was not exact. Today, according to his testimony in his appearance in front of the Republican caucus, the Commissioner of State Police said that today radar is accurate. The reason for the tolerance is not needed. So when we say 65 miles per hour with this bill, it means 65 miles per hour, not 68, or whatever other tolerance would be read into it.

There is another reason. If, on vehicle count, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads determines the flow of traffic is over 65 miles per hour, we can lose federal matching money. That is in the federal law. I ask my colleagues to vote against giving any tolerance above 65 miles per hour on the interstate rural highways.

Senator CORMAN. Mr. President, I, too, would urge a negative vote on this amendment. There is no reason today to give tolerance with the use of radar. It is time now to make the law consistent as other speed timing devices. There is no tolerance given in the law in the event that a state patrolman would be following you in your car. Sixty-five would mean sixty-five, just as today fifty-five means fifty-five. They need not give you a tenth of a mile. The same way with any of the other speed timing devices—VASCAR, you name them. None of them have a tolerance when checking speed at 55 miles per hour, therefore, there is no real need for it in radar.

I have sent a letter from the Commissioner of State Police to each one of you indicating that radar is checked on a regular basis. It is precise to one mile per hour, that is the radar cannot read in excess of the speed that it is going, and if the speed is 59.9, it will read 59 rather than 60 miles per hour. Radar is accurate. There is no need for the three miles per hour tolerance. If we are talking three miles per hour, we are talking 68. The police will, no doubt, give another couple of miles, as they do now in almost all instances, and we are talking 70. I think 65 is a safe speed. We ought not to make it 70 with this kind of tolerance, and I would urge a negative vote.

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, in response to my two colleagues who spoke in opposition to this amendment, it is not the question of the calibration of the radar to the driver, although that is going to impact on whether that citation is issued and the citation is upheld. In many cases it is the accuracy of the speedometer in your car. I mean, I know on a monthly basis, the State Police have to have the radar device certified, but if a person thinks they are traveling 64 or 65 miles an hour and they have a one or two mile creep, an error or an inaccuracy in their own speedometer in many cases, as I have said, it is the devices themselves as they are manufactured are not that accurate, and if the driver is relying on that or happens to put on new tires or winter tires, which are oversized, which also affects the reading that you will get on your speedometer, that person legitimately could think that they are traveling at 64 or 65, within that proposed speed limit, and actually be going 66 or 67, one or two miles over that, and get arrested, receive a citation for that and you are talking not a small amount of money. The minimum fine is $92.50. This General Assembly, in our wisdom, you know, added $10 for emergency services. That is fine and good. In order to finance the CAT Fund, we added $30. You have the minimum fine of $35 and you have costs of $17.50. You are penalizing a person for happening to just slide over there, just creep over there by one or two miles, although the gentleman from Centre County said he did not think that the police would do that, that they would still give a couple of miles of leeway. We are not sure of that. I think we are just inviting problems. I am sure if this legislation is passed without this amendment and becomes law, many of us will be hearing from our constituents who are traveling at 65 and end up getting a ticket for 66 or 67 miles per hour. Even the cruise control, which many of us rely on today, has a plus or minus three to five miles on your vehicle. Many travelers use it to help maintain their vehicle at a safe speed. I think we need to adopt this, not totally allow zero tolerance. It is not realistic. How many of you who drive are going to say that you are always going to keep within one mile of that speed? I think if this is to become law, we need to see that it is fair. Currently, on 55 miles an hour, we are allowed six miles, so even though we are increasing the speed, I have reduced this tolerance to three miles. I think it is a fair and reasonable amendment to Senate Bill No. 53 and urge its adoption.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, I would like to suggest a real cheap way of calibrating your speedometer. When you are on the Turnpike, they have mile sticks. You take a watch, and if you go through those mile sticks one mile in 60 seconds you are doing 60 miles an hour, and you can adjust, using your own computer between your two ears. I have used this method for a long time because I drive in Maryland and Delaware where there is not any tolerance.

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, I say to Senator Bell, I do not know how accurate my watch is. I have a Mickey Mouse, so I do not think I am going to rely on that to measure my speed. I know that you can use that and that is why they are out there, but I very seriously doubt if many people drive and calculate their speed by the stripes on the road. I think it is really totally unrealistic not to have that in there, and we are going to probably, as I say, rue the day if we pass this bill without this amendment and subject our constituents to fines when they are one or two miles over the limit. I urge the adoption of this amendment, Mr. President.

Ordered, To be printed on the Calendar for second consideration.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator BELL. Mr. President, the news media carries a story that on Monday there is no money to pay the welfare recipients. The payment of these checks is scheduled so one-tenth of the welfare recipients in Pennsylvania will not have money on Monday. On Tuesday, if action is not taken, another 10 percent. I have been advised by the Majority floor leader that the bill authorizing additional appropriations to the Department of Public Welfare was received by this Chamber some time after noon today. For some reason the House of Representatives held up this legislation. I am just going to call attention to the House of one fact. I have been through this before when welfare recipients did not get their checks. I heard, I did not see, of many cases of hungry children, and I do not think that we want to see this repeated in Pennsylvania. I urge that we expedite legislative handling of this matter. I call attention to the Senate that it is a very sad situation when the Senate Committee on Appropriations was warned that this was going to happen by Secretary White back in March and the House never passed the legislation, although somebody must have known the money was running out and there would be hungry children on Monday.

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, we join in urging the Senate Committee on Appropriations to address this problem expeditiously, and I understand arrangements have been made to do so. It is absolutely essential that that bill reach the Governor's desk by next Monday, which means that the Committee on Appropriations is going to have to report it out today so we can vote it next Monday.

RECESS

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, there will be no further votes taken today, but at this time I would move that the Senate stand in recess to the call of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fisher moves that the Senate do now recess to the call of the Chair.

BILL ON FIRST CONSIDERATION

Senator LEMMOND. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now proceed to consideration of the bill reported from committee for the first time at today's Session.

The motion was agreed to.

The bill was as follows:

SB 243.

And said bill having been considered for the first time,

Ordered, To be printed on the Calendar for second consideration.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator BELL. Mr. President, the Senate Committee on Appropriations acted very quickly and reported out House Bill No. 1274 in yesterday's Session. It has been read the second time, and we hope that this will be passed early on Monday. This is the bill that is the supplementary appropriation that provides the monies for the Department of Public Welfare so the welfare checks can be issued once this bill passes the Senate and the Governor signs it. This means, with the expeditious handling that the Senate has given this bill, which only arrived here Monday, the welfare recipients will have their checks. It also means that the children will have food. During the Republican caucus we had the welfare chairman present and I told him we have had situations like this in the past. I urged him to insist that the checks be cut and ready to be distributed once the Governor signs the bill and be sent by special messenger to all of the counties of the Commonwealth. The welfare cycle is such that one-tenth of the welfare recipients of the Commonwealth are issued their checks on each of ten separate days, and this action by the Senate taken today has done a tremendous amount of good to prevent undue suffering, especially by the children of welfare recipients.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore laid before the Senate the following Senate Resolutions numbered, entitled and referred as follows, which were read by the Clerk:

May 10, 1991

URGING FEDERAL OFFICIALS TO REEVALUATE LIMITS ON REHABILITATION PROGRAMS FOR VETERANS WHO HAVE SUFFERED TRAUMATIC BRAIN INJURIES

Senator LEWIS offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 63), which was read and referred to the Committee on Military and Veterans Affairs:

In the Senate, May 10, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Urging Federal officials to reevaluate limits on rehabilitation programs for veterans who have suffered traumatic brain injuries.

WHEREAS, The grim and unfortunate reality of armed conflict is that young men and women are killed, scarred, and maimed in defense of ideals and interests, noble or otherwise, and this is a timeless and inescapable facet of warfare; and

WHEREAS, Thomas J. Murphy, Lance Corporal (Retired) of the United States Marine Corps, is all too aware of this cruel fact, having suffered a traumatic brain injury (TBI) while flying on a mission in the skies over Quang Tri Province in the Republic of Vietnam in July of 1972; and

WHEREAS, Miraculously, Thomas J. Murphy survived this grievous wound and was released from the Philadelphia Naval Hospital in February of 1973; and

WHEREAS, Between February 1973 and January 1987, though diagnosed as a patient who could benefit from therapy, special schooling or a structured rehabilitation program, Thomas J. Murphy received no services from the Department of Veterans' Affairs nor any form of rehabilitative intervention; and

WHEREAS, In January of 1987, nearly 15 years after he suffered his debilitating injury, the Veterans' Administration finally agreed to fund TBI rehabilitation for Thomas J. Murphy, and he entered The Devereaux Foundation's Head Injury Program and remained in its exemplary care until June of 1990, when funding for his therapy was withdrawn by the Veterans' Administration; and

WHEREAS, With the return of United States servicemen and women from the Persian Gulf, it is all the more timely and appropriate for all of us to turn our attention to the problems of veterans with injuries like Thomas J. Murphy's and to note that under current Veterans' Administration policy, no lifelong commitment to their needs has as yet been realized; and

WHEREAS, It is altogether fitting and proper for the members of the Senate to join with Thomas J. Murphy and hundreds of veterans across the nation in urging the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Veterans' Administration to provide a long-term, substantive care program to those who so nobly sacrificed in defense of our nation and to pay tribute to the bravery, determination and perseverance so ably demonstrated by veterans such as Thomas J. Murphy, who continues to endure in the face of hardship that can be alleviated; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate urge the President of the United States, Congress and the Department of Veterans' Affairs to reevaluate Federal limits on rehabilitation programs for veterans with traumatic brain injuries sustained during active duty and to review in particular the services rendered to Lance Corporal (Retired) Thomas J. Murphy and other similarly situated veterans; and be it further RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each house of Congress, to each member of Congress from Pennsylvania and to the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

EXPRESSING THE OPPOSITION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATION ACT, 1991, PROVIDING FOR MANDATORY REDUCTIONS IN CERTAIN STATE PERMITTED OBLIGATIONS

Senators STOUT and CORMAN offered the following resolution (Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 64), which was read and referred to the Committee on Transportation:

In the Senate, May 10, 1991.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Expressing the opposition of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the provisions of the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1991, providing for mandatory reductions in certain State permitted obligations.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States under the provisions of section 341(a)(1) and (2) of the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1991 (P.L. 101-516, 104 Stat. 2155 at 2189), provided that:

SEC. 341. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, for the period January 1, 1992, through December 31, 1992, the Secretary of Transportation shall reduce the aggregate amount which a State may obligate for Federal-aid highways and highway safety construction programs by 25 percent if such State has a public authority which provides mass transportation for an urbanized area of such State with a population of 3,000,000 or more as determined under the 1980 decennial census of the United States, and if by October 1, 1991—

(1) laws of such State do not authorize a general tax-based source of revenues to take effect on or before January 1, 1992, dedicated to paying the non-Federal share of projects for mass transportation eligible for assistance under the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964; or

(2) the laws of such State do not authorize the establishment of regional or local tax-based sources of revenues dedicated to pay such non-Federal share or for paying operating expenses of mass transit service so as to satisfy financial capacity standards as may be required by the Secretary of Transportation; and

WHEREAS, The only state in the United States which meets the parameter set forth in section 341 is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has provided over $1,300,000,000 in financial assistance for public transportation the past three fiscal years; and

WHEREAS, Pennsylvania continues to rank second in the Nation in the amount of direct state support for public transportation as reported in AASHTO's Survey of State Involvement in Public Transportation; and

WHEREAS, It is manifestly unfair for the Congress of the United States to single out the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for such drastic punishment which if imposed would immeasurably add significant burdens to interstate commerce in the north-eastern region of the United States; therefore be it

RESOLVED, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with section 341(c)(2) of the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1991, expresses its opposition to the mandatory reduction of funds authorized by the Congress; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of Congress and to each member of Congress from Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, Law enforcement is one of the most essential services provided to the citizens of our great Nation; and

WHEREAS, The peace officers of our Nation serve the citizens of their communities with dedication and integrity; and

WHEREAS, These men and women stand guard in our midst, night and day, to protect us through enforcement of our laws; and

WHEREAS, The devotion and intrepidity of our Nation's peace officers and the sacrifices of officers who have been killed in the line of duty should not go unrecognized; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate, consistent with the provisions of Public Law 87-726, 36 U.S.C. § 167, which authorizes the President to designate May 15 of each year as Peace Officers Memorial Day, declare May 15, 1991, as "Peace Officers Memorial Day" in Pennsylvania in honor of peace officers who have been killed in the line of duty and designate the week of May 12, 1991, as "Police Week" in Pennsylvania in recognition of our country's courageous peace officers; and be it further

PREFERRED APPROPRIATION BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1274 (Pr. No. 1549) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 1, 1990 (P. L. , No. 7A), known as the "General Appropriation Act of 1990," increasing and decreasing certain appropriations to the Executive Department; and making appropriations from the Hazardous Material Response Fund.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I think before we vote on House Bill No. 1274, the supplemental appropriation, it is important that we take note and make some remarks about the passage of this legislation. I think it is very important that the Senate has moved quickly on this legislation to try and ensure there is no disruption of payments, particularly to our welfare recipients. I think everyone understands that this is not the last piece of such legislation we are going to be faced with in the Senate during this fiscal year because the current calculations are that this measure is only going to take the state through the middle of June. It is hoped that we will not have to undergo another two-minute offense in order to rush another bill through in order to try and accommodate the same situation prior to the end of the fiscal year. I think it is noteworthy, however, Mr. President, that the process on this supplemental appropriation was assisted by the cooperation of the Budget Secretary in giving us, particularly the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, who has requested on many occasions, an explanation of exactly where the funds are coming from in order to pay for this measure. Although we have had strong disagreements with the manner in which some of these funds were secured, I think it is important to realize that we now are assured the money is on hand, in fact, to fund the necessary payments called for in the bill. We recognize, Mr. President, no one really wins when there is a stoppage of state payments, and I think the willingness to respond to our request for information is certainly a positive step forward and a positive sign as we enter a very difficult period of working on a state budget for the next fiscal year.

I think, in addition, Mr. President, it must also be noted that the problems being encountered in cash grants and in medical assistance are not really unexpected. As you may recall, last April of 1990, we several times indicated to the Budget Secretary and the administration that we believed their estimates in those two areas were far too low. The Budget Secretary at that time had said flatly that we were mistaken in our assumptions, and he refused to revise those estimates at that time. However, in an April 30, 1990 letter to the Governor, we changed the assumptions of DPW and the Budget Office and warned that there would be serious problems ahead. Unfortunately, for the state budget picture, it was the Budget Secretary who, in essence, Mr. President, a year later was absolutely wrong in the projections that he had made and why, essentially, we are in a position today, in order to pass this supplemental appropriation, to try to address the cash grants and medical assistance issues. The idea that the legislation we pass today to address the problem recently arisen is certainly one that is not accurate. I think, Mr. President, we are only beginning to pay the price for the misjudgments and miscalculations of a year ago that served as the foundation for the current budget which we are currently involved in and will come to an end on June 30th.

I believe, Mr. President, it is important we consider in shaping the new budget that we look for a more realistic projection from the administration in order that we do not face such a grim fiscal problem again this time next year.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair notes the presence on the floor of Senator Lewis. His temporary Capitol leave will be hereby cancelled.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I just want to respond briefly to the Majority Leader's remarks. We, too, felt that there might be a shortage in cash grants last year, but we were not as positive in our view as the Majority Leader now seems to make his views appear.

Mr. President, the most important thing we have to remember is that although we may have thought there were some shortfalls last year, and I have certainly said it on this floor many, many times before and I will do it again today and every time I hear the moans of the other side, who stepped forward with an alternative plan? Mr. President, the Majority participated with us. We could not have passed the budget were it not for the votes of the Majority, and they know that. Quite frankly, the fact of the matter is that last year nobody wanted to find any of these problems in reality. I will admit the other side was caught in some sort of schizophrenic mode—on the one hand wanting to cry deficits are coming, deficits are coming, deficits are coming, but on the other hand, not willing to say, let us raise taxes to avoid that.

Mr. President, I would hope the remarks of the gentleman today and the tone of those remarks would carry forth in the future, because I think we have all beaten to death whose fault it is we are here today with all these problems that Pennsylvania faces. It is not just the fault of the Governor. It is not just the fault of the Legislature. It is probably mostly the fault of the American economy, and we can blame that on Democratic Congressmen and Senators and a Republican Administration. The fact of the matter is that we have a problem and we should be glad that our problem is not as bad as other states, although it is a bad problem. We must go forth into the future together if we are going to solve this. We will get nowhere if we continue the partisan rhetoric. Just for the record I want to advise the Majority Leader and others that we have always passed supplemental budgets for cash grants. In fact, one of the negotiators of this budget—whose name will remain unmentioned, but those of us who do it know fully well who it is—always says, take it out of cash grants. We will give them a supplemental later if we need it. It is usually very short and succinct. His style is that way. So we all understand the problem, Mr. President. Let us just go forth in the future trying to work together to solve Pennsylvania's problems, because the people of Pennsylvania are not concerned with who did what. The people of Pennsylvania are concerned with solutions, and those solutions this year are going to be very painful across the board, not only for taxpayers in business and individuals, but also for recipients of state help, and we know that. So let us not try to beat each other for partisan political gain, but let us act responsibly and solve these problems.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, I was not going to make this speech until the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, got up and made his personal remarks. This is brinksmanship. This bill arrived here Tuesday at noontime, and we are here at 10:30 a.m., Monday to pass it. I do not think the other party, including the Minority Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, better try to repeat this tactic when we pass the big budget because at that time we can throw in stopgaps. When children go hungry in the welfare families there will be enough votes to override the Governor's veto on the stopgap.

Senator TILGHMAN. Mr. President, I think the Members on the floor should know it is necessary to pass this piece of legislation at the present time but as of this minute the funds on hand to back this bill up—this is a $176 million bill—are $5,590,335 short. In other words, we are voting for a piece of legislation and the funds are not in hand. However, various items have been listed by the Secretary of the Budget that would bring in enough money to cover the $5,500,000 shortfall, and I hope that he does get those funds. We are going to be talking for the next two or three months. Hopefully by June 30th we will all be done talking about the budget problems in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and there is nothing very fancy about it. We can talk about this, we can talk about that, we can talk about the economy, but the facts of the matter are that Governor Casey in the first four years of his term, in three of those he spent more than he took in, and it is just as cut and dried as that. He took in X amount of dollars and spent 2X amount of dollars and nobody in the world can do that and exist. You cannot do it as individuals, and I think the Governor is responsible for cutting spending when he realizes he is not getting the funds in.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, it was not my intention to continue this debate, but I cannot let the remarks of the previous speakers go unchallenged. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell, tells us this bill got here late. He is allowed to introduce a bill. No one says he cannot introduce his own bill if he does not like this bill or if it is late in getting here. I also want to assure Senator Bell and others there will be no stopgaps. I will repeat it, there will be no stopgaps. We will deal with this budget on time, in a proper fashion or we will all suffer the heat together. So do not even start thinking in your wildest fantasy that there will be stopgaps. There were no stopgaps when Governor Shapp decided to put the Legislature in a responsible posture, and, believe me, you gentlemen well know the history. Governor Casey will never be outdone by Governor Shapp. There will be no stopgaps. Mr. President, as far as us passing a bill today for which there may not be cash in hand of some minor amount, we all passed the budget a couple of months ago when there was not a lot of cash in hand, and we all knew it. As far as the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, saying of the horrendous record of the Casey Administration spending more than they took in, the only answer I have to that, I guess he learned from Ronald Reagan and George Bush. I also guess you guys did not argue with them, because you espoused the same philosophy. You went along with him every time you say he did that. So let us again stop the political rhetoric, go on in the future together and share the heat because it is coming. It is coming and we all know it. So let us stop the nonsense and get moving.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

Afflerbach	Fisher	Lincoln	Robbins
Andrezski	Fumo	Loeper	Salvatore
Armstrong	Greenleaf	Madigan	Scanlon

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1991

SESSION OF 1991 175TH OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 30

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 14, 1991.

The Senate met at 1:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Robert C. Jubelirer) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Mr. HARRY F. RAY, Pastor of Faith United Church of Christ, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Lord, we Your servants stand before You this day, very much aware that You have created and You have challenged us to preserve. You have given us, O God, servants who have said, yes, to be about caring for others as they implement legislation.

So we would ask of God that Thy divine guidance and blessings would come upon these folks. Be with them as they legislate and deliberate. Help us to be compassionate to all the needs and the diversities around which we see each other. We see before us homeless, crack babies, AIDS, elderly, education, and the list goes on. God, help us to be stewards of Your goodness upon this earth that we may care about all of Your people amidst all of the diversities, that we may be aware that You have charged us as we have accepted our responsibilities to be stewards of the goodness of life.

So, O Lord, come and visit this, Thy Body. Be present guiding and directing, and we will be careful to give You the praise.

In the Lord's name we pray. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thanks Reverend Ray who is the guest this week of Senator Schwartz.

Of particular interest is the fact that these individuals are here because they were the high bidders in a charity auction in order to come here and shadow me throughout the processes of the Legislature today. I think that is becoming a trend in Pennsylvania for public officials to be able to offer that kind of a guided tour and a shadow, if you will, in helping to meet some of the charitable needs out there. I would commend Meridian and these individuals specifically for taking advantage of that opportunity.

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR RESUMED

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AMENDED

SB 53 (Pr. No. 1143) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 75 (Vehicles) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, increasing the maximum speed limit on certain interstate highways; and providing for the use of speed timing devices.

Considered the third time,

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?
Senator CORMAN, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A0844:

Amend Title, page 1, lines 3 and 4, by striking out “; and providing for the use of speed timing devices”

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 7, by striking out “, 3363 and 3368(c)” and inserting: and 3363

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, lines 20 through 30; page 4, lines 1 through 22, by striking out all of said lines on said pages

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator CORMAN. Mr. President, this amendment is being offered to try to strike a balance between those who would like to maintain the tolerance that is given in speed timing devices to check speed on our rural interstates in Pennsylvania and yet establish a speed that is truly in compliance with the speed that is being traveled on those rural interstates and, I think, would not be causing any additional unsafe conditions on the highway. It would change the speed for automobiles driving on rural interstates in the State of Pennsylvania from the current 55 miles per hour to 60 miles per hour, keeping in place all the speed timing tolerances, which are 6 miles per hour, before one would receive a citation from Pennsylvania's finest, the State Police, for those who would exceed that speed limit.

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, I also wanted to remind the Members of my caucus that I explained the amendment of the gentleman from Centre, Senator Corman. The amendment I had offered previously, when the bill called for 65 miles per hour, was taken out the other day on reconsideration, and if Senator Corman's amendment were to be adopted I would not be offering my amendment. Again, this is a decision that individual Members should make, if they feel that this is proper to increase the speed for automobiles from the current 55 miles per hour to 60 miles per hour on the rural interstate system. My amendment which was offered last week—it is still in—would have trucks of Class 4 and higher to be retained at the 55 miles per hour. I just wanted to call the attention of the Members of my caucus to that. This bill does make it 60 miles per hour for automobiles, and we would keep the other part of the bill in at 55 miles per hour.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator STAPLETON. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Lewis and Senator Schwartz.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Baker and Senator Shumaker.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Senator Stapleton has requested temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Lewis and Senator Schwartz. Senator Fisher has requested temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Baker and Senator Shumaker. The Chair hears no objection. Those leaves will be granted.

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

SB 197 (Pr. No. 206) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 14, 1972 (P. L. 221, No. 63), entitled, as amended, "Pennsylvania Drug and Alcohol Abuse Control Act," providing for the commitment of certain children; prohibiting the expenditure of State funds outside this Commonwealth; and providing a negligence standard relating to assessment and treatment of certain children.

Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator GREENLEAF, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A0683:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 12.1), page 2, line 20, by inserting after "incurred.": The single county authority shall not authorize the assessment or the placement of a child under this section if one parent, guardian or person having legal custody of the child objects to the assessment or placement.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, as I read the amendment, it is very straightforward and would prevent a single county authority from authorizing either the assessment or the placement of a child for drug and alcohol treatment if one parent, guardian or person having legal custody objects to such assessment or placement.

Mr. President, I would point out that many children who are in need of this particular kind of assessment or placement to deal with an alcohol abuse problem or a drug abuse problem, in fact, come from households where the parents are separated but may not be divorced and may well not have gone through any sort of custodial adjudication. It seems to me we are denying the very people who need help the ability to get that help if we now make the requirement so stringent that we will require both parents to approve of the placement or of the assessment of the child for such treatment. I think it is a very bad amendment in the sense it flies against the very intent of the bill, and it flies against the ability of us to put children into treatment who desperately need it and who, in many cases, would not go if, in fact, the parents are disputing among themselves whether that treatment should take place.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Greenleaf.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Greenleaf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator GREENLEAF. I will, Mr. President.

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, having just made the statement that I did, I would ask the sponsor of the amendment why he would believe it necessary to place this amendment into the bill that would make it exceedingly difficult to provide the assessment and placement of a child who needs treatment for drug or alcohol problems?

Senator GREENLEAF. Mr. President, this is an issue that was raised in the Committee on Judiciary by our colleague, the gentleman from Bucks County, Senator Lewis, and other Members of the Committee who had some concern that in a situation involving a separation of the parties they felt, and I agreed with them, they would prefer to have both parties agree to the treatment rather than have only one of the parents agree, and that is the purpose of the amendment.

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, my next question would be, what sort of a time period would we be looking at to obtain an agreement from both parents? Let us assume that the parents are indeed separated. One parent wishes the child placed in treatment or placed under assessment and the other parent is not easily located. What do we do in a situation of that nature?

Senator GREENLEAF. Mr. President, that is not going to be subject to this legislation. You have to have both parents' permission to do it. I think one of the concerns was that in some custody matters many times the child becomes a pawn in that battle, and we wanted to make sure no child was caught up in that gamesmanship during a domestic relations battle by allowing just one parent providing or agreeing to the treatment. This legislation now provides that both parents have to agree, and I think if this situation warrants the treatment, then I do not think there should be any difficulty in obtaining both parents' agreement.

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, let me restate the question. I posed the situation that the parents are separated, not legally divorced and, in fact, no custody adjudication has been made. The child is living with one parent. That parent believes the child needs to be assessed and placed in treatment. The second parent is not easily located. How long do we keep the child out of treatment and out of assessment as we try to find that second parent?

Senator GREENLEAF. Mr. President, until we find the second parent and get that parent's permission.

Senator AFFLERBACH. The sponsor of the amendment has answered the precise point that I wanted to make. If we adopt this amendment, we will, in fact, be denying the opportunity for children who need assessment and treatment to receive that assessment and treatment indefinitely, because if we cannot locate the second parent, we cannot place that child into the treatment that they need. That is the first reason I would oppose the amendment. The second reason the sponsor again touched upon and that was the concern that the child becomes a pawn between two parents who are separated and perhaps are seeking divorce and custody. It is my belief that the fact that the child may need assessment or treatment places that child in a more vulnerable position to be, in fact, used as a pawn by these adults, and that is the second reason that I would oppose this amendment and ask this Chamber to defeat it.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator STAPLETON. Mr. President, Senator Andrezeski has been called to his office, and I ask for temporary Capitol leave.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Senator Stapleton requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Andrezeski. The Chair hears no objection and that leave will be granted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I would also oppose the amendment. The points so well brought out by the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Afflerbach, call to mind two specific circumstances. Mr. President, I think the issue is one of big importance, and as we act on it I think we really ought to hear all sides of this issue regarding children in trouble because of drugs or alcohol. There is nothing more fundamental than a trouble that is going right across our society.

I was saying that the amendment does call to mind a circumstance that would indeed almost guarantee that children can become a pawn. First of all, if you take the corresponding parent who is required to agree, let us suppose that parent is on disability or drugs, which is not uncommon. Therefore, their willingness to face it for their children certainly would not obtain.

The second circumstance is one that also is not psychologically uncommon in the behavior of our country, and that is there are some parents who just cannot accept the fact that children of their own can have disabilities, whether it be drugs or psychological problems, all the things that proliferate in our society, and that is a profile which is quite apparent. Those parents who just cannot accept that would not be willing to agree for a protective reason, and the whole issue here is to try to get children into treatment who need help. So I agree with Senator Afflerbach that to require an additional parent prevents one concerned parent to put that before a judge who would decide, hopefully, fairly and judiciously, and so my objection and urge to vote "no" on this amendment is because the specter, obviously, raises a disability and guarantees a disability for children in a circumstance where we are trying to extricate them from the problem, and I would urge a "no" vote on that.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN

Senator GREENLEAF. Mr. President, I would at this time withdraw the amendment and then move to have the bill put into the Committee on Appropriations, and if there are further amendments that have to be offered to it, it can be done at that time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The prime sponsor of the amendment has asked that the amendment be withdrawn and moves that the bill be rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

SESSION OF 1991 175TH OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 31

SENATE

MONDAY, June 3, 1991.

The Senate met at 2:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Mark S. Singel) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend JOHN H. HOUDESHEL, Pastor of Chestnut Level Presbyterian Church, Lancaster, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, Whose wisdom is infinite, eternal and unchangeable, we confess before You our own finite limitations. We remember how Your servants of old, David and Solomon, recognizing their inadequacy and confessing their limitations, prayed for wisdom and insight and understanding. In Your great mercy and love You gave heed to their prayers and taught them Your ways as they were open to Your leading. Even so being faced in these days with matters of great importance in the administration of this Commonwealth and bearing the responsibility of making decisions which will affect the lives of those who live within its borders, we do now earnestly appeal to You for guidance and direction. Help us then to be open to the promptings of Your spirit, to have the courage to do those things which we perceive to be in accordance with Your will, for Your glory and for the good of Your people in this place. For Your name's sake. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks Reverend Houdeshel who is the guest this week of Senator Wenger.

Senators MUSTO, STAPLETON, MELLOW, REIBMAN, BRIGHTBILL, STOUT, BODACK, LAVALLE, PECORA, LEMMOND, SHAFFER, HOLL, FUMO, AFFLERBACH, O'PAKE, BAKER, SCHWARTZ, ROBBINS, STEWART, DAWIDA, PORTERFIELD, RHOADES, ARMSTRONG, PUNT, SCANLON and PETERSON offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 68), which was read and referred to the Committee on Environmental Resources and Energy:

In the Senate, May 20, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Directing the Senate Environmental Resources and Energy Committee to monitor the Federal Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 and urging the Governor to coordinate Clean Air Act programs in Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, The Federal Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 establish significant regulatory responsibilities and strict compliance deadlines for state governments and regulated industries; and

WHEREAS, The Clean Air Act Amendments will have a direct and profound impact on Pennsylvania businesses, industries, consumers and ratepayers; and

WHEREAS, Implementation of the Clean Air Act Amendments mandates will require a high degree of cooperation between regulatory agencies; and

WHEREAS, The Clean Air Act Amendments contain stiff sanctions and penalties for failure to meet compliance deadlines and schedules; and

WHEREAS, The complexity and technical detail of the Clean Air Act Amendments will require extensive communication between regulators and the regulated community; and

WHEREAS, A number of Federal and State agencies are involved in the implementation of the Clean Air Act Amendments; and

WHEREAS, Pennsylvania's interests must be represented on the Northeast Transport Commission, a 13-state organization created by the Clean Air Act Amendments to coordinate air pollution control measures; and

WHEREAS, Interagency cooperation, coordination of regulatory programs and enhanced communication with the regulated community will improve the effectiveness and limit the cost and economic impact of the Clean Air Act Amendments implementation; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania direct the Environmental Resources and Energy Committee to monitor the progress and economic impact of the Clean Air Act Amendments implementation in Pennsylvania; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the committee issue a report to the full Senate every four months and that these reports contain a summary of upcoming Clean Air Act Amendments compliance deadlines, implementation actions undertaken in Pennsylvania and an evaluation of the ongoing progress and economic impacts of the Clean Air Act Amendments implementation; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Senate urge the Governor to create a special committee to help coordinate the implementation of the Clean Air Act Amendments in Pennsylvania and develop recommendations for future programs and actions that would improve the Commonwealth's ability to meet the Clean Air Act Amendments mandates in a timely fashion and limit the negative economic impacts associated with implementation; and be it further

RESOLVED, That this committee be comprised of representatives of the Department of Environmental Resources, the Department of Transportation, the Department of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, the Pennsylvania Energy Office and the Office of Consumer Advocate; the coal, utility and other industries affected by the Clean Air Act Amendments requirements; public interest and environmental organizations; the General Assembly; and local government.

OPPOSING ANY INCREASE IN TRUCK SIZE OR WEIGHT

Senators CORMAN, HOLL, STOUT, LINCOLN, BELL, SCANLON, LaVALLE, BODACK, PECORA, LYNCH, HOPPER, FUMO, PUNT, STEWART, STAPLETON, HART, JONES, WILLIAMS, REIBMAN, GREENWOOD, SCHWARTZ, AFFLERBACH, MADIGAN, PORTERFIELD, TILGHMAN, LEWIS, LEMMOND, BELAN, DAWIDA, RHOADES, ARMSTRONG, PETERSON, BORTNER, FISHER, SHAFFER, ROBBINS, ANDREZESKI and FATTAH offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 69), which was read and referred to the Committee on Transportation:

In the Senate, May 20, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Opposing any increase in truck size or weight.

WHEREAS, Under current Federal law, states must allow at least 48-foot semitrailers and 28.5-foot twin trailers on interstate highways; no state weight limit can be less than 80,000 pounds; and states may determine the extent to which they "grandfather" truck weights higher than those allowed under Federal law; and

WHEREAS, The trucking industry is considering seeking Federal statutory increases in truck size and weights which would apply to all states as part of the reauthorization of the Surface Transportation Uniform Relocation Assistance Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-17, 101 Stat. 132); and

WHEREAS, If the statutory increases cannot be obtained, the trucking industry will request a special permitting system that would, given past legislative history, result in future Federal statutory increases; and

WHEREAS, According to the 1988 data from the Fatal Accident Reporting System (FARS), more than 100,000 people were injured and 4,500 others were killed in crashes involving trucks; and

WHEREAS, Passengers of other vehicles were killed in truck-related crashes more often (84% of the truck-related fatalities) than were truck drivers; and

WHEREAS, Studies have shown that longer trucks are more likely to have rear trailer separation, more trailer sway and low speed offtracking than do shorter combination trucks; and

WHEREAS, 76% of the trucks in truck-related crashes had broken, substandard or defective parts, and 41% of them were immediately ordered out of service; and

WHEREAS, The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety has found that double and triple trailers are two to three times more likely to be involved in crashes than standard trucks; and

WHEREAS, Large trucks are not required to have antilock brakes or satisfy many of the safety standards required for passenger vehicles; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate oppose any increase in truck size or weight until it can be shown that larger, heavier trucks are safe and urge the Federal Government to continue to research the safety of large trucks; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Senate firmly suggest that this matter be resolved within the Congress and that the Congress retain its responsibility to resolve this matter and not delegate the decision to the individual states through a special permitting process; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of Congress and to each member of Congress from Pennsylvania.

In the Senate, May 20, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Memorializing AMTRAK to recognize the rightful name of the station at 30th and Market Streets in Philadelphia as the Pennsylvania Station.

WHEREAS, The Pennsylvania Station in Philadelphia is symbolic of the role played by the Pennsylvania Railroad in the development of the eastern railroad system, one of the great American industrial adventures of the 20th century; and

WHEREAS, The station located at 30th and Market Streets in Philadelphia does not display sufficient recognition of the historical contribution made by the Pennsylvania Station to the development of transportation in the United States; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate memorialize AMTRAK to officially recognize the rightful name of the railroad station located at 30th and Market Streets in Philadelphia as the Pennsylvania Station and that appropriate signs and markers be erected showing its official status as the Pennsylvania Station; and be it further RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the National Railroad Passenger Corporation, Washington D.C.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY

ANNUAL ACTUARIAL EVALUATION OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION TRUST FUND

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120

May 30, 1991

Honorable Mark R. Corrigan
Secretary of the Senate
Senate Post Office
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120

Dear Mr. Corrigan,

Attached is a copy of the annual actuarial evaluation of the financial condition of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as required by the Unemployment Compensation Law.

Because of the persistent national recession, which has affected most state and local economies more than had been expected, the Department of Labor and Industry is now projecting for 1992 that the Unemployment Compensation Trigger Determination will result in the assessment of additional unemployment taxes on employers and workers. This was not previously projected to occur until 1993. This Trigger Determination occurs each year on July 1.

The automatic tax adjustments will consist of a 4 percent surcharge on employer contributions, or about $16 per employee earning at least $8,000 a year. Workers would pay a .05 percent tax on wages, or 50 cents for each $1,000 earned. The additional taxes will raise an estimated $108 million in revenues for the Trust Fund. Both assessments would be effective January 1, 1992.

This updated projection is based on actual data through April 1991 plus estimated data for May and June 1991. These data indicate the national recession is having a deeper and longer adverse impact on Pennsylvania's economy than previously expected. This contrasts with the December 1990 Wharton Econometric Forecast — the basis for the projections in the attached 1990 Actuarial Evaluation of Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Program — which indicated an earlier recovery from the recession and accordingly no additional unemployment tax assessments on employers or workers for 1992.

The enactment of the trigger mechanism by the Legislature three years ago enabled Pennsylvania to use excess funds in the Trust Fund to retire the state's longstanding unemployment debt to the federal government without jeopardizing the Fund's solvency.

Starting in 1989, the early repayment of the federal debt eliminated a federal penalty tax on employers, while the adoption of the trigger mechanism led to the suspension of: a one-half percent flat tax on employers, a one-tenth percent tax on workers and a 5 percent reduction in benefits to claimants.

For the period beginning in 1989 and projected through 1991, employers in Pennsylvania have received tax savings of almost $1 billion and workers have saved approximately $350 million, while approximately $185 million has been restored to claimants filing for jobless benefits.

Sincerely,
THOMAS P. FOLEY
Acting Secretary

The PRESIDENT. This report will be filed in the Library.

AMBASSADOR OF AUSTRIA AND GUESTS OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would ask for cooperation from the Members of the Senate for the purpose of an introduction and a distinguished visitor.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Mr. President, indeed, you are correct, we do have a very special visitor here today. In fact, we have several very special visitors, one of whom I would request to have the opportunity to address the Senate. Our special guest today is Dr. Friedrich Hoess who is the Ambassador to the United States from Austria. Before I introduce Dr. Hoess, I would like to introduce some of the people who are here with him, and if I might, Mr. President, introduce at this time John Coma, who is the manager of our European operations for the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce; Peter Launsky, from the Embassy of Austria; Paul Haugland, the Director of the Office of International Development from the Department of Commerce; and Egon Winkler, the Austrian Trade Commissioner in the United States. These people are accompanying our featured guest, Mr. President, who, as I indicated, is the Ambassador of Austria.

Dr. Friedrich Hoess was born in Vienna and has served as Austrian Ambassador to the United States from 1987 to the present. Dr. Hoess received his doctoral degree in 1955 from Vienna University. Prior to his appointment as Austrian Ambassador, he was a member of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe and he served as Deputy Chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee from 1983 to 1987 and in the early 1980s was the Chief of the Styrian Delegation in Vienna. It was during the 1970s that Dr. Hoess served as Consul General and Chief of the Austrian Delegation in Berlin, Austrian Ambassador to Australia and head of the Division for International Atomic Energy Affairs and the Council of Europe at the Ministry for Foreign Affairs in Vienna.

Mr. President, I had the pleasure of spending a few moments with Dr. Hoess before the Session began. He is indeed a very well-educated, charming individual who I believe will have significant words to offer to this Senate, and if you would be so kind as to give him the opportunity to address our Body, I am sure he will have much information to provide to us about his country and his stay here in the United States. At this time, Mr. President, I am pleased to introduce to you and to the Members of the Senate Dr. Friedrich Hoess, the Ambassador to the United States from Austria.

The PRESIDENT. Would the Members of the Senate please join me in welcoming to the Senate of Pennsylvania His Excellency, the Ambassador of Austria, Friedrich Hoess, and his entourage.

(Applause.)

Dr. HOESS. Mr. President, Mr. President pro tempore, the Members of the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania, ladies and gentlemen: You may well ask yourselves, why is an ambassador from a small European country giving an address, hopefully brief, to a state legislature instead of safely pushing cocktails with some bureaucrats inside the beltway? The answer is very easy. I am convinced that American policies, both domestic and international, are in the last analysis determined by processes which develop in the states and communities. I have not failed to notice that presently ten of the Pennsylvania Members of the U.S. House of Representatives have served in this Legislature. Ten years from now my successor will probably meet at least as many of you at congressional receptions in Washington.

I also have to confess that, although a career foreign service person, I enormously enjoyed my lengthy leave of absence from the tricky environment of diplomacy to serve as a Federal Senator in Vienna representing the Austrian State of Styria, bordering on Yugoslavia, by the way. Now, that was rough and tumble politics all right. You will get the picture if I tell you that the great terminator, Arnold Schwarzenegger, is a native son of that state. Since I am back, in my first incarnation as a diplomat, please permit me a few observations on the international scene. A glorious victory of the United States forces and their allies in the Gulf does not mean that the problems in this volatile region are solved. In addition, the drastic changes in Europe will come back into blaring focus again. A brief look at the rest of this Chamber reveals to me names such as Andrezeski, Bodack and Dawida. This roster dates from before the fall elections. I trust most of them are still here. It tells me there is vivid interest in the fate of east central Europe, and the few words I was happy to exchange with the President shows me that the President knows the region also very well. The situation in the Soviet Union—need I mention the tenuous position of President Gorbachev—the turmoil in the Baltics, the Ukraine and elsewhere, the almost unsolvable economic problems of the nations changing gears from a command economy to a free market system, the increasing signs of difficulties in Yugoslavia, one of Austria's important neighbors, clearly shows us that we may be seeing a very, very quickly emerging new Europe, hopefully whole and free, but not without major problems.

Mr. President, ever since the end of the Second World War, Austria, a western success story, has served as the easternmost outpost of the defense of our common western pluralistic political values. It now has been suddenly thrust back into its former position exactly in the center of the continent. Obviously, we are affected by the rapid developments on the European continent. The internal market of the European community and the future developments in the new democracies in east central Europe, many of them with close historical ties to my own country, have to be taken into account by our political leaders. Therefore, Austria, a member for the moment of the European Free Trade Association, EFTA, had applied for full membership in the European Common Market in July 1989, already six months before the Iron Curtain fell. I might add in this connection that Austria would be a substantial net contributor to the eastern conference.

Mr. President, I must say that one aspect of this close Austrian cooperation with countries of eastern Europe deserves to be mentioned here. There is a lot of expertise and practical know-how about economic activities in this region. Austria can also provide the necessary infrastructure which could be tapped by U.S. businesses. I have spoken in Philadelphia and today here and tomorrow in Pittsburgh with your business communities and invite your constituents to make use of the Austrian know-how as a gateway to eastern Europe. I am sure they will not regret it.

Now a brief look to you, Mr. President. The historical connections between the great State of Pennsylvania and my native country are more numerous than I originally thought. In this year of 1991, the Mozart bicentenary, I am pleased to report to you that Austria's greatest composer gave his name to a tiny community in Bucks County. I also would like to point out to you that the Moravians derived their name from one of the heartlands of the Hapsburg Monarchy, so those of you who represent the area around Bethlehem should be glad about that piece of information. I also was intrigued by the fact that a member of Pennsylvania's most distinguished political family, Henry A. Muhlenberg, was the first fully accredited diplomatic representative of the United States in Vienna. Drexel and Company, the great banking house of Philadelphia, which helped establish the House of Morgan, was founded a century and a half ago by Franz Martin Drexel from Vorarlberg, a state where our Trade Commissioner, Mr. Lincoln, comes from, from the west. It was Drexel and Company that helped import European capital to support Pennsylvania's young industries. Austrians, many of them victims of the terrible years of Nazi rule, have taught at Pennsylvania institutions of higher learning from the Carnegie Institute of Technology to the University of Pennsylvania, Penn State and Bryn Mawr. My country's loss was Pennsylvania's gain. One of those victims, Henry Ellenbogen, even became a member of the U.S. House of Representatives from Pittsburgh and a state judge, but the closest connection of all becomes evident if I tell you there are more Austrian Burgenlanders from our eastern province in and around Allentown than in their own capital back in Austria.

Let me conclude, Mr. President, by saying that I am fully aware of the fact that the dreaded census has been completed and redistricting is looming on the horizon. My political persona is with you. May the fates protect all incumbents, and while you are at it, do not make it too difficult for your incumbents in the House of Representatives in Washington to do a great job. I know the Embassy is working with them in the Capitol. Thank you very much.

(Applause.)

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

HB 209 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 209 (Pr. No. 1799) — Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 2 of the Third Consideration Calendar, by Senator LOEPER, as a Special Order of Business.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 209 (Pr. No. 1799) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act providing for the financial stability of cities of the first class; establishing an authority empowered to assist cities of the first class in their financial affairs and to issue findings and recommendations to cities of the first class and to the General Assembly; creating the authority and providing for its powers and duties; authorizing each city of the first class and the authority to enter into intergovernmental cooperation agreements and specifying certain terms of such agreements and ordinances whereby cities of the first class enter into such agreements; empowering the authority to incur indebtedness, receive revenues, acquire the obligations of assisted cities, make loans and offer other financial assistance to such cities subject to conditions; establishing procedures for the preparation and review of financial plans of cities of the first class while bonds of the authority are outstanding and providing remedies for failure to adhere to such plans; requiring certain contracts to be consistent with the financial plan; making certain provisions with respect to short-term borrowing by cities of the first class; establishing procedures for handling authority funds, and providing for certain payments to the authority; providing security for bonds and notes issued by the authority; authorizing the creation of a debt service reserve fund and providing for its maintenance; granting to the holders of the authority's indebtedness and to the authority certain remedies in the event of default by the authority or by an assisted city on authorized obligations; authorizing cities of the first class to receive financial assistance from the authority under certain terms and conditions; establishing the method for the appointment and composition of the authority board; prohibiting the authority and assisted cities from filing a petition under Federal bankruptcy statutes; authorizing an appropriation for authority operating expenses; authorizing cities of the first class to impose an optional sales and use tax; authorizing cities of the first class to impose certain taxes for the authority; authorizing emergency payment deferral; and providing jurisdiction for challenges to this act.

Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, at this time there are not sufficient votes from the Philadelphia delegation to pass this legislation because of the utter failure of the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia to honor his oath before the Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs. Back in early May, on May 13th I believe it was, at a hearing before the Senate committee the Mayor agreed to order the Philadelphia Parking Authority to enter into an agreement with the City Controller to allow its books to be audited. The Mayor made that commitment under oath before this committee and the committee full well expected he would honor his oath. Mr. President, the Philadelphia Parking Authority is an agency rife with waste and political patronage. Millions of Philadelphians in Pennsylvania each year are forced to pay huge ticket fines to keep it going. Philadelphians and Pennsylvanians have a right to know what is going on with their money. Republican Councilman Brian O'Neill brought this matter to the attention of the committee that day. The committee agreed and the Mayor agreed to have this done. As of this time, Mr. President, despite numerous telephone conversations with the Mayor and city representatives, nothing has been done. It is 2:00 p.m. I submit to the Senate that if nothing is done, there are not going to be sufficient votes on this side of the aisle, or from Philadelphia to pass this legislation. Rather than have it go down at this point in time, I would ask that we go over it temporarily and hope and pray the Mayor will honor his oath before the Senate. I have informed him this is not the Philadelphia City Council, that we do not do business in that fashion, that he cannot come here and lie to us and get away with it. Regrettably, the citizens of Philadelphia are at risk, but we are still hopeful that something will happen in the intervening time frame. I would therefore like to ask that we go over this bill temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fumo asks that we go over House Bill No. 209 temporarily. Is there an objection?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I believe it is of utmost importance that we consider this bill in a timely fashion. However, in light of the comments of the gentleman from Philadelphia regarding the legislation, I would have no objection to going over the bill temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. There being a request to take this bill over temporarily and there being no objection, this bill will, in fact, go over in its order temporarily.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRETARY

The SECRETARY. Consent has been given for the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations to meet to consider certain nominations during today's Session.

RECESS

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, at this time I would ask for a recess of the Senate for the purpose of a Republican caucus to begin immediately in the first floor caucus room, with an expectation of returning to the floor at approximately 3:15 p.m.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I request an immediate caucus of the Democrat Members.

The PRESIDENT. For purposes of Democrat and Republican caucuses to begin immediately, the Senate will stand in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 14 — Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Senator LOEPER.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS SUPPLEMENTAL CALENDAR NO. 1

HOUSE CONCURRENT REGULATORY REVIEW RESOLUTION NO. 2, CALLED UP

Senator LOEPER, without objection, called up from page 1 of the Calendar, House Concurrent Regulatory Review Resolution No. 2, entitled:

Disapproving a medical assistance regulation submitted by the Department of Public Welfare.

MOTION TO PASS HOUSE CONCURRENT REGULATORY REVIEW RESOLUTION NO. 2 OVER GOVERNOR'S VETO, DEFEATED

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, as the Members of the Senate may recall, this resolution was before the Senate some time ago. It was regulations that were promulgated by the Department of Public Welfare basically dealing with two components. One would reduce the amount paid to our hospitals for certain high cost medical assistance patients, and I think, Mr. President, it is important to realize that we are talking about those types of patients who have very highly specialized health care needs, those who need neonatal intensive care services, and particularly burn victim services. These are the people who are going to be severely and significantly affected should this regulation go into effect. I think it is important that these are currently categorized as outlier services because they fall outside the regular DRG classification system. The regulation, if the Governor's veto is sustained, would decrease the current reimbursement levels to those hospitals providing those vital services from 100 percent of actual cost to 80 percent of actual cost, and this, Mr. President, could result in the closure of hospital neonatal intensive care units and particularly burn centers, again, two of our areas that are most at risk in health care to try and improve their affliction.

The second regulation, Mr. President, would require that the veterans aid and attendants and household allowance, which is currently in place as a portion of the federal Veterans Administration pension, be treated as available income. In other words, Mr. President, we are going to change the way that income is treated for our veterans under their Veterans Administration pensions and, therefore, in doing so, would really jeopardize them as far as determining the individual cash grant amounts, and I think, Mr. President, the important part of this is the bottom line that would reduce the monthly cash grant allowance for all of our veterans in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, in light of that, I would move that the Senate proceed with its reconsideration of House Concurrent Regulatory Review Resolution No. 2 and agree to pass the same, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, that the Senate proceed to reconsider HCRRR No. 2 and agree to pass the same, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding. The Chair would point out that the vote required for this motion is two-thirds of the Senators, 34 votes.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I would only like to make two points, and I think both of those points are reflected in the Governor's veto message of May 3rd.

First of all, Mr. President, there is not anyone among us here today, or those who are listening to us, who do not realize that this is a very difficult financial year. The cost of this particular proposal, if we do not sustain the veto of the Governor, is going to be somewhere between $12 million and $15 million of a fiscal impact in the 1991-92 fiscal year. Furthermore, Mr. President, Pennsylvania right now is the only state in the United States that is not under compliance of a federal mandate to bring this type of a regulation into being. Taking both things into consideration and having discussed this particular resolution thoroughly when the opportunity did present itself several months ago, and prior to the roll call being taken, I would ask for a negative vote and, therefore, a vote to sustain the veto of the Governor.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I would like to request temporary Capitol leave for Senator Andrezeski.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Mellow requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Andrezeski. The Chair hears no objection. The leave will be granted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, I rise to urge an override of the veto. The Committees on Public Health and Welfare of the Senate and the House have both taken their stands on this issue. The Senate has stood on this issue. It has not changed. The items are the same. I am not so sure, but it was almost a unanimous vote by which this joint resolution passed this Senate. This is no time in our history to be trying to solve our budget crisis on veterans. I do not know about you, but just a few days have gone by since we celebrated Memorial Day and honored those who served and honored those who have given their lives. I think annex B is mean spirited. It is not well thought out and it is inappropriate to honor our veterans by taking this paltry bit of income away from them.

On the other issue of hospitals and Medicaid, it is my view that if this General Assembly and this administration do not soon look at the appropriateness of Medicaid payments in this Commonwealth, we are going to in many parts of the Commonwealth lose good medical care. The Medicaid portion of many hospitals is growing and the payments are highly inadequate. This is just one more whack at hospitals, and I am going to tell you, if you have a community that has a hospital and they have a lot of Medicaid, your hospital is at risk because their payments as a whole are certainly not adequate to even begin to cover their costs. This is more narrowly drawn. It is only dealing with certain issues, but it takes a whack out of their budgets. It is an inappropriate way to fix our budget mess. It is not the answer, and I think if we are really thinking about health care and if we are concerned about our veterans, we will override the Governor's veto.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Williams. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, may we place Senator Schwartz on temporary Capitol leave.

The PRESIDENT. Without objection, Senator Schwartz will be recorded as being on temporary Capitol leave.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. For the benefit of the Senators, the Chair would remind the Senators that an "aye" vote is a vote to override the veto and a "no" vote is a vote to sustain the Governor's veto, as a matter of clarification.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator BORTNER: Mr. President, this is a purely technical amendment. I believe it is an agreed-to amendment. Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, earlier today I requested that House Bill No. 209 go over temporarily, and in the intervening time I have received a letter from the Mayor directly as well as a copy of another letter that I want to read into the record. In addition, I have received a telephone call from Councilman Street who has assured me that city council this Thursday will adopt an ordinance requiring that the off-street parking phase be audited by the City Controller, and in addition, the letters of the Mayor I will read and they speak for themselves.

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

June 4, 1991

The Honorable Vincent Fumo
State Senator
545 E Capitol Building
Harrisburg, PA 17120

Dear Senator Fumo,

This is to confirm that I have previously and will again today give instructions to the Finance Director, David Brenner and the Philadelphia Parking Authority, that an independent audit will be performed annually by the City Controller. This is consistent with statements I made before the Senate Intergovernmental Affairs Committee on May 13, 1991.

I expect that the Philadelphia Parking Authority Board will confirm this action at their meeting on Monday, June 10, 1991.

Sincerely,

W. WILSON GOODE
Mayor

Also, Mr. President, I received a fax copy of a letter that the Mayor has sent to Mr. Herman Wooden, Chairman of the Philadelphia Parking Authority, which states:

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

June 4, 1991

Mr. Herman Wooden, Chairman
Philadelphia Parking Authority
2 Penn Center Plaza, Suite 800
Philadelphia, PA 19102

Dear Mr. Wooden:

This is to confirm the requests made by me and Finance Director David Brenner that annually an independent audit will take place under the auspices of the City Controller.

Sincerely,

W. WILSON GOODE
Mayor

I am advised, Mr. President, by excellent sources, that, in fact, this will happen on Monday, and because of the clock ticking on the time frames within House Bill No. 209, I will now remove my request that the bill go over and ask that we consider the bill at this time.

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, it is my intention to vote for this bill and there are many portions of it which I think deserve commendation. Specifically, I think the sections which have proposed to create the oversight authority and the specific objectives which that authority is intended to try to achieve are likely to be fulfilled, given the provisions as they are spelled out in the bill. I am very supportive of those provisions. The bill also contains what I think is a very dramatic additional revenue generating opportunity for the city in that it provides for the first time the authority for the City of Philadelphia to implement a sales tax of either one-half percent or one percent to be collected on top of the state sales tax. Let me make it clear that throughout the involvement I had with the efforts on local tax reform, I was a supporter of extending the opportunity for the use of the sales tax to local governments, so I do not want there to be any confusion about that. There are a number of aspects about this tax proposal, however, which surprise me a great deal. The first is that I am astounded by the virtual lack of discussion or debate about this issue as the whole subject of Philadelphia's financial dilemma has been reviewed on the front pages of our newspapers and in legislative halls here in Harrisburg. If one were to review the newspaper articles one would see that the overwhelming focus of interest and attention has been centered on the authority, and to discover any discussion about this very significant additional provision one would have to wade deeply into the article before in just passing in cursory fashion, oh, by the way, kind of approach, the issue of the Authority to impose a one percent sales tax was disposed of. I am aware that a representative of the Economy League testified before the Philadelphia City Council in objection to the consideration in the implementation of a one percent sales tax, but I am not aware that business leaders, that civic leaders, editorial writers or legislative leaders from within or without the city have bothered to discuss this extremely important aspect of this bill at all.

Secondly, as I have tried to discuss this issue I have frequently been met with the response that there is a crisis upon the city, that this is the solution that has to be implemented now, and, yes, there are concerns that might be privately expressed about the sales tax but that those issues can be dealt with later. I have to smile and chuckle because that is not an unusual response to difficult legislative situations. We will clean up the problems later. It is also not an unusual response to a legislative situation to suggest that the crisis is imminent and that this is the only possible solution at the moment, given the shortness of time. I am astounded that we have allowed ourselves to be convinced that this crisis which has been in the forefront of the news for the last two years has evolved to the point where a proposal to implement what I think will be a devastating new tax within the City of Philadelphia has gone on undiscussed and will be acceded to, under the guise of the existence of a crisis which somehow did not exist or allow the obligation for the review of this tax proposal in the weeks and months and years that preceded this day today. I looked at the chronology contained in an Inquirer article within the last few days and noted with interest their charting of the development of this crisis which clearly spans a period of at least two years. And so with equal amusement as the failure to discuss the sales tax issue, I find myself chuckling at the suggestion that it has to be accepted because there is a crisis which now knows no other solution.

I am also intrigued to hear the comments that have moved forward that this proposal will put no financial obligation upon anyone other than the City of Philadelphia, that there is not going to be any cost to anyone in Pennsylvania outside of the City of Philadelphia and that fundamentally all that this proposal does is to give the City of Philadelphia the opportunity to help itself. Those comments are followed by observations as to the consequences for all Pennsylvanians if the City of Philadelphia, if fact, was unable to meet its bond payments and found itself in some form, legal or practical, of bankruptcy. I agree with the fact that there would be substantial economic consequences for all of us if, in fact, the city's fiscal circumstances were not resolved, but somehow or another there seems to be blind assumption that passing a new sales tax opportunity is going to take care of all of these things, and I will speak more to that in just a moment.

I guess that I am most disappointed about this sales tax situation because of what I see as lost opportunities, lost opportunities for us in the General Assembly to be extremely creative, to be bold in terms of dealing with revenue problems that affect not only Philadelphia but other counties, other cities and other local governments across Pennsylvania. I guess that I am frustrated because we would be defying history to suggest that any conclusion other than the fact that once revenue has become an expected and dependent source for the expenditures of any unit of government, that somehow or another we are going to be able in the future to readjust it and wrap it into some more farsighted proposal. I am frustrated because it seemed to me that the best possible hope for a dedicated source for new funding for mass transit in Pennsylvania laid with the implementation of a sales tax, certainly on a regional basis in southeastern Pennsylvania and probably in a system that might have been emulated in other urban areas around Pennsylvania, and it is my opinion that opportunity will be lost upon the implementation of a sales tax in Philadelphia with the funding going for general revenue purposes. It seemed to me that a sales tax provided the best opportunity to really create the foundation for a much broader scale of regional cooperation for local governments in Pennsylvania, and I believe that opportunity will now be significantly diminished if not lost.

It seems to me that the only way for the City of Philadelphia to be able to reduce its existing tax bases, particularly with regard to the wage taxes but also with regard to some of its business taxes, would be to utilize new revenue sources to maintain current revenue levels after the reduction of existing taxes, and the only practical new revenue source which could have lent itself to that mechanism for the reduction of existing taxes was the sales tax and that opportunity will be gone.

It also seems to me that given the current financial dilemma within the city, there may have been the opportunity for elected officials to defend some very difficult decisions that would have centered around cost cutting, but the implementation of a sales tax and its new revenues will lose that opportunity which I think could have been to the benefit of all of us, particularly those of us in the region for whom a viable and healthy economic unit within the City of Philadelphia is absolutely obligatory. There has been a great deal written and a fair amount of conversation in this Legislature about the fact that a healthy Philadelphia, a healthy economy within Philadelphia, is an absolute prerequisite to a viable and healthy environment throughout southeastern Pennsylvania and throughout this Commonwealth, and I subscribe to that theory, Mr. President. It is the reason why this sales tax proposal gives me such tremendous concern, because I am of the firm opinion that the implementation unilaterally by the City of Philadelphia of the sales tax opportunity presented within this bill will be a prescription for disaster. It will not be the salvation of the city as some are proposing, and I say that by looking at the history of why the city finds itself in the condition that it does now. A significant portion of the reason for that can be traced through the taxing policies and the consequences of those policies across the last 25 years. The city has experienced a declining tax base, and as the revenue sources have dwindled, the response historically has been to increase taxes. Now I am fully aware of the integration in the city's problems of the reduction of federal funding, of the increases in programs, the demands for new services, the human service obligations that none of us would have anticipated before, and I do not mean to suggest that they have not played a role collectively in the dilemma faced by the city, but one factor which, to me, seems to be preeminent and sticks out like no other is the continuing policy across the years of increasing the taxes that were in place within the city, and what has happened as the result of that? It has been, in effect, a self-defeating kind of spiral. The tax disparity between the city and its suburban neighbors has grown to the point where individuals have sought to flee the city in substantial numbers. Jobs have moved out of the city into the suburban areas. A four and five-sixteenths percent wage tax on nonresidents has been laid as the base cause for the removal of nearly 200,000 jobs within the last 25 years, and the corresponding businesses that have moved into Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware Counties are legion as well. So what we have seen as the city's taxes on business and individuals have increased are that those people who could, in fact, remove themselves from the burden of those taxes have done so. The taxes have gone up. More people and more businesses have left and the problems have gotten worse, and so it is I fear that the same is going to occur once the sales tax is implemented. The disparity in the taxing circumstances between the city and its suburban neighbors will increase again. Individuals have been driven out. Businesses have been driven out and now the commercial side of the equation will follow, not overnight because businesses cannot get out from under leases nearly that quickly. It is going to take a little bit longer than that for this whole thing to unfold, but the consequences, in my opinion, will be real, they will be measurable and they will occur in the very, very near future. I think what is likely to happen, first of all, is that sales tax revenues are going to be significantly below any state revenue experiences simply because people are going to be making purchases outside of the city. To begin with, the amount of revenue that is anticipated to be generated I think will be less than the projected numbers.

Secondly, the next consequence will be that wage tax revenues will fall because as the commercial sector finds that its sales are decreasing, commercial activities are going to move outside of the city and that means jobs are going to move out of the city and you will find wage tax revenues being reduced as well as declines in anticipated sales tax revenues. And then the next step is that the variety of business taxes which are imposed upon those enterprises that locate within the city will also experience declines or at least fail to keep pace with the anticipated increases because of a decline in the commercial activity, and so it is going to go on and on and on. I think that history makes clear to us that there is no other likely conclusion that any reasonable person can expect as a consequence of the implementation of a new tax unilaterally in the City of Philadelphia. And so, if this prediction is anywhere near accurate and things do get worse, where are we going to find ourselves? The answer to that question is not a very bright picture to paint because I am afraid what we are going to find is that two or three or four years from now we are going to be right back here again. We are going to find that instead of helping the city to help itself, what we have really done is to help the city dig its own financial grave. Problems will not get better until and unless very drastic actions are taken that reshape the economic interrelationship with the city, its suburban neighbors and the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. So I say to you that I think that we are kidding ourselves. I think we are pulling a very cruel hoax on the people of the City of Philadelphia and, yes, on all the suburban neighbors and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by suggesting for a moment that our action here today is really the step that is going to bail out the city from its financial dilemma. I think the only thing we are doing is cruelly postponing and worsening the inevitable reckoning with the fundamentals that have created this problem.

Having said all of that, Mr. President, I come back to the point at which I began which is that I am, nevertheless, going to vote for this proposal because although I know that the City Council in an action that has gone virtually unspoken and unnoticed by the public, has adopted the sales tax, I am hopeful that they might reconsider their action or that the mayor will understand the consequences of the implementation of this tax or that somehow or another, through some device which might not yet be known to me, we might find a reversal of the portion of this proposal that seeks to implement the new sales tax. I do agree that putting the authority in place to provide the financial oversight is necessary, it is desirable and something we have to be a part of doing. So I find myself in this dilemma with the one fear as expressed and the other hope which I think we have to have in place. I would have been remiss with regard to my concerns about the financial future for the entire southeast Pennsylvania area without calling to the attention of my colleagues the very deep concern I have about the negative impact of the implementation of a sales tax within the City of Philadelphia.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator ARMSTRONG. Mr. President, I feel it is unconscionable to give Philadelphia a temporary solution to a major, major crisis. I think we owe it to the 12 million Pennsylvanians, the residents of Philadelphia, to solve this problem and let us solve it now. We are putting a Band-Aid on a gaping wound and we all know it. The more I read about this problem the sicker I become—the contracts, the sick pay, three-year salaries for injured on duty, absolutely no incentive to go back to work. We need an impartial committee to step in and solve these problems. It is obvious that City Council has no backbone whatsoever. A SEPTA driver gets $60,000. A bus driver gets $60,000 to drive a bus. The buses and the trains are full of graffiti. If you go to Atlanta or you go to Baltimore, some of these other cities like Washington, the undergrounds do not have any graffiti on them. You go to Philadelphia and it is terrible. They are dirty, they are filthy and no one wants to go near them. I was down in Philadelphia a little while ago and I took my family down and got on a SEPTA bus. We rode around the city. During the time I was on that bus we were the only people who put money in the till. No one else paid. The bus driver never even looked at the people getting on board. I could not believe it. They just do not seem to care about finances at all. That is just one little example of the fiscal management in that city. One Sunday I flew from Philadelphia to Atlanta. I left the Philadelphia airport, there were maybe 500 people around. I flew into Atlanta, there were over 10,000 people in the airport. That is a city that is booming. They have problems just as similar as Philadelphia, but they have conventions, they have development, they have a vitality in that city that we are not even close to approaching. It is the same with Baltimore. Baltimore had similar problems. They got their waterfront, they developed it, they showed leadership down there. Why can we not do it in Philadelphia? We have more going for us in Philadelphia than any other city in the United States. I am proud to take, particularly, foreign guests that come to my home and go down to Philadelphia and show them the cradle of democracy. There is so much going on down there and yet we are just not taking advantage of it. I was also told that a garbage collector gets $60,000. When you hear these types of dollars, we cannot afford it, we cannot pay it. The sales tax idea, that is great for a while. The people are going to have to pay it until they can get out. So it will raise some money, but we are just exacerbating the problem. The problem is only going to get worse. We have an opportunity to correct a problem right now. I was just following Senator Lewis' remarks when I found out he is going to vote for the bill. We have a chance to solve the problem. Let us hang tough. Let us do it now; let us get it solved now. If not, I guarantee in two years we are going to be right back here with some other—to quote the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo—cockamamie solution to this problem. That is exactly what we are going to do, another solution to get us through two years. Let us do it now, let us do it right and let us vote this down and get to business and make Philadelphia a city we can be proud of.

Senator BAKER. Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of House Bill No. 209 which is before us at this time. There is an ancient Chinese proverb which is relevant to our discussion of this precedent-setting and important measure. It says, "Give a man a fish, you will feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish, he will eat for a lifetime." The City of Philadelphia is seeking from the Commonwealth a unique and special authority which, if everything goes as planned, will allow the city to attempt to resolve the deep fiscal crisis that has been developing for a number of years. There are those among us who believe that the City of Philadelphia should bear the responsibility for its own actions. The city enacted the policies and made the decisions which led to this dire condition and the need for our action today. While I can understand this feeling, Mr. President, I do not completely share it for these reasons: Philadelphia does bear responsibility for many of the problems that afflict the city today. There have been irresponsible and unrealistic city budgets which continue to this moment, as a matter of fact. There have been abuses of the contract negotiating process and undue concessions to labor. The lists of irresponsible acts including excessive benefits, patronage and personnel abuses have been well documented and I will try not to repeat them at this time. When the Mayor and numerous other city officials appeared before the Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs on May 13th, they admitted they had made mistakes and that their decisions have helped contribute to the city's constantly worsening fiscal condition. What they are now asking us for is time, time to discipline themselves, time to correct their errors, time to take the stringent actions which they have until now avoided. Many city officials have been willing to accept safeguards in the form of oversight responsibility by the Intergovernmental Cooperation Authority which this act would create. The city officials pleaded with us to give them one more opportunity before a board with strict oversight or control would be created. Make no mistake about it, Mr. President, this is a major piece of legislation. This legislation represents a fundamental change, one might say a revolutionary change, in the way the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its municipalities enact their fiscal procedures and policies. In some respects this legislation is an experiment. It is not the state bailout that many of us have feared. In fact, this bill may help prevent a bailout. It is not a state takeover of a sovereign city's fiscal affairs. This bill creates the mechanism by which the City of Philadelphia, hopefully, can learn to catch its own fish rather than merely wait to be fed from the fiscal table of the state's taxpayers. It is an unconventional step, Mr. President. The bill attempts to combine relatively slight control procedures with the major responsibility of floating bonds to pay off the city's debts. Deficit budgets have proven to be an unhealthy public policy in the city, but we must add at the same time it is certainly an unhealthy policy at the federal level and, as we know from our own situation here in the state, at the state level as well. Our State Constitution prohibits deficits. Our General Assembly has even passed a resolution advising Congress to pass a balanced budget amendment. So now we are asked to create an entity, an authority, whose job it is to raise money to help institutionalized deficits. It is no wonder that people question the wisdom of what we are doing today. Are we sanctioning deficit budgets? I hope we are not. I fear that possibly we are. Certainly the control mechanisms, the so-called teeth of the fiscal authority created by House Bill No. 209, are not as strong or as comprehensive as I would have preferred. In many hours spent considering these questions, I realize that the bill with the amendments that were added yesterday in the Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs is as strong as the present circumstances and as time constraints will permit.

I would like to point out that in 1988, 70,000 Philadelphians issued a cry for help to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, led by the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore and Senator Rocks, asking the state to declare Philadelphia a distressed municipality. Many of the signs of the stringent conditions we are now in were known at that time, and it could well be predicted that we might be just where we are now without action on the part of the state. This could have prevented us from being where we are today if the Secretary of Community Affairs had fulfilled her obligations and taken action on these citizens' cries for help—70,000 Philadelphians. Instead, on the basis of a notarization technicality, she closed her ears to this cry for help from these Philadelphians who desperately cared about their city, and that failure today is a monument to the Casey Administration's blindness to the impending crisis in Philadelphia. Well, Mr. President, that crisis is now upon us. Perhaps we should not spend inordinate time reviewing past history, but if we do not ask any questions about how we got where we are now, we cannot prevent ourselves from being right where we are today in the future.

Briefly, Mr. President, the authority created by this legislation consists of five members who will either live or work in the City of Philadelphia and who have experience in finance or management. They will have the responsibility of ensuring that the city tries to comply with regularly submitted fiscal plans. In return, the authority will issue bonds to eliminate the current deficit and provide some relief for the anticipated deficit in next year's budget. Under the legislation, the city is permitted to levy a one percent sales tax and as a companion action, to dedicate one percent of the city's wage tax to finance the debt service on the authority's bonds. I might point out, coincidentally, Mr. President, the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Lewis, who is amused by the inclusion of this permissive tax in this legislation, raises an interesting point about the effect that having a one percent sales tax in Philadelphia will have on his plans for wider regional taxes. I might say that I think taxation is something where the first one who moves into the area can occupy that area and if the City of Philadelphia chooses to exercise their request for this tax in this way, I think we have to respond to local officials. I daresay we will be approached by officials from other counties and/or cities in the future who may wish to receive a similar type of authority. If every piece of this legislation falls into place, this plan may actually work. I have serious reservations about the authority's power, however, to force fiscal integrity upon the City of Philadelphia. The authority's so-called power, which some have described as meaningful, to withhold state revenues to the city is nothing more than a paper tiger. To begin with, the intercept exemptions bring the amount which can be withheld from the city down to a minuscule figure, but, more importantly, one can hardly imagine an authority created to prevent the City of Philadelphia from going bankrupt would then withhold monies and force the city into fiscal insolvency. What appears to be a very firm sanction turns out not to be very strong at all. As far as bond proceeds being withheld, once the bond proceeds are raised and distributed, obviously they cannot be withheld for any further sanction. We might then ask what power the authority has to bring about wise and prudent fiscal decisions. Here I find what could be a fundamental weakness of House Bill No. 209. In this act there is nothing that gives the authority the ability to actually regulate or impose fiscal sanctions on the city. What can they do? They can guide, they can publicize, they can recommend and they can direct the city to do the right thing, but I am sure loopholes will be found in this legislation and we may well have a situation in which the authority, even though we have tried to strengthen its powers, will be unable to stem the flow of problems we face in the city's fiscal management. Ironically, we have heard much about the undesirability of having the state interfere with the decisions of local elected officials and that such actions might somehow be unconstitutional. Of course, under normal circumstances local elected officials have the ability, the opportunity, the right to pursue their own decisions. On the other hand, when elected officials come to the state with a request for special treatment to avoid a fiscal catastrophe brought on in large part by their own actions, it is not remiss for us to give them a special arrangement, but nonetheless to question what criteria might be established that would help them restore their own fiscal integrity. This authority will have a big job ahead of them, these five individuals, and they must take their responsibility seriously. We have included in one of the Senate amendments a set of criteria which will help the authority determine what actions of the city might improve the fiscal management of itself, such as—and here I am reading—increased managerial accountability, consolidation or elimination of inefficient city programs, the recertification of tax exempt properties, increased collection of existing tax revenues, privatization of appropriate city services, sale of city assets as appropriate, improvement of procurement practices, including competitive bidding and a review of compensation and benefits of a number of city employees. I think all of these, Mr. President, are what any good manager would apply to any business that has found itself in the failing condition that the city currently exists.

We have been asked, what did the Senate add to this bill? I can say, Mr. President, with a lot of negotiation and hard work with representatives of the city and other interested parties, we have done the following: We have given the authority the criteria I just read so it would have a standard for judgment. We have given the authority the power to do management reviews in pursuing those aims. We have strengthened the powers of the members of the authority in requiring that it meet at least four times a year. We have limited extraneous financing and the possibility of doing extraneous financing under this act in terms of limiting and holding of real estate and requiring the time limit during which the authority can act be shortened to three years. We have required that before the dispersal of a bond issue's proceeds can occur there must be an agreement between the authority and the city based on the approval by the authority of the city's five-year plan. The authority's budget has been strengthened and removed from the political process. Accounting and auditing procedures have been expanded, including the matter referred to by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, today, and made sure that the various entities that come under the city's fiscal picture are included. Specifically, we have required that they provide their accounting under principles that have been established by knowledgeable fiscal authorities rather than the loose language we received from the House. In addition, the one provision that helps the city by getting more of the flow from the proceeds has been by decreasing the amount of time that the state would hold the money. Finally, we have changed the language so that Act 47, the Distressed Municipalities Act, is suspended rather than repealed as far as the City of Philadelphia is concerned. I am not going into detail here, Mr. President, either as to the amendments or to the basic Act, but to say, what are they all going to do? All I can say is that when I was asked the question, Is this plan in House Bill No. 209 workable? My response was, it could work. In this age of federalism where we need self-responsibility from individuals, from communities, from states, I think what we have given Philadelphia here is a period of time in which they can pull themselves up by their own bootstraps. The laws of physics make that very difficult. Maybe they will not be able to do it, but I think under this legislation they will have the opportunity to follow through on what they say they would like to do and, in that sense then, we will have been giving them the opportunity to learn to fish rather than simply to be given a fish for a day.

Senator FATTAH. Mr. President, I was not going to speak on this bill, but the comments of several of my colleagues have caused me to rise and I will attempt to be brief. First, it was suggested by my good colleague from Lancaster, Senator Armstrong, that you could ride the bus for free in Philadelphia and that we pay trashmen $60,000 a year. Both of those comments are inaccurate and irresponsible, I would think, at this point in the debate. I would challenge him at any point to come to Philadelphia and if he can find a bus he can ride for free, you know, then we can examine that, but it is not the reality, nor do we pay trashmen $60,000 a year. The reality is that every major city in this country is in financial distress in 41 of 50 states. We sit here in our own sea of red ink casting aspersions on the greatest city in this state that are not based in fact but based in just the nonchalant comments of the Members of the Senate, and that is unfortunate. The national government, President Bush, promises urban policy. When he ran for office we had none, but what we have at the national level now is no urban policy, no aid for cities. The U.S. Conference of Mayors, the National League of Cities have come forward and called upon the federal administration to do something. Philadelphia lost as much in federal funds last year as this deficit is in last year's budget. Here at the state level, in a consent decree from the court, it was acknowledged that the state has not supplied Philadelphia the appropriate amount of funds vis-a-vis its mandates related to Children and Youth Services in a number of years. If we would add those dollars up, we would be approaching again almost the amount of last year's deficit in Philadelphia's budget. So we have in one way kind of colored up the situation in a way in which we do not really deal with the facts, but I will suggest that this bill is important and it is important because notwithstanding all that has been mentioned, we must go forward and we must have a situation in which in Philadelphia we can respond to the double whammy of lack of federal support and a lack of appropriate state support and appropriate and responsible action by officials like us here in the Senate. I think as we cast around these notions we should be a little more careful and I think a little more responsible.

Senator CORMAN. Mr. President, I do not rise to bash the City of Philadelphia, and I suspect there are many in the city who think we in rural Pennsylvania get as much fun out of bashing Philadelphia as we do out of fishing and hunting. That is not true. We truly are normally proud of the City of Philadelphia and are very happy that it is part of Pennsylvania. We think it is a very important city in Pennsylvania as it is a very important city in the United States, and we want to help it. I truly believe that, and I truly believe, as the John Donne poem goes, "No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main...." I believe that and I want to help the City of Philadelphia. For that reason I will vote against House Bill No. 209 and I will encourage all of my colleagues to vote against it as well.

House Bill No. 209 does nothing to solve the problems of Philadelphia. Philadelphia begging for more money is like an alcoholic or a drug addict asking for one more fix. You know, they truly know they must change their habits if they are going to correct the problems of Philadelphia, but they cannot do it by themselves. They have to have strong medicine. They have to have help if, in fact, they are going to make it happen, and it is my belief they need more than just an overseer. They need a strong authority that has the power to trim budgets and the power to take fat from the patronage systems of the government that is Philadelphia.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, spoke earlier today about the excesses in the Philadelphia Parking Authority. We have all read in the newspaper about the excesses in the court systems when a Supreme Court Justice told a Common Pleas Judge in Philadelphia to fire 59 employees. Patronage just seems to flourish in the City of Philadelphia as they seemingly overstaff everything. Who could question that SEPTA has problems so it is truly out of control, and will they face the music of what they have to do to clean up their act? No. They are always here in Harrisburg saying, we need more money to solve our problem. Well, throwing money at Philadelphia just will not solve the problems, Mr. President. They need our help, that is for sure, and I am plenty willing to give that help but they need strong medicine as well. House Bill No. 209 just is not strong medicine, it is just one more quick fix. I urge a "no" vote on House Bill No. 209 and say, let us create an authority of non-Philadelphians who can, in fact, examine the problems and the solutions that will help the City of Philadelphia and get on with truly cleaning up their problem.

Senator WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I rise to support House Bill No. 209. I would just like to comment on some of the remarks of the people who are for or against it, and it makes me wonder why we have to go through this process of ridicule. Very frankly, I do not understand why those who are going to vote for it find so much wrong with it, and those who are not going to vote for it, what alternatives they have. Indeed, the last Senator gave as one of the examples of ridicule and irresponsibility by the fact that a Democratic Supreme Court Justice ordered a Republican judge to get rid of some people and he did not want to do it. Now, maybe this is not a partisan thing, and maybe it is not a local thing either. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fattah, has very well laid out the fact that the cities of this country are in trouble, and Philadelphia is not unlike that. It is clear as to fundamentally why. He did not dwell on the fact that the Republican-led national government is no better either with the trillions of dollars in deficit and overruns we have there. So who is talking about the kettle being black? I think we ought to disabuse ourselves of the notion that the need for legislation like this is anything unusual in these times, or that, indeed, Democrats or Republicans have any patent on how you are going to get a handle on those things. I do think it would be a disservice, however, for us to go home and think that we self-righteously did something very special for little old historic Philadelphia, little old annex of a town that we are sort of ashamed of. Well, very frankly, history indicates how proud Philadelphia is in its history and its contribution not only to the state but to this country and the need for it to be preserved and to thrive in all of those areas—cultural, economic, business and the like, Republicans and Democrats, and all that. I do not think there is anybody responsible in this Chamber who does not recognize that if this city did go belly-up that the state would go belly-up and it is almost belly-up already and we are responsible for the state. If anybody here can show me how much better off the State of Pennsylvania is than the City of Philadelphia, then I will sit down and shut up. We are in charge of that. We are the legislative Body for that, and we are sitting here twiddling our thumbs on how we are going to handle that. All I am suggesting is let us not be so self-righteous. I do not say that Philadelphia's problems are not great, and certainly the record is clear that there are abuses by Democrats and Republicans, and that is the way this game has been for years. But the problems are clearly and fundamentally there, and I just cannot sit here and act as though we are doing something special for Philadelphia when, indeed, some of the Republican Senators from Philadelphia recognize the need for us to do this responsible act to benefit Democrats, to benefit Republicans, and all that.

Mr. President, I would suggest we go ahead and pass this thing if we are going to do that so that, indeed, we will not get into a precarious position of time, or if we are not going to pass it, to vote it down.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I rise to support this legislative effort to help a major portion of Pennsylvania. I have been in the General Assembly now for 19 years, and I have to say I am a little bit amazed at some of the criticism I have heard and the manner in which that criticism is being put on the record. Years ago, when I first came into the General Assembly, we would never have seen an effort this open and this honest and this much debated by people for a couple of months to put us in this position. This is actually a breath of fresh air. When I came here, if the Herb Finemans and the Buddy Cianfranis of the Philadelphia world came into the General Assembly and said $75 million in a block fund grant to the school district, there was never any discussion. They did it, and if you did not go along with that vote when you were in the House, then you never seemed to have any of the chairmanships or vice-chairmanships or anything else that came along. At that point in time there was probably about 18 percent of the population of this state who lived in Philadelphia. Unfortunately, over the past 15 to 18 years that population has shifted somewhat down to maybe 16 percent. That means that 16 out of every 100 people who live in this Commonwealth live in the City of Philadelphia and they have always been a major part of this state. They have always been major contributors to this state, and it seemed like the only time we ever debated was when somebody got up and was being critical. Over the years when we did school subsidies, when I was in the House and in my early days in the Senate, the major influence that helped my school districts to get money was the influence coming out of the Philadelphia effort to get money for their school districts because my school districts were similar to theirs in the types of problems we had. We just did not have as many people. I cannot imagine anyone who could stand today in this Senate Chamber and not be able to say there is something that is not being told about this bill, and I believe there is nothing in this bill that has not been discussed. There is nothing in this bill that has hidden costs to the state. There is nothing in this bill that does not address itself to the Philadelphia problem with the people of Philadelphia solving that problem. The only thing we are doing, the rest of us Pennsylvanians, and we are the same as the Philadelphians, they are Pennsylvanians, is we are allowing them to make an effort to solve very serious problems. I heard someone earlier today talk about Baltimore and talk about Atlanta. Well, friends, let me tell you something. You can gloss over all you want, but I do not know of a major city in this country that does not suffer the same types of problems that Philadelphia is addressing in this legislation. They may be a little bit further advanced in their problems or they may be a little bit further behind in their problems, but the major cities in this country have problems and a lot of it comes because the federal government has forsaken them on many occasions. I cannot believe we have talked this long about this. It is a very simple vote. You are either going to vote to support this effort, to allow the people who live in Philadelphia who are Pennsylvanians to go about their business and try to salvage what is left of that great city and to rebuild it to where there may be people moving back in in the next five years because of this effort, or you are just going to be very parochial and very partisan, very political and say no. Now that is to me the bottom line. There are only two choices and you can couch it in any words, any manner or any shape or any form, but we are to the point now where we are going to say to the people of Philadelphia, we are going to allow you this opportunity to bail yourselves out, we are not bailing you out. The only thing I am going to do with my vote is put into law the opportunity for them to help themselves. No matter how you put it, no matter how you say it, these are Pennsylvanians. We are giving fellow Pennsylvanians the opportunity to show that they have the fortitude to go forth and help themselves. I would say this bill should pass unanimously, and, I would think that would be a really good gesture on the part of the Senate for it to have 49 votes or 47, or whatever we have here today. It is a good bill, it is a good effort and I think we will see a lot of good come out of it.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I would just like to add my comments to those of my colleagues and I am pleased to follow on the comments of the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, because I do think this is an opportunity for those of us in the State Senate to stand up with Philadelphia. As both a Philadelphian and a State Senator, I want to say that this bill provides the best opportunity that we have at this point in time to do what it is that we have a responsibility to do, and that is to give Philadelphia the tools it needs to move ahead and begin to solve its own problems. We have already done that. I think the fact that the Senators have stood up and talked about Philadelphia in the great tradition of Philadelphia-bashing does not serve either the Commonwealth or the city well and, in fact, much of what is said is untrue. The facts show Philadelphia does not spend anything more per capita than any of the other cities or counties in this state, except in the areas of police and fire. In fact, we have a Republican nominee for mayor who would like to do more of that, but the fact is that we are trying increasingly to be responsible, that what this authority does is to provide a source of repaying of debts and increasing assets and provide a chance for an authority to work with the City Council and with the Mayor and to come up with what I hope are good management and fiscal solutions to some of the dilemmas that Philadelphia along with many other large cities across the state are facing. We also say that we should not think that not only is this not a bailout because Philadelphians are paying for this and not the rest of the Commonwealth, but it also does not get us off the hook of having to meet the problems of Pennsylvanians who happen to live in Philadelphia. There are critical financial problems that, in fact, rest with the state and will be on us to face not only in the next month but in the course of the next years. It is on the state to begin to look more seriously at the health and human service needs, education needs, public transit needs of Philadelphians and the rest of the Commonwealth. If we do not do that, then Philadelphia, in fact, will not be able to get out from under the situation it is in because it cannot do it alone. So I call on my colleagues to support this bill and then to continue to work with those of us in Philadelphia and across the state on some of the very many common problems we have, not just as Philadelphians but as Pennsylvanians.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, I rise sadly today. I wish we had a bill I could support. I wish we had a bill that would help Philadelphia solve its problems. I guess if I looked at this issue over the last six months I would say, state government, please do not help me. Our first effort to help Philadelphia was to give them a $150 million loan a few months ago at a 27 percent interest rate. You do not have to be very bright financially, you do not have to be very good with mathematics to know that a 27 percent loan is the quickest way to go broke, and if you and I got those rates we would be put in jail for usury. Today we are going to give them a one percent sales tax which will bring in $80 million to $90 million a year if the figures are correct that I have been given.

I will read for you from a recent AP story in my papers on Saturday. "City Council unanimously approved a $2.3 billion budget that would raise the city sales tax and counts on loans from a yet-to-be-formed authority to bring it out of its financial troubles.

"The budget represents a 9 percent increase of last year's budget of $2.1 billion.

"It includes a 1 percent increase in the city sales tax, and $261 million in loans from the independent authority that doesn't yet exist. The budget would also give 1,000 new employees to the city, which has imposed a hiring freeze since last September."

I do not know about you but it looks to me like they have more than spent already what this sales tax can bring in, and if we do not have a change in the spending habits, if we do not have a change in how that city is managed, it will continue to be a distressed city and its people will not have the kind of good public services they need. I would like to share with you—and if you want to dispute these figures, I would dispute them with Mike Hershock because they are his—the following notes from an address that Mike gave in Philadelphia on March 2, 1990.

The Philadelphia ratio to state aid is 4.03, Pittsburgh's is 3.13. Does that mean Philadelphia receives one half more state aid than Pittsburgh?

A special $24 million grant was given to Philadelphia to save St. Christopher's Children's Hospital, to prevent movement out of the city.

The Pennsylvania Housing Finance Authority refinanced Philadelphia Hospital Authority with bonds to keep them from being defaulted.

The Philadelphia Port Authority was transferred in toto from the city to the state. $25 million in operating expenses was picked up by the state and $24.4 million in capital assistance assets that were already under way. Another $33 million commitment for 1990-91 is also under consideration. Port Authority received a 32 percent increase since 1986-87 from general funds with an additional 4.5 percent committed this year. This compares with 2.3 percent overall statewide.

Reference is made to a legislative funding initiative to keep the Flyers in Philadelphia.

The 1990-91 General Fund increase across the state was projected at 2.3 percent. Philadelphia was at 7 percent, three times greater than the typical fund across the counties.

1990-91 will provide an 18.5 percent increase for Philadelphia in Health and Human Services. The commitment for 1990-91 was $477.7 million for Philadelphia, $74.7 million over $403 million in 1989-90.

Children and Youth Services has received a 51.5 percent increase thus far in the Casey Administration.

Over the life of the Casey Administration Community Mental Health has received a 43 percent increase. $39 million has been earmarked to expand Community Mental Health, including $10 million for 220 new beds associated with the Philadelphia State Hospital closing.

$14 million added to the Norristown Hospital budget to accommodate 148 patients so they would not have to go out of Philadelphia. Mental Retardation received a 40 percent increase over the life of the Casey Administration. In addition, ICF/MR funding in Philadelphia has gone up 91 percent.

Day care is up 60 percent during the Casey Administration.

Seventy percent of all municipal police training funds in the Commonwealth are spent in Philadelphia.

For AIDS, the money has gone up $15.7 million in the last three years. 80 percent of all HIV infant care funds are spent in Philadelphia.

In 1989-90 homelessness was funded at $16.8 million. Increase in the Casey Administration money for homelessness in Philadelphia to date is 367 percent.

The Pennsylvania Housing Finance Authority has invested $13 million in Philadelphia for constructing 385 new housing units.

Fifty-three percent of all drug and all alcohol law enforcement monies go to Philadelphia.

The Casey Administration has increased Adult Probation by 68 percent.

Philadelphia will receive 22 percent of all state funding for special education and 20 percent of all funding for higher education.

Emergency food allowances have gone up 48 percent in Philadelphia over the life of the Casey Administration.

Secretary Hershock went on to point out that Philadelphia does not use all of its available money and goes on with some of the monies they have lapsed. In 1987-88 audits challenged a drug and alcohol program. The city never applied for $200,000 of the million they were allocated.

Philadelphia did not use $53,000 of the $106,000 Student Assistance Program grant.

The Secretary noted they lost $1 million in late and unsubmitted reimbursement requests by the Department of Human Services. The city failed to spend 11 percent of the allocation for the homeless, failed to spend 16 percent of the Housing Assistance money, lapsed funds for lead poisoning given to the Health Department and was two years late in submitting invoices for reimbursement by Children and Youth Services.

Also, Philadelphia used $5 million from state child support funding to demolish a new building for the Department of Justice that was never built. The city failed to collect $1 million in child support payments to offset the cost of CYS.

An 1988-89 audit of MH/MR indicated there were no fiscal controls, no budget reflecting need, no cost controls. Providers were given lump sums, often 12 months in advance, with no agreement on the level of service to the provider. There is no audit trail to the providers and no explanation of cost variances. Reportedly, the city did not even bother to dispute the audit findings.

