REFERRED TO COMMITTEE ON HEALTH, SEPTEMBER 19, 2019

A RESOLUTION

1 Recognizing September 30, 2019, as "NICU Awareness Day" in 2 Pennsylvania.

3 WHEREAS, Every year, more than 500,000 newborn babies are 4 admitted to the neonatal intensive care unit, also known as the 5 NICU; and

6 WHEREAS, The NICU is for babies who need intensive medical 7 care for complications related to preterm delivery, low birth 8 weight and health conditions that require special care; and

9 WHEREAS, NICUs have the advanced technology and trained 10 health care professionals needed to care for the smallest and 11 most fragile patients; and

12 WHEREAS, These highly specialized units treat newborns for a 13 variety of complications, including birth anomalies, brain
14 injury, cardiac conditions, infection, jaundice, neonatal 15 abstinence syndrome and respiratory distress; and

16 WHEREAS, NICU babies often experience complications that

1 persist beyond their stay in the hospital and may require 2 assistance with health and special needs throughout their 3 lifetimes; and

4 WHEREAS, Advances in neonatal medicine have allowed more
5 infants to benefit from the specialized care offered by NICUs;
6 and

7 WHEREAS, Funding for research into the causes of a NICU stay
8 and the holistic care of NICU families continues to be vital;
9 and

10 WHEREAS, Many families of NICU babies struggle to find the 11 education, resources and support they need; and

12 WHEREAS, "NICU Awareness Day" provides an opportunity for 13 families whose lives have been affected by the NICU to share 14 their story, engage with the larger NICU community and honor the 15 dedicated health professionals who continue to advance the 16 important work of these units; therefore be it

17 RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize 18 September 30, 2019, as "NICU Awareness Day" in Pennsylvania.
