

“While Salus University does not have intercollegiate sports, we strongly and collectively support LGBTQ inclusion in everything we do through our mission, policies and practices. Exclusion of transgender students in any aspect of campus engagement, to include intercollegiate athletic competition is totally unacceptable, reprehensible and inexcusable. Participating in sports, at all levels of education, teaches students the importance of collaboration and teamwork, reliance on each other and tolerance. We do not need to go backwards, but rather continue to move forward and ensure our LGBTQ community has access to these important life’s lessons. Please do not advance a ban on transgender student athletes in our Commonwealth.”