I believe if we really want to help Philadelphia we will devise a program. This is what a banker does if he really wants to help you. He looks at your finances and helps you find a way out of them. If you read the article from the Associated Press of the fiscal budget of the Philadelphia City Council, it is another recipe for disaster. I know the Mayor says he is going to veto it, but until City Council and the management of that city are willing to sit down with state government, we are doing them an injustice by giving them the ability to borrow more money. I have said it to the Casey Administration, I will say it to the City of Philadelphia. You cannot borrow your way out of debt. Debt costs money. Debt increases costs. We should have a program designed that would say, Philadelphia, you accomplish a, b and c in building controls, in setting standards, in running your city in a businesslike manner and we will do x, y and z, and I will be there to vote for that. It is time for Philadelphia to forget that padded payrolls are a way of life, that patronage is something that should be carried on, that plum contracts can go on forever and that unaccountability will be accepted. I feel badly that the fine City of Brotherly Love, Philadelphia, is struggling and that its people services are not being provided like they ought to be and they never will be until that city is managed fiscally and prudently, until we have some kind of controls there that state dollars, federal dollars and local dollars are spent prudently and wisely and there is some kind of a management system. If we really want to help Philadelphia we will put that kind of a program in place and not a continued loan program because, as I said previously, you cannot borrow your way out of debt.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I rise as a Philadelphian and have been, in fact, a member of the National Rifle Association. I know how to hunt. I know how to fish. I even own a four-wheel drive vehicle. I have hunted in Pennsylvania. I have been to the rural areas. Mr. President, first of all, I would wish that the last speaker and so many others would first sit down and read this bill. I recognize sometimes that is a difficult thing to do, to read the bill that you are going to vote upon, but there seems to be a great misconception here. I have heard the gentleman from Chester, Senator Baker, say that Governor Casey did nothing for the City of Philadelphia, and yet I hear our latest speaker, the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, saying Casey did phenomenal things for the City of Philadelphia. I submit that the two of them in their caucus can debate that and let me know where it comes out.

Mr. President, this bill sets up an authority and, as was said by Senator Baker, there are five members of that authority, one appointed by each of the legislative caucuses and one appointed by the Governor. There is a thing in this bill that is talked about that is called "the qualified majority," and that was put in at the insistence of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania and its spokespeople, and what that is for is to make sure the Democrats on this board did not give away the store and also that they did not get their hands on all that patronage, that it had to be share and share alike. When these bonds are issued, there will be Republican bond counsel as well as Democratic bond counsel. Senator Baker talked about the amendments. Somebody forgot to include the bank, so Republicans will participate in the pin-striped patronage of what bank will be chosen.

Mr. President, we in Philadelphia are willing to give all that up to solve our problems. Also, this bill requires that there be a second step, and that second step is the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act. This bill does not mandate anything. All this bill says is that we will be setting up an authority that the City of Philadelphia can use, if it so desires, and it must enter into a contractual agreement with that authority, and a qualified majority of members of that authority must sign off to that agreement. So if, in fact, there are other things that the Republican Senate caucus would like, I submit to them to talk to their appointee, and I am sure the House Republican appointee would be supportive, but I, quite frankly, have to laugh when I hear people talk about Philadelphia having to look at, for example, improved procurement practices, including competitive bidding procedures. One of the problems in Philadelphia under the Home Rule Charter is that we competitive-bid everything—anything over $2,000. I have heard people at the airport complain that it takes 200 days for the airport, under the city's bidding procedures, to buy anything that costs more than $2,000, and that is if everybody agrees. Do not tell us about competitive bidding. We have so much of it, it does not work anymore. We have a bureaucracy that now shows it cannot work. In fact, those people enlightened in political science are telling us to rid ourselves of some of this nonsense. Then I, quite frankly, have to gloat when I hear the other side of the aisle talk to me about review of compensation and benefits of city employees. It is their now candidate for mayor, Frank Rizzo, the former Democrat, who gave away the kitchen sink and everything he could get his hands on to the city unions to get reelected as mayor when he was a Democrat. We cannot negotiate contracts. We cannot fire people because of the contractual arrangements he entered into. He is your candidate, reluctantly, but he is the candidate of the people of the Republican Party, albeit not their leadership.

Mr. President, during this mayoral campaign which is coming up, Frank Rizzo says there is nothing wrong with city contracts. He is going to solve it all. It is Ed Rendell, the Democratic candidate, who steps up to the plate and says, I will take a strike. I suggest to the Republican Members that they go talk to their mayoral candidate and let them help Philadelphia.

Mr. President, you are talking about the birthplace of America, the place where, when you wrap yourselves in the flag as you have done so many times on that side of the aisle, the flag was born, about Independence Hall, the first capitol of this Commonwealth. You are talking about a city you want to kick when it is down, but it is a city that decided to build an airport that everybody else uses. It is a city that invested money in an art museum that everyone comes to see. It is a city that invested money in an orchestra that everyone comes to listen to from around the world. It is a city that dumped millions and millions of dollars into sports facilities so the region and the state could be proud of some teams. In fact, it is a place where the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Armstrong, comes with me to be with his son at the Army-Navy game. That is all in Philadelphia, but you can kick it when it is down. I heard statements here about regional sales tax, about regionalization. Who is kidding who? We will wait for the next 100 years for the surrounding counties to enter into regionalization agreements. The only thing you want to regionalize are our assets. You do not want to help us with our problems, and we have a right to come here and demand help.

You know, it was in 1987 that the Senate Democratic caucus—and I was involved, I was one of the authors—put together the Distressed Municipalities Act and the program. It was $5 million of our initiative at the request of Senator Zemprelli that was put into that pot, and we were not in big trouble in 1987 in Philadelphia but we pushed that initiative because we recognized that the communities of Clairton and all those places in western Pennsylvania and the coal regions were having trouble. Did we stand up here and beat them up for it? No. We helped them. When you talk about interest on loans, our fund said they could borrow from zero to two percent interest, but when Philadelphia needed money, we had to pay 27 percent. You cannot have it both ways. What does this bill do? This bill allows Philadelphia back into the capital markets so it no longer has to pay 27 percent to the State Teacher's Retirement Board. Mr. President, you cannot have it both ways. Yes, we have problems in Philadelphia and most of them are caused by mandated programs that we at the Commonwealth have foisted upon Philadelphia. You talk about the courts. Do you think the courts were set up by the government of Philadelphia? They are a state program, and it took a Supreme Court to come in and have to constrain those costs. As was said by one of the speakers, it was a Democratic justice talking to a Republican judge, telling him to fire 59 Republican hacks. Do not look at me like I invented the system. The City Council in Philadelphia consistently fought with the court system and what happened? They would go off and mandate more money. We talk about programs like Children and Youth. Philadelphia did not dream up the program of Children and Youth. It is a state mandate. In fact, next year they will be short-changed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania some $50 million in overmatch money. Whose fault is that? If you take away the obligations of Children and Youth and the court, just two state mandated programs, Philadelphia's budget is not only balanced, it has a surplus. Yes, Philadelphia has problems. So does every city in America have problems. It is almost part of the definition of a city. Cities are magnets for society's problems. They attract them. Poor people come to the cities in search of hope. They do not go to the rural areas of Pennsylvania because they do not think there are jobs there. They come to the cities, and with them comes population density and all the problems that causes. We have the problems of AIDS. We have crack addiction and crack-addicted babies. Did the citizens of Philadelphia cause that? No. They have kept alive a city which gave birth to this nation, and they are living with the problems of it. What happened to our friends in Washington? They, too, have abandoned us. I heard someone talk about graffiti in Philadelphia. I have had bills in the last Session and the Session before that to fight graffiti in Philadelphia. They do not move anywhere. They sit in Republican-controlled committees. We have a vendor problem in Philadelphia. We have introduced bills. They sit in Republican-controlled committees. We come and ask this Chamber to help solve our problems. Let us do it, and they say no, and then they criticize us because we have those problems.

Mr. President, you cannot talk out of both sides of your mouth and, regrettably, that side of the aisle is stuck with a rocket scientist of a candidate for Mayor in Philadelphia that will talk about a lot between now and then, and I will ask you to defend his claims and I will ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, today to defend his claim that there is nothing wrong with the union contracts in Philadelphia. Maybe you can call your new candidate and try and convince him that there might be. Mr. President, we are all in this boat together. We have to help solve Philadelphia's problems. This is only one step. This is not a bailout. There is not one dime in here for Philadelphia. Yes, we need a fiscal control board to help, but we also need that control board to be the excuse of any mayor to say I cannot help you. The control board is a problem. I do not think Frank Rizzo will say that. He will say, I will take care of those guys. Eddie Rendell, at least, will listen, I think. I did not want this to be a campaign speech, but I cannot sit here and listen to this nonsense. Do not beat us up because we have problems that are not of our making. Yes, we have had problems in Philadelphia with mismanagement. I do not come here to defend that, but strip it all away. What is the abuse? Is it $10 million, $20 million? I will be generous. It does not explain the downward spiral of Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and Los Angeles. Every major city in America is facing these problems. Do not just blame it on us. It is a national problem. It is a national disgrace, if you will, brought about by our good friend Ronald Reagan who is riding a horse somewhere in California when he is not busy going to Japan getting $3 million for saying hello. That is where it started, Mr. President, so let us not criticize what is going on now. Let us get something done and let us help Philadelphia and every county.

Let us talk about mandates. You tabled our bills, the bill of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Pecora, and mine to stop the mandates. You tabled it in here. Let us get serious. Philadelphia's problems on children and youth are only matched by Delaware County's and others, maybe not in quantity but in percentage. When we talk about a SEPTA driver getting paid $60,000, I do not know what he gets paid, but I will tell you this, he gets that pay because there is an eleven-member board, eight of which come from outside of Philadelphia. Talk to your Senators from Delaware, Montgomery, Chester and Bucks Counties. Tell them you do not like that. Do not tell us. We have two votes out of eleven. Let us get real about this. That same SEPTA driver gets paid that same salary for driving a bus in Philadelphia as well as he does driving a bus in Delaware County, Montgomery, Bucks and Chester. Talk to your colleagues if you have a complaint about that, not us. We do not control SEPTA. SEPTA is the suburban Pennsylvania patronage bill. Talk to them about pin-striped patronage if you want to know where the money goes. Do not ask us and do not criticize us for the problem.

Mr. President, we should move forward with this bill and then maybe come back and start to really address Philadelphia's problems and every city in Pennsylvania that is facing these problems, albeit to a lesser dollar amount, but not a lesser percentage.

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I think it is that Austrian Ambassador who was here. It is his fault, because we have gone around the world in blaming people. He just left, I guess, that poor son-of-a-gun. He is the guy who caused all the problems that we have in Philadelphia. In my 19 years in the Legislature, Mr. President, I have not gotten up too many times and made speeches, but today I just wanted to talk about House Bill No. 209. The circumstances that brought this legislation before us were years in the making. There is no question about that. But I am not going to go back over them, and I am not even going to try to point the finger of blame on anyone because I do not think it will serve any purpose. The reasons we are faced with legislation like this are many and complex, and it is important to point out that House Bill No. 209 is not a cure-all. It is, however, a positive opportunity for change. Philadelphia needs help, and before us, Mr. President, is legislation that can provide that help. Providing that help and making it work are two different things. The real obligation in this legislation falls on the administration and the City Council of Philadelphia. It provides them with an opportunity to make the changes the city needs to survive. It means that people have to change the ways they have been doing business in Philadelphia. It means politics must take a back seat to the common good. It means sweetheart consulting contracts are a thing of the past. It means that everyone who works for the city has to understand that they have a stake in the future of the city, and that means everyone. If the city goes under, they all lose. It means that everyone has to go that extra step, and that includes us, Mr. President. We cannot continue to mandate programs on cities like Philadelphia when there is no longer a tax base to support those programs. Almost half of the residential property owners in Philadelphia live at or below the federal poverty level. In a 20-year span the population of Philadelphia has dropped by almost a half million people. That means simply that the cost of running the city has increased and there are fewer people to pay the bills. Maybe, Mr. President, with the opportunities that this legislation offers, Philadelphia can look for ways to face and deal with its many social problems. Maybe we can find a way to get back on the tax rolls many of those empty and abandoned buildings that were left behind by those who have run away from a city that no longer seems governable. Philadelphia is my city. I know my Philadelphia colleagues feel the same way. We have not always agreed on a lot of issues, but I know we agree on this one. As I said, passage of this bill sends a clear message to the Mayor of Philadelphia and to City Council. Constitutionally we cannot mandate what they must do, but it is clear that the City Charter needs revision and they can do that. They can rise to the challenge, to the fiscal planning, both long and short term. We know that the only real answer in saving Philadelphia is them. This legislation is an opportunity for the city and its leadership to get Philadelphia moving again. We are past that point of trying to fix blame and, as I said, it would serve no purpose. What we need to do now is look at the present and the future and, I repeat, Mr. President, not look at the past because the past is something we cannot change. The present is before us and the future is ahead of us. That is what this legislation does. It gives the Mayor, it gives City Council and the people of Philadelphia a chance to try to do the job that is set forth for them by this legislation. I want to thank each and every one of you in advance who are going to vote for this bill, and the ones who do not vote for it, I thank you too. I understand where you come from. I understand you have parochial views and you run against Philadelphia, and that is fine, because if that is going to help you get elected, fine, be it so. I do not have any qualms with you on that, but remember one thing: If the City of Philadelphia would go bankrupt it would cost each and every one of you in Pennsylvania more money than this is going to cost Philadelphians. I say to all of you, thank you, to the people who have worked hard on this bill to try to make it a reality, I say thank you, and to the people of Pennsylvania, I say I hope we do not come back to you and say we failed.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I would like to ask that Senator Afflerbach, Senator Belan, Senator Bodack and Senator Dawida be granted temporary Capitol leaves, having been called to their offices.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would request temporary Capitol leaves on behalf of Senator Lemmond, Senator Rhoades and Senator Robbins.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fumo requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Afflerbach, Senator Belan, Senator Bodack and Senator Dawida. Senator Loeper requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Lemmond, Senator Rhoades and Senator Robbins. The Chair hears no objection. Those requests will be granted.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, for the last several hours there has been an extensive amount of debate on the Senate floor relative to House Bill No. 209, and I do not intend to prolong that debate to any great extent, but I do feel compelled to make some brief remarks concerning the legislation pending before us. I think, Mr. President, it is important to recognize that the Senate Republicans have long been cognizant and have strongly advocated efforts to objectively analyze and address the City of Philadelphia's financial condition. Unfortunately, in many cases our pleas in the past have gone unheeded by this current administration generally, as well as the rejection of the Act 47 petitions by the general leadership of the city and also the Secretary of Community Affairs when the concerns of our Republican caucus were brought before those officials. Mr. President, as a result of the past history, I think we find ourselves today where the City of Philadelphia is being faced with the prospect of imminent financial disaster and a potential collapse of city services, and such dire consequences could, Mr. President, in my opinion, have been avoided with the proper level of scrutiny and concern over the past several years, and we have heard many of the previous speakers address that situation today. But I think it is most important as we stand here today and discuss the legislation and debate the legislation that is before us, that we are clearly confronted with a question of the imminent crisis that the City of Philadelphia is facing today rather than the failures and track record of the past. I think that it is important, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, be recognized because of the instrumental role he has played in bringing forward in this Senate consideration of House Bill No. 209. It is his leadership on this issue as well as the gentleman's tenacity and diligence that have brought us to this moment of consideration of the legislation before the Senate. I was going to go into a little bit of the history of what we have been able to do amendment-wise to strengthen the bill and improve it, but I think the gentleman from Chester, Senator Baker, earlier in his remarks, pretty well covered the intent and what this committee under his leadership has done to try to make sure this authority bill is as strong as we can possibly make it. I would like to take just one moment to commend Senator Baker, as Chairman of the Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs who along with his staff and the rest of our staff put in long and hard hours to try to make this bill the best possible bill we could do. I think that, obviously, the authority's success is going to be measured not by our approval of this bill and a concurrence in the House, but it is going to be measured by how the city is going to be able to put its proverbial house in order with this authority in place. I think if that is not accomplished, I truly hesitate to ponder what the consequences may be and the actions we may have to face here in the future. Nevertheless, Mr. President, I plan to vote in the affirmative on House Bill No. 209 today because it is my view that the creation of the Pennsylvania Intergovernmental Cooperation Authority represents structure for the development of a solution to the City of Philadelphia's fiscal problems. Let me strongly emphasize, however, that this is simply a framework or a structure for reform. It is certainly not a financial panacea, and it is going to take everybody's cooperation and dedication to make it work.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Afflerbach	Fisher	Loeper	Scanlon
Andrezeski	Fumo	Mellow	Schwartz
Baker	Greenleaf	Musto	Stapleton
Belan	Holl	O'Pake	Stewart
Bodack	Jones	Porterfield	Stout
Bortner	LaValle	Reibman	Tilghman
Dawida	Lewis	Salvatore	Williams
Fattah	Lincoln

NAYS—17

Armstrong	Helfrick	Pecora	Robbins
Brightbill	Jubelirer	Peterson	Shaffer
Corman	Lemmond	Punt	Shumaker
Greenwood	Madigan	Rhoades	Wenger
Hart

A constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Secretary of the Senate return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

RECESS

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would ask at this point in time for a very brief recess of the Senate for the purpose of a meeting of the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations to take place immediately in the Rules room at the rear of the Senate Chamber.

HONORING THE PITTSBURGH PENGUINS

Senators FISHER, BODACK, HART, PECORA, SCANLON, JUBELIRER, DAWIDA, STEWART, FATTAH, BELAN, LaVALLE, LEWIS, O'PAKE, LINCOLN, BORTNER, MELLOW, WILLIAMS, FUMO, STAPLETON, AFFLERBACH and REIBMAN offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 71), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 4, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Honoring the Pittsburgh Penguins.

WHEREAS, The Pittsburgh Penguins capped the greatest season in their 24-year history by bringing home the Stanley Cup to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, The team achieved a series of amazing "firsts," all in one season — the first Patrick division title, first Wales conference championship, first finals appearance, first Stanley Cup; and

WHEREAS, The Pens "fired up" the city with their amazing grit and determination and surpassed all expectations on their road to the cup; and

WHEREAS, The Pens overcame overwhelming adversity and injuries in their quest for victory; and

WHEREAS, Demonstrating the strong work ethic and character that exemplifies the city of Pittsburgh, the team rallied back after losing the first game of each of their four playoff series to New Jersey, Washington, Boston and Minnesota; and

WHEREAS, Their commitment to being the best culminated in a decisive four game to two victory over the Minnesota North Stars in the final round; and

WHEREAS, The team won its final game by a score of eight to zero, the largest margin in a cup final in this century; and

WHEREAS, Mario Lemieux, the series MVP and winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy, helped to lead his team to victory by scoring 44 points in the playoffs, including five goals and seven assists in the championship series; and

WHEREAS, The Penguins captured the heart and enthusiasm of the city and the State and gained respect for a franchise that has seen hard times; and

WHEREAS, The Penguins added their names to a long list of sports champions from Pittsburgh, including the Pirates and Steelers; and

WHEREAS, The team has brought honor and recognition to the city and enshrined its name forever on the Stanley Cup; and

WHEREAS, The Pens have emerged as the best hockey team in the National Hockey League and brought recognition and respect to the city of Pittsburgh and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate the Pittsburgh Penguins on their decisive victory in the Stanley Cup Championship and wish them continued success in the next season.

Senator FISHER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 71, ADOPTED

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution No. 71.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I guess the introduction of this resolution is sort of a sign of the times here in Pennsylvania. It was not too many years ago that the Pens were the doormat of not only state hockey but also of the entire National Hockey League. Obviously, today as we debated in contrasting style the misfortunes of Philadelphia and you also note the misfortunes of their hockey franchise, we are very pleased, those of us from western Pennsylvania, to have seen our Pens for the first time in 24 years become the champions of the National Hockey League in winning the Stanley Cup last week. It is interesting that when Bonnie, our Clerk, was reading the resolution, she made a few pronunciation mistakes. I might say maybe even six to eight weeks ago some people who thought of themselves as sports fans in the Pittsburgh area had not really yet gotten on the hockey bandwagon. I can tell you that over the last two months the Pens' success really captured the hearts of the entire western Pennsylvania populace. It gave the people of Pittsburgh a lot of reason to be proud of another champion to join the city of champions with the Steelers and the Pirates. I know all who have been hockey fans for a number of years are justifiably proud of the very strong performance by a great team, and I am just pleased to be able to sponsor this resolution today to honor that fine organization.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman and I am sure Mario Lemieux would join with you in his special thanks as well.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

COMMEMORATING THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION ON THE POTOMAC RIVER BASIN ON ITS 50th ANNIVERSARY

Senators BORTNER, MELLOW, STAPLETON, SHUMAKER, O'PAKE, LaVALLE, SCHWARTZ, STEWART, BELAN, SCANLON, DAWIDA, AFFLERBACH, LEWIS, BODACK and LINCOLN offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 72), which was read as follows:

WHEREAS, The regulation, control and prevention of water pollution requires integration and coordination of Federal, State, local and private agencies, groups and interested citizens; and

WHEREAS, The states of Maryland and West Virginia, the Commonwealths of Pennsylvania and Virginia and the District of Columbia, as signatory bodies, created the Potomac Valley Conservancy District; and

WHEREAS, The commission has been committed to restoring and protecting our cherished natural resources over the last 50 years in supporting the highly successful "Healing of Rivers, 50 Years in the Life of the Potomac," a campaign to clean up the Potomac River Basin; and

WHEREAS, The "Healing of the Rivers" exhibit contains more than 100 color and black and white photographs which are now on display at the East Wing of the Pennsylvania State Capitol from June 3 through June 21, 1991; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate congratulate the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin and its members on its 50th anniversary; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Executive Director of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, 6110 Executive Boulevard, Suite 300, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

Senator BORTNER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 72, ADOPTED

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution No. 72.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I serve as the Governor's appointee on the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin. It is an organization that has shown that various states can cooperate to solve environmental problems. There is an exhibit I would like to call to the attention of all Senate Members down in the east wing of the Capitol and I hope you might have a chance to look at it. I would also ask that you keep the desk open so any other Members of the Senate who did not have a chance to respond to the memo can join as cosponsors of the resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1991

SESSION OF 1991

175TH OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 34

SENATE

MONDAY, June 10, 1991.

The Senate met at 2:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Robert C. Jubelirer) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Dr. MYRNA KYSAR, Pastor of Upper Dublin Lutheran Church, Ambler, offered the following prayer:

God of the universe, You have created us to live together in societies of peace and justice. Thank You for those who are assembled who are striving for concern for all people. Yet You know that we have failed to achieve Your desire for us, and our lives together are filled with violence and injustice, hunger and need, addiction and alienation and anger and disregard of others.

Grant, O God, that Your holy and life-giving Spirit may move every human heart that the barriers which divide us may crumble, suspicions disappear and hatred cease, and that, with our divisions healed, we might live in justice and peace.

Quiet now our hurried and busy minds and spirits. Empower this assembly with a vision of the possible, even amid the skepticism and fatalism that would limit what seems possible. Grant us a determination to right the wrongs of our Commonwealth, to correct the inequities of our history and to rectify the injuries done to any within our society.

Let Your divine justice, and not our own puny sense of the right, rule amid the deliberations of this assembly. Bless it with Your guiding presence and Your supreme wisdom that justice and peace might prevail and that we might be obedient to what You have commanded for Your creation. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thanks Reverend Dr. Kysar who is the guest this day of Senator Greenleaf.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1931 (P. L. 1206, No. 331), entitled "The First Class Township Code," further providing for manner of filling appointments.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentle lady from Allegheny, Senator Hart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentle lady from Allegheny, Senator Hart, permit herself to be interrogated?

Senator HART. I will, Mr. President.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, under what circumstances would you be permitted under this legislation to hire outside the ordinary civil service process?

Senator HART. Mr. President, I am not aware of any situations where you can circumvent the requirement of a civil service exam.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, do I understand your answer to be that this would not allow you to go beyond or go outside the civil service process to fill vacancies in police and fire departments?

Senator HART. Mr. President, this provision would allow people who have already taken the civil service exam or have already been employed in their position to be reemployed in a similar capacity within the municipality.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, would that mean that you would be able to pass over individuals who may have already passed the civil service exam and would already be on a waiting list?

Senator HART. Mr. President, you would be able to pass up another applicant only if the applicant that we are trying to allow to take the job has already fulfilled the requirements and had been employed with the township on a prior occasion. This piece of legislation was introduced by request of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Commissioners, basically to save them time in filling vacancies and to save them money as well.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, is there anything in the legislation which in any way limits or deals with the circumstances which would limit your reapplication based on the circumstances under which you originally left your employment?

Senator HART. Mr. President, there is nothing which limits it. It is at the discretion of the commissioners, however, who will do the appointing.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, in other words, if you resign anticipating being terminated or if you resigned while you were being investigated, you could still be rehired outside the civil service process under this legislation, is that correct?

Senator HART. Mr. President, once again, this is not outside the process. These are people who have already complied with the requirements, have already passed the exam and who already have the experience. The point of this is not to circumvent anything. It is to save the municipality money and to also save time in appointing someone to a position in which he is already trained, such as a policeman.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, would that not always be the case, in that it would be quicker to hire somebody without resorting to a civil service exam or civil service process?

Senator HART. Mr. President, these people have already passed the exam. These people have already met the requirements for employment.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, but they still could be less qualified or could have scored less on the examination than somebody who is presently waiting to be hired. Is that not correct?

Senator HART. Mr. President, these people, in order to have been hired in the first place, are likely to have done well on the exam, and there are other qualifications aside from a high score on an exam to be good for the job. I would say that in some situations that may be the case, however, that is not the only consideration.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I guess you are indicating that the idea here is to save time and I guess my one question is people could have been tested, people could have passed the exam, people could be on a waiting list and you could not be required or you could still avoid the civil service list and hire a previous employee. Is that not correct?

Senator HART. Mr. President, that is correct. The reasoning behind it is not only to save time but to save the municipalities money in training and to prevent having a depleted police or fire force for as short a time as possible.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, if you have already given the test and you already have people who have passed the test who are on a list waiting to be hired, how do you save either time or money by hiring previous employees?

Senator HART. Mr. President, there is no training required if the employee is not completely inexperienced, as someone would be who had just taken the civil service exam.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, is there anything in here which would require that you have kept up or kept current on your municipal police training and education requirements?

Senator HART. Mr. President, no, but I would doubt that a township commissioner would want to employ someone who was not qualified for the position.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I understand that the idea here is to fill vacancies quickly. Is there anything in here which would limit this to emergency type situations?

Senator HART. Mr. President, no, there is not.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, you mean, essentially, this is up to the township commissioners to decide whether they want to use this process or hire from their civil service list or go through the civil service process, is that right?

Senator HART. Mr. President, that is correct. It is not up to the state government to make the hirings in a township.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I thank the lady.

I would ask all the Members to look at this legislation very carefully. I realize that at first blush it may appear to be somewhat innocuous, but I think we are putting in motion a process that is not only not good government but which we may come to regret at some future time. What we are permitting under this legislation is township commissioners—and this could certainly be applied, I suppose, at a future date to other municipal officials—are able to hire policemen and firemen without hiring from their civil service list. I recognize that if you were previously employed as a policeman or a fireman, presumably, although I guess depending on when you were hired, you could have been hired actually before civil service requirements were in place, but you may have already passed the test and you may have had some training and experience. I think one of the questions that comes to my mind is why someone who was off the force would want to reenter employment. There could certainly be some very legitimate reasons for wanting to do that. I can also see situations where somebody went off the force perhaps because of problems with supervisors within the department, perhaps because they had a problem in the department, and now because of a change in administration, maybe a change in politics, they want to be rehired. It seems to me if we have a requirement in the township code that civil service be used to hire policemen and firemen, we ought to require that that process be followed in every situation. I know, personally, if I took a civil service examination to be a policeman or fireman and I scored the highest grade, I would expect to be considered for that position. I would expect to be hired unless there was some other reason or there was some other problem with my application. It may very well be that somebody who was previously in the department could not even meet the current standards or the current requirements to fill the position.

I would suggest that we vote “no” on this legislation, that we continue to require that the civil service process be followed. I think that is a vote for good government and I would hope that is what we are here for.

Senator STEWART. Mr. President, those of us on the committee voted against this in committee. The gentleman from York, Senator Bortner, made some good points, but there is one other point that he did not touch on and that is someone who, when the civil service test was given, was not eligible for reasons of age. If the civil service test is given for police officers and somebody is 16 years old, they obviously cannot take the test because they are not old enough, but then two years later when that individual is old enough, what this legislation says is, well, do not even bother taking the test because we are going to reach into an old list for an old person who resigned or quit and hire them back, without giving that person the opportunity to show what he or she is made of. For that reason and the reasons stated by the previous speaker, I would urge everyone to oppose this bill.

Senator HART. Mr. President, I feel the need to speak again on behalf of the bill partially because I think the gentlemen who have spoken against the passage of this bill are somewhat missing the point. At this point many of our municipalities have complained of problems with finances. They have a difficult time these days, partially due to some of the state mandates we have placed upon them, and I as a Senator was requested to put in this bill on behalf of the townships to save them some money, to save them some time and also to protect the individuals who live within those townships from depleted police or fire forces.

The main purpose of the bill is not to circumvent the hiring of someone who is highly qualified for a position. In fact, I would expect that township commissioners would be most likely to hire the most qualified candidate, despite the fact that another candidate may have been employed by the township before. I would urge that the Senate pass this bill as a good government bill and as an assistance to our township governments.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I would call to the attention of the Senators that on Senate Bill No. 916, which contains the language of Section No. 638, the manner of filling appointments, it describes the process which now exists and which we placed into law for filling vacancies in the police department or as paid operators of fire apparatus. It requires the township commissioners to notify their civil service commission that a vacancy exists and needs to be filled. They certify the existing vacancy from the list of the top three names certified, unless there is some objection to those names. I guess my answer to the sponsor of the legislation is that if we are trying to save money, then what this legislation really ought to do is repeal the process and not create what is supposed to be a limited exception but which I think is wide enough that you could drive a truck through it. The civil service process, I think, is important. It eliminates political hiring. It eliminates nepotism. It requires that if you take the test and you score the highest grade, you are going to be considered for the vacancy. The gentleman from Cambria, Senator Stewart, has pointed out that somebody may come along and want to become a policeman who could not even take the test at a previous time. The purpose of civil service is to make sure the most qualified candidate be hired, regardless of any other connections they may have or they may need to employ to get the position. I would hope we would reaffirm that position. I would also say that I know some of the township associations are supporting this legislation, and I am disappointed that they would also not see the merits in the civil service process and realize that is important and an important way to protect their very own members.

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, I realize that the language in this bill tracks that which is already in the borough code, but that does not necessarily mean it is the right thing to do. In this particular era we have seen an erosion of civil rights at the federal level and I see this bill as possibly contributing to that erosion at the state level. It could very well be that the township commissioners in a certain township may wish to avoid the hiring or the appointment of a minority or a woman if all three candidates at the top of the civil service list just happen to be in one of those categories. This bill would allow them to reach back into the past and bring forward someone else simply to avoid appointing one of the top three candidates. For that reason, I think it should be defeated and would ask that such action be taken.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Belan and also Senator Porterfield. Their temporary Capitol leaves will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator PECORA. Mr. President, I rise in support of this Senate bill and to explain some of the questions that were presented. I think our fellow Senators and the honorable Senators on the other side of the aisle are not familiar with the township code. The civil service board is appointed by the same commissioners who were given the proper hiring procedures to make it more effective when there is a crisis in that township. As far as the civil service act, you cannot go back too far and hire someone who is not under civil service because the act was passed in 1949. That is 42 years ago. Now, anyone 42 years ago who was a police officer prior to the civil service test would have to be 60-some years old if they were the youngest officer hired in the history of this Commonwealth. So that question was moot to the bill. There is no way they are going to hire someone 65 or 70 or 80 years old in an emergency. We have to realize that the commissioners of the townships appoint the civil service board members. If they had any intentions of discrimination, they would do it with their civil service board that they appointed. There is no intent here to discriminate or bypass the law. The intent here is to have fine police officers who are qualified, have experience, who have passed the civil service board test. The test itself does not qualify you for that. You have the interview test. You have the health test and you have many other tests prior to being hired under the civil service board. Your percentages are based on the hiring and added onto the point system that puts your percentage of what you will receive by the oral test and the civil service test. There are many ways they can avoid proper hiring procedures. The intent of this legislation is for emergencies only. There is a need. Townships have at times been forced to lay off police officers, and they may have moved out and moved back and they have the option to hire them again. One thing we must remember, the township commissioners do appoint the civil service board members.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 916

BILL OVER IN ORDER ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 916 (Pr. No. 1172) — Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 916, Printer's No. 1172, just failed of final passage.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 916 go over in its order and appear on the Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will be placed on the Final Passage Calendar.

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 962 (Pr. No. 1137) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act authorizing certain counties to increase the recording fees of deeds and mortgages to support or enhance local affordable housing efforts.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of the gentle lady from Philadelphia, Senator Jones. Her temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I would request a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Armstrong.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fisher requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Armstrong. The Chair hears no objection and that leave will be granted.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I just think it is important that we point out, as we are being asked to consider Senate Bill No. 962 today, although as referred to in the bill, it is an optional fee increase, the option is for the governing bodies, the county commissioners, for counties of the second class through the eighth class. Basically, what this is is a 100 percent tax increase on various fees that can be charged by the county with regard to certain types of transfers and certain types of recordings of mortgages, and I, for one, Mr. President, at this point in time do not believe we should be considering these particular types of proposals. We are right here giving the opportunity to county commissioners to go ahead and to increase by 100 percent the fee that is being charged for the recording of some deeds and mortgages, and I believe we are going to have a lot of time to consider, discuss and debate various types of tax increases. Mr. President, for some reason, in this particular bill the county of the first class, which would be the City of Philadelphia, is not included in the proposal by the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Greenwood, and I would at this point in time ask for a negative vote on Senate Bill No. 962.

Senator DAWIDA. Mr. President, although I have the greatest respect for my leader, I think he is wrong on this issue and I am going to vote "yes." I think the idea of using the transfer money to stimulate housing is a good idea, and I will be voting "yes" on this legislation.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—35

Afflerbach	Greenleaf	Lemmond	Rhoades
Armstrong	Greenwood	Lewis	Robbins
Baker	Hart	Loeper	Salvatore

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 103

BY SENATOR NUNEZ

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

To memorialize the Congress of the United States to adopt the president's proposal to extend "fast track" authority for another two years, to support the negotiation of a free trade agreement with Mexico, and to encourage the negotiation of a North American Free Trade Agreement.

WHEREAS, the authority of the president of the United States to negotiate trade agreements under "fast track" authority expires on June 19, 1991; and

WHEREAS, this "fast track" authority is simply a mechanism which allows the president to speed the approval of trade agreements as the Congress is restricted to an up-or-down vote, without amendments, on any agreement negotiated under this authority; and

WHEREAS, the Congress initially included the current version of the "fast track" authority for approval of trade agreements in the 1974 Trade Act and reenacted this authority in the 1988 trade legislation; and

WHEREAS, absent a resolution passed by the Congress to disapprove the "fast track" authority, the authority will be automatically extended for another two years until May 31, 1993; and

WHEREAS, "fast track" authority is essential for the good faith negotiation of a trade agreement with Mexico, and for a possible negotiation of a North American Free Trade Agreement between Mexico, Canada, and the United States.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Legislature of Louisiana memorializes the Congress of the United States to vote against any resolution which has been proposed to disapprove of the "fast track" authority.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Legislature of Louisiana supports the negotiation of a free trade agreement with Mexico, which would be sensitive to environmental issues, labor markets and conditions, competing industries, and regulatory issues.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Legislature of Louisiana believes that a North American Free Trade Agreement between Mexico, Canada, and the United States would be in the best interest of all parties and therefore strongly urges that a dialogue be established to examine the potential for a trilateral negotiation to take place.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a duly attested copy of this Resolution be immediately transmitted to the president of the United States, to the secretary of the United States Senate, to the clerk of the United States House of Representatives, to each member of the Louisiana delegation to the Congress of the United States, and to the presiding officer of each house of each state legislature in the United States.

THIRD CONSIDERATION CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AMENDED

SB 3 (Pr. No. 1173) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act establishing a procedure whereby a person may execute in advance a written declaration indicating to a physician the person's desire for a physician to initiate, continue, withhold or withdraw certain life-sustaining medical treatment in the event the person is incompetent and is determined to be in a terminal condition or to be permanently unconscious; and providing penalties.

Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

RHOADES AMENDMENT

Senator RHOADES, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A1208:

Amend Title, page 1, line 6, by inserting after "unconscious;": providing for pregnancy;

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, by inserting between lines 4 and 5: Section 14. Pregnancy.

Amend Bill, page 11, by inserting between lines 7 and 8: Section 14. Pregnancy.

(a) General rule.—Notwithstanding the existence of a declaration or direction to the contrary, life-sustaining treatment, nutrition and hydration must be provided to a pregnant woman who is incompetent and has a terminal condition or who is permanently unconscious unless, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty as certified on the patient's medical record by the attending physician and an obstetrician who has examined the patient, life-sustaining treatment, nutrition and hydration:

(1) will not maintain the pregnant woman in such a way as to permit the continuing development and live birth of the unborn child;

(2) will be physically harmful to the pregnant woman;

or

(3) would cause pain to the pregnant woman which cannot be alleviated by medication.

(b) Pregnancy test.—Nothing in this section shall require a physician to perform a pregnancy test unless the physician has reason to believe that the woman may be pregnant.

Amend Sec. 15, page 11, line 24, by striking out "15" and inserting: 16

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator RHOADES. This amendment, in essence, sustains the living will unless the following conditions are met: the patient is incompetent; the patient has a terminal condition in an advanced state or is permanently unconscious; the patient has been diagnosed as pregnant; the attending physician and an obstetrician have certified that life-sustaining treatment, nutrition and hydration will maintain the pregnant woman in such a way as to permit the continuing development and live birth of the unborn child; and the continuation of life-sustaining treatment will not cause physical harm to the woman or cause pain which cannot be alleviated by medication. I would note that 32 states with living will legislation have rendered the living will declaration of pregnant patients unenforceable during the course of pregnancy, and this amendment carries forth in policy and statute that which is in practice in the Commonwealth today.

The PRESIDENT. At this point the Chair would interrupt the proceedings for the purpose of an introduction. Senator LaValle has guests in the gallery who we understand are on a time schedule. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver County, Senator LaValle.

GUESTS OF SENATOR GERALD J. LaVALLE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator LaVALLE. Mr. President, seated in the gallery with us today is Jennifer Burke of Chippewa Township who recently won the Beaver County Young Woman of the Year competition sponsored by the Beaver Area Jaycees. Jennifer will be a senior at Blackhawk High School next year, and she is in Harrisburg this week to observe a Session of the State Senate as part of a legislative internship she is completing with my office. Jennifer is joined in the gallery by her mother, Betty Burke, and sister Christina. At this time I would ask that the Senate join with me in congratulating Jennifer on being named the 1991 Beaver County Young Woman of the Year in addition to welcoming the Burke family to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Would the Burke family please rise so we could welcome you to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

(Applause.)

He is accompanied by his family and officers of the library, Montgomery County, Norristown Public Library Association. May I request the Senate extend its usual warm welcome to this young man and his family and guests.

The PRESIDENT. Would Brandon and his family and all of his associates who are with him please rise so we can welcome you to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

(Applause.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

GREENWOOD AMENDMENT A1287 TO RHOADES AMENDMENT A1208

Senator GREENWOOD, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A1287 to Rhoades Amendment A1208:

Amend Amendments, page 1, lines 1 through 31; page 2, lines 1 through 7, by striking out all of said lines on said pages and inserting:

Amend Sec. 4, page 7, by inserting between lines 1 and 2

(e) Pregnancy.—A declaration may contain the following provision:

If I have been diagnosed as pregnant and that diagnosis is known to my attending physician, (choose one):

( ) I direct that this declaration shall have no force and effect during the course of the pregnancy.

( ) I direct that this declaration be carried out.

( ) I hereby delegate to who is designated below as my surrogate, the authority to decide whether this declaration should be carried out during the course of my pregnancy.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment to the amendment?

Senator GREENWOOD. Mr. President, the bill before us provides living will legislation which we all want, I think, and we have been waiting a long time to have. The bill, unamended, is essentially silent on the issue of what happens to a woman who happens to be pregnant at the time of her mortal injury or fatal illness. The Rhoades amendment would alter the bill in such a way that all women in Pennsylvania, whether or not they have drafted a living will, will, if they happen to be pregnant at the time of their impending death, be denied the opportunity to die as they might choose. The Rhoades amendment would require for all women, regardless of their feelings on the matter, that they must be at all costs kept alive artificially. The amendment that I offer strikes a compromise, I think, between the notion that all pregnant women would be able to avail themselves of the opportunity to die and the Rhoades amendment that says that none would. This amendment creates a provision in which the declaration may have a provision that says, and I will quote, "If I have been diagnosed as pregnant and that diagnosis is known to my attending physician...." then I may choose, first, "I direct that this declaration shall have no force and effect during the course of the pregnancy...." So for those women who choose to abandon the concept of a living will if pregnant, they can so note, and that is how it would be. Secondly, they can direct that the declaration be carried out, but it would be carried out only on the condition that the pregnancy has been determined to be viable.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN

Senator GREENWOOD. Mr. President, I apparently have submitted the incorrect amendment. I intended to submit amendment A1288.

The PRESIDENT. Without objection, we will withdraw the present amendment and read the correct amendment and proceed in that order.

GREENWOOD AMENDMENT A1288 TO RHOADES AMENDMENT A1208

Senator GREENWOOD, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A1288 to Rhoades Amendment A1208:

Amend Amendments, page 1, lines 1 through 31; page 2, lines 1 through 7, by striking out all of said lines on said pages and inserting

(e) Pregnancy.—A declaration may contain the following provision:

If I have been diagnosed as pregnant and that diagnosis is known to my attending physician and the fetus is viable, this declaration shall have no force and effect during the course of the remainder of my pregnancy. If the fetus is not viable, (choose one):

( ) I direct that this declaration shall have no force and effect during the course of the pregnancy.

( ) I direct that this declaration be carried out.

( ) I hereby delegate to who is designated as my surrogate, the authority to decide whether this declaration should be carried out during the course of my pregnancy.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment to the amendment?

Senator GREENWOOD. Mr. President, that explains my increasing nervousness as I read my own amendment.

The difference being this: The amendment that I meant to offer and is now before us allows the declaration to read as follows: "If I have been diagnosed as pregnant and that diagnosis is known to my attending physician and the fetus is viable, this declaration shall have no force and effect during the course of the remainder of my pregnancy." What we are saying is that in the case of a viable pregnancy, we are going along with the Rhoades concept that, in fact, living will or no living will, the patient would be kept alive, if possible, to promote the birth of that fetus. However, if the pregnancy is pre-viable earlier in the pregnancy, then again the woman can choose. Again, the declaration will have no force if she is pregnant at all and she wants to be maintained alive. But she can also choose, if this is in the early stage of pregnancy, that her declaration be carried out and that she be permitted to pass away, or she could designate the decision to a surrogate. That is what the amendment does.

Mr. President, usually when we debate in this Chamber we are not discussing life and death issues. Today we are. But this is really not about whether or not people die. The issue before us is about how they die. For all of human history people have suffered traumatic injuries and fatal illnesses. It is a part of life. For all of that time these fatal illnesses and traumatic injuries have hastened their passing, and this has been so for pregnant women, whether their pregnancy was obvious or not. It has only been in the relative instance of recent time, the past couple of decades, that man has, with his pumps and his wires and his drugs, been able to prolong this period of dying long after the patient has lost consciousness, brain function or any of the other functions we consider central to our definition of human life. The living will legislation before us recognizes that increasing numbers of people are more comfortable with the more natural approach to death. They want to be able, while they are alert, to direct whatever physicians may attend to them in the future that they wish not to have the shell of their body artificially pumped and wired alive indefinitely, but they would rather at that time leave their fate as their ancestors did for thousands of years, in, if you will, the hands of God. That is really the question before us with this amendment. The question is, do we allow women in the early stages of pregnancy, and only in the early stages of pregnancy, the same opportunity we are now trying to avail to all Pennsylvanians, and that is to place their fate in the hands of God? I think that intimate, personal, if you will, sacred matter is best left to the individual and not to the Pennsylvania Legislature. I would urge adoption of the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Members of the Senate, the amendment we are dealing with is the Greenwood amendment to the Rhoades amendment. The amendment number is A1288.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, actually I would like to speak on the Greenwood amendment and also to speak briefly on the Rhoades amendment as well and, basically, to say that I think, as we all know, I understand we all do agree on the concept of the living will legislation. I assume that my colleagues know every state but two have passed living will legislation. They are Pennsylvania and Nebraska. The New Jersey legislature voted on their living will legislation just yesterday and, in fact, passed it without conceding to any of the amendments that the Catholic Conference pushed just as hard in New Jersey as they are pushing in Pennsylvania. They chose, I believe very reasonably and respectfully, to reject those amendments and to proceed with the real concept of the living will and pass a clean bill. Let me first say that would be my preference, to pass this legislation without these amendments, to speak to the issue that the living will really does speak to, which is people with terminal illnesses, elderly people who want to make their own personal decisions about how they wish to die. What has happened here is we have gotten an interjection of an issue that is really not an issue here. I speak to it, in fact, with some reluctance because I think it is inappropriate for us to be dealing with any of these amendments or any of this pressure from the Catholic Conference to be concerned about young women who most likely will not have living wills and are really most unlikely to be in this situation at all.

What the Rhoades amendment in particular does is it says in this particularly critical situation that we, you and I, know best for this family, that the woman's choice, her husband's choice, her parents' choice, her relatives' choice has nothing to do with what will happen to her. In fact, you and I, not knowing what the situation will be, why she is comatose, how far along she is in her pregnancy, how much she might have wanted that pregnancy or not, are making that decision now, without knowing any of the specifics, that she must be kept alive. If you vote for the Rhoades amendment, that is what you are saying. If the daughter of the person in the next chair is comatose and pregnant and an entire family says we do not want her kept alive, it is too bad, that we are going to make that decision now. I think it is wrong and it is inappropriate and it is unreasonable.

Let me say on the Greenwood amendment that it is to the degree that we concede we are willing to deal with this issue of the possibility of pregnancy. It gives, at least, the woman and her family a chance to have their opinions known and exercised, at least pre-viability. If you feel we must have an amendment, I would encourage you to vote for the Greenwood amendment. But to treat pregnant women differently and to say they have fewer rights than all other Pennsylvania citizens is wrong, and we should not concede to it. I ask you to be as brave as our colleagues in New Jersey and to vote for clean living will legislation and not to pretend that you know better for your fellow citizen, because you may not. I ask you to look at today's newspaper about New Jersey and to try to be as brave and to respect the rights of an individual woman, her family and to leave the living will legislation intact, if we can, so we really do what we need to do in living will, and that is pass a clean bill that will make it possible for Pennsylvania citizens to die with dignity.

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, I too rise in support of the amendment of the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Greenwood, to the Rhoades amendment, and I do so for several reasons. First of all, the Greenwood amendment pretty much tracks the concept of the New Jersey bill which was approved just yesterday in that it encourages the pregnant patient to, in fact, consider in advance the condition of pregnancy and what direction she would want the medical professionals to take should she become a patient under the circumstances of this bill. But beyond that, as I look at the Rhoades amendment, the gentleman, in his genuine earnest to address the goal that he seeks, has, I am afraid, automatically crafted some far-reaching and potentially very harmful circumstances within his amendment. For example, under present law death is defined in one of three ways: A cessation of the circulatory system, the heart beat; a cessation of the brain stem activity; or a cessation of the respiratory system. The gentleman's language in the Rhoades amendment would, in fact, by a de facto sense, reestablish death as the cessation of cellular activity because his amendment provides that we shall make every effort to maintain that woman's body as long as cellular activity continues and as long as there is a chance for that cellular activity to reproduce and to, indeed, produce a viable fetus. In order to do that the gentleman includes a provision that would, again in his earnestness to spare unnecessary suffering to the patient, provide for the administration of medication to relieve that pain and suffering, a very noble and valuable effort. But what does that really mean? What it means is this General Assembly by adoption of the Rhoades amendment without the Greenwood amendment would, in fact, be sanctioning the use of drugs, of heavy medication, in a very gallant effort to do away with pain and suffering but without course as to what that medication's effect would be upon cellular regeneration and the development of a fetus. Every doctor who has worked in this field in this country knows that medication during pregnancy is a very risky prospect at best, and particularly so if the medication is of a significant and severe dosage to eliminate pain. I suggest to you that what the Rhoades amendment does in its face value is sanctions the use of this medication to such an extent that we may find that cellular activity occurs and cellular regeneration occurs and fetal development may occur, but of what kind? Of a severely handicapped nature, of a severely mutated nature? Then, what becomes the decision once this is discovered somewhere down the path?

Mr. President, I suggest that the Rhoades amendment, in all of its well-meaningness, creates a genuine Orwellian situation of humanoid incubators. I do not believe that is what the gentleman intends. I certainly do not believe that is what this Legislature would intend to do and I urge adoption of the Greenwood amendment for that reason. It does away with that kind of a scenario and yet it encourages the pregnant patient to, in fact, consider her condition of pregnancy before getting into the situation of a terminal nature. Again, I ask support of the Greenwood amendment.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Fattah. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment to the amendment?

Senator HART. Mr. President, I think it is important for us to note today that the debate is taking an odd course. According to many Supreme Court cases, the state does have an interest in preservation, a legitimate right to protect the unborn child. The issue here is involved in a right to die, the purpose of our promoting a living will, and I think it is fair to agree that nearly everyone in the Senate of Pennsylvania is interested in passing a living will bill. I stand in support of the Rhoades amendment as it is, without the Greenwood amendment. I think it is important for us to consider that the woman's life in this situation is not going to continue and that it is important for us to realize that there is another life to consider in the situation. It would not be right or proper for us to, by law, force the physician to terminate the life of a child which may be sustained, even though it may not yet be viable. Many cases have shown that though a fetus is not viable at the point where the woman becomes incompetent or comatose, that if her life is sustained a child could fully develop. I think it is important for us as Legislators to realize that the protection of that life should go above and beyond any question as to a right of her to choose at this point.

Of the 44 states in the Union that have living will bills, 32 states prevent the living will from being activated if a woman is pregnant, so this has been considered by many other legislatures in the United States. I think it is important for us to take that into consideration as well.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, the legislation that is before us today, I believe, is probably one of the most important issues that has come to me as a Legislator. I have received a great deal of input on it, a lot of mail, much of it from senior citizens, but a lot of it from just other concerned people who, in many cases, I do not believe take a large role or large interest in political issues. It certainly deals with one of the most personal decisions we may ever have to make concerning ourselves or family members. We are dealing with really the very quality of life itself. I also realize, in speaking to this amendment, it is unlikely that I will probably change any votes. I have been through some of these debates as a House Member and I suspect the positions of Senators are not much different than those of House Members in terms of the way they view these issues. I respect people with opposing points of view on the abortion issue and I would like to say that I think it is one of the most difficult issues that comes to us as Legislators. For some people it is a religious issue; for some it becomes a moral issue. I personally find it a very difficult decision. I do not think this issue today is about abortion. I do not think it should be, but, unfortunately, it is being injected into this issue through the Rhoades amendment. What the Rhoades amendment says is that, "...life-sustaining treatment, nutrition and hydration must be provided to a pregnant woman who is incompetent and has a terminal condition or who is permanently unconscious...." What that means to a family is, that no matter what your personal wishes are, no matter what situation you may find a spouse or another family member in, no matter what that person's own views are, either having been expressed to the family or through a living will, those wishes are not going to be respected. I think that is wrong and I think it is a mistake for us to attach that kind of language to this issue. The amendment that is immediately before us, the Greenwood amendment, is slightly better, a slight improvement, although my own views would tell me that we should leave this issue alone. At least the Greenwood amendment is pegged to viability and, however we feel about that, or however we choose to define that, or however the medical community does, that has some legal significance, because that is what the Supreme Court has pegged their decision in Roe v. Wade to. The irony of the Rhoades amendment is that a woman who was three or four months pregnant, were she alive, could have an abortion, if that is what she chose. The law guarantees that right to her. This amendment would say that if you become comatose, if you become incompetent, you actually are losing or giving up a right that you would have were you still alive. I do not know that is an intended result, but it is certainly a result of this language. I understand the intentions of the supporters of this issue, but I would hope they would consider the message that is being sent out. I think it is a very clear message. I think it is one that is very demeaning to women. I think it is a message that says, you are a baby machine. I think it is a message that says, you are an incubator. And it says we are going to ignore your personal views on what I think is one of the most personal aspects of your life. I not only think that is wrong, I think it is outrageous. This decision belongs, I believe, with families. I am a parent; I am a father; I am a husband. I would want to make that decision for my family. I believe we ought to trust the families of Pennsylvania to make this most personal decision. If you feel inclined to support an amendment in this area, I hope it would be the Greenwood amendment, which I believe at least is somewhat congruous with the present law of abortion in Pennsylvania. The Rhoades amendment sends the wrong message, the wrong message to women, I think the wrong message to families. I hope we would defeat it.

Senator HELFRICK. Mr. President, I rise in support of the Rhoades amendment and in defeat of the Greenwood amendment. Just today I read an editorial in the Harrisburg Patriot that said, "State living-will law past due." I agree with that. A good living will law is long past due and with the Rhoades amendment I would support that. What bothers me most in that editorial, if you read on down in the editorial it says, "Medical science has for years been able to keep alive people who should be dead." Since when do we have that determination to decide who should be dead? Medical science has a right to keep people alive as long as they can, but to determine that they should be dead, I cannot agree with that. In this particular legislation, without the Rhoades amendment, that is just what we are doing. We are condemning an innocent child to death. I agree with the living will, the theory of it, but the living will is not the living will of that child. It is the living will of the mother. I do not think any father, any husband or any grandparent should be deprived of an innocent child who is entirely innocent. I do not think at any point in the history of this Senate we, as Senators or we as human beings, should say people should be dead.

Senator BRIGHTBILL. Mr. President, I have been studying these two amendments and I have been trying to think through my rationale for my past votes on this subject matter and applying it to the instant question. The votes that I have taken in the past on this subject reflect the following: Basically, during the first trimester, a woman should have the choice as to what happens to her pregnancy, and my belief has been that, basically, is because she is the person who is in the front line of the results of that choice. Whichever choice she makes, whether to have a baby or not to have a baby, is a choice she has to live with for the rest of her life and my belief is that she should make that choice, not the government.

As I take what I think to be my basic rationale and I apply it to the instant question, I find myself with a different result. The different result comes from the fact that now we have a woman who, by definition under the Rhoades amendment, is incapable of making a choice and is either incompetent and has a terminal condition or is permanently unconscious. This delicate choice that has to be made can no longer be made by this woman. The results of that choice must be borne not by her, but by her family. I listened to the speaker from York and he made reference to the fact that this is a family decision, and I understand that, but I also looked at the so-called Greenwood amendment and I find that there is a block that can be checked that says, "I direct that this declaration be carried out." My understanding is if a woman checks that block that directs that this declaration be carried out, then no matter what the purpose of the husband or the father would be, no matter how the grandparents, potentially all four, would feel about this pregnancy and about this child surviving, the law would then dictate that the child not have its chance. I think we are mixing concepts. I believe that the strong emotions that are felt on this particular issue, while they are real, are perhaps a little bit misdirected. I am going to suggest, Mr. President, that it is indeed appropriate in this rare instance that the government make the choice and that the law dictate under these narrow conditions that the pregnancy rule be adopted as set forth in the Rhoades amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator GREENWOOD and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, To be printed on the Calendar for second consideration.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I rise in Petitions and Remonstrances, and I do not want to get into a protracted debate and I am willing to just make a complaint and let it go. Today I had delivered to my office, along with a lot of other Democrats, a mushroom in a plain paper bag, which is where it belongs, and the most immature, juvenile letter I have ever read in my life. The saddest part of this whole letter is that it comes on stationery that originated from the George I. Bloom Republican Center. I am certain that George Bloom never played this kind of childish politics. The letter is insulting, more to the Republican Party in this state than it is to the people who it was directed at, and I think just puts out a clear message we have been trying to get across, that the other side of the aisle, and not necessarily the Members of the Senate but the party and the policy they follow, has been one of not agreeing, admitting, acknowledging or anything that there is a budget problem in this state. It is continual blame, blame, blame, blame, blame, with no response as to how to do it other than the House Republicans had a press conference and talked about a proposal they cannot get a Member to introduce. I do not want to make it any more difficult for those of us who have to finally resolve the problems of the budget in Pennsylvania. To do that is not the intention of this, but I think this is a classic example of distortion, a classic example of trying to hide the facts, that all you have to do is go back to the record of June of 1990 and you will see there was nobody held in the dark, there were no secret deals, there was nothing. We passed a budget. Everyone left here thinking we had resolved the problem and we have now had about 10 months of this kind of garbage talk. I would appreciate it if it would stop. I would appreciate it if we would acknowledge there are problems and no matter who caused them or who is to blame, we have a constitutional obligation that we take on our oath of office the day we are sworn in that we are going to solve those problems and this is not going to go anywhere near resolving them. I would hope this kind of trash would stop.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I am at a total loss to respond to the gentleman's remarks. I have not seen the letter or even become aware of it. However, I think it is important for the record that, as the gentleman stated, we all recognize there are serious fiscal problems in Pennsylvania. There is a budget that still has to be passed in this state, a spending plan and also the revenues to match that spending plan. It is our intent to seriously sit down and negotiate with all parties involved to try to come to some fair resolution of this problem, the magnitude of which Pennsylvania has never seen before. There are going to be some very difficult days and weeks ahead as we work to try and resolve the problem for the interests of all Pennsylvanians. Today I indicate to you that process is under way in earnest, and it is my hope that a resolution can be forthcoming.

AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 3 (Pr. No. 1326) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act establishing a procedure whereby a person may execute in advance a written declaration indicating to a physician the person's desire for a physician to initiate, continue, withhold or withdraw certain life-sustaining medical treatment in the event the person is incompetent and is determined to be in a terminal condition or to be permanently unconscious; providing for pregnancy; and providing penalties.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, I think the Senate today has the opportunity to finally climb the mountain and get to the top. It is my history, what I have been told, that Pennsylvania has been working on a living will measure for 16 years. I was told last year that it had been 15 years and we have worked on it another full year, so that is a long time for a concept to become law. I think today we have a measure before us that can become law. We have a measure that has been worked on by every interest group and interested parties across this Commonwealth that have forged a bill that I think will pass the House and will become law and one that the Governor can sign. I would like to say that for the first time people in Pennsylvania will have the right to choose what kind of measures, life-preserving measures or death-prolonging measures, will be allowed to be used when they are comatose, when they are incompetent, when they are terminally ill in an advanced state. They will be allowed to legally choose what kind of extraordinary measures and what kind of modern technology can be used to keep them from dying, to keep them alive when their body, their person, has fought the struggle of sickness and ill health and are only kept alive to prolong pain and death. They will for the first time have the right to make those choices. I think it is a day that Pennsylvanians have been looking forward to for a long time. I do not know when I have had an issue that has had broader support from all ages, from all parts of the Commonwealth. I would like to thank the staffs of the Senate Members. A lot of staff members were involved in forging this bill. It was a bipartisan effort. It was an effort that crossed House and Senate staffs and it brought together the following interest groups that I want to mention just quickly that worked for months meeting 20 or 30 times forging this compromise: the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, the Department of Aging, Lutheran Services, the Medical Society, Pennsylvania Association of Non-profit Homes, the Hospital Association, the Council of Aging, the Pennsylvania Bar, the Philadelphia Bar, AARP, C.A.R.I.E., the Jewish Coalition, the Council of Churches, the Lutheran Coalition, the Association of Home Health Agencies, the Catholic Conference and the AMS Providers Association. These groups have all worked to help us bring to this Body a bill that makes sense, a bill that is well thought out, a bill that will help remove the medical community from the legal quagmire that they have been in, where many times they are afraid to make good medical decisions because they can be sued. This will leave the choice with the people. The people will make their choice as they execute their living will. They are the ones who will say ahead of time what kind of high technology they want utilized to keep them alive when life is really over. I think this bill has a good chance of passing in the House. There has been a lot of prenegotiation. There are a lot of people from the House that have been tracking this measure, who have been a part of the negotiation process. If this bill passes today, I think it has a very good chance of becoming the law of the Commonwealth, and I would urge all of my colleagues to support it.

Senator WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I too rise to urge support for Senate Bill No. 3. I would just like to comment on the extremely unique cooperation that was evident in the process here. I would like to congratulate the leadership of the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, and of our Committee on Public Health and Welfare for a very productive interchange with a number of groups and most especially the staffs of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare. I think they are most unique and in many, many ways significantly responsible for advancing us to this point. I want to acknowledge thanks to all the groups that Senator Peterson referred to and hope to continue productive and progressive cooperation. This, indeed, was a good example of not only bipartisan cooperation in an area of significant human experience, but even more so, without regard to anything but the issue at hand and pushing away the obstacles that arose. I am very, very proud on behalf of my very hardworking staff and Senator Peterson's staff for what we have before us today and urge strongly the support for this bill.

Senator DAWIDA. Mr. President, twelve and a half years ago in my first meeting ever as an elected official in the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, we had this issue before us. I thought then that within six months we could have it wrapped up and Pennsylvania would be one of the first states to pass what is a very needed piece of legislation. We are now one of the last states, but, fortunately, we have learned from others and I think we have one of the best bills in the country and it deserves bipartisan support. I think we all ought to support this legislation and get it to the House so we can have a law before the end of June. I want to thank the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Williams, for their tremendous support on this very important issue and urge a "yes" vote from all of my colleagues.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I rise to state my intention to cast my vote against Senate Bill No. 3, not because I oppose the legislation on living will, for I, in fact, support the enactment of a living will bill in Pennsylvania. I would second my colleagues who spoke before me, the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Williams, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Dawida, for saying this bill, ignoring the amendment, is truly a fine bill and I wish for its passage. But, in fact, I cannot support this bill because of the amendment that was passed yesterday. The amendment that was passed by this Chamber yesterday grants rights of privacy and dignity for some people while denying those rights to others. Mr. President, we should not and cannot be willing to grant the right to die in dignity, to enable one person and his or her family to be able to direct physicians and hospitals on actions to take or withhold for some people and deny this same right to others. The amendment to this bill denies completely the rights of a pregnant woman or her family to decide on the course of medical treatment for her, whether she has a living will or not. Under this amendment, a woman who is comatose or near death has no right to decide either her fate or whether the pregnancy is to be continued. Pregnant women in this tragic situation will become a ward of the state. The interests or opinion of her spouse, her parents or her other loved ones or her declared intentions are irrelevant. I was told by my colleagues yesterday that any effort to persuade or to use rational logic or to appeal to the Members' emotions would fail, that once an issue is defined as pro-choice versus pro-life, we who are standing up for privacy, for separation of church and state, for freedom from government intervention in our most private, personal decisions, would lose. I was told that no one would look at the reality or consider the consequences. They would simply vote the way they usually do on this issue, and they were right—how sad and how outrageous. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to consider what they have done. They have sought to assure that Pennsylvania citizens can die in dignity, that a stranger or the state would not and could not interfere, unless you are a pregnant woman. In that case, you have no such right.

I told a colleague here in the Senate yesterday that if, tragically, his 16-year-old daughter were raped, violently beaten and subsequently lapsed into a coma with no hope of recovery, his feelings about what medical intervention to use to keep her alive and for how long would naturally rest with him and with his wife. These would be terribly difficult decisions. But if the physicians were to find that she were pregnant, the decision would no longer be his. The state, at your insistence, would force the decision and require that she be kept alive, allowed to die in dignity only after her function as carrier of this unintended pregnancy was complete. This Senator was not pleased with being confronted by such a scenario. He may even think that somehow he would be above the law if this were ever to happen. He certainly loves his daughter and would want to do what is right and best for her, but he will not be the one to decide. He helped to decide that yesterday by voting away his right and those of his daughter. This or another such tragic situation will happen in Pennsylvania. Women are dying of AIDS. Women are victims of violence and of serious accidents, and the family members, confronted with a series of difficult choices, will hate us for taking away this decision from them. Who are we to be so arrogant as to think we know best for another person? By passing this legislation, we are saying that the state or a group of strange doctors or a judge do not necessarily know best, that we believe the individual and those close to him are the best to decide. How can we then deny those same rights to women? The question is not what the decision will be but, rather, who decides. We would be outraged if the Senate wrote into law a provision that required all pregnant, comatose women, without hope of surviving, must terminate their pregnancies. Why are we not then equally outraged that the Senate has said all women in such situations must have their pregnancies continued without attention to their wishes. Again, the question is not what will the decision be but, rather, who makes it. I believe that it cannot be the 253 Senators and Representatives. It must be the woman and her family.

The current Pennsylvania law allows this decision to be made by the woman and her family. The amendment passed yesterday takes away that right to make that decision. It is unforgivable. Consider your actions. It is more than a good trade to get a piece of legislation passed. It is conceding to a small group of zealots. You have traded off rights which should not be ours to trade. We will not give up. One day my colleagues in the Senate and in the House will join with me in endorsing in every piece of legislation the American rights of privacy, recognition of religious diversity and personal freedom.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I too am anguished over this bill. I feel that women should have equal rights in these decisions and, regrettably, in this Chamber our record on that has not been good. Also, Mr. President, I feel this is one of those issues again where we in the Legislature are called upon to play God, are called upon to be naturally instilled with great, vast medical knowledge, which we, in fact, do not have. The problems talked about concerning a woman in this type of situation are an infinitesimally small number, although we have an absolute obligation to protect those people as well. In this particular instance I have to vote for the bill reluctantly. I think the overriding concerns of many Pennsylvanians on this agonizing issue demands that we do that. I would have hoped that the pro-life zealots would have left this bill alone, but they did not. But facing that reality and hoping someday a change will come upon this Legislature when we begin to recognize women as equal to men on all of these decisions, I hope that will happen someday. Now it is not here but we still have an obligation to the rest of the people who will be affected by this bill and who will not be affected by the amendments we argued yesterday. With great reluctance I will vote for Senate Bill No. 3 with hope for the future.

Senator ANDREZESKI. Mr. President, I rise to support the living will that is here before us today. As we have heard and read, 41 other states already have living will statutes that allow individuals to reject extraordinary medical treatment. Here in Pennsylvania, however, there is no such law, and as a result there now exists a vacuum. That vacuum currently offers Pennsylvanians nothing more than uncertainty when it comes to choosing a death with dignity. Here in Pennsylvania in 1991 there are no assurances that a person wishing not to prolong his or her life through extraordinary means will be honored, and as a result of our failure to enact a living will statute, Mr. President, that vacuum is being filled with speculation and with court decisions such as the one involving Nancy Cruzan. But there is also something else out there filling this vacuum. It is a kit called "How To Prepare Your Own Living Will." For $12.95 you can purchase one of these kits here in Pennsylvania. My assistant purchased this one recently at a local drug store. This kit says, "Do It Yourself And Prepare Your Own Living Will." People can purchase this living will kit at the same counter where they fill their prescriptions. It is sold right alongside other kits such as how to prepare your own last will and testament, how to prepare a general power of attorney and how to form your own partnership. On the cover of this living will kit, Mr. President, it says "Valid In All 50 States." Unfortunately, Mr. President, without a living will statute here in Pennsylvania, that is not the case. Without a living will statute, this so-called legal document is not worth the $12.95 people pay for it. The fact remains that without a living will statute here in Pennsylvania, there is nothing to compel any hospital to honor this piece of paper. Mr. President, it is time to give Pennsylvanians the same assurances that residents of 41 other states now enjoy, that when the time comes to make a life and death decision, the final decision will be made according to their expressed wishes.

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, it has been said that if you appreciate the law and good sausage, do not watch either of them being made. Anyone who has tried to follow the history of living will legislation, I think, would agree that summarizes the road this legislation has taken in Pennsylvania. I hope what we pass today as a result of the process of negotiation that has very effectively worked in this piece of legislation will be accepted by the House of Representatives. As we all know, last year we passed a living will bill, but it got bogged down in the House of Representatives and was finally amended in a form that was not acceptable at that late hour here in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I think last year's experience, though, had a very beneficial effect because the people of Pennsylvania now know about living wills. If any of you have spoken to a senior citizens group lately, as I have, this is a very, very important topic and overwhelmingly they support the need for this kind of legislation. The good effect is that people are aware of it. I want to especially commend the Reading Eagle Times and Pam Rohland for the extensive series they did bringing in all points of view, including the medical point of view which I think was very enlightening in my area. One caution, however. The gentleman from Erie, Senator Andrezeski, was referring to one of these mail kits. I would caution anyone in Pennsylvania that before they invest $12.95, or whatever it is now, they take a look at the language of this bill, because the language of this bill is suggesting a form that is not like the form that purveyor is attempting to solicit as one being acceptable in all 50 states. The Pennsylvania bill is different and the law will suggest a uniform form so that anyone interested can check off the kinds of procedures he or she wants or does not want taken. I think the bill is deserving of our support. I hope the House of Representatives will agree and I hope the Governor will sign this quickly so the senior citizens, especially, in Pennsylvania can know that we have joined the 40-some states that have living will legislation and that ours again is very worthy of support.

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I want to make very clear my feelings about living will legislation which I strongly support. The history of this issue has been recited by others. I may be in a slightly unique position because when this issue came up last Session, I was serving in the House, and a very good bill, I believe, came from the Senate to the House. In the House we became involved in a debate similar to the debate that took place here in the Senate yesterday involving the issue of pregnant women and the effect a living will would have on a pregnant woman. I was actively involved in opposition to those amendments in the House. They passed and they came to the Senate. I believed at that time the Senate did the right thing in not concurring with those amendments.

When I came to the Senate earlier this year, this was one issue I looked forward to being involved with, this time as a Senator. In fact, I am a cosponsor of Senate Bill No. 3. Many people have talked to me about it. A lot of my constituents, certainly my senior citizens in particular, have expressed their strong support for this legislation. I want to very much vote for living will legislation, unfortunately I cannot. I cannot for the reasons that I think were articulated yesterday and which are not necessary to completely go through today. In my opinion, the amendment that became section No. 14 to this legislation prevents me from supporting this bill even as a cosponsor of the original legislation. I have thought about that a lot. I have thought about how I want to be recorded. And it seems to me this is one of those issues, while I understand that the bill is going to pass, there seems no question that there is support for the issue, that on a matter of principle I will not be able to support the legislation. I know we become somewhat cynical here about matters of principle when we are trying to pass laws and make compromises that allow us to pass laws. I guess I believe in this kind of life and death situation, when we are talking about some of the most personal decisions that people make, if there is a time to stand on principle, this is it. But I do want the record to reflect I am strongly in favor of living will legislation. For most Pennsylvanians this legislation will be a very significant step forward. I think, unfortunately for women, it sends the wrong message. It is a message that we should not be sending. While it has been argued this may affect very few young women, I think the message that is contained in the legislation itself is enough to require a "no" vote, at least on my part, on Senate Bill No 3.

Senator RHOADES. Mr. President, first, I would like to congratulate the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, and thank him for the hard work he has put into this bill. I know he has personally worked and directed many of these. I think the piece of legislation we have before us today, in terms of the living will, speaks well of itself and is one of the best pieces to come before our Chamber. It is legislation that would allow a competent adult to set forth their desires regarding the withholding or withdrawal of their life-supporting treatment. In essence, we are allowing meaningful life to continue but we are allowing life to close with dignity for all. So to Senator Peterson and his staff and the staffs who have worked on this, thank you, and I ask for an affirmative vote on this measure.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I also would like to join with the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Rhoades, in commending the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, for bringing this issue before us today. Senator Peterson and his committee have worked hard and long and have been dedicated to passing living will legislation, and I believe that one thing Senator Peterson has tried to do as chairman of that committee is to listen to all the concerns of all Pennsylvanians who are interested in living will legislation and to try to fashion the best possible bill that his committee could bring before this General Assembly. I also, Mr. President, would like to add my support for the legislation.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend JOANNA WHITE, Pastor of St. Stephen's Cathedral, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Dear God, we know that our actions are the only real expression of what we are. Empower us to be our best. Open our eyes to the needs of all Your people. Reveal the broken places in ourselves and others. Open our hearts that we may balance competition with cooperation and victory with gratitude. Open our minds to the knowledge that the proper standards for judging success are not personal or political but how our efforts reflect Your love and mercy, and may the peace of God that passes all understanding keep your hearts and minds forever in His knowledge and love. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks Reverend White who is the guest this day of Senator Bortner.

A RESOLUTION

Commending Philadelphia Electric Company for its environmental conservation efforts relating to reintroducing shad to the Susquehanna River by constructing a fish lift at the Conowingo Dam and by improving water quality in the river and Chesapeake Bay.

WHEREAS, The American shad population in the lower Susquehanna River and Chesapeake Bay had declined substantially in recent decades due to overfishing, water pollution and river dams; and

WHEREAS, The completion of a $12 million fish lift, known as the Conowingo East Fish Lift, at the 63-year-old Conowingo Dam is Philadelphia Electric Company's signature project towards environmental protection in the Susquehanna Valley and marks a substantial investment in the cooperative effort to repopulate the river with American shad, once a prime recreational and commercial species on the East Coast; and

WHEREAS, The Conowingo East Fish Lift compliments an existing smaller lift on the west side of the dam which has operated since 1972; and

WHEREAS, The fish passageway constructed by Philadelphia Electric Company is the largest in the United States, utilizes the best technology currently available to attract and collect fish, and is designed to pass up to 750,000 American shad and 5 million river herring each season; and

WHEREAS, In addition to the fish lift, Philadelphia Electric Company will maintain minimal water flows and aerate river water to further improve water quality and fish habitation in the river and bay; and

WHEREAS, Statistics gathered indicate that the American shad population passing through the fish passageway is twice the number in 1991 that it was in 1990; therefore be it

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I would request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Fumo, Senator Mellow and Senator Williams.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I would request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Jubelirer, Senator Loeper and Senator Tilghman.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lincoln requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Fumo, Senator Mellow and Senator Williams. Senator Fisher requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Jubelirer, Senator Loeper and Senator Tilghman. The Chair hears no objection. The leaves will be granted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, I rise today to offer an amendment that I believe is a commonsense solution to some recent local government problems that relate to land use regulations. More specifically, there have been a number of recent cases, one in northern York County, where local planning commissions and zoning boards have not approved certain plans that have been submitted to the municipality. The way developers, in some cases, have sought to get around that is to strike out on their own and form their own borough or their own municipality, because they were not able to get their own way before that local board. The amendment that I offer, Mr. President, would still allow the creation of these new municipalities, although I certainly think there is some question whether we need more municipalities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but they could still be created if they prove that they were not obviating or circumventing the governing bodies land use regulations. There are other criteria in the current Borough Code which must also be complied with. They are maintained in this amendment, such as the proposed borough's ability to provide reasonable community support services, like police and fire protection; the existing and potential commercial, residential and industrial development of the proposed borough; the financial or tax effect on the proposed borough and other existing government units. This bill simply adds a fourth criteria and this is, "whether the proposed creation of the borough is likely to result in a land use or land use regulations within the proposed borough substantially different than or contrary to the land uses presently allowed under the land use regulations of the township or townships from which the borough is being created." This insures local governing bodies that landowners cannot write their own rules or laws governing land use. That is the main purpose of local government, to decide as a group of citizens what type of use they want their land to be used for, not having just one or two people who do not get their own way with the current requirements adopted by elected or appointed officials in a particular township.

This amendment would put in place a procedure whereby not only would the majority of voters in the new or proposed municipality have to vote in favor of creating the new governing unit, but those in the existing municipality would also have to vote with the majority to approve of the creation of the new municipality. This mirrors the existing requirements for merging municipalities. We require a vote of the new municipality as well as the municipality that is being absorbed. I think this is consistent with the requirements of the Borough Code and puts in place a much more predictable solution than the one now that leaves much of this decision in the hands of a local common pleas judge. I would only emphasize that I hope as we seem to be talking more and more about the need for planning, and particularly regional planning, that Members would see the importance of this amendment. It is impossible to ask a municipality to plan and to have good regional planning and good zoning when it is possible to frustrate their intentions by simply creating your own borough, and, as we all know, what happens in one municipality affects what goes on in the very next municipality. We need to be good neighbors. We need to encourage developers and municipal officials to work together. This amendment will make sure they do that.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I would ask for a negative vote on this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator BORTNER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Afflerbach	Fattah	Mellow	Schwartz
Andrezeski	Fumo	Musto	Stapleton
Belan	Jones	O'Pake	Stewart

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Fattah and Senator Jones.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator RHOADES. Mr. President, I rise to bring to the Members' attention and to the attention of their staffs, and I guess anyone in listening distance, that there is at the present time in the new addition, 8E, 8A and 8B, a demonstration of distance learning which is being placed here in the Capitol for us, our staffs and anyone else who is interested on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. They will finish at 5:00 p.m. so they will only be there for about 10 minutes, but they will be here tomorrow from 12:00 noon until 5:00 p.m. and on Thursday from 12:00 noon until 5:00 p.m. I bring this to your attention. Let me just throw some things out here. Japan will spend $250 billion in this decade to link all of its major governmental agencies, educational institutions and corporations for voice, video and data communications into a single national network. The importance of these technologies for teaching and for knitting the diverse sectors of society together into a coherent and economically competitive fabric cannot be overstated. Let me add to this. I have had one committee meeting of people interested in this and we were talking about emergency management being involved, our local officials being trained over this, our police being trained over this, teachers being trained over this. The ramifications of this kind of technology are limitless. Right now we could look at it just by placing it within our schools and saying that if we wanted to teach Chinese in a school in northwestern Pennsylvania and one in southeastern Pennsylvania, through interactive distance learning we would be able to do that. The, shall we say, opportunities for this are limitless. When we look at the issues of equity and choice, this can make those things available without great expenditure to us. There will be a cost to this, but I think in terms of the end result, what can be done for us is just fabulous. The other thing, if you want to see Orwell's "1984," I guess we can go downstairs and see, let us say, distance learning 2000 and beyond because that is, in essence, what it is. It is definitely futuristic in its application. It is something that is going to be here, and I think it is the time for us to get into it here in Pennsylvania. There is an opportunity to see this firsthand downstairs in 8E, 8A and 8B. It is set up for you to take a look at it.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, just to follow up on the comments made by Senator Rhoades, not only is the distance learning concept futuristic, it is really the present in some school districts around the Commonwealth. I know in at least two of my districts which I had a chance to visit not too long ago, students in those two districts are learning Japanese through a distance learning technique that was being produced, I believe, at the University of Kansas. In those two separate classes in two different districts you had anywhere from four to six students who were learning Japanese on a live feed, and it was really a fantastic way for a small population in the district to be able to learn something and to take another course for which they received credit. Even of more importance, that district was able to put on that course for a relatively small amount of money. Clearly, this concept, which has limitless applications not only for our schools but for every particular walk of life, is something we have to take an awfully close look at, and I commend Senator Rhoades for bringing the distance learning experiment here to the Capitol, and I would encourage everyone to stop down and take a look at it before the week is over.

Senator REIBMAN. Mr. President, I would like to endorse what Senator Rhoades and Senator Fisher have said. I had Senator Rhoades as my guest to come to a demonstration at Lehigh University where we first saw this distance learning. Since then we have learned that the State of Kentucky has this and the State of South Carolina is using this. I have also learned that, since we are trying to train our young people to be competitive in a global economy, Japan is putting in almost a trillion dollars to hook up every classroom, every school, every university, every business and every government agency into this kind of distance learning interactive telecommunication. Can you imagine the competition our kids will have if they do not have the opportunity to be exposed to learning languages, learning physics, learning all kinds of programs which many school districts cannot afford to have on their own. As Senator Fisher said, it is absolutely limitless. The technology is here. It ought to be used. I think it is one of the most exciting things I have ever heard about, and I would urge all of our colleagues to see this demonstration and see how kids can react to this. Can you imagine a youngster in a very poor district up in some area of the Commonwealth who will be able to interact and talk with, perhaps, a Nobel laureate on physics from a university like either MIT or the University of Pennsylvania or any place in the country, how much this can turn on many of our students to the excitement of learning. I think that is our answer to the subsidy questions, for the inequity between poor and rich districts, and as well as for choice, because this certainly can also be used in the nonpublic schools just as well.

MEMBER OF THE PENNSYLVANIA PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION

March 14, 1991.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, Julius B. Uehlein, 233 Winding Way, Camp Hill 17011, Cumberland County, Thirty-first Senatorial District, for appointment as a member of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, to serve until April 1, 1996, or until his successor is appointed and qualified, but not longer than six months beyond that period, vice Frank R. On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination?

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Afflerbach and Senator Scanlon and legislative leave for the remainder of the day for Senator Schwartz.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Mellow requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Afflerbach and Senator Scanlon and a legislative leave for Senator Schwartz. The Chair hears no objection. Those leaves will be granted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination?

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I think we have an opportunity today to confirm an individual to the Public Utility Commission in Pennsylvania who would really reflect a point of view of all the people in Pennsylvania who work for a living.

I had the honor and the privilege of speaking at Mr. Uehlein's retirement as President of the AFL/CIO here in Pennsylvania, along with Lynn Williams, who is the president of the steelworkers' union nationally, and Governor Casey. It is amazing when you look at someone who has spent most of their adult life doing things for people. I know there are people who will say, well, why would we want a labor leader over there? There are individuals who are going to say that this is the fifth Democrat on that commission and there should not be five Democrats.

I think if you look through the history of the PUC you will find at times there has always been a smattering. There have been five Republicans. There have been two Democrats and three Republicans. I really do not think a person's party registration has a great deal to do with the kinds of decisions they are going to end up making over there. In that case, why would a Republican care if a Republican steelworker or AFSCME worker, or whatever that person's registration is, is represented by an individual who has displayed nothing in their lifetime but concern for other human beings? Julius Uehlein has another character trait that is hard to imagine not wanting him in a position of being a member of the PUC. The steelworkers, when they were organized, one of their strongest arguments was that management needed help and they have always had a philosophy that there should be labor and management groups. They have been in the forefront of something in the '80s that became a very strong word in our government and our management of our resources, both through labor and management groups. I think Julius has a record of accomplishment that would be one that we should be pleased he would be willing to take his time and give his effort to go over and deal with some of the problems of a magnitude that are hard to believe. Do not make this decision based strictly on the fact that he comes from the labor movement. I mean, think about why he was in the labor movement. He was there to help people, and they banded together to protect themselves from some unfair management practices and over the years became part of decisions that made business better. I believe today, whenever you vote, you have an opportunity to complete the full complement of members at the PUC, but you also have an opportunity to send over there a true representative of the people of this Commonwealth, someone who is going to make decisions based on what is best for the people they represent. I would hope party affiliation and partisan politics, and all the other things that come out of our having to vote on appointments occasionally, do not become part of this discussion and that we would honor a person who deserves that honor by allowing him to represent working men and women throughout this Commonwealth on the Public Utility Commission. I strongly urge a "yes" vote.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would just simply say that our public position on this side of the aisle has been that we believe there should be at least one Republican on the Public Utility Commission and, therefore, I would ask for a negative vote.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Senator JONES. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The lady will be so recorded.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator ANDREZESKI. Mr. President, today we passed Senate Bill No. 985, which was prime sponsored by Senator Pecora. I was one of the cosponsors of this bill. I would like to state for the record that this bill provides an authorization for cost-of-living increases for retired employees who worked in third class cities. The point I would like to make, Mr. President, is this bill was brought about by citizens who came to their elected officials and spoke about a problem they had and what they felt was a real inequity in the pension system for public employees of third class cities in Pennsylvania. This is the second Session that we have dealt with this bill. It has passed the Senate and I am hoping for quick action in the House. For the record, I would like to state that we would not be at this point if retirees of the city pension system of the City of Erie, and especially Mr. Frank DeLuca, had not been persistent citizens with all people involved. These retirees drove to Harrisburg on numerous occasions. They met with myself, Senator Pecora and Representative DeLuca to accomplish this. I would like to, in the Senate record, congratulate them for being good citizens, informed citizens and citizens who were willing to work and be persistent with us in our legislative endeavors. On that, when you work in government, government should respond. When you go to your elected officials, elected officials should respond, and Senate Bill No. 985, which was passed today, is in response to our constituents' needs.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend RALPH S. GEIMAN, Pastor of Grace United Church of Christ, Greencastle, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Lord, our God, we are most thankful that our state and nation are governed by those who have been duly elected by the people. To remember that at this time is especially fitting as they struggle with the issues at hand. As they individually and collectively seek to discharge their responsibilities, guide and direct them, O God, in the decisions they will make this day. Open to them the inspiration of Your will and help them to humbly seek to do what is right. Grant all of our Senators the insight to see clearly and to work diligently, and without passion or personal ambition do everything with a sense of calm conviction. We pray in the name of Jesus, the Christ. Amen.

GUESTS OF SENATOR TERRY L. PUNT PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator PUNT. Mr. President, it is indeed a privilege to have with us today, and for the next several days, our Chaplain. Reverend Ralph S. Geiman is not only a constituent of mine but one who twists my arm on many occasions on how to vote, and I want this for the public record. I can legitimately say this because he is my father-in-law. Reverend Geiman, it is indeed a pleasure to have you with us today.

At a dinner several years ago Reverend Geiman gave the invocation, and he was encouraging them to make the right decisions. After he concluded his invocation, the master of ceremonies stood up and said, "Well, Reverend, that is the way it should be. You should save the souls and the Legislature will save the Commonwealth." Ralph, it is indeed a pleasure to have you with us. I would also like to introduce to the Senate his wife and my mother-in-law who is in the gallery, Ruby Geiman. Ruby, will you stand. I would like to ask the Senate to please extend its most kind, warm reception to our guests.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. We are always pleased to have family members here and the Senate certainly welcomes you.

(Applause.)

FAMILY AND GUEST OF SENATOR
J. BARRY STOUT PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator STOUT. Mr. President, I am very proud today to have three special guests who have come to Harrisburg to witness this budget finality. In the gallery is my wife Lenore and on the floor serving as a page this week is Bethany, the youngest of our five daughters, and her friend Kara Bizick. Kara and Bethany are both juniors at the Bentworth School in my home district in Washington County.

A number of years ago, back in the '70s, when I first got elected to the Senate after coming over from the House, Bethany was in kindergarten and they were having "Show and Tell." As the other students were explaining what their fathers did for a living, they said, "Bethany, what does your father do?"

She said, "Well, he is a Senator."

They said, "Will you tell the class what a Senator does?"

She said, "Well, I guess he types."

So she is down here this week to see what a Senator does here in Harrisburg. I would like the Senate to extend its usual warm welcome to my wife Lenore, daughter Bethany and a special friend, Kara Bizick.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Would those very special guests of Senator Stout who are in the gallery please stand and we welcome you too. We are always glad to have family members visit here in the Senate.

(Applause.)

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I ask for a recess of the Senate for the purpose of a Republican caucus, with intentions to return to the floor at 3:30 p.m.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I would request an immediate caucus for the Democratic Members upon recess.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. For purposes of Democratic and Republican caucuses to begin immediately in their respective caucus rooms, the Senate will stand in recess.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations:

MEMBER OF THE STATE BOARD OF OPTOMETRY

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, Francis R. Grady, 815 Mandy Lane, Camp Hill 17011, Cumberland County, Thirty-first Senatorial District, for reappointment as a member of the State Board of Optometry, to serve for a term of four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified, but not longer than six months beyond that period.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, a short time ago the Senate unanimously passed a concurrent resolution honoring the City of York on the occasion of its 250th anniversary.

In 1741 a petition from settlers was received by the Pennsylvania proprietaries and governors requesting that a town be laid out at the crossing of the Monocacy Road and the Codorous Creek which was then designated as Springettsbury Manor, the name Springettsbury having some significance in that it was the son of William Penn. The town eventually became known as York, named after Yorkshire, England, and adopted the white rose, the symbol of the House of York, as its symbol, and a plan was laid out for streets and squares. If you ever visit York, this relationship to English history will be obvious when you notice streets such as King, Queen, George and Princess.

The City of York, I am very proud to say, distinguished itself during the Revolutionary War when it served as the seat of government of the Continental Congress from June 30, 1777, to June 28, 1778. It was during that time that the Articles of Confederation were adopted, the forerunner to our Constitution, and as a result, York lays claim and is considered as the first capital of the United States.

During the succeeding 250 years, York has produced a number of citizens who have contributed a great deal to the history of our great country. Colonel James Smith was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. William Goodridge was a noted black businessman and a key figure in the Underground Railroad movement and his home is recognized as a historic landmark in York. General Jacob C. Devers, whose name is now on an elementary school in the City of York, was the Commander of Allied Forces in Europe during World War II.

Mr. President, I am very proud to stand here today, sponsoring the resolution honoring the City of York on its 250th anniversary. This celebration will take place over the next year and will end New Year's Eve with the celebration in downtown York, as it was kicked off this past New Year's Eve. I would invite all Senators as well as their constituents to visit York and take part in this celebration, and I thank them for the support in this resolution on behalf of myself and on behalf of the residents of the City of York.

No. 41

SENATE

TUESDAY, June 25, 1991.

The Senate met at 1:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Mark S. Singel) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend RALPH S. GEIMAN, Pastor of Grace United Church of Christ, Greencastle, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

It is another day of work, O Father, one which offers to us the opportunity to work and in the process to learn something both new and beneficial. Much labor has been expended in preparation for discussion and debate this day. In this way, perhaps, if we allow, cooperation and understanding will result. All of us, most of the time, know what is the correct thing for us to do. The problem is, however, will we do it. As followers of You and Your Son make us want to do exactly that. In the name of Jesus, Your Son and Our Lord, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding Session of June 24, 1991.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding Session, when, on motion of Senator LOEPER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

They are Leanore Goodenow and Reba Mohan and her daughter Tara who are from Montgomery County. Mrs. Goodenow has recently moved here from Colorado where she was very much involved in the legislative process there. I hope we could give them a warm welcome.

The PRESIDENT. Would the guests of Senator Greenleaf please rise so we could welcome you to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

(Applause.)

SCHWARTZ PRESENTED TO SENATE

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I have two guests in the gallery today. I have the daughter of my legislative aide, Tom Gluck, who is here. Lauren Wagner, I believe, is in the gallery and I would ask her to stand. She has been spending the day helping out in the office and she lives in Carlisle and is eight years old. She was very good at what she did, so she is ready to move right along. If Lauren is in the gallery, I would ask her to stand. I would also introduce Josh Freely, who is a student at Central High School in Philadelphia and is spending a week with me on a special program called Free Enterprise Fellowship, and he has been working all week in the Philadelphia office and spending just today here in Harrisburg. I would ask you to welcome both Josh and Lauren, if they would stand.

GUESTS OF SENATOR MICHAEL A. O'PAKE

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, earlier today, as you well know, we had guests in the gallery, specifically the Boyertown Area High School Bears Baseball Team, this year's state champion. They beat North Allegheny High School a week ago last Friday at Shippensburg for the second state championship in the last ten years. They were here with their coaches, the principal of the high school and the athletic director. Unfortunately, they could not wait for the delayed two o'clock Session because they have an American Legion baseball game this afternoon. It is part of the rich baseball tradition in the Boyertown area that we are very proud of, and I would ask the Members of the Senate to recognize in absentia the Boyertown Area High School Baseball Team, the PIAA-AAA State Champions once again.

The PRESIDENT. Would the Senate give its appropriate applause to the State Champion Boyertown Bears.

(Applause.)

RECONSIDERATION OF HB 244 THE OBJECTIONS OF THE GOVERNOR TO THE CONTRARY NOTWITHSTANDING

MOTION TO PASS HB 244 OVER GOVERNOR'S VETO, DEFEATED

HB 244 (Pr. No. 1438) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177, No. 175), known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," requiring notice and public hearings prior to the closure, sale, lease or transfer of any State-owned institution.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate proceed to reconsider House Bill No. 244, Printer's No. 1438, and agree to pass the same, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Clerk read the Governor's veto message as follows:

May 3, 1991

TO THE HONORABLE THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill 244, Printer's No. 1438, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177, No. 175), entitled 'An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined,' requiring notice and public hearings prior to the closure, sale, lease or transfer of any State-owned institution."

This bill does not permit any department of the Commonwealth to close, sell, lease or otherwise transfer the ownership or operational control of any State-owned institution or to materially reduce the work force or services at a State-owned institution unless the department holds a public hearing in the affected area and secures approval from the General Assembly. By its own definition, this bill would apply, without limitation, to schools, colleges, universities, armories, hospitals, mental hospitals, mental retardation centers, and correctional facilities. Its provisions would not only be triggered by closures or other transfers of ownership and control, but also by any reduction in staff equal to 25% of the then existing staff complement.

The following procedure is required by the bill for approval by the General Assembly. The departmental proposal is submitted to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. They each refer the proposal to a standing committee of the respective chamber over which each presides. Each such committee is then required to hold a public hearing and issue a report to their respective chamber. The committee report and the accompanying proposal are then placed before both the House of Representatives and the Senate on their respective calendars. If the General Assembly would disapprove the departmental proposal within five (5) legislative days after receiving the committee report, the proposed action of the department is stopped.

This bill is unconstitutional because it violates the principle of separation of powers by providing for a legislative veto of administrative actions which executive agencies are authorized by existing law to perform. The principle of separation of powers requires that once the legislature enacts a law, it can neither retain participation in the administrative process nor control the details of seeing that the law is fully and faithfully executed. The paramount significance of this principle has been recognized under the Federal Constitution by the United States Supreme Court in the leading cases of Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Chadha, 462 U.S. 919, 103 S.Ct. 2764, 77 L.Ed.2d 317 (1983) and Bowsher v. Synar, 478 U.S. 714, 106 S.Ct. 3181, 92 L.Ed.2d 583 (1986). The Supreme Court of this Commonwealth accorded the principle the same paramount constitutional status under our Constitution in the case of Commonwealth v. Sessoms, 516 Pa. 365, 532 A.2d 775 (1987) wherein it adopted the Chadha and Bowsher reasoning. This bill gives the legislature active participation in the administrative process of managing State-owned institutions in a manner which violates the very essence of the fundamental principle of separation of powers — i.e., the constitutional necessity to avoid absolute governance by one branch of government, in this case, the legislature.

It is absolutely clear from the federal and state court decisions that the legislative branch of government can constitutionally affect the administration and execution of duly enacted laws only through the passage of new and subsequent legislation which either establishes new governmental policy or clarifies existing governmental policy. This bill does not meet this test.

Under the system of government ordained in our Constitution, bicameral consideration of legislation and its presentation to the Governor for review and approval are inherent and integral to the principle of separation of powers. Article III, Sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the Constitution require a full and complete consideration of bills by each chamber of the legislature. The legislative process required by these sections insures a deliberative process focused on promoting rational and sound public policy. Article IV, Section 15 as well as Article III, Section 9 of the Constitution require that all legislation be presented to the Governor for approval. This requirement of presentment to the executive branch of government is a safeguard which protects against the enactment of improvident laws. Together, the bicameral process and the involvement of the executive branch of government in the enactment of laws require a constitutional procedure which must be exhaustive and which cannot be short circuited.

Moreover, upholding the principle of separation of powers is more than a mere academic exercise. It goes to the very heart of the ability of the executive branch of government to efficiently and effectively carry out the laws of the Commonwealth.

The ability of the Governor to manage executive agencies without interference is especially important when economic conditions require decisive action to reduce costs and control spending. This bill severely limits the Governor's ability to deal responsibly on an ongoing basis with the operations of various State institutions. To this extent, the bill not only violates the specific constitutional requirements for legislative action, it also establishes an unacceptable public policy that would undermine the constitutional principles those requirements were designed to protect.

Therefore, for the reasons set forth herein, I hereby disapprove this bill and return it to the General Assembly without my signature.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Loeper moves that the Senate proceed to reconsider House Bill No. 244, Printer's No. 1438, and agree to pass the same, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding. The vote required for this motion is two-thirds of the Senators or 34 votes.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would request a temporary Capitol leave on behalf of Senator Madigan who has been called to his office.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Loeper requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Madigan. The Chair hears no objection. That leave will be granted as well.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I request a temporary Capitol leave for Senator O'Pake who is attending a hearing of the Committee on Banking and Insurance.

The PRESIDENT. Without objection, we will add Senator O'Pake to those on temporary Capitol leave.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I think it is important to put into perspective the move we have just made to override the Governor's veto of House Bill No. 244, a bill that deals with the closing of state hospitals across this Commonwealth. I think it is important that we note that the move to override the veto of a Governor is not a step any of us take very lightly. It is a very serious consideration, and I think, Mr. President, it is important to note that on the issue that is before us, the fate of state institutions and facilities, an override of the Governor's veto is very much in order. I think, Mr. President, if we were to take a look at the Governor's veto, we would see that he has really framed this issue as a battle of power between the Executive Branch of government and the Legislative Branch of government. It is about community interest, really, and it is not about power between the Branches.

I think, as this issue has been debated on this floor and on the House floor before, we have heard too much about the Governor's power to balance the budget and too little from the administration about any sense of concern for the future of those facilities, those employees who have been affected by the closing or, in particular, Mr. President, the effect that those closings are having upon the local communities, communities that host important institutions that the facilities are an intricate part of, and the public service and economic structure certainly is something that state policy is something more than here today and gone tomorrow. Mr. President, I think it is important, if the state is seeking to end a long running investment and commitment, it ought to be able to defend and justify that decision. Certainly the Governor has used and appreciated, as many of us have in the past, the ability to go to bat for federal facilities, and, in particular, many of us from the southeast have risen to the cause to try and preserve the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. It seems why, then, should the same opportunity not be available for these state facilities that are facing imminent closings. I think we as a Senate owe the communities and people who have supported these institutions for many years something more than an abrupt termination notice, which is exactly what they received earlier this year because of state budget considerations. We, at least, owe them the opportunity to look for alternatives to see whether other alternatives may be available rather than closing and the impact it will have upon those communities, and I think, Mr. President, at the very least, we owe them the transition time to undertake an orderly conversion of those facilities. The purpose of this legislation is not to absolutely block changes in state holdings. Instead, I think it is important to note that we are not issuing guarantees that state facilities, once created, exist forever. I think it is obvious we see that needs change over periods of time and, therefore, that facilities may not necessarily be in the best interests of a location for a long period of time. However, I think what we are trying to do in House Bill No. 224 is provide protection against abrupt terminations that ignore community considerations, and, obviously, decisions that are made in desperation of a fiscal freefall do not well reflect the long-term interest of those communities that are affected. Today the controversy is in Coaldale, Ashland, Shamokin and Scotland, but yet tomorrow it could unexpectedly be in any of the other locations where the state has maintained a presence in the past, unless a better or more reasonable procedure is finally adopted. Even if this measure becomes law, missions will still change. Facilities will still outlive their usefulness. Policy shifts will render others obsolete, but the changes will come without the disruption that follows when the only goal is to close a facility quickly in order to balance the state budget and save some money. I think, finally, it is important to note that the Governor's ability to balance a budget does not rise or fall with the fate of this legislation. The dollars that are involved are not of the dimension to tie the hands of a chief executive, no matter how tough the budget problems we face may be. It will, however, make a lasting difference for community prospects, and the long-term success of service privatization. Mr. President, a vote to override is a vote for fairness for the people in the communities that are specifically affected by this legislation. Mr. President, I would ask for an affirmative vote on the override motion.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I need a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Dawida, who is going to a meeting of the Committee on Banking and Insurance, and I need Senator Williams back on temporary Capitol leave.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lincoln requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Dawida and Senator Williams. The Chair hears no objection. The leaves will be granted.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Fumo. He is hereby removed from temporary Capitol leave.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, this is an issue that we have discussed at some length when the bill was before us. There has been a great deal of discussion surrounding the crux of the issue causing the veto override. I think it is very apparent that we have a Governor who has attempted to deal with some of the very serious fiscal problems that have arisen in the past six months. I think it is very important that as the chief administrator of Pennsylvania state government, that the latitude of making the decisions that are very difficult at times, such as closing a hospital, stay with the Governor. I think it is also very important to note that in this vote we are talking about overriding a veto. It is not just the state hospitals that we are talking about being affected by this action. If the Governor were to close a state highway shed, it would take legislative action at that point in time, according to this bill, before he could do it. I do not know about you, but sometimes I think I am fortunate that I do not have to be involved in those decisions. I think that anyone who is prepared to take on the responsibility of dealing with every small issue of state government in allowing the Legislature to intervene itself in those particular decisions, I think, with the circumstances we have witnessed over the 20 years that I have been here, the General Assembly may be the last place we would want to put those kinds of decisions in their hands. I also think it is extremely important to note that we ought to be talking about what this is going to cost. I think we ought to be talking about the price that we are going to pay by saying to the Governor, you cannot make certain decisions in trying to pare down government. If you are in favor of big government, if you are in favor of keeping things going that do not actually have any merit, then I think that is what this vote means when you vote to override the Governor. If you want good, sound government, if you want an administrator who has the ability to make decisions, whether they be easy or hard, then I think you should vote to sustain the Governor's veto, and I would ask that that is what would happen by all 47 Members who are voting here today.

Senator HELFRICK. Mr. President, I rise in support of this legislation. I have never been one who believes that I should win a battle and lose a war. I feel it is more important to avoid the war in the first place. I am smart enough to know that in given time these institutions will be transferred to local communities, and I am all for that. I think it is the thing to do. I think it is time for this state to get out of the hospital business. All this legislation does is give us time.

Mr. President, right now time translates into compassion for those employees. I think if this legislation is passed, given a year or so, I am sure the state will be out of the hospital business. Our communities will take these hospitals over and I think the employees will be happy, and I think the Governor, in his heart, will find out he did the right thing by going along with this.

Senator PUNT. Mr. President, I shall keep my remarks as I am in height.

One, I believe we have every right to have some input in a decision to close any institution and particularly one that would have a significant impact upon a local economy. We have continuously funded those institutions, and I think we, the Legislature, should have some say regarding such action. The legislation does not prohibit any closure. All it simply says is the standing committee shall have, I think it is five days, X days, to review that decision. If the committee takes action then they can stop it. Otherwise, that institution can continue to be closed by authorization of the Chief Executive.

Secondly, we have heard the Governor say and others say that we have no business, that this is unconstitutional jurisdiction for the Legislature. I would like to remind everyone that when the Philadelphia Naval Yard was called upon to be closed, Governor Casey was the first one to call upon Pennsylvania's congressional delegation to hold hearings to prevent the closure of the Philadelphia Naval Yard, but when the Legislature asked to have some input and consideration with the closure of state institutions, the Governor says it is unconstitutional and we cannot do this. I disagree with that. I would ask for an affirmative vote.

Senator RHOADES. Mr. President, I guess I will put it this way. I will take as much time as I think necessary for one simple reason. The first time I spoke at this microphone 11 years ago was on the closing of Locust Mountain State Hospital. I was sworn into office on Tuesday, and the administration was closing Locust Mountain State Hospital on Saturday. It just happened to be that that was Governor Thornburgh, the Governor from my own side. I felt like this. Between the yelling and the screaming and the grief we gave him, he, or his administration, began to change their attitude and procedure and then agreed to a divestiture, an orderly transition from the state to the private sector. We had that in place. As a matter of fact, we had Ashland ready to divest in 1986. But then the Governor was running for office, and he told the people in Schuylkill and Carbon Counties that he opposed the Thornburgh Administration's plan to divest the state general hospitals because it was not fair, it was not correct, and if he were elected he would maintain those hospitals in the state system. While I opposed the Thornburgh closure plan, I did agree with his divestiture plan, because I think in that case Ashland and Coaldale Hospitals would have been properly removed from state oversight in such a way as to maintain their essential services for their communities and preserve the jobs of those working in the hospitals.

What Governor Casey has done is the worst of all scenarios. He completely dropped the divestiture plan, thereby eliminating any hope for an orderly transition to new ownership. He promised the state hospitals would remain state controlled. But in that process, and I guess this is where I had to try to decipher this, in April of 1987 the Secretary of the Department of Public Welfare, in a press conference at Ashland, said we would divest Ashland. It is now June of 1991 and Ashland is on the chopping blocks, as is Coaldale, as is Shamokin. Therefore, we all—and I would add to that too because we were interested in what was going to happen to Coaldale—received a letter from the Governor, or from the Governor's Office, saying that Coaldale would not be divested during the Governor's first term. He was not even officially sworn into office for the second term and already he had made a decision to close Coaldale Hospital. We have been lulled into a false sense of security. Although we had attempts to fund some capital projects, as soon as this decision was made it was all cut. No hirings. No equipment. No programs. Suddenly, without warning, the Governor announced he was unilaterally closing the hospitals completely, thus making it more difficult to find a buyer and threaten our very existence because we have had a number of employees who have transferred out to other areas, either within the state or within the private sector. The end result is that the services are not there and the very lifeblood is being threatened.

The Governor's rhetoric was hot and heavy during the campaign, but as soon as he ran out of campaign time and needed to keep his budget in balance, he quickly forgot his promises regarding the state hospitals.

When the Legislature expressed the will of the people they represent by approving House Bill No. 244, which requires legislative approval before the Governor can close or sharply reduce services at any state-owned hospitals, schools or other institutions, the Governor vetoed this legislation claiming that it interfered with his constitutional right to manage the departments of this Commonwealth. However, the state hospitals are a creation of the General Assembly, not the Governor.

nor's Office, and if they are to be closed, the General Assembly has every right to have a say in the matter. While the Governor does indeed have responsibility for administering the various departments of state government, I believe the Governor is stretching the point when he includes under his definition of administering the power to close an institution. All this rhetoric about separation of powers wrapped around the veto seems nothing more than an executive reluctance to have to defend the bad decisions. Apparently the Governor does not believe the communities and individuals should have the power to fight for state institutions, but yet I notice, as previous speakers have said, he does not hesitate to do exactly the same thing when it comes to the federal government's decision to close the Philadelphia Naval Yard or Indiantown Gap. Since we in the Legislature have a voice in how the funds were allocated to these institutions, we and our constituents have a voice when actions are taken against them. This measure calls for responsible action and consultation with communities like Ashland and Coaldale before vital state institutions are closed. I ask for an "aye" vote to override the Governor's veto.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I rise to support the Governor's veto. It is never easy to cut back spending, and I am very happy that I heard all the remarks of the previous speakers because when it comes time to vote for tax increases here, I hope they are the first ones to step up and say "yes." I have heard about time and compassion needed for workers. I have heard about the local economies of various areas that would be affected. Mr. President, there is a very simple doctrine. If you want to play you have to pay. We are currently looking at the possibility of new taxes in the range of $3 billion or more, and what do we do in reaction to that? We say, A, I am not voting for any new taxes. I am going to be a hero when I go home, and, B, I am also not voting to cut any money out of the budget. I am going to be a hero when I go home. The simple fact still remains in arithmetic that one and one equals two. Mr. President, I challenge those individuals today who spoke in favor of an override that they better damn well be here when we vote taxes and they better damn well vote "yes" or I will label them the biggest hypocrites to ever come into this Chamber. You cannot sit here and say I am not going to cut and I am not going to raise taxes. You took an oath to uphold the Constitutions, and one of the premises of this government in this state is a balanced budget. If you want to spend money, you have to raise money to bring it in so we can spend it. It is very simple. I am enthusiastically looking forward to the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Punt, the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Rhoades, the gentleman from Northumberland, Senator Helfrick, and others, to be the first in line on that side of the aisle when we have to put up tax votes because I will be here and I will put up my tax vote in addition to voting to sustain the Governor's veto, because I think the last thing we want to do is get into every petty decision that has to be made because of the very simple fact that we in this Chamber lack the courage to do what has to be done. Our very actions speak louder than our words. You need money to come in if you are going to spend it out the back, and if we do not have the courage to do that, how in the name of God will we ever have the courage to make the kinds of decisions that this legislation calls for. This is the year, ladies and gentlemen, that the hypocrisy will stop. We will balance this budget with a lot of pain. These closings that were talked about that this bill addresses are going to be the very least of those pains. Together I do not think they make up $20 million, and we are talking about $3 billion. So if you have the courage to pay for these programs, just stand up here and make a pledge and I will vote to override, but stop the hypocritical rhetoric. Mr. President, I urge a vote to sustain the veto.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, it really bothers me a little bit when I hear a debate and I listen to people who are talking about making a decision on something as serious as what this bill would force, not only this Governor but every governor who comes after him or her to do. I think maybe they have not read the bill, which even worries me more because it is very short and it is very easy to read, and I am going to take a minute and read to you what voting to override the veto is, in effect, doing. It is Section 508.1 of the Administrative Code. "Notice and Public Hearing Requirements for State-Owned Institutions.—(a) At least thirty (30) days prior to any department making a decision to close, sell, lease or otherwise transfer the ownership or operational control of any State-owned institution or to allow the material reduction of complement, services or staff at any State-owned institution, the department controlling the institution shall hold a public hearing in the affected area."

The gentleman from Franklin, Senator Punt, mentioned five days, that it was only going to take five days. Well, there are 30 already. You have to give a 30 day notice and you have to have a hearing. Then you have to come back with a report which would be some time.

"(b) As used in this section and section 508.2, 'State-owned institution' shall mean any facility which is owned by the Commonwealth and currently in service, including, but not limited to, schools, colleges, universities, armories, hospitals, mental hospitals, mental retardation centers, correctional facilities and other facilities of a similar nature. A State general hospital is in service if it is currently providing hospital services on April 22, 1991, on an inpatient or outpatient basis."

Listen to the next section about what we are saying to the Governor of this Commonwealth that you cannot do.

"Maintenance of Services at State-Owned Institutions.—A department may not close, sell, lease or otherwise transfer the ownership or operational control of any State-owned institution, nor may a department materially reduce services at State-owned institutions, or materially reduce staff levels without presenting a departmental proposal to the General Assembly. Material reductions shall mean an annual reduction in the staff complement of an institution of twenty-five per centum (25%); and a material staff reduction shall mean a twenty-five per centum (25%) annual reduction of the staff complement within an institution. A departmental proposal shall be submitted to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives who shall refer such proposal to the appropriate standing committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives, respectively. Each committee shall hold a public hearing on the departmental proposal within thirty (30) calendar days"—there is another 30-day period of time—"of referral and report back to the Senate and the House of Representatives, respectively, not later than the first session day more than sixty (60) days following the referral...If the General Assembly disapproves of the departmental proposal within five (5) legislative days"—which, God knows, could be five months—"after receipt of the committee reports, then such proposed action shall not take effect. No such departmental proposal shall be transmitted to the General Assembly less than five (5) legislative days immediately prior to or during any period of recess or adjournment of either house for a period of one (1) week or more."

One of the things that is really interesting that I read in the paper about the Republican Party—and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, I think, is one of the people who I have been reading about in the paper—is about privatization of the liquor stores. According to this, if you vote to override the Governor's veto, there is no way you can ever do anything with privatization of the liquor stores, ever, ever, ever, because they are state-owned, and it says, "not limited to," so it is anything the state owns. I mean this is a very serious step you are taking. I think you are taking a big pair of handcuffs and putting them on a governor, no matter who it is or who it may be in the future, and I think this is a very, very serious and irresponsible manner in which to proceed.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I rise in support of the override.

I think House Bill No. 244 is a very, very logical way to proceed in the closing of state institutions. I disagree with my colleague, the Minority Whip, the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, that if we got to the point of closing the state stores that, in fact, this bill would apply. Notwithstanding that, I hope we get to that point and then we can argue whether House Bill No. 244 does apply to the closing of the state store system. Beyond that, Woodville State Hospital is located in my Senatorial district, and this year in the budget presentation the Governor proposed the closing or the consolidation of Woodville State Hospital with a neighboring state hospital, Mayview. I do not know what the final result of that proposed consolidation is. I do not know whether it is going to go through. I do not know whether the budget is going to permit it to go through. Only time will tell. We tried to utilize a process in trying to hear out the facts, a process to try to determine who was right and who was wrong with the closing of Woodville. We used that in a fashion that is very similar to the procedures that are contemplated in House Bill No. 244. I do not see anything wrong with that kind of process. What we did was got all of the Senators and Legislators together from the affected area and we held a public hearing and we came to certain conclusions and we conveyed those opinions and conclusions to the Department of Public Welfare and to the Governor's Office. As I said, I do not know what the final result will be, but I see nothing absolutely wrong with the procedure that is outlined in House Bill No. 244. We are a coequal branch of government, no matter what institution it is, whether it is Woodville or any other state mental hospital or state general hospital. We, as a coequal branch of government, I believe, should have full and thorough input in the decision-making, as to whether or not the patients are going to be moved—in my instance, they, perhaps, would only be moved distances as short as five miles—whether or not the employees are going to be transferred all over western Pennsylvania or across the state. We deserve that input. That is all House Bill No. 244 would do, give us a formal review process. It would give us that input, and for that reason I would urge my colleagues to join with me in the override of House Bill No. 244.

Senator RHOADES. Mr. President, I would just like to remind my good friend, the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, that in 1981 he and I voted together—I think it was Senator Hopper's bill, which is basically very similar to this bill—to do primarily the same thing, to give us time. I also would say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, all I am asking for is the same kind of consideration that St. Mary's, now Neumann Center, got in Philadelphia for Ashland and Coaldale. This would give us the time and the opportunity to do that.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I have a great deal of respect for the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Rhoades, and the only thing I want to say to him is since 1981 until now we did transfer my hospital. It was taken over by a private hospital. It is one of the most successful hospitals in my Senatorial district and ten years is a long time from 1981, and anyone who has not made a serious effort to get those hospitals transferred for the community betterment, I do not know how much longer we can go on. This has been an issue we have all had to deal with since 1973 when I came into the General Assembly. We did do it, and it has been successful and I think could have been done everywhere else.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would ask at this time for a very brief recess of the Senate for the purpose of a meeting of the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations to take place immediately in the Rules room at the rear of the Senate Chamber.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, permit himself to be interrogated?

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend RALPH S. GEIMAN, Pastor of Grace United Church of Christ, Greencastle, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

One more day of debate and discussion faces our elected representatives, O Lord. Teach them and all of us the wisdom of patience and understanding, for sometimes it is much harder to wait than to proceed. For as the Holy Scriptures remind us, when we wait upon the Lord, we will not be ashamed, but shall find our strength renewed. A pause to listen to You and to really hear Your word can make a difference. For what is rooted and grounded in You has real value and worth. Guide and direct Your servants this day and always. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

June 26, 1991

URGING THE USE OF RESPECTFUL "PERSON FIRST" LANGUAGE IN REFERRING TO PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES IN THE VERNACULAR OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Senators AFFLERBACH, MUSTO, BELAN, HOPPER, WILLIAMS, RHOADES, BORTNER, MELLOW, LaVALLE, REIBMAN, SALVATORE, LYNCH, BODACK, STAPLETON, GREENWOOD, SCANLON,

HART, DAWIDA, JONES and ANDREZESKI offered the following resolution (Senate Resolution No. 81), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations:

In the Senate, June 26, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Urging the use of respectful "person first" language in referring to people with disabilities in the vernacular of the Commonwealth.

WHEREAS, Many laws, regulations and documents written in the Commonwealth refer to people with disabilities by personifying their disabilities, as "the blind," "the disabled," "the handicapped," "the mentally retarded," "the deaf" and so on, or by using their disabilities as adjectives, as "epileptic child," "blind person," "disabled person" and "handicapped person," and so on; and

WHEREAS, A goal of the disability rights' movement is to dissolve the barriers of psychological exclusivity which many archaic terms promote; and

WHEREAS, Terms such as "disabled person," "the disabled," "mentally retarded person," "the mentally retarded" and "epileptic child" subtly encourage another to recognize the person in terms of the disability alone, while "person first" terms such as "people with a disability," "person with mental retardation" and "child with epilepsy" encourage recognition that the disability is only one of the person's characteristics; and

WHEREAS, The policy of the Commonwealth towards people with disabilities is to recognize them as "persons first" and as having a disability second; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate adopt the procedure of using "person first" language in all statutes and other official documents in which such a reference is appropriate; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the specific goals of this procedure be to avoid language which personifies disabilities and to avoid using disabilities and physical conditions as adjectives, but to use, instead, language which identifies an incapacity only if necessary and then to describe the incapacity in a modifying phrase which follows the word "person"; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Senate urge the Governor to institute this policy within the executive branch of government, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to likewise institute this policy within the judicial branch; and be it further RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Governor Robert P. Casey, to Chief Justice Robert N. C. Nix, Jr., and to John W. Hartman, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

COUNCIL

PROGRESS IN PREPAREDNESS REPORT

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
Lieutenant Governor's Office
Harrisburg, Pa. 17120-0002

June 25, 1991

Mr. Mark R. Corrigan
Secretary
Senate of Pennsylvania
462 - Main Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120

Dear Mr. Corrigan:

As required by Title 35 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, I am hereby submitting the 1990 annual report of the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Council. The report entitled Progress in Preparedness celebrates forty years in emergency management.

1990 will be recognized as an historic year in the history of this program. Major legislative initiatives were successfully completed, a new emergency operations center was dedicated, a new satellite-based warning and telecommunications network was finished, and the final phase of the State Fire Academy is in process.

The legislative initiatives included passage of the Hazardous Material Emergency Planning and Response Act, the "911" Emergency Telephone Act, and the Volunteer Loan Assistance Program improvements.

All of these accomplishments would have been impossible without the support of the members of the General Assembly. I appreciate that support and ask for your continued assistance in helping a valuable agency like PEMA through these difficult economic times.

With best wishes,

MARK S. SINGEL

Lieutenant Governor and Chairman
Council

The PRESIDENT. This report will be filed in the Library.

SB 516 (Pr. No. 1381) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 18 (Crimes and Offenses) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, further providing for probable cause arrests in domestic violence cases.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I rise to oppose Senate Bill No. 516. We have before us a bill which may sound good and look good, but what it really is is an attempt to grandstand on the issue of domestic violence without creating any positive changes for victims of domestic violence crimes.

In fact, the Pennsylvania Coalition Against Domestic Violence, which this Commonwealth funds to provide services to victims of domestic violence across the state, is opposed to this legislation and has asked me to speak in opposition to this legislation. The Pennsylvania Coalition Against Domestic Violence has 58 centers serving all 67 counties across this Commonwealth. Domestic violence is a problem which affects people in every county in this Commonwealth, of every race and every income level. In fiscal year 1989-90 centers served 74,699 clients, including 61,727 victims of domestic violence. This included 8,587 children and 4,385 significant others. These domestic violence groups provided over 450,000 hours of counseling services and over 170,000 days of shelter.

There are two provisions in this bill that are of great concern. The first would create an exemption from liability for police officers for personal injury or property damage incurred in a good faith effort to protect a victim of domestic violence. The fact is that the police are already exempt from liability in performance of their duties. We are not aware of any cases where police have been found liable. The danger, by passing this provision, is that police may use undue force in breaking up domestic violence which may be physically harmful to the victim.

I want to be clear about this. I support the intervention of police officers in domestic violence situations. So do victims and so do those who serve victims. However, in the name of protecting victims of domestic violence, we should not give blanket immunity to police officers for destruction of property or personal injury.

The second part of the bill which I feel is very harmful to victims of domestic violence would encourage Advanced Rehabilitation Disposition (ARD) for first time batterers. There are several reasons for concern with this provision. First, there is consensus among both batterer treatment programs and battered women's programs that treatment for batterers should occur post conviction. It is critical that batterers enter treatment with adjudication rather than deferral of prosecution. The additional motivation to attend treatment is often crucial.

Domestic violence assaults are difficult to prosecute months later. After conviction, if there is no recurring violence, violation of a condition of probation permits swift and certain punishment while reinstituting prosecution does not.

Mr. President, on behalf of the victims of domestic violence and on behalf of those who serve those victims, I urge you to vote against this bill.

Senator HART. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 516. In response to the lady from Philadelphia, Senator Schwartz, I would like to stress that the intent of Senate Bill No. 516 is to encourage protection of victims of domestic violence. The provision on limitations of liability to police officers attempts to give law enforcement the tools they need to step in and stop domestic violence. It offers law enforcement commonsense protections from lawsuits filed resulting when personal injury or property damage occurs during a good faith effort to protect a domestic violence victim. Police officers have said that they are reluctant to aggressively enforce the law because their department could be slapped with a lawsuit by an abuser or they could be slapped with a lawsuit. It does not provide a license for local police departments to turn into a squad of "Rambos" in enforcing domestic violence laws. It does not suspend the Constitution, nor does it waive anyone's individual protections under the law.

This bill does not condone police brutality, and I can promise you that I would not be the prime sponsor of this measure if it did. The bottom line is that it will allow police to do what they are trained to do, and that is to protect victims and arrest people who break the law. And statistics show that arrest is one of the most effective deterrents for abusers to encourage avoidance of repeat of the crime.

On the ARD portion of Senate Bill No. 516, I think it is important that we recognize that some, and I repeat only some, people who are charged with domestic abuse can be rehabilitated. We are aware of that fact. We must create a vehicle that will provide incentive to get those people the help they need. It makes no sense to make a person run through the already overcrowded criminal justice system if they can truly be helped by the ARD system. The system has built up a strong record in rehabilitating drunken drivers which, like domestic violence, is a noxious crime that society finds abhorrent. This legislation does not provide an escape hatch for abusers, however. If an abuser has already been found guilty of a domestic violence offense, or if an abuser has already accepted ARD for a domestic violence offense, he or she will be rejected for that program. And if an abuser committed any other act in connection with the domestic violence offense that an attorney for the Commonwealth constitutes as a violation of offenses defined as "abuse," he or she will be rejected for ARD.

This bill will protect victims. It will increase the likelihood that the law will be enforced. It will help abusers who can be helped to get help and, therefore, save the family. Above all, it will help reduce the hundreds of thousands of abuse cases that are reported in the Commonwealth each year.

Mr. President, I encourage a positive vote on Senate Bill No. 516 as well as Senate Bill No. 518.

We will work diligently during that time to try and resolve the outstanding issues, that we will be able to bring in a spending and revenue plan before this Body in a timely fashion. In addition to that, I would also ask the Members of the Republican side of the aisle if they would meet in the Majority caucus room for a caucus to begin at 1:00 p.m. promptly, and at this time would ask that we recess to the call of the President pro tempore.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I would ask that the Democrat Members report immediately to our caucus room.

HB 1321 (Pr. No. 2207) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act making appropriations to the Department of Public Welfare and the Treasury Department; and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the year beginning July 1, 1991, for the payment of cash grants and medical assistance and for the payment of general obligation debt service or arbitrage rebates and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on June 30, 1991.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, we are now only several hours away from the constitutional deadline for the approval of a state budget, and despite some intensive and extensive negotiations, unfortunately, there is not at this time a complete budget package before this Senate for consideration. I think we are all deeply concerned about the problems that are going to affect every individual, organization and community, as well as the damage that will be inflicted on the reputation of this Commonwealth if there should be a prolonged budget crisis. Mr. President, that is why we are continuing to work toward developing an acceptable balanced budget that will attract sufficient votes for passage, but there is also a recognition that the largest deficit in Pennsylvania history and the two largest tax hikes ever proposed by a Governor are not a combination that readily yields to a satisfactory solution. While this budget process continues toward conclusion, it is my view, Mr. President, that we must take some concrete steps to insure that those most needy in Pennsylvania do not suffer. It is my view, Mr. President, that the measure before us is designed to prevent a total shutdown of state government and to protect needy Pennsylvanians from being cut off from assistance. By further providing for the payment of debt service, we make it clear to the Wall Street investors that Pennsylvania will not default on its obligations. The Budget Secretary on Friday admitted that based on court rulings, the state could continue to process cash grants in the weeks ahead. Mr. President, it is our view that because this is unprecedented, and because the state would be breaking new ground in this regard, that our action here today to approve the spending would remove the considerable constitutional doubt about the administration's course of action in that regard. There are groups of people beyond cash grant recipients, however, who will be hurt if payments are not continued. Some people regard total crisis and absolute stoppage of payments as productive pressure. We, Mr. President, do not. We view it as a painful price paid by individuals for no good purpose, particularly those who are most at risk and most in need. It is my view, Mr. President, that we should take a look at this issue, not as a debate over what is preferred public policy, but as a matter of preventing a total crisis that is not in the best interest of Pennsylvanians who are dependent on our state for their help and subsistence. The Governor, Mr. President, has in recent weeks stated his objections to any type of stopgap spending measure, but Friday's admission of the Governor in a press conference on cash grants in reality constitutes an Executive Branch version of stopgaps. Back in 1988 when there was another budget dispute, Governor Casey signed a partial budget and argued at that time in 1988, "There is no reason for crisis, no reason at all to shut down state government." Well, Mr. President, it is our view that that remains true today and this stopgap measure we have before us keeps some essential state services ongoing through the period of time that is going to be needed for making the remainder of the choices on spending and the revenue, choices that undeniably are critical to the Commonwealth's future as we move ahead in the budget process for the next fiscal year.

Mr. President, I want it made clear that we have every intention of drawing the budget process to a conclusion as quickly as possible, and our goal is achieving the best budget plan possible under extremely difficult financial circumstances. A budget settlement is what the people demand and what is our collective responsibility to produce. We will be at the negotiating table again tonight, tomorrow, the next day and the day after that, whenever there is the opportunity to thrash out spending and revenue issues. In the meantime, Mr. President, we will have spared many Pennsylvanians days of needless suffering. In that light, Mr. President, I would ask for an affirmative vote on the stopgap appropriation bill.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the bill, and it is very interesting to note the comments of the gentleman from Delaware, and I think they deserve some answers.

First of all, Mr. President, this is not a true stopgap type of bill. When one talks about stopgaps, they talk about a bill that usually funds all of state government for a limited period of time. What the Republicans have done here in their attempt to look like they have some type of concern for this problem, they say they are worried about Pennsylvania's needy. Therefore, we have to continue cash grants. Mr. President, that is a lot of rhetoric and a lot of nonsense. The gentleman from Delaware, the Majority Leader, and his colleagues fully know there have already been federal court cases throughout this country mandating that states continue the payment of cash grants. In fact, the gentleman also knows that the State Treasurer, relying upon those precedents, is mailing out cash grant checks as we speak. So there will be no interruption in cash grants. So now you have to say, well, if the Republicans are not really concerned about the needy, who are they worried about? Well, we all know they are worried about the guys on Wall Street. They are their buddies. They hang with them at all the right social clubs. But I have some news for the Republicans on that one as well. There was last week a set-aside provision done in the Commonwealth internally that already set aside the debt payments for the next week. Also, there is an entire series of case law that clearly indicates that the Commonwealth must and will make all of its debt payments, regardless of whether or not there has been an appropriation act passed. There are also some constitutional provisions requiring that as well. Now if there is really no concern for the needy and no concern for the guys on Wall Street, what do we have left? Medical assistance. Who gets the money from medical assistance? Well, the hospitals, the doctors, all the providers of services, not the people who receive those services, but in many instances the fat cats who give them out. Now we know where the concern really lies. I guess they are worried about the Pennsylvania Medical Society and other big contributors to their campaigns, and I do not blame them for that. Perhaps if we had gotten that kind of money, we might even share some of that concern, but I doubt very much that we would do it in this type of a charade.

Mr. President, the real issue before us today is whether or not all of Pennsylvania will suffer because we are not going to make the deadline of 12:00 midnight tonight. I have heard the rhetoric from the gentleman from the other side of the aisle talk about this being the largest deficit in Pennsylvania's history, and again I want to remind him that he participated in that conspiracy to cause that problem. Let us not sit here aghast that we did not know that was going to happen. The gentleman knew it last year as did I and as did everyone. But nothing was said of this problem last year because there was an election. We did not say it, and I plead guilty to that, but neither did they. They put up their votes for the budget. They voted for it. There would not have been a budget in Pennsylvania had they said they would not pass a budget in that fashion. In fact, there probably would not have been a deficit in Pennsylvania today had the Republicans yielded to my call that night long ago when I said the budget was not in balance and when I said that we on this side of the aisle were prepared to vote for the necessary taxes to fund it. I heard nothing but silence from that side of the aisle. So the reason why this is the largest deficit in Pennsylvania's history is because the Republicans in the Pennsylvania Senate wanted it to be that way. So let us not now look in surprise.

Then I hear about the two largest tax hikes that any Pennsylvania governor ever proposed. I was here when Governor Thornburgh proposed a tax hike up to 2.45 percent. The Republicans did not say that was a large one then. That was something that was necessary. Mr. President, times have changed, numbers have grown. Yes, in dollars and cents this is a big number, but percentage-wise it is not that big. But there is a way to solve that problem. There is in this Chamber now a budget that was passed by the House, a budget that requires some $2.7 billion in taxes, maybe a little more or maybe a little less. If the Republicans in this Chamber are truly concerned about a large tax increase, I challenge them now. We will wait. We have the time for them to go and send us a real budget, not a piece of paper that takes care of wealthy doctors but a real budget. Let us see it. Give us a budget that does not raise taxes. Let us see it. You have 26 votes on that side of the aisle. You have enough votes today to pass this stopgap because we will not vote for it. Why do you not have enough votes to pass a no-tax increase budget? Could it be that you cannot fashion one? Well, if you cannot fashion one, how can you possibly come here and complain that we might have a large tax increase. Mr. President, the people on that side of the aisle are just stalling. They are like my little 19-month-old daughter when she cannot have her way. She actually lies on the floor and kicks her feet. I had forgotten what that was like, being a parent of two older children, but I actually see it happen, and I see it happen here. I see it happen in negotiations when we talk about spending even more money than the House gave us, but then when we talk about the taxes to pay for that, there is absolute silence. You might think you are in church at a funeral. Not a sound is ever spoken from that side of the aisle when we discuss taxes. But I do not get a lot of enthusiasm when we talk about cuts.

You are in the majority. You in the majority on the Republican side, give us a budget that you want to see passed. Give us a no-tax budget. Certainly Representative Pitts in the House says he has one. Go borrow it if you think it is real. Introduce it on this floor. Run it today. No taxes. You will be heroes forever. I do not see any response. I do not see anyone running outside to go and get it and have it printed, so let us stop the charade. Let us stop the nonsense of trying to get wealthy doctors paid. Let us deal with Pennsylvania's real problems.

Mr. President, we have also heard in negotiations a lot of talk from that side of the aisle about selling the state stores, the instant cure-all to our budget problems. Well, where is that bill? Where is it? You have 26 votes. Why do you not pass that today and help out Pennsylvania with its deficit? But I do not see any bill moving. I hear a lot of talk, a lot of rhetoric, but nothing moves. You are in the majority. The Minority only has its say, the Majority has its way. If you really want a no-tax budget, pass it. If you really want to sell the LCB, pass it. Otherwise, shut up or put up.

Mr. President, this Commonwealth spends $1.7 billion a month based on last year's budget alone. That is over $50 million a day that we spend to run this government. As of 12:00 midnight tonight, that money will cease to go into Pennsylvania's economy. That happens to be a very, very serious consequence. While we sit up here and play around and wait for the pressure to build, $50 million a day is being taken out of Pennsylvania's economy. That is worse than the Depression of 1929. You may say it does not affect you. Well, it does. When state workers do not get paid—granted, there is not an awful lot of sympathy for them, but let us just take that as a reality—they do not have the money to go to the store and buy clothing, they do not have the money to go to the cleaners to pay to have their clothes cleaned, they do not have the money to make car payments and mortgage payments, and all that money gets taken out of our economy and never comes back, because every single day Pennsylvanians still pay their income tax. Pennsylvanians still pay their sales tax. Pennsylvania corporations even still pay their corporate taxes, but nothing gets pumped back into the economy. Mr. President, that is a very, very serious consequence for this Chamber to foist upon the people of Pennsylvania while we are already in one of the deepest recessions that any Republican president has ever caused. How will we ever get out of this mess? Well, when I talk to the other side of the aisle, they tell me because I am a Democrat I have some type of unwritten obligation to put up the overwhelming majority of tax votes. I do not know where that is written. It is certainly not in a statute. It is certainly not in the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Quite frankly, I started to buy into that rhetoric and was busy scurrying around my caucus looking for tax votes when I happened to talk to my wife in my naivete. She asked me why I had to do that, because Governor Casey was a Democrat? And, quite frankly, I took pause and said, you know, I really do not know. I looked into the history of this, and apparently it was always a tradition around here that the party which had the governor had the obligation to produce the tax votes, but that was before we had negotiated budgets. That was before that side of the aisle had the opportunity to spend more money than this side of the aisle in that budget, and, quite frankly, Mr. President, that was before the advent of that evil word "wham" that everybody shares in.

Mr. President, I am here today to put the other side of the aisle on notice that we do not accept that fairy tale responsibility but we remain committed to help the Majority with tax votes, and as soon as they have more than half, we will be more than willing to put up our fair share. That is where it is, Mr. President, and if they have a no-tax budget they can pass through here with their 26 votes, no one will even have to worry about tax votes. So let us see a little action. Put your money where your mouth is, or should I say your money savings where your mouth is.

Mr. President, we on this side of the aisle will not participate in this sham of voting for this bill, and we stand adamant in our desire to get a budget done. It is only a quarter to 6:00. The Legislative Reference Bureau can easily print up a no-tax budget, according to the dictates of my colleague, the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, at least in an hour or two. We can attach it to this bill and go home and have a happy 4th of July. But, Mr. President, until they are ready to do that, we are ready to stand here. I would hope they would respond to their responsibility and their constitutional oath of office they took and stop the political gamesplaying that they attempt to foist upon the Commonwealth and really worry about Pennsylvania's needy, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, citizens out there, every one of the Pennsylvanians who live in this state, not just the poor, although we know they do not care, but not just those people, and not just the wealthy doctors but the blue-collar worker who is going to work tomorrow morning, the guys who are working today and the women who are working today, on Sunday. Worry about them and we will all be better served.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I rise with a little bit of hesitation to speak against this issue, but after hearing the previous debate I feel a little more comfortable because I think it is very apparent how badly the negotiations have gone for the last several weeks. I have been very careful not to be interviewed. I have refused to in many cases, and have walked by the reporters hanging around outside of the office of the gentleman from Blair, Senator Jubelirer, simply because privately I was complaining very loudly about the fact that the Republicans in both the House and the Senate were not serious about solving this problem by today. At first I thought it was primarily the Republicans in the House. Their leader has gone on record as saying that he does not think we ought to do anything until there is a crisis. But when I see the kind of action that the Republican Majority here in the Senate is taking this evening, then I am more than convinced that they have been just a little more subtle in their determination to make a very chaotic situation come about in Pennsylvania. When I see a stopgap bill offered on June 30th at 5:30 in the evening, that really does not do anything to address the problem even as far as offering a stopgap, and for those of you who like to hear a little history, I have gone back to 1969-1970 and took a look at what happens whenever the General Assembly adopted stopgap legislation, even serious stopgap legislation which was adopted in 1970 which turned out to be an eight-month spending plan. In each of those cases, 1970, 1971 and 1977, when serious stopgap legislation was passed, it absolutely destroyed the budget process and the legislative process in getting something done. In 1970 the budget was not signed until February or March of 1971. In 1971 when the stopgap was passed, it went clear to the middle of August before we finally concluded this process, and in 1977 we went to August 17th after passing stopgaps and then going a couple of weeks without anything. I think stopgap legislation of any type is nothing but a way of getting around dealing with the serious issues such as we have facing us right now. Fifteen days from now, or whatever the intention of this amendment would give to us, the situation is not going to change. In fact, if there is any change at all, it will be worse. I really am disappointed that the Republican leadership did not at least wait until tomorrow to offer this silly thing. The one thing I am fearful of is that this may be a ploy to get people to vote for it, because it does not look like it really means anything, and then on Wednesday, before we leave here for the Fourth of July, there will be a real serious effort made to pass stopgap legislation, and it would be very difficult for me to stand before you and ask my Members to not vote for it if they voted for this thing today. I do not know whether that is their intention or whether it is their intention just to get something passed that can be used as a vehicle. I do not know because I am not really sure, even though I have been in these meetings, if I have been able to follow and come to any conclusion with what the Republican leadership in the General Assembly is really trying to do.

I was in the House in 1977 and I remember Bob Butera giving the same kind of speech that Matt Ryan and Joe Pitts have done with their phony cut-the-budget type of thing, and we went from June 30th until August 17th and there was not one Republican House Member who had the courage to introduce as a piece of legislation that piece of garbage they developed in 1977 for publicity. To my knowledge there has not been a single Republican House Member introduce that wonderful package that they came to a press conference and talked about several weeks ago. We are not going to get anything done that way. I think the disgrace of this particular effort this evening is so pointed out in the fact that we have 501 school districts that at midnight tonight have to have their budgets in place and they do not have the luxury of going beyond midnight June 30th, as we take here. They actually have to have, by law, a budget passed. In most cases, if not all, they will do that. They do that without any direction from this General Assembly as the major part of their funding source is the State of Pennsylvania. We are saying to 501 school districts that with this thing called stopgap, we do not really care about you. We do not care about all the young people in this Commonwealth who are dependent upon the budget process. We do not care about anything else, but for some reason we have picked out cash assistance, medical assistance and debt service, but I am saying at least bring forth something that is a legitimate effort, that if you are going to shove it down my throat with 26 Republican votes, at least make it less painful for me tomorrow and the next day in that for nine months my school districts are going to be able to know what money they are going to receive. Take and do a nine-month budget. Be serious about at least this aspect of it if you cannot get serious about really dealing with the issue. I think it is a disgrace that out of the meeting of the Committee on Appropriations today you reported this effort, and House Bill No. 1536 that the House passed, whether it is good, bad or otherwise, they passed a budget. You could have amended it to whatever shape you wanted because you have the majority there, and then we could have talked about it and we could have dealt with it and we could have offered amendments on the floor. Those of us on this side who are going to have some input in, hopefully, a vote of the tough issues of taxes and the new budget would have had an opportunity to amend that particular bill, House Bill No. 1536, to reflect our position and our viewpoint. I do not think it is even serious enough to offer the amendment that I had drawn up, which was basically House Bill No. 1536 with a few changes. This is absolutely a disgrace, and anybody who walks out of this Chamber after voting for this who can answer any questions to their constituency, not these people lined up back here, but when you go back to your districts or when you get the phone calls and you have the school superintendents and you have everybody else who depends on us for a budget, what are you going to tell them? Oh, I voted for a stopgap. I am the Majority party in the Senate, but the best I could come up with for you was three areas of a budget that is called a stopgap and I do not feel bad about that. I think I have done a good job. I am going to help your cash assistance friends. I am going to help pay for Medicaid and I am going to also help pay off debt service. I mean, most of my constituents, aside from the ones who will actually be receiving a cash grant, have no idea what you are talking about, but they do know that by the 5th of July the State Police might not be working. They do know that people who go to work every day and give of their sweat and their blood are not going to be paid, that there is a potential that school districts could actually fall apart over this. We have school districts that have been really not treated fairly in spite of a lot of money being spent the last couple of years. The poorest school districts, they could go under. You know, we think that those things do not happen, but look, the Berlin Wall was the biggest part of my life. It caused me to almost get drafted into the Army in 1962. It is gone. We have a fight in Yugoslavia over independence of a part of that country that has been there most of my lifetime, if not longer. There are bad ramifications and bad results from what you are doing here this evening. It does not serve a useful purpose. It does not even fund. I mean, if you are going to take the position of doing a stopgap, do it properly. I would hope there would be reason used by some of the Members on the other side who legitimately want to get through this process and vote "no." Then, if we have to stay here for the next 24, 36 or 48 hours without leaving the floor, get something in front of us that we could mold into a legitimate budget, and then those of us who are going to have to stand up and be counted when it comes to funding that, whether it be a $1.7 billion tax increase to whatever we decide, it is so important we do not get down and get into this frame of reference in mind. It is so important that we do not start this process on June 30th in this direction because it is going to be a long time before any of us can hold our heads up and a long time before we can go out into our districts and feel like we are actually doing a good job for our constituency. I would urge a "no" vote on this, whatever it is called, but just for a frame of reference, I guess it is called a stopgap. I would urge you to vote "no" on it.

Senator SCANLON. Mr. President, I very seldom speak on the budget, but I feel compelled today because I am getting, frankly, sick and tired of this being characterized by the Republicans as the largest budget deficit we have ever had in Pennsylvania and the largest proposed tax increase we have ever had in Pennsylvania because, based on the percentage of the budget, that is just not true. I came up here in 1968, and after four years of Governor Scranton and four years of Governor Shaffer we had a budget deficit that far exceeded this with respect to its impact on the overall budget, and we were compelled to levy an income tax which raised much more money with respect to the overall budget than we are considering today. One of the mistakes we made in 1968 was stopgaps. It took off the pressure and they existed for 18 months, we had stopgaps. What happens when you have a stopgap? You have a revenue flow, you have an outgo flow and there is a gap, and that is the deficit. If you fail to increase taxes or cut the revenue flow, the hole you started with gets bigger and bigger and bigger. By the end of 18 months of stopgapping, and after an intervening election, that hole was almost twice as big as the one we started with. The intervening election was very interesting from a political perspective. We had a candidate who had the temerity to go around this state and say, elect me and I am going to levy an income tax. He said it. He said it all over this state and he said it all during the campaign, while his opponent said, elect me and somehow this deficit is going to disappear. The point is, the people out there are not stupid. They know what is going on and they took Milton Shapp at his word, elect me and I am going to levy an income tax, and he received a very resounding victory. After 18 months of stopgaps and an ever-increasing deficit, day by day—the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, just came out with a number—every time you extend this pressure and maintain the same level of expenditures without increasing revenues, you are exacerbating the problem, and I think it is a tragic mistake to start the process by voting for a stopgap for ten days, for ten minutes.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, after listening to some of the previous speakers, I think it is important to clarify some of the statements that were made by the previous speakers and make sure they get on the record.

The stopgap before us, Mr. President, concerns the issue of cash grants. It concerns the issue of medical assistance as well as debt payment. I think it is important to note that the federal court decisions affecting cash grants only deal in the area of AFDC, that is Aid to Families with Dependent Children. It does not address those who are classified as general assistance recipients. Therefore, Mr. President, if this bill was not passed here in the Senate and then was sent to the House and passed there, there would be almost 150,000 people who receive general assistance in Pennsylvania, a population most at need and most at risk, who would not receive their cash grant payments. In addition to that, when we talk about nursing homes, one of the speakers alluded to the fact of the special interests that may be interested in receiving payments. Well, Mr. President, I would just relate to the plight of the nursing homes in Pennsylvania, those that take care of Pennsylvania's population, one of Pennsylvania's most jeopardized populations, that the nursing homes have not received payments from this state for at least two months, maybe longer in some cases. There are nursing homes that are having difficulty maintaining their fiscal stability, many that are facing an immediate bankruptcy because of state payments not coming to them. Yet, Mr. President, we want to stay here and debate the merits of an issue of trying to assist and help in these particularly related areas. One gentleman referred to it as a conspiracy last year in trying to pass a budget, and maybe I would like to take just a moment, Mr. President, to refresh those speakers' memories. If we were to look in the Journal of last June 30th, early in the morning when the General Appropriations bill was considered, I echoed at that time my remarks that I was concerned about how far that budget we passed was going to take us into this fiscal year. Let me just take a moment, Mr. President, and repeat for the record what I had said last June 30th when we were considering a General Appropriations bill. "I think it is important to note that a reported 87 percent of our school districts in Pennsylvania have had to raise their taxes and increase the burden on the local property taxpayer for the next fiscal year. I think, particularly at a time when Pennsylvania needs to invest in people and infrastructure in order to remain a competitive state, our budget really this year is one that creates an aura of concern. I think what we have seen is really a budget that is heading toward fiscal disaster before the end of the next fiscal year." Well, here we are, Mr. President, June 30th, at the end of the next fiscal year. We have seen the disaster that has occurred. We have seen a state budget projection that had a positive cash flow, a positive revenue side through November 6th, then all of a sudden took a major downturn and deep plunge into a deficit approaching that of $3 billion in order to address a General Fund problem for this coming fiscal year. We talk about that this is the largest deficit, and some people object to that term. I think the gentleman said that times have changed, numbers have grown, everything is relevant. Well, $3 billion is certainly a relevant number to every taxpayer in Pennsylvania. When you translate that number into approximately a 25 percent increase in each individual's tax burden, whether it be the corporate community, the individuals of Pennsylvania, our wage earners, that is a big chunk of their money that is going to have to go to address this problem.

Let us take a look at what is the problem. How did we get there? You know, Mr. President, maybe it is in some of the fiscal chicanery that we have done in the past. Maybe it is that we have delayed payments from last year's budget. Maybe it is that we have used one-time revenue sources to balance our budgets and finally all of that is beginning to catch up and we find ourselves with no alternative to go to other than the situation we find ourselves in here this evening.

I think when we want to talk about discussing revenues and taxes and how are we going to fund a new General Fund budget, maybe the first place to look is the House of Representatives that did send a spending plan to this Senate some three weeks ago, but yet did not follow with any sort of a revenue bill to fund that. It was almost $2.6 billion out of whack when it got here, and yet when we asked for the revenue package, we have not seen a revenue package. When we sat at the negotiating table day after day, night after night, we have asked to see a specific revenue package that the House is going to put forth in order that we can consider here to have a fully funded budget, that is a spending plan balanced by a revenue plan. So far we have not seen that. Mr. President, we believe that it is a responsible first step while we are still trying to develop that type of plan to put forth this stopgap appropriation bill this evening before the Senate. I think, Mr. President, in conclusion, that it may be possible that debt service will be paid. It may be possible that AFDC will be paid. However, as I pointed out earlier, that is certainly less than a clear issue. But I think what is absolutely crystal clear is that general assistance benefits cannot be paid without this bill. What is absolutely clear is that the nursing homes and the hospitals and pharmacies which serve the needy will not be paid without this bill, and I think we have a responsibility this evening to try and ensure that this funding stream continues so those most at need can benefit.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President. I guess I rise in surprise at some of the comments of previous speakers saying that this is a handout to our wealthy friends. I look down over the list of what Medicaid pays for. It pays hospitals. Some people think hospitals are all rich and have big balances. I come from rural Pennsylvania and I have hospitals that are struggling to pay their bills. They are struggling to stay in business. We are already way behind in what we pay them. We pay them a paltry amount for the services that they render and this would allow them to continue to be paid. We have emergency services. Are they fat cats? The ambulance services, those are Medicaid vendors, drug and alcohol programs, burial services and some of the ones who have been mentioned and then the whole issue of doctors. Well, you know doctors make choices, and doctors provide services by choice of where they want to do business. The thing that is happening across this Commonwealth is because our Medicaid system is a disaster in itself. We have not changed payment schedules. We have not evaluated our Medicaid dollars in a meaningful way in years. In Venango County where I serve, because the state pays $312.00 for a delivery of a baby, we have lost our doctors, because half of the babies being born in Venango County are on Medicaid, their parents or mothers are on welfare. Doctors have not only stopped taking Medicaid, they have left the area, because 50 percent or more of the business, or potential business, is Medicaid. We pay the lowest paltry sum in the nation to deliver babies and what is happening to the poor women and the children? They are not getting any prenatal care. They are traveling into neighboring counties to have the babies delivered with no prenatal care and all the problems that go with that. That is our Medicaid system if we were paying our bills on time. I think it is deplorable that someone would say we should not pay our bills on time and that everybody who is getting paid is a fat cat. That is just not true. It appears to me the bigger problem is, and I do not know how you feel, that there are those who would like us to print a bill tonight and pass it. As a rank-and-file Member I am not sure yet I even know how deep the deficit is. Every provider of state services, every person I talk to who does business with the state is months behind in their payments. How deep is the deficit? You know when the state's payments back up one month, that is over a billion dollars of cash flow. If you back them up two months, that is over $2 billion of cash flow. How big is our deficit and the numbers we see of a $480 million deficit? If we passed the budget on the 15th, we were going to borrow $1.7 billion in immediate tax anticipation notes, and that has never been done before. We usually borrow, if my memory is correct, in October and November, but we are going to borrow $1.7 billion immediately after we pass the budget, as soon as the paperwork can be done. How deep is the deficit? If we are going to solve this problem, and I do not hear anybody saying that we do not need taxes, that we do not need additional income along with pulling in the belt. I do not hear anybody saying who is responsible. But how deep is the deficit? How much do we owe? How much do we owe doctors? How much do we owe pharmacies? How much do we owe school districts? How much do we owe colleges? If we were to pay our bills up to June 30th, I would like to know what that figure is, and to pay off the money we borrowed from PIDA and the money we borrowed from the other programs. Our state finances are an absolute disaster. We have begged and borrowed from every fund we could get our hands on, not we, but they. Someone the other day who was watching the states felt Pennsylvania probably has—and I have not seen anybody say this yet—the biggest percentage deficit in the nation, and someone immediately says, oh, California has a $7 billion deficit, but they have a $55 billion budget. Seven billion dollars, if your math is very good, into $55 billion, we have a $12 to $13 billion budget and a $3 billion deficit, that is 20-some percent. I do not know of another state that has a deficit of 20 percent. I do not know about you, but the first thing I would like to see before I vote for a budget and before I vote to solve this problem is how much we owe our vendors. What is the accounts payable for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania through June 30th? How much are we going to roll over into another budget? I think it is time to put the facts on the table, find out just how deep the deficit is and pass this limited spending plan to make sure that those who provide service to the needy and poor in this Commonwealth will get paid for their services, even if it is in a belated, after-the-fact fashion.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I am kind of confused as to where I should begin with my remarks because if I want to take exception with some of the things the previous speaker said, he said enough things that are not true that I could take exception with him probably for the next 15 minutes. If I want to go back, Mr. President, I guess to a certain point and be critical of my colleague and fellow leader, I could spend another 15 minutes trying to recite the erroneous information that has been put out by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper. Mr. President, I think I can probably start that erroneous put-out of information by merely saying this, that Senator Loeper started his remarks by saying that the negotiations have been extensive and intensive. I would only like to remind the gentleman that extensive, yes, without question we have spent a lot of time. Intensive, Mr. President, I doubt the word that I describe as intensive would in any way fit into our budget negotiations over the last several weeks. The part that really starts to bother me is this, that each and every one of us in leadership had the opportunity of talking about the budget to a lot of people on a lot of different occasions. And to each and every one of us who were involved in the budget discussion and leadership, back on January 1, 1991, we took an oath of office, and I would like to remind the Republican floor leader of the Senate that on January 1st of this past year he took the same oath of office that I took. Mr. President, in that oath of office, for those of you who may or may not realize, our oath of office talks about upholding the laws and the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Well, Mr. President, by upholding the laws and the Constitution of Pennsylvania, we right now would be working on passing a budget because the law of the land in Pennsylvania states that we must have in place a balanced budget by July 1 of that particular fiscal year. So therefore, Mr. President, those of us who are participating in this political charade on the floor of the Senate here this evening, by and large, are not upholding that oath of office that we swore to just six months ago, that oath of office, that office we hold in trust for the people whom we represent. Mr. President, let us, if we can, go just a little bit further in trying to ascertain that they are trying to figure what has taken place here. Back on February 6th of this past year, just about five full weeks after we took that oath of office, Governor Casey submitted to the Members of the General Assembly a budget presentation. Almost five full months ago, Mr. President, we had that opportunity of finding what, in fact, was taking place here in Pennsylvania. On June 6th, which is now some 24 days ago, three weeks and three days, the House of Representatives on a partisan vote of 105-95, strictly on party lines because the Minority leader of the House said, we have not as yet reached a crisis period, sent over to this Body a budget. Whether we liked the document or did not like the document, at least we had a document that was in this Body, in this Chamber, that right now is in the Committee on Appropriations, of which we in fact could have been doing business with.

Mr. President, I heard a lot of criticism by one of the previous speakers, my fellow leader, about what took place during an election and about how in November of last year we automatically found out that tweedly-do came to roost and we found out that through some sleight-of-hand performance, Mr. President, that we are looking at a deficit.

Mr. President, I want to read a quote that appeared in the newspaper, if I may have the liberty to do so. The byline is: "Harrisburg—A year ago, the Governor predicted that the state would finish the current fiscal year with a slight surplus. At the same time, his critics in the opposition party accused him of creative election-year bookkeeping that did not take into account the state's bleak economic condition.

"Last week, in presenting his budget, the Governor projected a $235 million deficit for the end of the fiscal year—June 30th. The deficit would be caused, he said, by problems that neither he nor his revenue forecasters could have anticipated last February—problems that created similar or greater deficits in all but three states."

Including, incidentally, some of those states that have a higher percentage of that so-called deficit than we have and a number of them have been controlled and are being run by Republican governors.

"So the question is raised: What did the Governor know, and when did he know it? Or, did the governor, a candidate for re-election, have his fingers crossed behind his back when he said time and again last year that things were going to get better."

Is that not a familiar statement? Does that not sound great? Really it should because it was a statement that was made on February 13, 1983 in the Philadelphia Inquirer by the now former governor at this time, Governor Richard Louis Thornburgh, who is now the Republican candidate for the United States Senate in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we can go a little bit further in our discussion in our assertion of basically what are we doing here and what is taking place. I heard one gentleman state we have to have a tax before we can have a budget, and I submit to you, Mr. President, that if we do that, then we, the Democrats who are perceived to be the big spenders and who have voted against every type of spending program possible that has been advanced by the Republican Party to the tune in excess of $320 million over the last 15 to 18 months, then if we have a tax package without knowing what our budget is, the Republican Party in this Body who has tried to push through an additional $300 million-plus worth of spending certainly will find a way to go ahead and to spend that money in their budget. Furthermore, Mr. President, as we deal here this evening, are we not being a bit intellectually dishonest with people? Are we not really telling people that we do not care about what takes place out in the hinterland? We do not care what is happening with the 12 million people in Pennsylvania? We are only interested in the Democratic philosophy and the Republican philosophy and who, in fact, can put a foot forward in the 1994 gubernatorial campaign, and, Mr. President, we are doing this at the expense of the 12 million people who live in Pennsylvania. Now the Republicans know full well that this stopgap is going nowhere. They know full well that next week the cash grants and the medical assistance and the debt service will be paid because those statements were made on Friday. Who are they fooling with this particular proposal, Mr. President? When those bills are paid next week and this stopgap is not passed, I want to know how are they going to react to it then.

Another quote, Mr. President. "The effort by Senate Republicans to pass a stopgap appropriation is unnecessary and a waste of valuable time which ought to be spent negotiating a settlement to the 1991-92 state budget.

"Simply put: it is nothing but pure politics on their part."

Mr. President, that is not my quote. That is the quote that has already been issued by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with regard to this lamebrain proposal that has been submitted by the Republicans. If the Republicans in the Senate were well meant in what they want to do, we would not be discussing a stopgap appropriation right now that is meaningless. We would be discussing a budget, whether it be a stopgap, whether it be a no-tax budget, Mr. President, or whether it be the budget that was submitted by the House of Representatives, but we no longer can confuse people and try to deceive them because the news media is here. There are people in the gallery, and the news media knows exactly what is taking place. We have talked to them. They know that we are getting no cooperation on the part of the Majority in the Senate and, therefore, Mr. President, this is just another way of trying to go ahead and to confuse people as to what the real issues are. I know there will be a rebuttal forthcoming by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, or the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, or maybe even the gentleman from Blair, Senator Jubelirer, but the truth of the matter is, if we were doing our job, if we were upholding the Constitution and the oath of office that we took, we would not be dealing with a stopgap appropriation right now, but we in fact would be dealing with the budget on the floor of this Senate, and that is exactly what we should be doing. Furthermore, Mr. President, there will be 24 Democrats who will vote against this proposal here today and there will be 25 Republicans who are here on the floor of the Senate voting for a proposal and we will not challenge anyone's leave of absence, even though there is at least one Member of the Republican caucus who has not been feeling well and has unfortunately not been able to make it here on the floor of this Senate for the better part of the month, but we will allow the Republicans with that vote to cast 26 votes and send it over to the House where they know full well, Mr. President, it will go nowhere.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, maybe it is because it is Sunday and we are not used to being here on Sunday. I have been here 17 years and I was on the floor of the General Assembly one other time on a Sunday but we did not do any business that day, as I remember it, but this is a historic occasion, Sunday, June the 30th. Maybe it is that. That means that much of what I have heard from the other side of the aisle I just do not understand. I just do not understand it for a minute. I look before us and I see we have before us Senate Supplemental Calendar No. 1 and House Bill No. 1321, which is a very, very limited stopgap appropriation to pay for those vital services that, believe me, I do not think anyone in this Senate, anyone across the Commonwealth would want us to withhold payments for. I do not know of what decision it was that the Governor or his Budget Secretary last Friday alluded to about the federal courts having said certain welfare payments must be continued without regard to an appropriation bill. But based on what I have heard here today and what I have been able to learn over the weekend, I think it is pretty clear that there is no federal court decision which would extend the state to pay general assistance and that there is no federal court decision which would allow us to pay our nursing homes, our hospitals, our physicians, our podiatrists, whoever else would be treating the Medicaid patients across this Commonwealth. So I think that there are clear legitimate reasons why House Bill No. 1321 is the minimum modest attempt that the General Assembly should do to keep state government going over the next 10 days or 15 days, or however long the money that is included in here lasts. But one of the things I do know, and I have looked around, I have looked on my calendar, I have looked in the book and, of course, I know what I am looking for is not there. One of the things that I recognize, when you get beyond all the rhetoric that we have heard, the reason that we are here today dealing with House Bill No. 1321 as a very limited stopgap appropriations bill is, yes, we have a House-passed budget that is here in the Senate, but one thing that we do not have is a revenue bill to pay for either that House-passed budget, a Senate approved budget, whether it be the Senate Republicans, the Senate Democrats, there is no revenue bill here. One thing that I know when you talk about taking the oath of office and upholding the laws of the Constitution of the Commonwealth, I look at Article III, Section 10 of the Pennsylvania Constitution. This tells me really where we are today and why we are here at 6:26 p.m. Sunday, June 30th. It says, "Article III, Section 10. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives...." That is the basic underlying reason that we are in the deadlock that we are in today. We are in that deadlock not because the Senate is unable to come up with a budget, because I suspect that if we met a few more hours and a few more days that we probably could come up with a budget that the majority of the Members of the Senate could agree with. But yet there is no possible way for us to pay for our budget, the House budget, the Governor's budget, anybody's budget, because, in fact, the revenue raising bill not only has not been passed by the House, but to the best of my knowledge, when I last heard at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon, that revenue raising bill has not even been introduced in the House of Representatives. Mr. President, those are the facts. That is the law of the Commonwealth as articulated in the Constitution. We are bound to follow that law whether we like it or not. Because of the Constitution that we here defend and we support, I think we are taking a reasonable next step to make sure that the basic services, that the people across this Commonwealth who are the most needy or in need of can be covered for the next 10, for the next 15 days. I sincerely hope as I stand here and as my colleagues stand here that over that period of time we will be able to deal with the other issues. We will be able to deal with the other issues and, basically, hopefully the House of Representatives will be able to meet their constitutional mandate if, in fact, that is the course we are going to take. If someone is to say to us that we are all of a sudden to consider and adopt a no-tax budget, I am sure there are some of us over here who can probably figure out how to come up with that blueprint too. But that is not what we are hearing, that is not what is being discussed in this Capitol, but, obviously what we are discussing here today is to get the job done for the people who need that job done, and I would urge my colleagues to support House Bill No. 1321.

Senator O'PAKE. Mr. President, If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, does not understand what he is doing here, as I think he indicated, I am sure the people of Pennsylvania do not understand what we are doing here either. Weeks ago the House of Representatives sent to us a budget. That budget has not seen the light of day. It is still deeply buried in some committee controlled by the Majority Party here in the Senate. It seems to me if we really want to do our job, there are a couple of options we can do. First of all, we can bring that budget up and cut it, trim it to match the revenue projections, settle the whole deal and go home. A second option is to send that budget, pass it the way it passed the House, to the Governor and let him do what Governor Thornburgh did in 1983 and that is blue line, line item veto the excess spending so we have a budget that is balanced predicated on the present tax structure and tax rates. Another thing the Majority could do is give us some kind of a tax package that would pay for the kinds of budget increases they have been talking about in the closed-door negotiations that have gone on to this date. But I think it is totally irresponsible and a farce to stand here this evening and let the people of Pennsylvania think that this tiny, partial Band-Aid is somehow going to help solve the budget problem in Pennsylvania. It is not. We shirk our responsibilities by voting for this thing and letting the people of Pennsylvania think that somehow we are addressing the real problems that are going to face this state over the next 12 months. It seems to me the people of Pennsylvania, the ones who are thinking about it, and I am sure in the next few days many, many more will start thinking about it, are going to say, I do not understand this. If a budget is before the Senate, it seems that it is the Senate Majority's responsibility to either bring up that budget or some other budget they like and send some budget bill to the Governor so he can tailor it to fit whatever level of expenditures and level of taxes the Republican Majority wants to pass. It seems to me also, Mr. President, and I do not usually speak on budget matters either, but I think we have been very patiently hoping and praying that this matter is going to get resolved. But from what we have been able to see, and certainly from the lack of activity on budgets or taxes or anything that really solves the problem, it might be time to lift the shroud of secrecy that has cloaked these negotiations and let us all know what is going on. Let the people of Pennsylvania know what is going on. Bring a budget to the floor and let us have it out here on the floor. That is the way, maybe, we will fulfill our responsibility instead of hearing second and third hand about how somebody wants to increase spending by so much, but nobody wants to pay for it. That has not gotten us very far, and I think the time has come to get the full Senate involved. Let us try to address the level of spending and the level that we want to vote for taxes to pay for it, and keep in mind that there are 26 Republican votes and there are 24 Democratic votes, and anything that is going to solve this problem is going to take a bipartisan effort.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, okay, you are right. Everything the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, say is correct. We Democrats have screwed everything up. We accept all the blame. It is all our fault. Now what are you going to do about it as the Majority Party? What are you going to do to lead us out of this mess? The amendments you have offered to House Bill No. 1321? Aw, come on. I do not think you are any more serious about that than I am, saying we are all to blame for the mess we are in. You talk about the House and the budget. How about the Governor? I mean, he does play a part in this. He gave us a budget. He proposed spending for the next 12 months for everybody in this Commonwealth. He also proposed taxes to pay for that spending. It is not like he said, I want to spend money, and it is not there. Other than public criticism of that plan that the Governor put forth, you have done nothing. Instead of leading, you chose to mislead. As Senator Loeper stated earlier that this has been coming, that we have been doing things, spending money here, borrowing it from there, but the one thing that Senator Loeper neglected to put on the record today was since 1985 every budget we have passed has been a conference committee report, and every one of those budgets contained two Republican signatures. They could not have become part of the law, and we could not have had a budget in any of those years if two Republican Senate Members had not put their names on a conference committee report endorsing it for our passage here in the Senate. Come on, let us get serious. If you want to do something about this, take the Governor's plan and put it out here on the floor where we can debate it and see if there is good and bad in it and see what the good is and we will keep it and we will throw the bad out. You give me the opportunity and I will offer the amendment reflecting the Governor's tax increase. You can have a real opportunity to criticize it on the record, vote for it or against it, or maybe come up with an amendment that would change it somewhat that would make it more palatable to you. I can tell you there is nothing that we can do in this General Assembly, and particularly here in the Senate, without your leading us in the right direction. When you come in with something as frivolous as the amendments to House Bill No. 1321 and tell me you are concerned and serious about solving a budget problem, and it is so easy, we can keep this bill on the Calendar and go at ease and use it for the vehicle, all you have to do is have a meeting of the Committee on Finance and have the Senator who is the chairman of that committee put a bill out that can be amended for the taxes, and I am telling you publicly I will do that. I will offer the amendment in this Senate, now, at 8:00 o'clock, 9:00 o'clock, 2:00 o'clock in the morning, that reflects the Governor's proposal if that is what you want. If not, you get something, put it on the Calendar and I will make up my own tax plan and I will offer it. I am not going to hide behind a vote for this silly amendment put in House Bill No. 1321. That is absolutely degrading to be put before us. It is a disgrace. You want to talk about lack of leadership. All you have to do is take that in your caucus and hold a big mirror up because you are showing some real lack of leadership. If you need somebody to do it for you, I will take that responsibility. I will be the person who has the courage to come in and offer the tax bill. We will see how many people are serious about voting for increased spending. If we vote for that amendment and it fails, then I think I probably could have something ready to put into House Bill No. 1321 that would reflect a budget for the next 12 months at the revenues that we currently have before us. We already have the estimate. We know what is available. Give me the opportunity. I have no problem with it. I will not shrink from that responsibility, but I will tell you one thing, I will never vote for this.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, in response to a number of things I have heard from the other side of the aisle, first, I would like to say that I, too, looked at the Journal on June 30th and I looked at the Journal on page 2430 of that day, which was at the time when we passed House Bill No. 623, Printer's No. 3943, the General Appropriations bill for last year. I looked at some of the remarks of the Majority Leader. In fact, he started off the remarks that evening and I remember it well, and I would now like to read back to him some of his words. First he says, "I think, before we finally vote on the General Appropriations bill for the following year, it is important that maybe we ought to take some note and express some concern, at least from this side of the aisle. I think some of the things we have been concerned about and tried to articulate over the past several months in the formation of this budget are that we find there are a lot of services and funding of those services, essential services, that really seem to be lacking." Then he says, "I think we have already seen some evidence of budget shortcomings beginning this July when I think, if we take a look across this Commonwealth, we are seeing many, if not most of our property owners receiving higher school tax bills. That, in my view and the view of many of those in my caucus, is a result of the underfunding of basic education and the lack of dollars for prospective payments for special education to all of our local school districts." And then he finished up by saying "...we do not believe the essential services that are needed by the people of Pennsylvania are being met. I think it is important to note on the record this morning that many of the negative votes that will be cast reflect the widespread dissatisfaction with the notable deficiencies in critical areas of services in this budget."

Mr. President, I wonder how the gentleman could have made that statement and now come back and say we spent too much. We went into a deficit. I do not understand the logic. I especially do not understand the logic when he is in the majority. He gets his way. I am only in the minority. But despite that fact, that night I said, "I have said consistently, and I say again tonight, if the Republican Majority wants to put up votes for taxes so we can go out and give even more money for education, I am prepared to do that. If the Republican Majority in this Senate is willing to put up the votes for taxes so we can go out and help with some of the social welfare needs of the counties of this Commonwealth, I am prepared to do that. If the gentleman wants more money in special education or accelerated payments and he is willing to put up the votes to pay for that, I, too, am willing to do that."

Mr. President, lo and behold, when you turn the page there is no response. But what happens? The gentleman votes for the budget. He and three of his colleagues joined 23 of ours and passed the budget with 27 votes. Mr. President, you can only have it both ways in la la land, and last time I checked, although I am seriously tempted to believe otherwise, this is not la la land.

Mr. President, let us assume for a moment the House is irresponsible. They are in the majority, the Democrats over there, so I guess because they are Democrats, under the definition of Republicans they are automatically irresponsible. What are we to do? Are we to sit here forever and wait for a tax bill when we do not even have a budget? I can tell you the way we are spending money, we will never have enough taxes to pay for it. Mr. President, how can you fund a budget with a tax bill when you do not know how much it costs? I submit to you that is probably why the House Democrats have not yet sent us a tax bill, because they do not really know whether or not the fiscal conservatives on that side of the aisle are really willing to pass their no-tax budget, because if they are there will be no need for a tax bill. You do not even have to worry about Article III, Section 10 because it is not applicable. If Republicans in Pennsylvania truly do not want to raise taxes, it is thoroughly within their power to do so. In fact, I will even yield the floor for the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, to ask for a recess so he can have his no-tax budget prepared and offer it as an amendment to this bill. But I do not see any activity over there. I do not see anyone scurrying about to get it done because the fact of the matter is that you are all a bunch of hypocrites on that side of the aisle. You do not have anything ready but rhetoric.

Mr. President, I would like to talk to the Republicans about an issue near and dear to their hearts—productivity. It is the word we hear out of Washington Republicans all the time. America is not doing well because its workers are not productive enough. As has already been said, they got the Governor's budget five months ago. They have a staff of the Committee on Appropriations, just like we do. They have a staff of the Committee on Appropriations, just like the House does, and in five months all they can give me is a two week spending plan on three line items, two of which are unnecessary. Where is all that Republican productivity? What is happening to all the money we are spending for computerization of the Committee on Appropriations on that side of the aisle? If I had the majority here we would have a budget today. Where is the productivity on that side of the aisle? It is a disgrace. Even those irresponsible House Democrats sent us a budget complete with the General Fund, the Motor License Fund and the Lottery Fund. You name it, it was in there. Nothing from that side of the aisle but three lousy line items, two of which are irrelevant and only for two weeks spending? My God, at this rate we will never get done.

Mr. President, to clear up another fallacy they are trying to circulate over there, whether it is right or wrong, whether there is a federal court order or not, general assistance recipients will get their checks. So we do not need any of this except for the fat cats, but then again they are not fat cats. They are poor struggling kids out of medical school trying to eke out a living and they do not want to miss their Mercedes-Benz or BMW payments, and I do not blame them for that.

Mr. President, we have to do something. We have to move. If, in fact, they want to pass a budget that has taxes in it and are thoroughly perplexed by the irresponsibility of the House, I suggest to them that they talk to Senator Tilghman. There is a way. House Bill No. 185. It is sitting in the Committee on Appropriations. Guess what? It is a tax bill. All you have to do is put your tax program into it, match it to your spending plan and send it back to those irresponsible Democrats. Guess what? I will stand here with you and call them irresponsible if they do not do anything. But who is really irresponsible? You. You do not want to do anything. You want to sit around and cry. You want to come in here and waste electricity and air conditioning today. We are here. But I submit to you, you have all of the vehicles in your hands to solve the crisis, and I want to announce today that we on this side of the aisle are fully prepared to put up our 12 votes, not only for a budget but also for a tax increase of any size you want. We are in the minority and we will do a little less than what is needed, and if you need it, I might even be able to stretch it to 13 votes and split it with you down the middle. We are ready to do it. We are ready to work. I am ready to call a recess if you want so you can get busy. But I see nothing. I guess we will all be here tomorrow, same time, same station, same place and maybe even listen to the same rhetoric. Mr. President, let us get on with it. Let us vote this nonsense down. Let them put up that team of 26 solid Republicans for this garbage and send it over there and maybe eventually we will get to a real budget.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentle lady from Philadelphia, Senator Jones, who submits a statement for the record. Without objection, this will be entered and spread upon the record.

(The following prepared statement was made a part of the record at the request of Senator JONES:)

Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to Senate Bill No. 516 which will be a serious step backward in the fight against domestic violence. This bill would permit the use of Accelerated Rehabilitation Disposition (ARD) for certain criminal defendants in domestic violence cases. ARD is a process traditionally made available to non-violent offenders or perpetrators of minor crimes. Domestic violence is always a brutal, terroristic offense based on intimidation and violence, whether actual or threatened. This Commonwealth should not permit wife-beaters to be treated as if they committed an offense no more serious than shoplifting or passing a bad check. This bill is but one more example of a policy that downgrades the status of women and treats their concerns and needs as insignificant. ARD for domestic violence offenders is a slap in the face to all women in Pennsylvania.

Senate Bill No. 516 not only coddles the criminal, it also immunizes the police beyond that which is necessary or appropriate. Under present law, the police have sufficient immunity when protecting victims of domestic violence. Not one case has been presented of a police officer being sued when protecting a victim of domestic violence. This extra immunity is excessive and once again acts as a means to downgrade women. If the police protect a bank, the regular immunity rules are deemed sufficient protection to allow them to do their jobs. It is only when protecting women that the police need a special inducement. This is not only insulting, I do not believe that the policewomen on the street would ever feel that she needs a special inducement to protect her sisters.

Senate Bill No. 516 is a mistake. I urge my colleagues in the House to refuse to follow the course set by this bill.

RECONSIDERATION OF HB 146

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE AMENDMENTS

HB 146 (Pr. No. 2198) — Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which the Senate concurred in amendments made by the House to Senate amendments to House Bill No. 146.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to concur in amendments made by the House to Senate amendments to House Bill No. 146?

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Fattah. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator SHAFFER. Mr. President, I rise and ask for Senate concurrence in the House amendments to Senate amendments placed in House Bill No. 146. Very, very briefly—I know there is a lot of work here to do today—I cannot speak to the main original text in House Bill No. 146 which deals with the appointment of various policemen in second-class townships. The maker of the legislation, Representative Pesci, will have to do that. But I did want the record to show there is new language added to this legislation, and in that respect it differs from House Bill No. 146 that passed the Senate here last week by a vote of 45-0.

This new language which was added by the House last Saturday is the Governor's language, Mr. President. It was insisted upon by the Governor's Office and it was written by the Governor's Office. My language would have provided a clear and unequivocal ban on live horse race match events within the Commonwealth within 50 miles of any existing live horse race track. I thought then, Mr. President, and I still believe that the facts concerning the economy of the horse racing industry, which is a very fragile industry to be sure, makes the banning of live horse race meets within 50 miles of a current existing track good common sense. The Governor's Office disagreed with that and instead gutted the language I just referred to that I had proposed and added two other provisions which essentially give the power to the township supervisors to ban certain live horse race meets after a referendum is held and if a majority of those casting votes in that referendum election decide that live horse racing meets should not be held in that second-class township, if it is within 50 miles of a current existing racetrack. The problem is, Mr. President, we went from what was an unequivocal clear ban to a situation where the local township supervisors apparently have the power and authority to accomplish the same thing, and no one can disagree with the right of a local governing body to make those decisions, but I think the language is somewhat unclear, somewhat ambiguous as to whether or not those supervisors are bound or are not bound by the results of the referendum. Additionally, I am not positive that because this act takes effect in 60 days that it will have any effect on Cranberry Township, which is of immediate concern to the people of my Senatorial district. Therefore, Mr. President, with those misgivings and with the regret that my language which banned live horse racing within 50 miles of a current track was gutted in the House of Representatives at the insistence of the Governor's Office, I do ask, nevertheless, for Senate concurrence in those House amendments and that we pass, finally, House Bill No. 146 here today and send that document to the Governor for his signature.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, Senator Mellow is in his office meeting with some people on the budget, and I would request a temporary Capitol leave.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lincoln requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Mellow. The Chair hears no objection. The leave will be granted.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, I would just point out to the Members that this legislation was considered within the past few weeks. At that particular time the Members on this side of the aisle chose not to support the legislation. We expressed a number of concerns, the basic premise of which was the fact that the language in this particular bill could, in fact, provide a mechanism by which township supervisors may, in fact, pass over the most qualified candidates and thereby find a way to avoid hiring either minorities or women or someone else who they chose not to hire by utilizing the language of this bill. I would just point that out for the Members of both sides of the aisle.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration, as amended?

Senator AFFLERBACH, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A1886:

Amend Title, page 1, line 13, by removing the period after "business" and inserting: ; and further providing for brokers' licenses and penalties for acting as a broker without a license.

Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 14 and 15:

Section 2. Section 622 of the act, amended March 28, 1974 (P.L.231, No.52) and repealed in part April 28, 1978 (P.L.202, No.53), is amended to read:

Section 622. Brokers' Licenses.—(a) The Insurance Commissioner may issue, to any person of at least eighteen years of age or to any copartnership or corporation, a license to act as an insurance broker to negotiate contracts of insurance or reinsurance, with any insurance company, association, or exchange, or the agents thereof, authorized by law to transact business within this Commonwealth. No license shall be issued to any corporation to act as an insurance broker unless by its charter it is authorized to engage in the business of insurance or real estate. Before any license is issued, the applicant shall make answer, in writing and under oath, to such interrogatories and on such forms and supplements as the Insurance Commissioner shall prepare and submit, which answers shall be vouched for by indorsement of at least two agents or by the officers of any insurance company, association, or exchange, who are acquainted with the applicant, to the effect that the applicant is of good business reputation, and has experience in underwriting, other than soliciting, and is worthy of a license. When the Insurance Commissioner is satisfied that the applicant is worthy of a license, and that he is reasonably familiar with provisions of the insurance laws of this Commonwealth, he shall issue a broker's license to expire annually one year from date of issue, unless sooner revoked by the Insurance Commissioner for cause.

(b) The Insurance Commissioner may issue to any individual previously licensed as a broker whose license was in good standing but was not renewed, an administrative license, which shall indicate that the holder is in good standing with the Insurance Commission. The holder of an administrative license may not act as an insurance broker nor negotiate contracts of insurance or reinsurance. The customary licensing fee shall be assessed and any license shall be clearly marked administrative.

Section 3. Section 623 of the act, amended December 3, 1975 (P.L.471, No.137), is amended to read:

Section 623. Penalties for Acting as Broker Without a License, and Transacting Business with an Unlicensed Broker.— Any person, copartnership, or corporation transacting business as an insurance broker, within this Commonwealth, or soliciting insurance or transmitting for a partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation, other than himself or itself, an application for a policy of insurance, or offering or assuming to act in the negotiation of such insurance, or in any manner aiding in transacting an insurance business, or negotiating for or placing risks, or delivering policies or collecting premiums for policies which are effective in this State, without a license as broker, or in the case of title insurance without being admitted to practice as an attorney-at-law or being licensed as a real estate broker or real estate agent, unless he or she or it be acting as a licensed agent and then only for the companies he, she or it is duly licensed by this Commonwealth to represent, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. Any company, association, or exchange, or the agent of any company, association, or exchange, accepting applications or orders for insurance or securing any insurance business through anyone acting without a license, as aforesaid, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. A holder of an administrative license shall, upon sentencing under this section, forfeit the administrative license. Prosecution for any violation under this section may be instituted by the Insurance Commissioner or a duly designated deputy.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 15, by striking out "2" and inserting: 4

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator AFFLERBACH. Mr. President, I understand the amendment is not agreed to and therefore requires a bit of explanation. It really is a very innocuous amendment that would apply to very few people in the Commonwealth. It creates within the Insurance Department a new classification of licensure known as an administrative license. This particular administrative license would be for those individuals who have been brokers in good standing but no longer are because they have moved on to an administrative capacity within their particular organization. The amendment would permit them to remain through the creation of an administrative license as an individual in good standing with the insurance department. During the past questions have sometimes been raised as to why an individual who has moved on to administrative capacity has not maintained a brokers license. Oftentimes that question was asked to determine whether or not something had occurred that would cause the individual to give up that license for other than reasons of good standing. This simply clarifies that was not the case, that the person gave up the license simply because they were no longer actively selling insurance, but rather acting in an administrative capacity. I would ask approval of the amendment.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I would simply remind the Members of our caucus that this is an amendment that we discussed in caucus today. There were some concerns raised about how narrowly the amendment was drawn as far as the licensing process and there was an alternative as far as the licensing bill that had already been passed that these individuals could very possibly qualify under. Therefore, I would ask for a negative vote on the amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator AFFLERBACH and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 1115 (Pr. No. 1236) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, further providing for rights of accused in criminal prosecutions.

Considered the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third consideration?

Senator LEWIS, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment No. A1434:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 9), page 2, lines 5 through 11, by striking out "The right" in line 5 and all of lines 6 through 11

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1115 is a proposal which I have cosponsored because I believe the basic objective which the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Greenleaf, as the principal sponsor wants to achieve is worthy of our effort. By way of background, the Members may recall that a number of years ago this General Assembly expressed its concern about the trauma often encountered by children in the process of giving testimony relating to alleged abuse cases. As a result of our concern for the impact and the difficulty and the emotional trauma that was likely to be experienced by young children in the process of having to give testimony related to charges of abuse, we passed legislation which became the law of this Commonwealth that made it possible under certain circumstances for these children to provide testimony through videotaped means.

A short while ago the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, in interpreting our Constitution, in effect, threw out that legislatively prescribed opportunity for indirect testimony by children. In essence, what has occurred is that we are back to the position in which we found ourselves before we adopted the legislation, being that children will have to be present in the courtroom and be subjected to cross-examination at any point when there is an abuse charge which has been made. I believe we need to seek means to again make it lawful in this Commonwealth for children, under certain circumstances, to be shielded from the rigors of cross-examination in an open courtroom. Having said that, I think the Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision, in what we now call the Ludwig case, was an accurate application of the current language in the Pennsylvania Constitution. Currently our Constitution provides: "In all criminal prosecutions the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and his counsel, to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, to meet the witnesses face to face." It is that language which our court has applied to come to the conclusion which I have described, and I think we need to find a way to change that. So the basic proposition in Senate Bill No. 1115 is to delete the existing language in our Constitution, the phrase, "meet the witnesses face to face," and substitute for that phrase the phrase, "be confronted with the witnesses against him." This new language would, in fact, track the kind of language which has been used in other states and which has been the subject of a number of other court decisions which again, with proper guidelines, provide for the limited type of protection and shielding for children which I think most of us would like to see in place in Pennsylvania. So to that extent I am supportive of the proposal as it is to be found in Senate Bill No. 1115. My amendment, however, would propose to strike out all of the language to be found on page 2 of Senate Bill No. 1115. This language, in my opinion, is unnecessary. It is bad policy and I think it, in fact, does not accomplish the objective which the principal sponsor seeks to achieve, and let me explain why I have arrived at each of those three conclusions.

First of all, the language would compel the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to, in effect, track the decisions that come from the United States Supreme Court. While I think it is unnecessary because the new phrase which proposes to be substituted into our Constitution has already been the subject of decisions, including decisions from the United States Supreme Court, they are on point with the objective that we seek to achieve. It would seem, therefore, to be reasonable that the Pennsylvania court would have no reason to not track the decisions that are already in place with respect to similar language, and so I would expect that the further admonition in this bill as a practical matter would be completely unnecessary.

Secondly, and of greater concern to me, is the fact that I think this kind of approach to constitutional drafting is extremely bad public policy. If there is a problem which we believe needs to be addressed, and there is, then let us address it with language with which we are satisfied, that we understand and that we expect to have the Pennsylvania Supreme Court follow. Neither I nor anyone else in this Chamber has any idea what kinds of decisions might be forthcoming at any time in the future from the United States Supreme Court. We do not know if they may be liberal decisions that open up circumstances with which some here would disagree and not want to have Pennsylvania follow. We do not know if they might be so-called conservative decisions that go in a direction that offends others within this Body and within Pennsylvania. Put very simply, if we are going to have a Constitution by which Pennsylvanians are to be governed, then let it be a Constitution that is written by us subject to the interpretations by our court and the actions of this General Assembly consistent with the amendment process if we disagree with those actions. To delegate this responsibility, to delegate this authority to some other branch of government over which we have no control and no influence seems to me to be the height of folly with regard to an approach for fundamental public policy. I would urge everyone in this Chamber not to follow what may seem to be a simple road at this moment for this subject, because it is a road which is going to create a precedent that I believe we will all come to learn to regret.

Thirdly, and maybe most importantly if the arguments I have already made will not be sufficient to persuade those who want to achieve this objective to support the amendment, I believe the language which is in this bill does exactly the opposite from what the sponsor seeks to achieve. Let me explain. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court said that children as witnesses have to be subjected to cross-examination. The current holdings by the United States Supreme Court say that there are certain circumstances in which children may be protected from that cross-examination. I believe that any interpretation of the words of limitation would lead to a conclusion that Pennsylvania's current position on the law is clearly more restrictive than that of the United States Supreme Court. We are not providing the opportunity for children to be treated in a different fashion. We are not providing a more liberal interpretation of the right of an accused to confront a witness. What the Pennsylvania Supreme Court is doing is providing a much more restrictive interpretation than that which the United States Supreme Court is willing to accept. Well, if that analysis is accurate, let us look at the language in the bill on page 2. It says, "The right of the accused to be confronted with the witnesses against him shall not exceed the right mandated by the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution." I submit to you that Pennsylvania is not in any way in its current interpretation exceeding the right that is mandated by the Sixth Amendment in the United States Constitution. I want to suggest to you that even if we pass this proposal and do so again in another Session of this General Assembly, and if this becomes the constitutional law of the land of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court can interpret this language, if they choose, to mean that an accused has the right to confront a witness and that it will not, in fact, exceed the language of the United States Supreme Court. So, knowing as I do that the principal sponsor, in fact, wants to provide protection for the children of this Commonwealth, I submit the very use of the words "exceed" and "expanded," which are to be found in the phraseology which I propose to delete, will accomplish exactly the opposite objective from that which he intends.

So, Mr. President, for the reasons that I have enumerated, the fact that the language is unnecessary, the fact that it creates very bad public policy, the fact that it does not accomplish the objective of the sponsor, I would urge an affirmative vote for the amendment. If we support this amendment, what we still have is the language to be found on page 1, line 13 of this proposal which I think will achieve the objectives which I believe the overwhelming majority of us in this Chamber really seek to achieve. Let us not cause problems for ourselves by trying to go too far. We know what we need to do. This is a sound way to go about the task. Let us not confuse, let us not corrupt the process. Let us not create a problem for ourselves which we will not want to have to face in the future. I urge an affirmative vote for the amendment.

Senator GREENLEAF. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the amendment. As my colleague has indicated, this situation goes back some years ago. I first introduced this legislation after the Committee on Judiciary had held extensive hearings throughout the state and found a significant problem of child abuse and child sexual abuse in the Commonwealth. One of the more common problems we found also was that many of the prosecutions were not terribly successful because they involved young children of tender years of five, six, seven years of age who then have to face an adult process and adult law enforcement and a judicial process where they are interviewed by a police officer and grilled by them to ascertain the veracity of their story and then go to a preliminary hearing and have a defendant, an adult defendant, an adult judge, an adult defense attorney questioning them, cross-examining them and then going through a number of other preliminary procedures and then going through a trial in which the defense attorney had another shot at him and another adult had another shot at him and going through a very, very difficult situation that even an adult would have difficulty dealing with, let alone a child. After reviewing the American Bar Association's proposals, the Young Lawyer Division, which indicated they would recommend that in these types of cases where it is appropriate and where a judge had a review of the matter and determined that psychologically it would be best for the child that the defendant only had one shot at the child and to really allow them to play on a level playing field and even up the rules a little bit, that such a procedure would be allowed.

The legislation was introduced in the past. There was a Monroe County case—the Ludwig case—in which this procedure was used and it worked its way through the courts. The defendant was convicted and it went to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. A number of district attorneys have established videotaping procedures and particularly the Philadelphia District Attorney's office has done that. They have been waiting for a decision on this matter for years and they are ready to use this procedure and increase their capability of obtaining convictions in this area once it is approved. While we were waiting, after the bill was passed, for the Ludwig decision to come down, the United States Supreme Court came down with their decision in Craig v. Maryland and stated, basically, that it was permissible under the United States Constitution to use closed-circuit or videotape depositions of a child abuse victim in the prosecution. We thought that was a positive of the issue and the matter would be closed. Much to my surprise and shock, as I am sure many of us were in the Commonwealth, our Supreme Court then came down with the Ludwig case and found that even though it is not a violation of the United States Constitution, they found it was a violation of the Pennsylvania Constitution in that there was, instead of saying "confrontation," they used the phrase in the Pennsylvania Constitution "face to face." I think it is an insignificant difference, that, in fact, the same purpose was meant, and I do not believe that on purely the language of the two Constitutions this case was decided but more on philosophical grounds than anything other than that. As a result, in consultation with the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office and other prosecution and law enforcement agencies, we decided that we should, yes, clarify the Pennsylvania Constitution to have it conform to the federal Constitution and use the word "confrontation" or "confronted" rather than "face to face," but to be realistic and to understand there was more than just the wordage here that caused this decision and to deal with the philosophical difference and to make sure there was no misunderstanding of what our intention was, that there was an explanatory note added which, basically, stated that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court was not to interpret our Constitution to have it extend greater rights to the criminal than the United States Constitution does. I think the dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Nix, where he stated the distinction drawn between the federal and state Constitutions, is not only superficial but is indeed a demonstration of only incorrect, it is clear that the court understood that there really was no significant difference between the two. So it is imperative for us, I believe, to make sure there is no way this change can be interpreted in any other way. I fear we could go through this process for four or five years clarifying our Constitution and then find out after another two or three years with another case going before the Supreme Court they still interpret and state they are interpreting "confrontation" to still mean the child victim cannot take advantage of this proceeding.

There have been 14 other states that have changed their Bill of Rights in response to such proceedings, two of which, Florida and California, have specifically inserted in their constitutions after an electoral process similar to ours. For example, in Florida, their constitution in 1982 was amended by the people of the State of Florida to read—this dealt with the search and seizure issue—"This right shall be construed in conformity with the 4th Amendment to the United States Constitution, as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court.” Then California came down with a very similar provision where they changed their constitution and indicated, and it reads in their constitution, that these are “...obligations or responsibilities which exceed those imposed by the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution....” Again it refers back to the United States Constitution that neither of those rights can be expanded beyond what is provided for by the United States Constitution. So we have two states that have adopted similar procedures. The Florida Constitution was brought before the United States Supreme Court and found that it was proper for them to do it. In a concurring opinion filed by Justice Burger, he indicated that the people of Florida had the right to do this. Let us really try to deal with this issue in regard to these changes. I want to be sure that victims of child abuse and child sexual abuse are not confronted with this problem in the future. If you want to make sure that a child who is molested has the right, after judicial review, of using closed-circuit or videotaped depositions, if you want to make sure that the playing field in the courtroom is evened up for a child victim, if you want to make sure for once that we will have successful prosecutions in meritorious cases, if you want to make sure to stop these pedophiles that prey upon children and molest somewhere between 60 and 70 children in their lifetime, if you want to make sure that we convict these people and have them treated and dealt with in an appropriate way, then I would suggest that you vote against this amendment and leave the bill as drafted.

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, if you want to make sure that these children are going to have the opportunities the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Greenleaf, has described as being the objective which he seeks here, then why not do it by putting the language into the Constitution? There is no way to be more certain about what we can guarantee than putting language into a proposed constitutional amendment that would say as a matter of constitutional law in Pennsylvania that the circumstances with regard to children's testimony in abuse cases may be allowed for as adopted by statute of the General Assembly, because I want to tell you that I am as concerned as he is, and the last place in the world in which I am prepared to now place my reliance is on the United States Supreme Court because I do not have the confidence that the decision that was handed down a couple of years ago is going to continue necessarily and as a guarantee to be the law of this country. I do not know how the gentleman can be so self-confident of that either, particularly in view of some of the decisions this Supreme Court has handed down within the last few days and the last few weeks. He admitted what he is trying to do is to overcome what he sees as being a philosophical statement by the State Supreme Court. Well, I want to overcome that too, but the answer he is proposing is to use the philosophical statement of the moment of the United States Supreme Court and that to me seems like you are jumping out of the frying pan right into the fire. It might be an answer at the moment, but it certainly provides us with no guarantee for any time or any future decision or interpretation in the future. The gentleman says he wants to be sure there is no way this language can be misinterpreted, yet what he is suggesting is that we place all of our faith and confidence on whatever the philosophical bent of the United States Supreme Court might be in the future, and I am personally not willing to do that. There is a right way to go about solving this problem, and it is not with the language that is in this bill. I would urge the gentleman and all others who are as concerned about this as I am and as I believe he is, to do this the right way, and the right way is not to rely upon the United States Supreme Court. If you are fearful that the approach which I have suggested may not give you a guarantee as to the philosophical bent of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, then let us pull this bill off the Calendar and go back and write language that will specifically insert into the Constitution of Pennsylvania the language that will guarantee that we as a General Assembly can adopt this statute providing for special circumstances for the testimony of children and get ourselves away from any future problem about the philosophical bent or interpretation of any Supreme Court, whether it is the state Supreme Court or the United States Supreme Court.

The proposal that is being offered here is not solving the problem, and I would urge my colleagues to take note of that, to adopt my amendment or else to put aside this bill until we can have the opportunity to totally rewrite this language and really address the issue that is at hand.

Senator BRIGHTBILL. Mr. President, I have been listening to the debate as proposed by the gentleman from Bucks and I think one might find that debate analogous to the horses that one rides on a merry-go-round. If you pick up his argument at some point and you follow it long enough, you are going to come back to the beginning.

Let me just talk about what the gentleman says. The gentleman says, number one, that his amendment should be adopted which strikes out the language beginning on page 2, line 5, with the words “The right” and strikes out the rest of that language. Now that language is inserted there. In the Committee on Judiciary I asked a lot of questions about that language and I had someone check with a constitutional scholar to make sure that language was indeed appropriate because I was kind of taken aback by that language. I was not sure it was appropriate, but that language is intended to ensure that the interpretation placed in Senate Bill No. 1115 from line 13 be the interpretation that the General Assembly would want, which is the interpretation that we are going to permit this kind of testimony. Now the gentleman from Bucks offers an amendment to gut out that language which means that the words “be confronted with the witnesses against him” could mean anything that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania says they mean. That is kind of intriguing because now what the gentleman says is that even these words are not tough enough, that we need stronger words and we need different words. I guess my question to the gentleman from Bucks is it was several weeks ago that we had that meeting. He has had many, many weeks to come up with those words, to come up with that language, and the language is not here before us today. Frankly, Mr. President, we all know that had the gentleman said that we were looking for language and that he will be on this floor tomorrow with that language, could we go over this bill for one more day, we know that courtesy would have been granted. The truth is, Mr. President, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has a lot of authority and goes beyond interpreting the Constitution, and sitting here made me remember an experience I had as either a district attorney or an assistant district attorney. I remember there was a decision—and I apologize to the Members because I cannot think of the specifics on this—where we in the district attorney's office were thrown out of court by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, and it was a ruling where they indicated that something had occurred, had been violative with the Constitution. At least that is the way I read the decision. I decided that I was going to file an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court since my feeling was that this depended on a constitutional interpretation and the process that went through this required that there be a decision whether this decision was based upon the court's interpretation of the U.S. Constitution or whether it was based upon the court's interpretation of—I am not sure if it was a rule or the court's overall exercise of—its authority over the criminal justice system of Pennsylvania. The court came back and, my recollection was, indicated that this was not an interpretation of the U.S. Constitution but, rather, they were exercising their general overall authority to kind of do what is right in their view in Pennsylvania. Without the language that is on page 2 of this bill and without the language that talks about an expansion by decisional law or court rule, we can do whatever we want today and we can pass whatever bill we want. We can amend the Constitution but the Pennsylvania Supreme Court can then do as it pleases. We have to send a very strong message. If the gentleman from Bucks has a stronger message to send, if he wants to gut this language and add stronger language, if he wants to propose a bill that does a better job than the words selected by the Senator from Montgomery, I will be very glad to vote for that language, but I will not vote for an amendment that guts language and leaves us in a weaker position, and we are in a weaker position. We are in a position where the Pennsylvania Supreme Court can decide what we did means whatever it says we meant, and they will not even look at the record that we made here today. They will not even consider the comments that were made here today in terms of what we are trying to accomplish, so I would ask for a "no" vote.

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, I am always willing to follow the sage advice of any of my colleagues. I have listened carefully to what the gentleman from Lebanon said, and consistent with his recommendation to me, I am prepared and willing to have more specific language ready for us to consider tomorrow and accordingly would ask if this bill could now go over in order.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Senator LEWIS. Mr. President, I would like to withdraw my request that the bill go over in its order and ask that we return to the issue of the amendment.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, Senator Jubelirer and Senator Corman have been called to their offices, and I would request temporary Capitol leaves on their behalf.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leave for Senator Scanlon.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Loeper requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Jubelirer and Senator Corman. Senator Lincoln requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Scanlon. The Chair hears no objection. Those leaves will be granted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator BORTNER. Mr. President, in speaking in favor of this amendment, I am going to try to be brief and not restate so much of what has already been said. The gentleman from Bucks, Senator Lewis, I believe has provided a good background on this issue—how it came before us, what has happened before in the courts as well as here in the Legislature, and I agree with everything that he said. I also would want to commend the sponsor of the legislation, the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Greenleaf, for bringing this issue before the General Assembly. I think it is important. He is attempting to correct, I think, an issue that needs to be addressed and I certainly share his concern about the ability of children to testify in criminal cases. I say that as someone who has prosecuted some of these cases in the past. I think, however, in his zeal to deal with this issue, he has probably provided us with legislation that not only in certain parts is unnecessary but also becomes confusing. In my opinion, I think the language that appears on the first page of this bill is sufficient to address the problem that the Supreme Court had in the Ludwig case. In that case they interpreted the language of our Constitution literally and said that language, meeting your witnesses face to face, means just that and that would not permit the use of videotape testimony. The language that is proposed to replace that phrase, "be confronted with witnesses against him," is very similar to language that appears in the United States Constitution in which the United States Supreme Court in the case of Craig v. Maryland has already been approved. I think this creates a bad precedent. I think it is wrong to try to state what our Supreme Court can or cannot decide or to try to tie up the decisions of the United States Supreme Court for a couple reasons. We have a state Supreme Court. I think it is important. They are the highest authority on our Constitution and I think we ought to recognize that, whether we agree with an individual decision or not. Of a bigger concern to me is the fact that this language, I think, is at best confusing. Senator Lewis has stated that he thinks it actually creates the opposite, or will result in an opposite interpretation of that being intended. At best I think it is confusing. I do not know what it means when it says that it cannot exceed the rights mandated by the Sixth Amendment. I am not sure what exceed means in this term. It is certainly not a legal term or term of art. I am also not sure what it means when it says it cannot be judicially expanded. I am not sure whether that means a more liberal or a more restrictive interpretation. I believe that in amending the Constitution we ought to try to be as clear and as direct and as unambiguous as we possibly can. I think the very brief language that appears in the first page gets the job done. I listened to the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Brightbill, explain that if we do not do this, if we do not add this additional language, we allow the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to interpret this any way that they choose. Well, they are going to interpret it any way they choose regardless of whether we include the language that the Lewis amendment intends to take out. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court is the highest authority interpreting our Constitution, and they will interpret this any way they choose to. I believe we give them more room to interpret the intent of this legislation by including that language than if it were removed. I would suggest if we want to get the job done and permit the use of videotape testimony in those limited circumstances the General Assembly provided for when that legislation was originally passed several years ago, and which I supported and I am sure many other Members did here too, I believe we do that by supporting the Lewis amendment, taking out the extraneous language and limiting the change to the Constitution to the clear language that appears on line 13 of Senate Bill No. 1115.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I urge a "no" vote on the following nominees.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator SALVATORE. I will, Mr. President.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I would like to ask if it is the intention to vote against the four judges?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would interpose his knowledge of the situation. Senator Salvatore just briefly spoke and asked for a negative vote.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I am sorry. I understand he did call for a negative vote and I wanted to ask why?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I guess that is my prerogative.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, it is my understanding that the Republican Party has been opposing these judges. Can he give us any grounds for doing so? These are judges, for the information, who were considered qualified by the Bar Association. They were endorsed by both Democratic and Republican parties in the primaries. They won handily on both the Democrat and Republican slates. They are highly qualified. They are ready to go to work. They would like to be confirmed. We need these judges to be working in Philadelphia. Everyone knows we have a backlog in the court system and the judges have been working very hard to move through the system. These are qualified judges elected in the primary by both the Republicans and the Democrats. They will be elected in November. We can put them to work right now dealing with the serious court situation we have in Philadelphia. I do not see any reason for this. In fact, it is a very good reason to confirm these very qualified judges and to move ahead and allow them to serve on the bench in Philadelphia. I just question why the Republicans are calling for a negative vote on these judges?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I think they are very highly qualified and I am sorry that we have to vote in the negative, but the Supreme Court has seen fit to cut the staff in Philadelphia. In fact, they have eliminated so much of the staff there would not be any staff for these judges, and I am just trying to help the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in their budget problems. So that is why we are voting "no."

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, if I may, I think we are all very aware of the fact that, in fact, it is usually typically the Republicans, but we too call on government, including the third branch of government, the court system, to be efficient, to do what they need to do, to be as lean in these hard economic times as they possibly can be. We have started to see some action on that in the Philadelphia court system, some cutbacks, possibly very appropriately to make sure we have the employees we need but not to have excessive employees. I believe that the courts, in fact, have been commended for that kind of action that we have seen in the court system to start to cut back and to create a more efficient and responsive court system in Philadelphia. These judges should not be held hostage by any kind of personal problems the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, may have with some of those reductions in staff, and it really should not be these particular judges who are going to be held accountable for what has already been considered by many in the public—

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, will state it.

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, the lady from Philadelphia, Senator Schwartz, is saying I have some personal feelings or personal remarks about the judges. I think that has nothing to do with it. It is not a personal matter and she is making it seem like it is a personal matter between me and the Supreme Court.

The PRESIDENT. The gentle lady from Philadelphia, Senator Schwartz, has completed her interrogation. Correct? She is recognized for some additional comments on this subject.

Senator SCHWARTZ. Mr. President, I would just like to make it very clear to my colleagues in the Senate that these are, as I said, qualified judges. They should be confirmed today. There is absolutely no reason why they should not be sent to work. As I said, they have been endorsed and duly elected in the primary by both the Republican and Democratic parties. They are endorsed by those parties, they are endorsed by the people, they will be elected in November, and we should put them to work in our court system in Philadelphia, and I call on everyone to do what is best for moving forward towards a responsive and effective court system in Philadelphia. We like to get up here and blast Philadelphia, time and time again. Here is a time when I can say let us do something for Philadelphia, let us put three good judges to work.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I cannot understand the attitude of my Republican colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, in wanting to block the confirmation of three eminently qualified individuals to judgeships in Philadelphia. In fact, Mr. President, these three people will be sworn in in January of next year because not only were they endorsed by both the Republican and Democratic Parties in Philadelphia, but they also won both primary elections, as was said by the lady from Philadelphia, Senator Schwartz. I never want to hear again any criticism whatsoever from that side of the aisle of Philadelphia and the way it handles its court system or the fact that Philadelphia has to let criminals out of prison because they cannot be tried. I heard for years the former Republican candidate for Mayor, the endorsed Republican candidate for Mayor and at the time the Republican District Attorney of Philadelphia, say how horrible it was that prisoners and people were being let out of jail, and he tried to blame Mayor Goode for that. But now, Mr. President, we see, in fact, the real reason why, and the reason why these people are not going to be confirmed has nothing to do with the criminal backlog of Philadelphia, even though it is great. It has nothing to do with whether or not we want to keep criminals in jail. It has to do with the petty political, partisan politics of the other side of the aisle. They are upset that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania came in and fired an untold number of Republican hacks who were sitting in that system drawing paychecks for doing nothing, and this is their form of retribution. They have added arrogance to ignorance. They are slapping the citizens of Philadelphia in the face by going soft on crime and saying, we do not want judges to handle criminal cases because we are upset that some of our people got fired in the courts. Are they saying to me they are no longer fiscal conservatives, that they would rather Philadelphia throw away money down the toilet in that court system? Is that what they are saying to me? Are they upset that some relatives of their political party leaders lost their jobs and in return for that they are going to hold up the confirmation of these three judges? Then let the blood be on the hands of Senator Salvatore, and let the word go out today that he is the one who wants to let prisoners continually be released from the Philadelphia prisons because they cannot be tried. I never once again want to hear criticism from that side of the aisle about Philadelphia's mismanagement on anything because now you are the problem. You are the cause of the situation. It is not going to be our fault. It is your fault. I could even understand this if these people were not, in fact, endorsed by their party, but the true fact of the matter was that they could not find enough qualified Republicans of their own to endorse. These are the only three people in the last election who won both primaries. I admit it is unfortunate they are all Democrats, but that is not my problem. We are supposed to be removing politics from the courts in Pennsylvania, not inserting it at this petty level. Let Senator Salvatore answer to the people of Philadelphia. Let Senator Salvatore answer to the people of the northeast when they open those prison gates in the northeast and let more of those people out because they, in fact, cannot be tried because we do not have judges. We will not have these judges because their hacks happened to have lost some ghost payroll jobs. Is that not a shame? Is this not a wonderful day for the Pennsylvania Senate's history where we are appalled by the fact that we have gotten rid of some political patronage in Philadelphia to the point that we now want to stymie the criminal justice system in that county? Is this not a wonderful day for our history? Again the Majority fails to recognize its responsibility to govern. Again the Majority still wants to play petty politics with the lives of Pennsylvanians, and I resent that as a Philadelphian because now you are messing with my county. I do not want my wife and children to be subject to abuse from criminals who are going to be left out on the streets because Senator Salvatore does not like the fact that some of his friends lost a job. I hope that it never happens, but I pray that his family is never abused by any of these criminals. Maybe they will not be, because he must live in a safer neighborhood, I do not know. But, Mr. President, this is a disgrace on this Senate. It is a black mark that we will not soon recover from, and I am appalled and angered by it. I would urge those Republicans on that side of the aisle who have some hope for humanity, who have some sense of justice, who have some sense of compassion, who have some sense of responsibility to ignore the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia and vote in the affirmative so we can have some judges who will be tough on criminals. That is the battle cry from over there. We have to get tough with crime. Well, you start by putting in enough judges so they can hear the cases. Now that we have a Democratic district attorney in Philadelphia, she is going to want to prosecute more cases, but she cannot find judges. Again, I apologize that you cannot find a Republican to run for that office, and I thank you for endorsing our Democratic candidate for that office as well, but, Mr. President, we need these judges. We have to have these judges. If not, criminals will continue to walk the streets of Philadelphia. That sin is not only on Senator Salvatore's hands but it is on the hands of everyone today who votes "no," regardless of where you come from, because when our prisoners get out of jail in northeast Philadelphia, they do not know the constraints of the Philadelphia boundaries. They might go into Bucks, Chester, Montgomery or Delaware Counties. They might even get on a bus and go out to Lancaster or Allegheny Counties. I warn you, protect yourselves. Give us the judges that we need and stop this nonsense.

Senator BRIGHTBILL. Mr. President, if you could turn the mike up a little bit of the gentleman from Philadelphia, we had a hard time hearing him over here. I would just say to the gentleman that he who is without sin shall throw the first stone. Now, I know the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, and I know Philadelphia is important to Senator Fumo and I know that he gets pretty excited about Philadelphia County. Well, Senator, I get pretty excited about the areas that I represent.

I pulled out a copy of the Legislative Journal dated April 3, 1989, and before the Senate was the question, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Scott D. Keller, Esquire, as Judge, Court of Common Pleas of Berks County? I got up and I recited the gentleman's qualifications. There were 27 "aye" votes and 21 "no" votes, and of the 27 "aye" votes there were two from Berks County. One was Senator O'Pake, who voted in the affirmative, and the other was Senator Brightbill, who voted in the affirmative. We needed a judge in Berks County. Well, let us see here. Let us look at this record and see where the Philadelphia delegation was and how concerned about crime in the street they were back on April 3, 1989. Let us look at the roll call here. Fumo, no. Senator Fumo, was that a "no?" That was a "no," Mr. President. When it came to Berks County and when it came to confirming a judge who was appointed by Governor Casey, who was endorsed by both parties, this was a "no" vote. Now, let us not—

POINT OF ORDER

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow, will state it.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I object to the discussion on the floor right now by the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Brightbill. It is not relevant whatsoever to the merit of the discussion about whether three judges in Philadelphia should or should not be confirmed. I think, Mr. President, the gentleman is bordering on the line of trying to impugn the character of Members of the Senate, and I think we should have some very strong instructions from the Chair as to how far you will allow the debate to wander.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman's point is well taken. The issue at hand is the confirmation of several judges, four from the Philadelphia area, one from Delaware County and one from Dauphin County. It would be well advised for all to restrict their comments to the issue at hand.

Senator BRIGHTBILL. Mr. President, I am calm. You know, I have sat here for the last week and I have listened to Senator Fumo and I have not heard you tell him to calm down yet, have I? Maybe that admonition ought to be thrown around a little more frequently.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman would yield, the Chair would advise the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, to remain calm as well.

Senator BRIGHTBILL. Mr. President, at any rate, you know, I have been here eight and a half years and I have seen judges knocked down time after time for whatever good solid reason Members have had for doing that, and I am not particularly proud to be part of the process but that is the process we have to engage in for whatever reason. When Senator Fumo and the Philadelphia delegation want to come forward and put that process aside, I will be here to welcome them with open arms. I have great respect for the Senator from Philadelphia. I think he is a bright and talented man, but I would suggest that, perhaps, to ignore the political history of this Chamber and stand up and make a speech as if this were a vacuum and this were the only time we have ever had these kinds of issues on nominations is, perhaps, unrealistic.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Williams. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled. Also, Senator Hopper is with us. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled as well.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, before the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow, had raised his objection I was ready to come to the mike, and I am still ready to come to the mike. In answer to the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Brightbill, I do not recall during that debate on Mr. Keller that someone from that county got up and said the reason why he did not want them confirmed was because the Supreme Court had fired some people in his court system. I do not recall that in the record. In fact, I also do not recall that individual had at that time won both primaries. Mr. President, the situation and the facts are distinctly different, but I will enlighten the gentleman, Senator Brightbill, as to what happened back then. We did not confirm Mr. Keller because the Majority was holding up a Robert E. Simpson from Northampton County. And guess what we did, Mr. President, on April 19th of that year? We horse traded and confirmed both of them 49-0. If the gentleman wants to tell me that we can confirm these three people in three more weeks—because we will be here because of the budget I am sure—that is okay. They can wait three more weeks, but I do not ever recall Senator Brightbill or anyone else from that side of the aisle having the audacity or arrogance to get up and say, we do not want these people confirmed because the Supreme Court fired some of our friends from the court system. I understand politics. I understand horse trading.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, will state it.

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I am not an arrogant man. I did not say anything with arrogance, and I did not say anything about firing any of my friends. I am trying to help the Supreme Court. They cut the budget. They are short of money. They do not have the staff. All I was trying to do was be helpful. I did not get up here with any arrogance, and I would hope he would conduct himself as a person, like I try to act. I am not up here screaming at anybody and he is here screaming. I am going to have to go to a doctor to get my ears examined.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair accepts the protestations of Senator Salvatore and tends to agree. The gentleman from Philadelphia is dangerously close to impugning the motives of another Member of the Senate, and I would advise Senator Fumo to, again, remain calm.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I will withdraw the word "arrogant." In all deference to the gentleman, I did not think his skin was that thin, but I will withdraw that word and let the public be the judge of why and how and what is going on here.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, will state it.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I request that the Chair admonish the speaker to refrain from the personal attacks on another Member.

The PRESIDENT. The point of the gentleman from Allegheny is very well taken, and the Chair would instruct the gentleman from Philadelphia to restrain his comments to avoid personal references and to deal with the issue at hand which is the confirmation of the judges.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator SALVATORE. I will, Mr. President.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, is the gentleman aware that three of these individuals, in fact, won primaries on both tickets?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, yes.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, is the gentleman aware then that barring some unforeseen circumstance such as death or natural disaster, that these individuals will be sworn in as judges in January of 1992?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, yes.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, is the gentleman aware that, in fact, when they are sworn in they will have staffs available to them?

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I do not know.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I would then thank the gentleman for his interrogation. It is a shame he does not know the answer to that question, but I will give it to him. Yes, in fact, they will have staffs, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Has the gentleman completed his interrogation?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I have completed my interrogation.

The Supreme Court, at my request, along with the Speaker of the House, did, in fact, come into Philadelphia and clean up the court system as best it could. In fact, it saved millions of dollars and continues to try to do that. Mr. President, it was very clear when they came in and they have consistently stated publicly that they never ever will fire or get rid of the personal staffs of judges. There is money in the budget in Philadelphia to pay for the staffs of these three individuals that each judge will get, and that is, in fact, a law clerk, a tipstaff and a secretary. Mr. President, we all know that. The gentleman is playing games with this process. In fact, these judges could clearly and absolutely go a long way to reducing the criminal court backlog in Philadelphia if only the Republican Party would allow them to be seated now instead of in January. Now it is a shame, but if the gentleman wants to—I understand deals—I will go with him and we will both petition the Supreme Court to hire back a couple of people. He can give me a list and we will try. Just let him confirm these judges. There is too much at stake here to worry about the fact or be angry about the fact that Justice Papadakos came in and, I admit, he did make some disparaging remarks about the head of the Republican Party, Mr. Meehan, but he also made some about me and Mr. Brady, the head of the Democratic Party. We have to put that aside and get on with the business of governing, Mr. President. Now that is all I ask. I ask those Republicans on that side of the aisle, including Senator Brightbill, to join with us in the spirit that we joined with him on April 19, 1989 when we confirmed his judge, and others, 49-0. Today we could do it 50-0. Granted, you have legislative leave for the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell, who is busy in his district office, so we could actually confirm these people by a higher number. I will go with Senator Salvatore anywhere he wants to try and get the court to hire back anybody he wants. I do not know if we will be successful because that is the only objection he gave to me. He did not tell this Chamber that these people were not qualified. He did not tell this Chamber that these people were not going to be sworn in in January 1992. All he said was the Supreme Court, prior—

POINT OF ORDER

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore, will state it.

Senator SALVATORE. Mr. President, I resent the remarks that I am looking for jobs for my friends. That is what the gentleman is insinuating. I have made no reference to any jobs. I have made no reference to anybody, anybody in my family or any cousin or any relative, and the gentleman continues to say that I am looking to go to the Supreme Court to get a job back. We have had vacancies on that court. We have two vacancies that have been there for quite some time. I did not hear the gentleman say anything about those two vacancies.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman would yield. The Chair would agree with Senator Salvatore. The Chair did not hear in any of Senator Salvatore's remarks any particular reference to jobs or to his motivation other than wishing to help the Supreme Court. The gentleman from Philadelphia is taking extreme liberties in guessing at the motivation of another Senator. It is improper and it is unacceptable.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, could the Official Reporter then read back the remarks of Senator Salvatore concerning the Supreme Court and those jobs. The record speaks for itself. I never raised the issue of jobs.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman would yield for just a moment. The gentleman is entitled to appeal the decision of the Chair.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I would request a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Loeper.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I would request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Dawida, Senator Lewis and Senator Musto.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fisher asks for temporary Capitol leave for Senator Loeper. Senator Lincoln requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Dawida, Senator Lewis and Senator Musto. The Chair hears no objection. The leaves will be granted.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes for the conclusion of his remarks, Senator Fumo.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I do not believe I said I was ready to conclude yet, but maybe I will be. I had asked that the record be read back. Obviously, that is not the desire of the Chamber, but I think the remarks are very clear in response to the questioning and the interrogation of the lady from Philadelphia, Senator Schwartz. They, in fact, were the answers of the Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Salvatore. I did not raise it. I did not even ask the question. Now perhaps he is dissatisfied with his very own answer, but I cannot be responsible for that. He raised the issue, not I.

Mr. President, the fact still remains that we have not been given any reason whatsoever upon which to base a good decision as to whether or not these people should be confirmed. All we have are the protestations of Senator Salvatore for whatever reason he said in the record, and I think it is all very clear. He said it, not I, why we should not confirm these people today. I submit to this Chamber that the reason he set forth is, in fact, not valid whatsoever. In fact, it is one of the lamest excuses I have ever heard on this Senate floor, and I ask you to ignore his request and vote in the affirmative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Brydon H. Lidle, Jr. as District Justice?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator SALVATORE and were as follows, viz:

RECONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Senator WILLIAMS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate reconsider the vote by which the nominations of Frank W. Daly, Gary S. Glazer, Anne E. Lazarus, James Murray Lynn, Joseph A. Diorio and Brydon H. Lidle, Jr. were just defeated.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

Senator WILLIAMS. Mr. President, not to add to the debate here, but it seems as though the issue being discussed is discussed on a personal basis, and I would just like to suggest to the Chamber, Republicans and Democrats alike, it is an issue of law and order. The request to approve these judges has no factor whatsoever to it at all whereby there would be any objection. The failure to act, to give Philadelphia a replacement for these three judges who have to mandatorily retire, is purely and simply an act of bold indifference to the safety of the men, women and children of Philadelphia of this Commonwealth. I cannot imagine how any political perspective or persuasion that has been uttered in the last 20 years does not mandate that at each and every juncture we provide the manpower and the protection for the public to "put people away who belong away" or to mete out justice in a expeditious way. I do not know the motivations nor will I try to get into them of why there is any hesitation at all on these obviously mutually agreed upon, well-qualified people who will indeed take office a few months from now anyway, except some political agenda. But I urge a reconsideration by everyone here to submit ourselves to the uniform dictate that we all give lip service to. That is, that we want to protect our public, i.e., the Pennsylvanians of this Commonwealth against the sheer and awesome and overwhelming terror of everyday crime in and out of our houses. People who mug and rape our mothers, molest and abuse our children, hold up our stores, rife throughout the cities of this Commonwealth, and we can sit here and say that we have the luxury of, give us six or seven months. We do not care because all we do is put them into office and into operation. How callous are we? How unmindful are we? I am positive that we have not given any thought to that, but I remind us of all of the speeches laced with honey tongues and long hours of verbiage about how we want to and need to protect the public. They deserve that. Children deserve that. Neighborhoods deserve that. Women who are mugged and abused deserve that. The only way we can back that lip service with any degree of guarantee is to act, to vote, to say the least we can do is to put that manpower, not to add, but to replace manpower already gone. So, Mr. President, I would urge us to reconsider in a deliberate, sophisticated, profound and responsible fashion and not to let the urging of the well-driven emotion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, blind or distract us from the one very simple thing that faces us, and that is to just vote so that Pennsylvania and Philadelphia's people can have the simple protection of some disposition of all these criminal cases. In six months or so that is a lot of crime, Mr. President; in six months or so that is a lot of agony. In six months or so, Mr. President, that is a lot on our conscience, and so I urge us to vote in the affirmative on the reconsideration of this vote.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I would request a temporary Capitol leave for Senator Corman.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I request temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Andrezeski, Senator Fumo, Senator Porterfield and Senator Stout.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fisher requests temporary Capitol leave for Senator Corman and that leave is granted without objection. Senator Mellow requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Andrezeski, Senator Fumo, Senator Porterfield and Senator Stout. The Chair hears no objection. Those leaves will be granted.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would also note the presence on the floor of Senator Loeper. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair admits to being somewhat hasty in cutting the debate short in the first vote on this important issue and would offer the opportunity to any other Members who wish to speak on this issue now.

Senator FATTAH. Mr. President, not to prolong the debate but to add that there are some facts that I think we should take into consideration. Both sides here in the Senate have agreed that these judges are qualified. Both members of the political parties in Philadelphia in the primary voted these judges into office. Now we are faced with the postponement here of their confirmation. I think that is unfortunate. I think we need to look at the fact that as we look at the criminal backlog in Philadelphia, it has created a situation with many people because their cases are not being tried, and they are still able to commit additional crimes in the City of Philadelphia. I would not think we would want it on our conscience, this vote, so if there is some way the Majority Party could be persuaded to reconsider their position since we are reconsidering our vote here, I would think that would be wise. I do understand their prerogative in this matter, but I think that every reasonable fact would indicate that we should confirm these judges now so that their work can begin and so that we can live out our oath of office and our responsibility here in the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Brydon H. Lidle, Jr. as District Justice?

The yeas and nays were required by Senator WILLIAMS and were as follows, viz:

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I am offering this amendment on behalf of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, and my understanding is it is agreed to. In the Senate, July 2, 1991.

A RESOLUTION

Requesting that the Governor direct the State Treasurer to transfer sufficient funds from the General Fund to the State Lottery Fund to make immediate payment of total amounts due senior citizens under the Property Tax and Rent Rebate Program.

WHEREAS, The Casey Administration has deferred issuance of approximately $113 million in property tax and rent rebate checks to some 370,000 senior citizens normally paid early in July; and

WHEREAS, Governor Casey has reported that there are inadequate funds in the State Lottery Fund to cover such payments; and

WHEREAS, The General Fund had a cash balance in excess of $230 million and the State Lottery Fund had a cash balance in excess of $60 million at the close of business on July 1, 1991; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania urgently request that Governor Casey direct the State Treasurer to transfer sufficient funds from the General Fund to the State Lottery Fund to make immediate payment of the total amounts due to senior citizens under the Property Tax and Rent Rebate program; and be it further

The PRESIDENT. Senator Mellow requests temporary Capitol leaves for Senator Andrezeski, Senator Stapleton and Senator Williams. The Chair hears no objection. The leaves will be granted.

LEGISLATIVE LEAVES CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the presence on the floor of Senator Lemmond. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled. Also on the floor with us is Senator Fumo. His temporary Capitol leave will be cancelled.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, yesterday the Governor saw fit to hold a news conference to really talk about the budget impasse and the budget situation we are all facing here in the Commonwealth in trying to resolve a spending and revenue plan to put into place for the fiscal year 1991-92. But in that news conference the Governor put at the top of his list people who are being affected by the budget problem as those senior citizens throughout Pennsylvania. The Governor maintained that the checks for property tax and rent rebate programs could not be issued, and that is not a decision that is driven, in our view, by the availability of dollars. Rather, Mr. President, it is a decision that was made because it is viewed that the Governor is trying to create a crisis and particularly to utilize different groups across this Commonwealth who can be affected by the budget crisis, and particularly yesterday he targeted senior citizens at the top of his list. Mr. President, it is our view that decision the Governor made should be quickly reversed, and I believe by the action we can take here today, we will be in a position to try and reverse that decision. I think it is important if we look at the property tax and rent rebate program, it would take $113 million. That is the amount that is needed in order to issue the checks to each senior citizen who expects a property tax and rent rebate check during the early part of July. Currently there is over $60 million that is allocated to the Lottery Fund and available in the Lottery Fund, and in addition to that there is another $230 million that is available in the General Fund, and each day, Mr. President, tax money continues to roll in. For example, yesterday alone the General Fund received more than $20 million in revenues and today alone over $18 million. In the last two days we have generated an additional $38 million of revenue to the General Fund. The Governor, Mr. President, is empowered by law to direct the transfer of necessary funds in order to make payments. Certainly it would seem to us that given all the experience that this administration has gained in frantically shifting funds around during the fiscal year just concluded, this certainly should not be a difficult matter at all for them to transfer monies from the General Fund to the Lottery Fund in order that the property tax and rent rebates can be paid to our senior citizens in a timely fashion. It would seem much more prudent, Mr. President, instead of sending out 370,000 letters that were aimed to alarm our senior citizens and attempt to shift the blame for them not receiving their checks, the Governor should have sent the checks. It seems now the numbers show he clearly has the ability in order to pay those obligations to our senior citizens. It seems to me, Mr. President, by way of his press announcement yesterday and also the letters that had been mailed previously, the rhetoric creates a duty for the Governor to do so, to make that transfer to make sure the money is available in order that those checks can go out in a timely fashion. It is the intent of this resolution before us to urge him to do what is right for our senior citizens in Pennsylvania, and I would ask an affirmative vote for adoption of the resolution.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I have listened very intently to the remarks of the Majority Leader concerning this resolution, and I must honestly say this is just another Republican charade, another sham. If the gentleman is truly concerned about the senior citizens in Pennsylvania, all he has to do today is convene a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations, pass out a budget, whatever kind of budget he wants. It could even be a no-tax budget, and then pass it and all this stops. If the gentleman wants to add more spending to a no-tax budget, he can do that too today, and then he can go take the other bill sitting there, which is a tax bill already passed by the House, and amend it to include any kind of tax he wants to pay for it. This is not going to do anything, Mr. President. He would probably accomplish a lot more by sending a letter to the Governor, by calling him on the phone or maybe even he would have accomplished a lot more if he would have answered the phone calls when the Governor called him weeks ago to tell him about this impending crisis. Doing this does nothing, Mr. President. Let me tell the gentleman, perhaps he does not know—again, I really wish his staff were more productive—what the money in those funds is currently being used for. The $60 million already in the Lottery Fund is needed to keep the program running through July or else we will not have that money. You have to pay for the prizes or else we will all get arrested for mail fraud, maybe. You have to be able to pay for the PACE program and the other programs that are being offered, such as the shared ride program, and you have to administer the programs. That is what that $60 million is earmarked for. In addition, the other $230 million that the gentleman talks about and the other $38 million that we have collected in the last two days is being paid as follows because we do not have a budget. He fails to recognize his irresponsibility and his unwillingness to lead and govern because he is in the majority. What he fails to recognize is that money is currently being used to pay cash assistance, the same thing he passed a supplemental for the other day that we did not need. That money has to be paid and it is being paid at the rate of approximately $5 million per day. He also has to pay the mandated medical assistance programs that are already budgeted, $100 million in one payment and $50 million in another payment just this month. Lastly, he scheduled to make payments of $250 million to school districts, payments that were not able to be made in June because we did not have the money. If the gentleman is sincere in his choices, because that is what budgets are, they are choices, and if he is that worried about the senior citizens, and if he is willing to put them ahead of school districts, medical assistance and cash grants, then he ought to say so, because just to say I want to spend $113 million on this program or any other is a fairy tale.

Mr. President, at this time I rise to offer an amendment that I do not sincerely believe in, but I do believe in being accurate and I believe in choices, and what the gentleman is saying to me is that he wants that money used for that, so I would now like to offer amendment A1954 that I am sure the Majority Party will openly and quickly embrace.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Senator FUMO offered the following amendment No. A1954:

Amend First Resolved Clause, page 2, line 6, by inserting after "program": , so that use of the funds for payments under the Property Tax and Rent Rebate Program will have priority over use of the funds for payments to school districts, public assistance payments and medical assistance payments, as proposed by the Governor

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, what this says is that on page 2, line 6, after it states:

"RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania urgently request that Governor Casey direct the State Treasurer to transfer sufficient funds from the General Fund to the State Lottery Fund to make immediate payment of the total amounts due to senior citizens under the Property Tax and Rent Rebate program..." You now must say if that is your true intent, as follows: "so that use of the funds for payment under the Property Tax and Rent Rebate Program will have priority over use of the funds for payments to school districts, public assistance payments and medical assistance payments, as proposed by the Governor." If the gentleman is sincere in wanting something done, he has to make a choice today. He has to say openly before the entire Commonwealth that he wants senior citizens paid, which is a very admirable goal, but he wants them paid over people receiving cash grants and assistance, despite his supplemental budget of the other day, over medical assistance payments, despite his supplemental budget he passed the other day, and over the money already used for school districts that need it, which he continually cries the blues about that we have not paid. This is a game of choices. You pay one or the other when you have a budget. That is the essence of the word "budget." I submit if the gentleman is really serious, he will withdraw this resolution, stop this folly and pass a budget. If he wants to continue the charade, I guess we are mandated to participate to some degree. We offer this amendment and hope he is not hypocritical enough not to adopt it. I guess tomorrow, Mr. President, we will have another resolution urging that we pay the State Police, and maybe another one after that urging that we pay prison guards, and then we will get down to the more liberal people like the social services workers or whatever. But the way to do it, Mr. President, is for the Majority to exercise the awesome power it has by being in the majority and by understanding its equally awesome responsibility to govern by, in fact, today, not tomorrow, today putting on this floor a budget, either with or without the need of taxes, and a revenue bill for taxes if, in fact, it is needed. That is what the Majority is charged to do under our Constitution, nothing less. The people out in Pennsylvania cannot eat the paper this resolution is written on. They need hard currency to buy food, not paper. Mr. President, I urge the Majority to get serious. First, I urge them to adopt this amendment, but I would rather that they just stop all of this nonsense, withdraw the resolution and call us back to the table and tell us they are ready to talk about a real budget.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator FUMO. I will, Mr. President.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, can the gentleman tell us whether, in fact, public assistance payments have been made since June 30th?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, it is my information that they are in the process of being made, and I do not know specifically if they have been mailed out yet, but it was my information—and I conveyed that to the gentleman the last time we talked about the budget—that, in fact, the State Treasurer had agreed to start mailing out those checks. They had been processing them prior to that. So, as far as I know they are, in fact, being mailed or will be mailed shortly if they have not yet been mailed.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, could the gentleman tell me if those public assistance payments as outlined in his amendment were processed for both those individuals who are recipients for aid to families with dependent children as well as general assistance recipients in violation of the law?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I cannot tell him whether or not it is in violation of the law. Certainly someone will have to bring an issue into the courts if he finds it necessary to determine that, but I can, in fact, tell him that, yes, both cash grant recipients and people receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children are, in fact, being paid. If the gentleman has a problem with the law on that issue, I suggest he take it to the courts.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, is the gentleman aware that the State Treasurer already went to court in order to try to get a determination, a declaratory judgment, whether, in fact, that was the case?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I was not aware of that action.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, it is my understanding that action has been taken. Can the gentleman tell me about medical assistance payments and where he has that scheduled in his amendment and whether, in fact, medical assistance payments are currently being processed and paid by the State Treasurer?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, it is my understanding that those checks are, in fact, being processed, but they have not yet been paid, but they are budgeted to be paid in the amount of $100 million, and I think there is a second cycle after that during this month of an additional $50 million that is due.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, that is all I have on the interrogation. I thank the gentleman. I would like to speak to the amendment, however.

Mr. President, I think when we take a look at what the issue is before us today, we also have to reflect somewhat on the history of the state Lottery Fund and why we find ourselves in the position that we do today. Maybe if we reflect a little bit, almost a year ago, a little past a year ago today, we would see where the Budget Secretary and this Governor used a first quarterly payment of the 1990-91 Lottery Fund to balance the budget for last year. I think, Mr. President, when we talk about why the Lottery Fund may be short, it is some of those fiscal maneuvers once again that were done to balance a budget last year to find ourselves shortchanging our senior citizens of Pennsylvania this year. It is our view that there is a continuous revenue stream coming into both the Lottery Fund as well as to the General Fund on a daily basis. As I indicated earlier, there is almost $20 million a day that has been generated just in the last two days into the General Fund which will more than cover the public assistance payments and medical assistance payments, and, hopefully, with the Governor transferring funds from the General Fund to the Lottery Fund, we will have enough revenue to process the property tax and rent rebate payments.

As far as payments to our school districts, Mr. President, our school districts have not been used to getting a timely payment from this state for many a month. In fact, if we recall, in late spring we saw where school district payments were made at a lesser amount. They were transmitted electronically into various banks across this Commonwealth and any authority to process them was withdrawn the next day. That created many problems across this Commonwealth for school districts that had invested that money already and had to pull back those investments. Finally, Mr. President, a scaled down payment was made to those districts but certainly not in a timely fashion and actually cost the state more money because we are going to have to pay interest payments on that type of transfer.

So I think, Mr. President, rather than to sit here and debate the merits of the administration's fiscal policies, maybe what we should do is to ask the Governor to utilize funds that are available before him in order that he can process the rent rebate and property tax payments to our seniors, and I would ask for a negative vote on the amendment.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, just for a point of clarification, when the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, talked about a lottery raid, perhaps he should be reminded that it was his governor, who is the current Republican candidate for the United States Senate, who in three different budgets raided the Lottery Fund to a tune of some $380 million. Had we continued along the plans and on the lines and along the budgetary propositions with regard to the lottery of Governor Thornburgh, the lottery would have been out of existence some four years ago. So I think it is important, Mr. President, that Senator Loeper really does set the record straight and point out the truth of the matter, that it was his governor, the former Governor of Pennsylvania, who is going to be a Republican candidate for the United States Senate, who went into the lottery to the tune of $380 million. I only have to wonder and speculate, are we, in fact, today in a budget bind? Have we not been able to meet our constitutional mandate because, perhaps, they would like to drag this into the November election to try to protect their candidate for the United States Senate? I can only speculate, Mr. President.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I guess the longer I am around the legislative process, the less I learn or the less I seem to know. It really amazes me that someone with the intelligence of the Majority Leader who really articulates his position well, even when I do not agree with it I have to admit he does a really good job of articulating, how he can come before us with this tremendous amount of knowledge and know all the problems. He has been able to tell us every day we have been in here a problem with the budget and with the Governor's ability to pay and do certain things. He has been telling us for some time now about a $1 billion deficit and telling us about school districts not getting paid. He expressed his concern here Sunday evening by offering a stopgap that paid medical assistance and it paid our debt service. It paid our cash grants. He articulated very well Sunday evening of the reasons why there was such a sensitivity on his part to that issue. He came here today with this resolution asking the Governor to do certain things with whatever limited resources he admits are available, and I cannot imagine how he can all of a sudden have this information and articulate it so well and not realize that the solution is not in coming in with piecemeal efforts but to pass a budget. Very simply, a resolution which we are dealing with, but a resolution to the problem itself would be to pass the budget. It is July 2nd. We are almost 48 hours into a new fiscal year without a budget and here we are talking about a resolution that has absolutely no power and no weight in law, and the resolution is, I think, so meaningless that it was not even called and it was not even introduced as a concurrent resolution. Yet we talk about a resolution that is going to try to direct the Governor in how he would spend whatever limited dollars are still available. We have a caucus on that side of the aisle that has acknowledged all these problems, and every time the Governor has tried to do something to solve them, such as in the transfer of PIDA funds, you had a Member of your caucus, the gentleman from Butler, Senator Shaffer, write a letter to the PIDA board threatening them with the illegality of the action they took and that there was a consequence he might pursue, which would be to go to court. That jeopardized $200 million in payments to our school districts several weeks ago. We had a higher education resolution which the Governor had requested from the State Board of Higher Education, and the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, who is a member of that board, vociferously argued against using any of those funds to solve the problem. I just do not understand why anyone possessing that kind of intelligence and that kind of information and has the ability to stand before this Body and articulate those particular issues could not be using those same efforts and that same intelligence in talking to us about voting 50-0 for a budget plan which would solve all the spending problems in Pennsylvania, and we would not have to be here in July doing this. I would ask that the resolution be amended in the manner in which the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, is asking, and then we will deal with the resolution after the amendment has either passed or failed.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Senator HOPPER. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Senator ANDREZESKI. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Senator PECORA. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Senator FUMO and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Senator JONES. Mr. President, I do not talk too much on the floor in the Senate, and I am very sorry I have to rise now. I am totally disgusted. I feel a lot of hurt in my heart that we as grown men and women are forced to sit here and indulge in this stupidity and foolishness. I certainly feel it is very wrong to pit one group of people against another. I think it is just a deliberate excuse not to do what we should be doing, and I rise to speak against this resolution.

Number one, I think I am in pretty good shape to stand and speak on this because I was in touch last week, as many of you might have known, with the welfare recipients who are going to be affected, and that problem was solved, whether it is legal or illegal. No one on the other side brought a case against the Treasurer. So I want to say I am very happy that checks did go out today. So you have to do whatever you feel you have to do, but I am here to tell you that senior citizens, as a rule, most of them fortunately do get their Social Security checks as opposed to an AFDC mother and a general assistance recipient not having anything on the first of the month. They might get food stamps. That is a federal program, however, they could not pay their rents and other necessities. I can tell you I am in touch, and I have been in touch with the senior citizens. They were invited out to demonstrate with us last Friday and, if you noticed, they did not come out. Do you know why? Because they themselves would have rather seen little babies have necessities and those welfare mothers have the checks to take care of their needs and certainly the homeless people. I would say to you all that I beg of you, put yourselves in a senior citizen's place. You were talking about the Governor raiding another pot to give them some money. How would you like to be played upon? I wish the gallery was full of them today, and if you all do not look out and get down to some serious business, you are going to have a great surprise next week.

I would urge everybody here to vote against this so-called resolution that does nothing.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, the effort we are seeing put forth here today reminds me of a stretch bikini that the young ladies wear at the beach. There is not much to it but it covers a whole lot, and that is what they are talking about doing here today. On Sunday we heard the Republican Majority in this Senate talk about their sensitivity to paying cash grants and a couple of other things they did in that stopgap, and I really do not place that much importance on what is in it other than today they are taking the same dollar bill and they are stretching it to cover the senior citizens. Tomorrow, probably, we are going to take the same dollar bill and take it off the senior citizens, and I do not know who we will give it to tomorrow, maybe the schools. Maybe on Thursday they will pick hospitals and on Friday maybe they will go back to medical assistance. They are going to try to cover bases, I guess, with the same dollar every day and every day and every day. My experience in dealing with some very decent people in the Republican caucus and people who I have had differences of opinion with but I always had a great deal of respect for, they are stretching that respect almost to the point now of covering a lot with a little bit. I think if we continue to be called in here to do these kinds of things, we all, Democrats and Republicans, are going to even look more foolish than we have in the first 48 hours of this fiscal year. We have a responsibility, both of us. We have an obligation, both of us. We have to have the will and the determination to quit trying to make political gain and quit trying to blame the other side and do it. The Majority in this Senate has been in that majority position for 11 years and, unfortunately, the longer they are in the majority the more they seem to abuse and forget their responsibilities. This is really a foolish thing you are doing. It is silly. You cannot on Sunday say you want to pay certain people right off the bat with stopgaps before the budget even expired, and then on Tuesday, with no more money available, in fact less money available than what was available on Sunday, now you are going to be able to send your letters out and your press releases to all your senior citizens and tell them, we took care of you. We told that stinking Governor he ought to take the money and spend it on sending you your checks. That just is absolutely abominable and it should not be done. The longer you continue to do this and refuse to stop and look at the responsibilities and the irresponsibilities of your actions, we are going to see a deeper and deeper hole being dug by those of us here in the General Assembly. We are going to see less and less respect from outside of this General Assembly for those of us who serve here, and you are going to have a greater time explaining to and having those constituents of yours who you are ignoring accept what you finally do to solve the problem. Let us get to it. Let us get a bill on the Calendar before us that is a budget. Let us, all 50 of us, make some determination as to what we want to spend in Pennsylvania during this fiscal year, the one we are in right now that we do not have a budget for, and then let us take a look at whether we need additional revenues, and if we do, let us do it together with the Republican Majority doing what they are supposed to do, lead. But do not continue to lead us down the path of destruction rather than up the path to where we will have some, at least, moderate respect from the people we represent. I can tell you that I am starting to believe less and less that we deserve any respect whatsoever.

Senator FISHER. Mr. President, I have great respect for my friend and colleague from Fayette County. We have served together for 17 years, and we have been through a lot of budget battles. But as I sat here and I listened to the debate, some of the comments he made, and listened to the Governor's press conference yesterday, I just see once again more and more distortions being put on this record, and I cannot sit by and see these distortions continue to come forward without at least trying to correct them on this record. This whole budget season, which really started back July 1, 1990, has been one series of distortions. We know the big distortion was when the Governor told Auditor General Hafer during that debate last October that the $1 billion deficit was nothing more than a figment of her imagination. Well, we knew that distortion was, in fact, incorrect because it ended up being, perhaps, a $3 billion distortion, but it was something that was not appropriately acknowledged at the time. What we have here today with the issue and the debate brought forward by the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, is he talks about that same dollar being spent here, being spent there. That is not the case, and he knows it is not the case. Let us just look at the Lottery Fund. I looked in my wallet here as this debate was going on. I have six lottery tickets which I bought this week. I know one thing, I never win at the lottery. I have not won in so long I do not know why I keep buying these lottery tickets, but there is $6.00 that went into that Lottery Fund. There is a heck of a lot more that is going in every day to the Lottery Fund, and, yes, some people are luckier than I am and are winning a little bit, but because we have a fairly well-run lottery, there is more money coming in and there is a net gain each day. So there is money being added to that fund. The people who pay taxes, the people who are out spending their money and paying sales taxes, that money is being remitted. It is coming into the General Fund. The fact that we do not have a budget does not mean the merchants out across this Commonwealth stop collecting sales taxes. Six percent is coming in. It came in yesterday. It is going to come in today. It is going to come in every day in July and August and the rest of this year. Other taxes continue to come in. So let us not say we are talking about the same dollar. There is a cash balance in the Lottery Fund. There is a cash balance in the General Fund. There is a cash balance in the Motor License Fund and it is going to continue to grow. What we are really talking about here today with this resolution is once again trying to correct that record and trying to correct some of those distortions which were put out there yesterday. Governor Casey says we cannot pay the senior citizens. Well, we can pay the senior citizens. The money is there. That is what this resolution is calling upon the Governor to do. He said in his press conference yesterday that you cannot pay medical assistance payments. Well, that is in conflict with the opinion that his own general counsel gave to the Treasurer last Friday that says medical assistance payments can be made. Then he went on and he said that you cannot pay the state employees this Friday and the following Friday. Well, it is an administrative code provision that says that those state employees are entitled to be paid for work done in the past fiscal year. Let us get away from these distortions. Let us recognize that there are certain things we can continue to do as we continue to debate this budget. The budget is one issue, but the ongoing obligations of this Commonwealth are another issue. It is high time we faced those obligations, and one obligation we clearly have is to make those payments to the senior citizens. I know senior citizens out there who need that money, and I think with the money there in the Lottery Fund and the other money in the General Fund, that money ought to be paid. That is why we should send a signal of what the desire of the Senate is by the passage of this resolution.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, just said we should debate the budget. Perhaps that was a slip on his part and he did not mean to say that. There are 24 Members on this side of the aisle, Mr. President, who could not agree with him more. We think we should be debating the budget and not another phony document that has been presented by your Majority. Mr. President, I am also getting a little sick and tired of hearing all this nicety, nicety stuff, about how everyone respects everyone else and about how I am so happy to be here and I respect my fellow colleagues so much. Mr. President, I think the truth of the matter is there is little respect for the people who are represented outside of this building. Perhaps if we had the same type of respect for the 230,000 plus constituents each and every one of us represent, we would be doing something to go ahead and to resolve our differences and to go ahead and to resolve and to start to work on a budget. Before the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, talked about a crisis, he said of Governor Casey, "The Governor is trying to create a crisis." Well, I think I really have to ask the gentleman a question. Who is really trying to create the crisis? Is it an individual who submitted to this Body on February 6th, some five full months ago, a budget and a tax proposal and asked for its consideration? Is that the person who is trying to create a crisis? Is it a gentleman who sat with us in negotiations and has stated publicly that there is nothing we can do to resolve a budget until, in fact, we have a crisis? Is that the person, Mr. President, who is trying to create a crisis or is it the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who has been able to present to us a budget, who has been able to go ahead and to reevaluate and readjust a budget that he presented to us? He took the initiative last week and said that people who need cash grants and people who are on public assistance will, in fact, receive their benefits. The welfare recipients will receive their money. Is that the person,

Mr. President, who is trying to create a crisis? So I think we really have to ask ourselves the question as to what is happening here and really who is trying to create and continue the problem we have today. Mr. President, to what extent are people prepared to go ahead and to continue with this desperation that is being proposed by the Majority? At what extent, Mr. President, are we going to be prepared to stop it? It is obvious that the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, who has been elected to lead his Majority in the Senate, has been elected to lead in the Senate. And it is obvious that they have no program. If they had a program we, in fact, today, hopefully, would be dealing with such a thing. Just two days ago we had the opportunity of being forced down our throats the passage of a stopgap proposal, House Bill No. 1321 I believe was the number. That stopgap proposal went a long way in expending the same type of money that the Majority party in the Senate today wants to do by resolution. Just two weeks ago we heard from the Governor of the Commonwealth, and he said to us, and he said to all the people of Pennsylvania, that if we do not have a budget passed on time, the property and rent rebate checks that should be mailed to the senior citizens in the first week of July would, in fact, not take place. As a follow-up to that, Mr. President, the Majority Leader of the Senate sent a letter to the Governor and he asked the Governor if, in fact, a partial payment of those particular funds could be made. On June 18th Senator Loeper received a reply back from the Secretary of Revenue. That reply specifically stated as to the reasons why a partial payment for property tax and rent rebates was not possible, and it stated the way the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, reported before, that this money that is there must be used to take care of the administration of the fund, it must be used for administrative costs and it must be used to go ahead and pay for some of the very important programs, such as shared ride and especially the pharmaceutical program which we all think is extremely important. So, Mr. President, why do we not today talk about full payment of the budget? Why do we not today deal with a budget on the floor of this Senate, and what is the reluctance on the part of the Majority to go ahead and to report a budget to the floor of the Pennsylvania Senate? They know full well we cannot pass any type of tax anticipation notes. They know full well, without a balanced budget, one that is passed and signed by the Governor, that the investors on Wall Street will not allow us to go ahead to issue tax anticipation notes if, in fact, our Constitution will allow us to do that. Mr. President, as they assert not only in this resolution today but in the stopgap, and as in the statements made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, if we can go ahead and if we can plan at once, pay state employees, pay cash assistance, pay for the medical providers, give them their reimbursements and go ahead and make the rebates to our senior citizens, then we probably should do what the Republicans in this Senate want us to do and we should take their advice since we have resolved the problems, and we should take off the July 4th holiday and we should go on vacation somewhere and not be here to do the job that we have been elected to do. But, Mr. President, we cannot do that. We no longer can take these half-baked measures of proposals that they want us to deal with. It is about time that we deal with the budget. It is now July the 2nd. We are two days beyond that constitutional mandate, the law of Pennsylvania that states we must pass a budget in balance by July 1st. It is incumbent upon the leadership of Pennsylvania in the Republican Party in the Senate to present a budget on the floor of this Body, on the floor of this Chamber so we can be working on it and not a feebly produced resolution that is meaningless in nature and, by and large, accomplishes absolutely nothing. So, why do we not put the charades away for awhile. Why do we not forget about the talk about all the respect that we have for one another. Why do we not show some respect for the people we represent, show some respect to the constitutional mandate and to the oath of office we said we would uphold, and let us do our job and have a vote right here on the floor of the Senate about a budget and about a tax package to fund that budget and let us get on with doing the job.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I listened with great interest as the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, raised the issue of distortion. Quite frankly, I think Senator Fisher should look at his own remarks yesterday and today when we talk about distortion. Yesterday Senator Fisher read to us what he told us was Article III, Section 10 of the Constitution, which was the reason upon which he based his entire argument that this Senate was powerless to act until the House sent us a bill. If you want to hear blatant distortion, let me read you the whole Section 10. Mr. President, Section 10, as Senator Fisher said, reads, "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives..." and then he stopped. But there is a comma, not a period. What he failed to tell us and the public was the rest of the sentence. The rest of the sentence reads, "...but the Senate may propose amendments as in other bills." That is the end of Section 10, not where he conveniently chose to stop reading. Mr. President, there is a bill here, as I have said before, House Bill No. 185. It is a bill from the House. It is a tax bill from the House. If he is truly worried about the constitutional requirements, as he should be, all he has to do is comply with Article III, Section 10, the whole section, not just the one he conveniently read to us, and amend it and put in whatever tax he thinks we need to pass whatever budget they want to pass. When you talk about distortion, that act is the height of hypocrisy.

Mr. President, also when we talk about distortions, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fisher, clearly said that this Commonwealth is collecting money every day. Well, let me give him a simple addition lesson. As was said by the Majority Leader in the beginning of the debate on this resolution, the Commonwealth has collected $18 million one day and $20 million the other day. That is an average of $19 million a day. If we multiply that times the 30 days in the month of June—31 days in July but we will do 30—we come up with the number of $600 million. As I clearly indicated to the other side of the aisle, which they did not listen to because they failed to adopt our amendment, $250 million is already scheduled for payments we owed last year to the school districts. That is $250 million. The gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, of course, does not care about school districts anymore because he said they are being paid late anyway. What the heck, let us continue to pay late. But regardless of that, $250 million is being used for that. The $150 million, as was said, in compliance with the so-called stopgap resolution or budget they tried to pass the other night, is for cash grants, and that is $5 million a day times 30 days which is $150 million more. We also made reference to the fact that there is $150 million this month to be paid to MA, and when you add that up, lo and behold, it equals $600 million. But, those of you might say, well, gee, we are collecting $19 million a day, how come we cannot come up with $113 million? Well, again we come back to another area of distortion that Senator Fisher mentioned. He said the budget deficit last year was $1 billion and this year it is $3 billion. That is absolute distortion. The budget deficit of last year is $460 million. There is no budget deficit for this year yet because we do not have a budget. As I have said on this floor many times before, the Republican Party in this Chamber could very clearly decide to act in what they usually consider to be in the interest of the citizens of Pennsylvania and have a no-tax budget. Then there would not be any numbers needed for this year. But there is no $3 billion deficit, and there was never a $1 billion deficit. But let us get back to the $467 million real deficit that we all know is there and we all agree is there. That is a bill we have to pay, and we have to continue to pay that. There are state employees who are going to continue to get checks in the month of July to pay them for work that they performed in the month of June. That is part of that $467 million. So if we take the current balance of $230 million and we apply it to that, we still need another $237 million to pay off last year's bills. Mr. President, simple addition is what it is and a budget is what it is. What they are saying in this resolution is, we love senior citizens, and we all do. They are like motherhood and apple pie. I have a father who is 84 years old. We all love senior citizens, and, yes, they are entitled to their checks. But, this Constitution we happen to live under and the laws we happen to live under clearly mandate that we have to pay off our deficit. Also, Mr. President, if they want that to be done before we pay off the school districts, say so. If you want it to be done before we pay off medical assistance, say so. If you want it to be done before we pay off cash grants, say that too. As the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, said, it is the stretch bikini. But the fat lady in this picture you are making up is so fat she will never fit in it. It does not expand that far, it snaps. Simple arithmetic clearly indicates that you cannot have it both ways. One and one equals two. To put it another way, two and two equals four. Those numbers add up. We do not have the luxury of our brethren at the federal level to do deficit spending. We have a constitutional obligation to pass a balanced budget and to live within it. If, in fact, you want to help the senior citizens and if, in fact, you want your bleeding hearts to be satiated, then let us pass a budget that not only takes care of the senior citizens of Pennsylvania, but also takes care of all of our needy, all of the people who work for us and all of the people who rely upon those people. Stop this charade. But if you are going to participate in a charade, do not distort the facts. If you do not understand the facts, go to that productive staff of yours—I wonder where they are—and ask them what the facts really are. I admit to you when you do that—because I have a lot of confidence in your staff—you may get answers you do not like. Your staff may not allow you to be hypocritical. Then you will really be lost. In essence, Mr. President, let us stop the nonsense. Let us stop the distortions. Let us heed the admonition of Senator Fisher and let him heed his own admonition. Stop the distortions. Let us pass a budget today and not nonsense, but I submit you do not have the courage on that side of the aisle. You have yet to own up to the responsibility that goes along with your power. Someday you will pay for that, someday soon maybe.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator FUMO. I will, Mr. President.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, if I heard the gentleman correctly a few moments ago, he said the real deficit, the total deficit, was $467 million. Did I hear him correctly?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, for fiscal year 1990-91 that is the closing deficit.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, then does he mean that if someone would give the state $467 million, the state could pay every bill that was due and should have been paid by June 30th?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, it would pay, to my knowledge. Obviously, the way the gentleman asked the question in his conspiratorial fashion, he might have a different answer, but to my knowledge, if someone gave us $467 million, that would pay off the deficit.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, you are saying that all our vendors would be paid, our hospitals would be paid up to date, our nursing homes, our school districts, our universities, all of the contractors and vendors in this Commonwealth that we presently owe would be paid up to date if we had 467 million extra dollars?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, that is after we net out our accounts receivable from our accounts payable. Yes, that, in fact, would happen, but there is a netting-out that is necessary to do that.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, then why did the Governor state a few weeks ago that we needed to pass the budget by the 15th of June so he could immediately go to the market for tax anticipatory notes of $1.7 billion?

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, now I understand what the gentleman is driving at and perhaps he needs a lesson in economics and finance. What the Governor said was that he wanted to pass the budget on June 15th in order to avoid the type of crisis we face today so that he could, in fact, float tax anticipatory notes for cash flow. What occurs—and the gentleman should be aware of this and, quite frankly, I am glad he raised the issue because this is another serious problem we are going to have to address in future budgets, although I doubt if you are in the mood to do it this year—is that we sign onto a budget early on in the process. The money comes in and, as was said, at this point in time it is coming in at the amount of $19 million a day at this cycle. We all know that in April when we get the bulk of our taxes coming in from CNI, PIT and all the other taxes that are out there, that brings in a lot more money than the daily cash flow. In order to properly manage your money, you float tax anticipatory notes to pay all the expenses that you have during the months when you need those notes, and then as money comes in, you pay them off. Then at the end of the year everything balances out. That is the way that works. It is not that we need tax anticipatory notes to pay off back monies. We, in fact, will probably have to do that but it is not what it is for. Tax anticipatory notes are exactly what the word describes. They are notes which are loans that you get in anticipation of taxes being received. That is the way it works, and you pay it off with current revenues as they come in. Now the problem we are starting to face in the Commonwealth, Mr. President—and this is after eight years of Thornburgh's rocket scientists, financial geniuses that they were—is that more and more each year we are having to rely on tax anticipatory notes, and as a result we are paying much more interest to borrow that money for cash flow. What we really should do if we have the courage in this Chamber is to adopt a budget with probably more taxes than we need so we can get out of the cash flow situation and go forth into the future and save the interest payments, but I do not know if we want to get into that now or not, but I am prepared to do it if you are.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Peterson, I trust he has answered your question.

Senator PETERSON. Mr. President, he said a lot. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to make a few comments. It is interesting to note that there are those who purport there is a $467 million deficit. I have read in print again and again from Governor Casey's statements that he needed to immediately go to the TAN's market for $1.7 billion. Historically we borrow in October and November. Just two years ago—I am going strictly on memory here—I think we borrowed the most we ever borrowed and it was less than $1 billion. Last year, if my memory is correct, it was $1.3 billion or $1.4 billion. That again was in the fall, in October and November, our normal borrowing time, and now we are talking about going out immediately to the market. We were going to go in June, if it was made available, and borrow $1.7 billion and then have to go back to the market probably again in the fall. We would not be borrowing that kind of money if our deficit was only $467 million, in my opinion.

You know, there were a lot of statements made here today and one that keeps coming up on the floor, and I do not know how the Attorney General continues to get so involved in state business. He has been out of here a long time. I remember when the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations used to just love to beat him up over having his name on TV all the time because of commercials, and Bob Casey made Dick Thornburgh look like a piker on the same issues, and I never heard any complaints about that. But it was interesting today that we again got back to the Attorney General being part of the problem we now face here. What is it, five or six years later? I do not know. It seems to me we are really reaching for the problem. But let us look at a few of the facts. It is my opinion, and this is strictly my opinion, whether you liked Dick Thornburgh, whether you liked his policies, whether you liked his looks or whether you liked him or not, history is probably going to prove that he was the best fiscal manager Pennsylvania ever had. Now tough fiscal management was not common in state government. A lot of people did not like it. Now that we have been out of the Thornburgh Administration for five years, it is the opinion of many out in the bush, people who are working in programs, people who are managing state offices and work for the Commonwealth that maybe this administration will go down as the worst fiscal manager that Pennsylvania has ever had, and yet the problem keeps being put back.

Take the lottery for instance. When predictions were saying that our lottery was going to run out of money years ago, through tough management, through good practices, our lottery was one of the best run lotteries financially in the country. What has happened to the cost of running the lottery in the last four years? A ten percent increase per year, which would be 40 percent? No. In a four year period the cost of running the lottery has increased 45 percent. That is money being utilized for all kinds of things rather than paying benefits to our senior citizens. New games keep the lottery alive. I was told you need a new game every 18 months or a minimum of every two years. We are just now coming on with a new game, the first one in four years. It is true that this administration has allowed the lottery's management to deteriorate, its expenses to rise and has not provided us with the income to provide adequate funding for our programs. We talked about robbing the lottery. I have heard that again and again and again about who robbed the lottery. Now this is not going to please a lot of folks, but it is a fact. We are still robbing the lottery, in my view, for mass transit in Pennsylvania. I fought the bill in the House a number of years ago that forces the lottery to pay every time a person transfers, and at the time when I fought the bill in the House a fee on the average mass transit was $1.00 and a transfer was a dime. What do we reward mass transit for a transfer? A full fare. The average person transfers twice, I am told, in mass transit, so they get three fares for one ride and two transfers. That is happening today, at this very moment. Where do we get the figures upon which we pay mass transit for lottery use by senior citizens? Is it an actual count? No, it is not an actual count, it is an estimate. I am told it is taken on the day after Thanksgiving, which is the heaviest use of the year, someone takes a count, and that is multiplied by 365. Then you add to that the demand response program that is paid out of the lottery. It was not an urban program, but PennDOT changed the rules several years ago. It used to be if you lived within a quarter of a mile of mass transit you could not use demand response. Well, we just waived that rule. Now you can live with a bus stop in front of your house. You can call a cab and get paid for it by the lottery under the demand response program. In the cities we pay $11.86. In rural Pennsylvania where this program was begun we get $4.00 and something as our cap. That is a robbery of the lottery probably in the two programs together that is worth, if my memory is correct, $60 million to $80 million that goes on each and every year, money that should be in the lottery to pay for programs.

Now let us move on just a little bit further here to why we are here tonight instead of passing a budget. It has been interesting to watch the Governor and others point fingers. I watched this process when tax increases were needed a number of years ago, when I was a Member of the House. I was a Member of the Majority and we had the opportunity to raise taxes—never easy, never fun—and when we got our act together with the Governor as the Majority Party we put our program through. Why are we sitting here today? Why did we not have negotiations yesterday? Why did we not have negotiations today? Because the Democrats left the table. How do you solve a problem if you do not negotiate? How do you solve a problem if you do not talk? Why are the Democrats not talking to the Republicans and why have they walked away from the table? Because they have not been able to cut a deal with their Governor. They are not in agreement with the Governor and until they are in agreement with the Governor they really cannot deal and make an agreement with us. So they are going to point the finger. They are going to say we are the bad guys. They are going to say we are holding up the budget when, in fact, they have not been at the negotiating table. I think it is time to cut the rhetoric. I think it is time the Democrats in Pennsylvania sit down with their Governor, get their game plan together, sit down with the Republicans, negotiate a budget and then we will work together to fund it. Until that happens we are going to sit here and spin our wheels, point the finger, and try to make each other look like the bad guy. I urge the Democrats in the Senate and the House to sit down with this Governor. I know that is not easy. I know he is not easy to negotiate with. But it is time to do it. Make your peace with him, sit back down to the table with us and let us negotiate a budget and get on with the business of Pennsylvania.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, I am very happy the gentleman has clearly demonstrated why the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, is the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations and not him. The Governor talked about borrowing enough money to handle $1.7 billion in that month, simply because of the fact we do not have cash because we have a deficit. As I have said on this floor the other day, and perhaps if the gentleman would listen a little more carefully to my remarks that go unchallenged, he would understand the budget process. Mr. President, I say again today that this Commonwealth spends approximately $1.7 billion each and every month. As we drag on without a budget, that money is not being pumped into our economy. That is why the Governor wanted to get this done, so there would not be any interruption in the cash flow so we can pay the month of July's bills of $1.7 billion a month, then accumulate some cash, pay off the deficit and gradually get through the process. It is a circular thing. That is why it is $1.7 billion, because you need that much each and every month. Mr. President, as the person who walked out of negotiations, it was me, and me alone. I want to tell the gentleman why. The gentleman and I know he is very fiscally conservative except when it comes to rural programs, but I know he is very fiscally conservative. He would have been appalled at the way his colleagues and us and everybody else were spending money in there. I was appalled too because we were not talking about the money to pay for the money we were spending. He would have walked out too. Mr. President, when he talks about Dick Thornburgh, the true motives of the Majority now come out. When he talks about Dick Thornburgh being a tough fiscal manager and talks about this administration not being that, I submit that history will tell us who, in fact, was what. Mr. President, Dick Thornburgh was a sham and a charade from day one. I remember sitting in hearings with the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell, when he too mocked the battle cry of that administration, that they were going to do more with less. In fact, I think it was Senator Bell who took my quote and said that means doing nothing with nothing. That is how great fiscal managers they were. When they left, they left this Commonwealth in a shambles—programs underfunded, people needed in Environmental Resources to protect our environment, people needed in the Insurance Department so that rates could be kept down, people needed in the Department of Agriculture so it could run properly. All they did was conduct a charade for eight years and, Mr. President, they raised taxes to do that. Then what did they do on their way out the door? They lowered the taxes so that the next guy who came in did not even have as much as they had to fund a budget that was underfunded when he came in. Do not tell me about fiscal management. They were the biggest bunch of bimbos ever to hit this town when it came to fiscal management.

Mr. President, let us talk about the Lottery Fund. The gentleman seems to indicate that we cry wolf about the Lottery Fund. It was Dick Thornburgh who raided that Lottery Fund for the first time, and again it was me, personally—and that is how I know it—who interrogated the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Tilghman, on the floor when you were in the majority and you took out the first $18 million. You broke the precedent. You took $18 million the first time from that Lottery Fund and put it into the General Fund so you could try and balance your budget, and that began the insatiable attitude of Dick Thornburgh and the Republicans when it came to taking money out of the pockets of our senior citizens. It got to the point where over $300 million was stolen by that raid from our senior citizens, and, ironically, that was the so-called surplus they left us with. Tell me about the Lottery Fund.

Now tell me about the astronomical increases. It is very easy to talk urban programs, but I suggest the gentleman is being very hypocritical when he fails to recognize that the biggest spender in that program is the PACE program. Why? Those rates have gone through the roof. Why? Because drug manufacturers are ripping us off, and the gentleman, Senator Peterson, is the biggest defender of that industry when he says we should not go after them, we should not demand as much money as the feds do. The Governor this year has asked for reforms in that Lottery Fund and he has asked that we go to those manufacturers and say, give us back $40 million. But what do I get from that side of the aisle? You cannot hurt the poor drug manufacturers. We could only give you $20 million. Let us cut a deal. Mr. President, if you only want $20 million, do not come and tell me about expenses.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware, Senator Loeper, will state it.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I have been sitting here listening to the diatribe of the gentleman across the aisle and it seems to me that he has personally attacked two Members on this side of the aisle by name without warrant, and I would suggest that he keep his remarks to the issue at hand.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman's point is reasonably well taken, but the Chair would point out that the diatribe has come from both sides of the aisle and grows somewhat tedious, to be frank about it. The Chair would appreciate all speakers maintaining some decorum and focusing on the resolution at hand.

Senator FUMO. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's point of order, I would like to remind him that it was both of those speakers who raised the issues. It was never my intention today to discuss distortions, nor was it my intention to discuss the Lottery Fund's increased expenses, and it is a common acceptance in trial practice when someone opens the door, the other side is allowed to go in. I did not open the door. Your side did, Senator Loeper, and I truly regret that we have to talk about this tonight. I would much prefer to be here tonight debating a budget with you. You are the ones who decided to do this nonsense, not I, but do not castigate me when I speak the truth. Have I offended someone because I said they protect the drug industry? If that is offensive, I apologize. If that is offensive, then they should not protect them, I guess, and I guess we will have no problem in here, Mr. President, putting through a $40 million savings to that Lottery Fund. The problem with the other side of the aisle on all of this debate is they are thoroughly perplexed because they cannot have it both ways. They cannot sit around and spend money and not tax. They cannot pass a no-tax budget because it cuts too much. They have to have somebody to beat up so they call the House irresponsible. Mr. President, the responsibility lies with those in the Majority who have not acted at all. The irresponsibility in this Chamber clearly lies with the Republican Majority who refuses to this very day to put on this floor a budget. The irresponsibility lies with the Republican Majority who today, instead of putting on a budget, gives us stupid, irresponsible, hypocritical resolutions that do nothing. You sit here and fiddle while the economy of Pennsylvania burns. The last time we saw that was Nero in ancient Rome. Do not tell me I am out of order. You are out of order morally and legally. It is your responsibility to respond to the House budget and send them back something that works if you do not like it, or send them back something with a tax program. That is your responsibility, not to waste our time tonight with a stupid resolution that is put on for grandstanding. That is what we are talking about, responsibility. The clear responsibility of the Majority is to lead and govern, not to be obstructionists. That is what we are talking about. The clear responsibility of all of us who took an oath of office is to put aside petty politics and do what we are sworn to do, and that is to address the problems of the Commonwealth in a bipartisan or nonpartisan fashion. I recognize that harness is too heavy for you to carry, but I suggest sooner or later you are going to do it whether you like it or not, be it this month, next month, Christmas or next year. I remind you again that the last time this happened was when Shaffer was our Governor and you paid the price for it. You will pay again, because it is your responsibility to lead, your responsibility to govern. Unfortunately, it is ours to respond. If we were in the majority we would not be here tonight discussing this nonsense, we would be out of here with a budget passed. I urge you to wise up, own up to your oath of office and do what is responsible.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, just briefly, I think it is important we maybe set the record straight about one of many issues that have been brought before the Members this evening and that was when the gentleman from Philadelphia spoke. Tell me about the Lottery Fund, he said, tell me about the Lottery Fund. Let us talk about the raid of the Lottery Fund. Mr. President, I would just like to take a moment, just for purposes of the record, to indicate that I understand that the first major transfer from the Lottery Fund for General Fund purposes was a $100 million transfer that was for long-term care facilities which was made as part of the Supplemental General Appropriations Act for the fiscal year of 1983-84. That was enacted on July 21st of 1983, and some of you may recall that a balanced dollar appropriation from the Lottery Fund as a set-aside for a program of paid prescriptions and medically related reimbursements was also made that year. Some may also recall that in 1983 it was Governor Thornburgh who substantially blue-lined the General Appropriations bill when it cleared the General Assembly that year on June 29th, and as a result the General Assembly returned to the budgetary table and deliberations and extensive discussions had followed. Finally, the House on July 14th of 1983 approved an amended Senate Bill No. 827. I think it is important to note that included in that bill were the Lottery Fund transfers that many of the Senators on the other side of the aisle have talked about this evening, the so-called raid on the Lottery Fund, as they would put it. Interesting enough, Mr. President, it is interesting to note that among the current serving Members here in the Senate, the gentleman from Erie, Senator Andrezeski; the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Bodack; the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Fumo; the gentlemen from Bucks, Senator Lewis; the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln; the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow; the lady from Northampton, Senator Reibman; the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Scanlon; and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Williams, voted in the affirmative for that transfer. Also voting in the affirmative was then Senator Singel and, in addition to that, Mr. President, among the affirmative votes in the House were Representative Afflerbach, Representative Fattah and Representative Stewart. So I think when we talk about a raid on the Lottery Fund and the gentleman who is making the most noise on the other side of the aisle, if we look at history of this Body, he, in fact, was one of the pioneers in voting for that transfer.

Senator LINCOLN. Mr. President, I think what the Majority Leader did just now is the most incredibly stupid thing I have ever seen anybody do. I do not say that in a derogatory manner, but I cannot believe he would open up that issue when I remember being in that room right back there with the late Jim Lloyd, who along with the former Senator Singel, are responsible and more responsible and only responsible for the PACE program. They came up with that issue years before we finally forced the Republican Majority and Governor Thornburgh to accept it, and that was with a gun to our head that we finally put those votes up that night for the transfer of the lottery. We were told there would never be a PACE program by the Republican Majority and Governor Thornburgh if we did not go along with what was then the second transfer of the lottery, the second transfer of lottery funds. There was $18 million done the first time. Then do you know how long it took Governor Thornburgh to finally enact that program that we agreed to with a gun to our head that night? Fourteen months went by before any money was spent in the PACE program and the very first check that was mailed out he held up in a TV commercial. I want to tell the gentleman from Venango, Senator Peterson, about the history. It is going to be written by impartial people, not somebody who feels as strongly about this as I do or somebody who feels as strongly as you do, and the only other case that I have to reference what people may or may not think about Dick Thornburgh is this: In 1982 the late John Heinz defeated Cyril Wecht by over a million votes. He was right at the top of the ticket with Dick Thornburgh—right there with him—and Thornburgh defeated a very little known and very much underfinanced candidate by the name of Allen Ertel by less than 90,000 votes. That is what the general public thinks of Dick Thornburgh and that is what the historians are finally going to realize and write. That PACE program is almost embarrassing to me, how difficult it was for us to get it and what we had to do to get it. The record will reflect that there were votes from this caucus to support that transfer simply because that was the only way of getting what we wanted. We were in the Minority. We had a program that had been put forth by two very young men who were very, very interested in senior citizens and they did a tremendous job in getting that program in, but we paid the price. What happens after that? We go for four more years where the Thornburgh Administration took money from the Lottery Fund because at that particular time there was a surplus. Instead of saying, let us leave that in the bank like good administrators and maybe worry about a day whenever it may not be producing what it does now, no, no, we kept taking every year and funding General Fund programs. I would not have minded that, to be quite honest with you, but at the same time the Republican Majority in this Senate reduced corporate taxes, business taxes, and if you look over that four-year period of time, you will find that the Republican Majority here in the Senate in their actions reduced corporate taxes almost to the dollar what they took out of the Lottery Fund. You took from the backs and the sweat and blood of many of our parents, our aunts and uncles, our grandmothers, and you gave to business people. One year it amounted to $14. The excuse we were given during the early to mid '80s—those of us who came from high unemployment areas because of Republican administrations in Washington and a Republican administration here in Harrisburg—was we are going to reduce the business taxes because they are going to reinvest and give us jobs. It is a funny thing, it never happened. All we did was give them a tax break, and we had to sell our souls to the devil to get a PACE program and to get anything else for our senior citizens. The record is something you cannot distort because you can get that Journal and look at the facts in the Journal. I remember very clearly the night we came out of there, all of us, with a very heavy heart because what we wanted was a PACE program, and the price we had to pay to get it was outrageous. So do not lecture me on what I voted for and what other people voted for. The lottery was almost destroyed and this administration has put back over $100 million into that fund in the last four budgets, and if it was not for that $100 million, you would not be standing here tonight talking about a stupid, meaningless resolution. You would have already passed a budget because we would really be in trouble right now.

Senator PECORA. Mr. President, we are going back into history. Most of this conversation does not pertain to the resolution we are discussing to vote upon. I must agree with the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Lincoln, though. Senator Lloyd was the first one who introduced the PACE program which I supported also. I think the conversation is getting out of hand. I think we are not doing our job here by going back in history, criticizing individuals, criticizing Members of this Senate. It does not give me the impression that we are really doing our job when we are criticizing each other, especially by name, instead of talking about the issue. The issue is the resolution, and I would appreciate it if we would stick to it and vote for it or against it.

The PRESIDENT. Actually the Chair appreciates the comments from the last speaker, and admits to allowing a wide berth in the discussion on the resolution today. The Chair's hope now is to bring the discussion to a close so we can move on voting on this resolution.

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

BILL ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 2 (Pr. No. 1428) — The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act providing for the advance purchase of tuition at certain institutions of higher education; establishing the Tuition Account Program Bureau within the Treasury Department and providing duties for the Treasury Department; establishing the Tuition Payment Fund; and providing for tuition account payment contracts.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The President pro tempore. Mr. President, this is a very bright day in some very dark times that I am pleased to be able to support a piece of legislation that many people have been working on for several years. It means that we are going to be able to, if this legislation is passed and signed into law, keep Pennsylvania competitive to maintain a well skilled and well educated work force. Certainly higher education is an essential part of our state strategy, and a priority in recent years has been to boost the percentage of our young people pursuing some form of post secondary education. The tuition account program contained in Senate Bill No. 2 is designed to encourage more Pennsylvanians to pursue higher education and to earn a degree. By enabling and encouraging families to invest in the future of their children, we build for the future of Pennsylvania. Mr. President, based on the experience in other states and the advice of many people in this state, we have constructed a program that will work to the advantage of Pennsylvania families without putting the taxpayers at risk. The program has generated considerable interest on the part of parents and educators throughout Pennsylvania. Under this measure, savings are linked through a guarantee to tuition rates at state related schools or state system schools or community colleges. With money set aside over time, prospective students and their families are less likely to be discouraged from pursuing higher education. The savings effort of a family participating in this program would not diminish student eligibility for financial aid. The program does not detract from our commitment to funding the array of student assistance programs available through PHEAA, nor does it take away from our commitment to fund institutions of higher learning. Rather, it is adding to the means for providing educational opportunity. There is no single avenue for meeting college costs. TAP, the Tuition Account Plan, will join with other proven and promising approaches to give Pennsylvania families more options and more incentive to plan for higher education of their children. There has been a great deal of input, Mr. President, a great deal of support from Republicans and Democrats, from the administration, from people in the Senate and elsewhere. I hope we can achieve approval of a measure that will be a victory for students for higher education and for a competitive Pennsylvania. With the passage of this measure, as I indicated, with the support of Republicans and Democrats from the House and the Senate and from the administration, I believe Pennsylvania will be poised to have the finest program of its kind in the nation. Thank you, Mr. President, and I thank all those who participated in making this day come forward.

Senator STAPLETON. Mr. President, I just want to commend the gentleman from Blair, Senator Jubelirer, and all those who worked so hard on this piece of legislation. Certainly all of us on this side of the aisle support this bill. We know the importance of tuition rates, to try to keep them at a minimum, and this is a step forward, and we are very pleased to be able to vote on it today. I ask all of this side of the aisle to certainly support Senate Bill No. 2.

And the question recurring,

RECESS

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, House Bill No. 1591 is a very important piece of legislation that we have not had the opportunity as a caucus of reviewing. At this time I would request a recess of the Senate for the purpose of a Democratic caucus.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, would the gentleman be able to indicate approximately what time he believes they would be available to return to the floor?

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I do not know. We have to adequately discuss the proposals of this particular piece of legislation. It appears, at least from the title, that it is another feeble attempt on the part of the Majority to pass a stopgap proposal when, in fact, they should be working on meaningful legislation which would mean the adoption of the 1991-1992 state fiscal budget so we can get along with the activities of the state and, therefore, it will take us a while in our caucus, Mr. President, to discuss the pros and cons of the possibility of considering another stopgap.

Senator LOEPER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the calling of a recess for a caucus. The only thing I would ask is that it is done in a relatively timely fashion so we can move the business of the Senate ahead with dispatch.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, we will show the Majority the same respect and courtesies they have shown us.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will come to order.
